Marshal Lyautey Arrives at Fez to Direct Operations Against the Invading Tribesmen.

Copyright, 1925, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 4.—General Colombat won a decisive local operation on the western sector of the Morocco front today, which is very important from the standpoint of prestige. Pressing with both wings against the Riffians besieging a French outpost at Audur General Colombat succeeded in sweeping Abd-el-Krim's troops from the area surrounding the post and was able to replenish its supplies of food, water and ammunition. This outpost had been cut off since the raids began less than two weeks ago.

The enemy opposed bitter resistance, but when they withdrew more than fifty dead were counted. Many men and important material were captured. The French losses were insignificant.

A few miles away the French success enabled the replenishing of supplies of an Achikkane outpost without a battle.

The role of the Air Service was very great in all today's operations, due to perfect weather conditions and ability to make sudden swoops down rocky gorges where the harkas were concentrated.

In the central sector important Riffian groups massing were discovered along the Skerbounsou front which makes the salient within today's French lines.

In the east Col. Gen. Cambasi continued to advance on Mulay Ali. He was obliged to fight his way, but successive strings of Riffian sharpshooters were dislodged with heavy losses without having stopped the French march.

Lyauter Moves to Capital.

Marshal Lyautey has moved his headquarters to Fez, so as to be in close contact with the operations. Here it is believed that Fez is the immediate objective of the Riffian attack.

It is toward that ancient capital that the tribesmen are advancing through the line of French blockhouses and making a most determined attempt to raise revolt among other tribes. Excursions into the French zone have occurred almost the whole length of the 210-mile front, but their object apparently is to keep the French line extended and prevent effective concentration.

It is from Seshuan that Abd-el-Krim is believed to be conducting his operations. His success in raising the local tribes, while disquieting for the French, has not been entirely successful, and a great deal depends upon the quickness with which the French can strike.

A telegram from Rabat to the Temps today states that infiltration of the Riffians has already practically stopped, but this is considered due to the concentration which has been taking place in Seshuan for a direct attack on the Wezsan district. In all, Abd-el-Krim is believed to have between 30,000 and 40,000 armed men, with a considerable amount of artillery. Over the French he has the great advantage that his troops are extremely mobile. Marshal Lyautey, however, has absolute confidence that with the men at his disposal he will be able to check the invasion, prevent the local tribes rising and throw back the Riffians within the Spanish zone.

At the Quai d'Orsay today it was repeated that the French Government would observe strictly the conditions of the treaty of Algeciras and respect the line of demarcation between the French and Spanish zones. What happens within that line was said to be entirely Spain's affair. At the same time, the French regard it as distinctly unfortunate that the unwillingness of the Spaniards to allow French intervention against the Rift has improved the present dangerous state of affairs in their own territory.

At any time during the past three years Marshal Lyautey has been ready to give the Spaniards every assistance, and had he attacked from the south the Riff could have been cleaned up and pacified with enormously less loss than the Spaniards have suffered.

French Outpost Captured.

FEZ, Morocco, May 4 (A. P.)—A slight action by the French troops today along the Wergha River at a point where it was necessary to get food and other supplies to French advanced posts which had been surrounded in the first drive by the Riffians sufficed to bring comparative calm all along the front. These isolated posts had defended themselves singlehanded until today, when General Colombat sent forward a small column to clear that region.

Abd-el-Krim's forces left fifty dead on the field and lost a number of prisoners and a quantity of supplies. The French losses were insignificant, and so far the advanced posts have been able to keep the invaders at a distance with machine guns and three-inch field pieces.

The Riffian forces, however, had succeeded in slipping between the posts and assembling considerable forces south of the Wergha River. They captured one outpost and had a successful

Mammoth Oil Files Brief; Teapot Verdict Now Awaited

CHEYENNE, Wyo., May 4.—The Mammoth Oil Company's brief in the Government's suit for annulment of the corporation's lease on the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve was filed in the Federal court today. It is a printed pamphlet of 205 pages.

The Government's brief was filed two weeks ago.

The filing of the defendant's brief was the last step of the trial and the case is now ready for Federal Judge T. B. Kennedy's decision.

LINKS SINNOTT FIRM WITH BONDING PLUMS

KINSHIP USED, HE CHARGES

Also Asserts Family Has Got $170,000 in Salaries and Fees From the City.

Instances of contractors failing to get city construction contracts for which they were low bidders after they had failed to obtain bonds from the firm of Sinnott & Canty were declared yesterday by Deputy Controller Charles F. Kerrigan to have been disclosed in an investigation he has in progress.

The investigation, according to Mr. Kerrigan, was started by Controller Craig to determine whether there was any connection between the Mayor's office, the contractors and the commissions paid Sinnott & Canty, the head of which firm is James Paul Sinnott, brother of John F. Sinnott, Mayor Hylan's secretary and son-in-law and son of James P. Sinnott, Commissioner of the Board of Water Supply and Democratic leader of the Twenty-second Brooklyn Assembly District.

There are two other Sinnott brothers, C. J. Sinnott, assistant traffic manager of the Yellow Taxicab Company, and Francis J. Sinnott, Secretary of the Board of Transportation. The success of the members of the Sinnott family, old friends of the Mayor and related to him by marriage, in obtaining lucrative employment or in building up a prosperous business has long been a topic of discussion and a matter of some envy in Democratic organization circles. The investigation has shown that members of the family have received $170,000 in salaries and fees directly from the city.

Call Information Grave.

Mr. Kerrigan in announcing partial results of a long-continued investigation, which has been intensive in the last two weeks, declared that some of his information obtained from contractors was of a "grave nature" and indicated that extreme methods had been employed to obtain commissions for writing bonds on contracts with the city. Mr. Kerrigan asserted that Sinnott & Canty, according to the evidence before him, had relied almost entirely upon the brotherly relationship between J. Paul Sinnott and John F. Sinnott, the Mayor's secretary and son-in-law, to get this business.

Several contractors, who refused to give their bonding business to Sinnott & Canty, testified that they lost contract on which they were low bidders, Mr. Kerrigan said. One contractor, he added, referred to the treatment he received for refusal as "punishment." Practically every successful bidder on any large city project in the last two years had been solicited to place its business with Sinnott & Canty, sometimes roughly and sometimes gently, Mr. Kerrigan said. He added that two contractors ordered a representative of the firm out of their offices because of his offensive tactics.

Most of the contractors so far examined have been engaged in the construction of public schools, but Mr. Kerrigan said that Sinnott & Canty had pushed their business to include bonds on the construction of Police Department buildings, hospitals, public markets, water supply contracts and other city construction projects.

"Mayor Hylan's school building program of over $160,000,000, it is indicated, has been accompanied hand in hand, as it were, by the Sinnott & Canty premium collecting and bond writing agency," was Mr. Kerrigan's comment on this phase of his inquiry.

An incidental result of the inquiry was the holding up by Controller Craig of the April pay check of Frank J. Coyle, an incorporator and officer of the Sin-

RETAIL BUYING DROP LAID TO COOLIDGE'S POLICY ON ECONOMY

SEE BUYERS ON STRIKE

People Responding to President's Stand by Purchasing Only Necessities, They Say.

FEAR SPREAD OF MOVEMENT

White House Visitors Tell Executive That Advocacy of Federal Thrift Is Hurting Business.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Misinterpretation of President Coolidge's policy of economy in governmental affairs is having a retarding effect on buying, according to retailers. In many sections of the country, they say, people are responding to the pleadings of President Coolidge for saving in Government expenditures by buying only absolute necessities.

Retail business men do not hesitate to say that there has been a decrease in buying and that a buyers' strike, similar to that which existed after the war period, is making its appearance.

The effect of this is that seasonal buying has decreased to such an extent that retailers are not stocking up as they have in previous seasons. If this continues, some retailers say that it will affect manufacturing, and in the end the general prosperity of the country will be adversely affected. At the present time the buying lull appears to be entirely in retail business, but unless there is more spirited buying some trade experts think that inertia will spread and seriously affect all industry.

View Put Before Coolidge.

Friends of the Administration, Senators and others who have come to the White House after trips home, report that President Coolidge is being criticised for emphasizing so strongly the need for reducing governmental expenses. They say that business men are entirely in accord with the general attitude of the Administration on economy in Government, but they assert that there is no doubt that the effect of the President's advice on this subject has been, with the general public, the opposite to what he intended. Some White House visitors have been bold enough to put this view before the President, but the impression they gained was that nothing that the President has said could be accepted as advising personal economies.

Senator Fess of Ohio, assistant whip of the Senate, after calling on the President recently, said that there was a let up in business in many sections of the country and that business men had told him that it was due in part to the policy of President Coolidge and his acts. One critic stated that the printing of stories that the President had not bought a new Easter suit and was having his old hat remade had had the psychological effect of inducing many persons who read such an announcement to follow suit. The utterances and acts of the President, some business men say, influence personal savings when the necessity is absent.

Former Governor Allen of Kansas while here last week made the same diagnosis of the retail business situation, and urged that there be less said about economies in the hope that the present psychology might be changed.

The complaint of business men in Washington is particularly severe. Here retail store receipts have been cut sharply, according to report. Many Government departments are discharging employes, and this has injured local business.

Rotary Club Head's Comment.

The attitude of Washington business men is reflected in a statement imputed to William T. Radcliffe, who recently assumed the Presidency of the Washington Rotary Club, and by Representative Martin L. Davey of Ohio. This statement, as reported by Mr. Davey, was:

"Over at the White House another President is preaching economy. I am not going to follow his example, because I can't. The hardest job these business associates of mine down at 907 Sixteenth Street have is to keep me from spending all I earn. I believe in

Mariotti Gets 5 Years for $43,000 Theft; Prospect of Leniency If Losses Are Paid

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 4.—Count Carlo C. Mariotti of Yonkers, former Italian Vice Consul of Westchester County, who pleaded guilty to defrauding fellow countrymen of $43,000 through his private banks in Yonkers and White Plains, was sentenced today by Supreme Court Justice George H. Taylor Jr. of Mount Vernon to an indeterminate term of from five to nine and a half years in Sing Sing Prison.

The possibility that Mariotti may be released before the expiration of the minimum sentence appeared when Justice Taylor said he might intercede with the Governor if further efforts were made by the defendant's relatives and friends to make restitution.

"I could have been much more severe," the Court said. "My interest in the poor people who lost their money is such that I must say that if something more is done to pay them back while this defendant is confined in Sing Sing I may intercede with the Governor to see what can be done in mitigation of sentence."

Prior to the sentence the total defalcation was announced by District Attorney Arthur Rowland as $42,391.38. Of this $19,647.38 had been taken through the Yonkers office and $12,744 through the White Plains branch.

A year and a half ago one of Mariotti's most trusted assistants defaulted in a large amount and then committed suicide. The shortage at that time was $75,000, the attorney told Justice Taylor before sentence. The Court interrupted him to say that "that was where his criminality began."

"He immediately began to steal money to pay back what his assistant had stolen," the Court said.

Counsel for Mariotti said the prisoner had hoped to be able to pay off all of the liabilities created by his assistant. He said that he had succeeded in raising $7,000, of which $5,000 was sent by the defendant's brother in Italy. The remainder was contributed by friends in New York City.

"No matter what his reputation has been or what his character has been, it is no cause to overlook the amount of money that has been stolen," Justice Taylor remarked.

Gen. Andrews Orders Publicity on Smuggling, Abandoning Secrecy in Customs Violations

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Henceforth women detected bringing diamond rings into this country in shoe heels or pearl necklaces concealed in the bodies of dolls will not be able to keep it a secret if the Government finds out about it.

New orders assuring complete publicity on the operations of smugglers were issued today by Brig. Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, the new Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of Customs Service, a duty which includes the conduct of the battle against the rum-runners.

Through a revision of the old orders, secrecy in regard to the findings against smugglers was wiped out by General Andrews, who issued instructions that after investigations had been made and the smugglers found guilty the collectors of internal revenue could give all the facts to the newspapers.

General Andrews believes that publicity given to the action of the smugglers will act as a deterrent, and that when their friends and acquaintances learn of their attempts to defraud the Government the men and women who make a practice of bringing goods in without paying the duty will cease to do so.

Two years ago the Treasury promulgated orders which prevented in many cases the work of the smugglers being known. But today these were amended. The new regulations read in part:

"The right of the press to be advised of administrative action concerning customs activities is fully recognized. It is, however, necessary in many cases to avoid publicity in order to protect both the Government's interests and those of persons involved.

"In applying these paragraphs to offenses against the customs laws the Collector may give the press information of the details in any given case after he has completed his investigation and the case has closed with a finding against the offender."

MOBILIZE DRY FLEET FOR BIG LIQUOR DRIVE

Fifty Fighting Ships Ready to Launch Offensive to Break Up Rum Armada.

ALL VESSELS WELL ARMED

Crews Are Shifted Suddenly as the Time Nears for "Starvation" Campaign.

Fifty fighting ships awaited word off Staten Island last night to launch the greatest anti-rum offensive this port has seen since the first dowdy-looking liquor schooner dropped anchor outside Sandy Hook and Rum Row began, with its murders and brawls, in that rendezvous of the sea's scourings.

The fleet was called from regular patrols along the coast, and the cutters and fast launches, destroyers and submarine chasers made an imposing threatening array lying out from Piers 17 and 18 at Stapleton. Provisions were being hoisted aboard, and following a conference of executive officers the crews of all boats were suddenly shifted about so that scarcely a ship retained more than two of its original enlisted personnel.

"For the good of the service," was the somewhat cryptic explanation vouchsafed by officers.

The wholesale transfer, which was entirely unexpected, led to reports that the fleet would steam for Rum Row at dawn this morning. Reports in this city, however, had the time of departure as tonight, with a "starvation and surveillance" blockade of the liquor freighters scheduled to start tomorrow morning.

Plan Stronger Measures.

The fact that "stronger measures" were contemplated in the Coast Guard warfare on the rum ships was admitted by Captain W. V. E. Jacobs, New York Divisional Commandant of the Coast Guard, after he visited the guard base at Stapleton and inspected the Federal vessels. He had a long conference with Captain John Bryan, in command of the base.

"We have been making efforts during the past year," said Captain Jacobs, "to stop the rum fleet from landing illicit goods. However, we have found it necessary to take stronger measures than were employed. For this reason the fleet is being assembled in a more efficient manner. This is made possible with the new equipment which is at our command."

Captain Jacobs denied that orders had been issued to his men to "shoot first and ask questions afterward." He said that the purpose of the fleet was to maintain a constant watch on the ships of the rum armada and thus harry them. Small boats would be fearful to make contact with the liquor vessels with a Federal ship standing by, since mere contact would enable the Coast Guard craft to seize the small boat.

It was learned that the Federal squadrons, when ready to put out to scrutinize the rusty tramps and dingy schooners of the row, would consist of ten cutters and about forty smaller ships. Eight of the cutters were off Staten Island last night. They were the Gresham, Mojave, Redwing, Seminole, Seneca, Tallapoosa, Yamacan and Acushnett. Each of the cutters is equipped with two six-inch guns, two anti-aircraft guns, four one-pounders and machine guns. There is a crew of about seventy on each vessel.

Crews Object to Transfers.

There were thirty-two "picket" boats at the Staten Island base. Each carries a crew of from five to twelve men, with a boatswain in charge. Their armament consisted of one-pounders and machine guns.

The operations of the rum-fighting fleet will be directed from Coast Guard headquarters in the Barge Office, which has jurisdiction along the coast from Section Base No. 1, which is the supply ship Pickering, stationed at Atlantic City, to the supply ship Argus, at Section Base No. 2, at Staten Island.

The shifting of the crews occasioned some grumbling among the men, some of whom had been shipmates since their enlistment. The order for the transfer was received from Washington at 5 P. M., and the men were lined up on the pier heads for reassignment.

While officers would not go beyond their statement that the shifting had been done to improve the efficiency of the service, it was intimated that this step, like the general offensive, had been decided upon as a result of the visit last week of General Lincoln C. Andrews, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of Federal anti-liquor activities. Secretary Andrews inspected the Staten Island base and then journeyed to New London, where he made a searching inspection of personnel and ships.

At the present time there are about a

JACK'S FAMOUS CAFE CLOSES ITS DOORS

"I'm Nearly 72 and I'm Going to Take a Rest," Says the Proprietor.

ALL THE OLD-TIMERS GONE

Quitting After 34 Years, Dunstan Asserts the Old Place Has Changed.

Jack's, in Sixth Avenue at Forty-third Street, where once the most wide-awake of New York's late revelers went or waited for Irish bacon and scrambled eggs on many an all-but-forgotten morning, was closed last night, or, rather, this morning.

Jack himself announced, suddenly, at the dinner hour that his restaurant opposite the Hippodrome would be closed at 1 o'clock this morning, or, maybe at 2 o'clock, for Jack was never a man to hurry a guest out, and that after that Jack would take things easy.

Jack John Dunstan is his name, ruddy faced and white haired, with his white mustache waxed as carefully as it ever was and the same fresh white flower in his dinner coat, walked between the rows of tables in the four rooms of the restaurant on his last night there, keeping his eyes as alert as usual to see that every patron got good service.

"I'm getting old," he explained in the brogue he has never lost. "I'm nearly 72, and I'm going to take a rest. I've been here since 1891, working every day, and here I am a man with thirteen grandchildren and one great-grandchild. It's time I took things easy. I'm going to see something of my family. Maybe I'll take some of the boys who have been working here with me and go to Europe."

He would not admit prohibition had anything to do with his decision to shut up.

The Old-Timers Gone.

"I don't want to talk about that," he said, "but the old place's changed. Broadway has changed. All the old-timers are gone, dead or scattered. The town's full of cafeterias. Men don't seem to care much for good food like they did in the old days. And—this property is getting too valuable for a restaurant. No, I don't know what I'll do with it—maybe I'll give it to my son, William. But, anyway, I'm closing her up tonight."

And when the doors closed New York lost the most picturesque of its old-time eating places.

In Jack's in the old days, which did not anticipate prohibition for a sophisticated town like New York, gathered the luminaries of an era which named Broadway the Great White Way. There met the actors, the prize fighters, the racing men, the writers, the gamblers, the men-about-town and their women friends for solid food and honest drink. Outside waited hansom cabs in the twinkling of the red and green lights from the Hippodrome across the street, while overhead intermittently roared the elevated to make the talk louder if not gayer.

The food was good and filling and intended for men. So were the drinks, but women were welcome and made comfortable even if one of the numerous Jims who have been headwaiters there had to call upon the famous "flying wedge" of waiters to clear the room of a party of men who had so far forgot themselves as to make a lady seem to wish she hadn't come. Jack's was picturesque but respectable, and, no matter where one started the night in those days before night clubs and couvert charges, one always ended it at Jack's for bacon and eggs.

Murals by E. S. Simmons.

But not everything at Jack's was for men or for women either. On his walls were murals for children—the story of Little Red Riding Hood in a series of panels in oil, illustrations of stories by Hans Andersen and the brothers Grimm, and all of them done by one of America's foremost mural painters, Edward S. Simmons, cousin of Ralph Waldo Emerson, whose work is also in the Congressional Library, the State House at Boston, on the walls of the Criminal Courts Building, the Minnesota State Capitol even as much of it is on the walls of Jack's.

In other rooms, however, hung antlers, skins of wild beasts, stuffed fowl and fish and a sven a bull pup which once trotted at Jack's heels, and it was above these rooms that prohibition agents in 1922 seized $100,000 worth of whisky, asserting that Jack sold not only whisky but also beer. It was said then Jack would close, but he did not. The jury found the liquor was his personal property intended for the use of himself and his bona fide guests in his apartment

BUYING OLD MANSION LEADS TO A QUARREL IN COLONIAL DAMES

Mrs. H. P. Loomis, the President, Refuses to Run for Another Term.

CRITICIZED FOR PURCHASE

Historic Adams House Near a Gas Plant Fails to Find Favor With All Members.

SHE OFFERS TO BUY IT

Mrs. Lewis Livingston Delafield Also to Retire, and Secretary Quits for Trip to Europe.

A division in the ranks of the Colonial Dames of America was disclosed yesterday when it was admitted that at a meeting last Thursday Mrs. Henry P. Loomis, the President, and Miss Effie Borrowe, the Secretary, had refused to be considered for re-election. The Presidency was assumed by Mrs. Charles Lawrence Riker.

Diverging views of members on the acquisition of the Adams mansion, 421 East Sixty-first Street, as a clubhouse caused the trouble. The organization recently moved from 65 Park Avenue to the mansion, built when New York was young and that part of town was a garden spot. The new home is shadowed by two immense storage tanks of the Consolidated Gas Company. Some members opposed buying the property from the Consolidated for $45,000 on the ground that it put too great a financial strain on the society.

In a speech announcing her retirement as President and the refusal of Mrs. Lewis Livingston Delafield to run for re-election to the Vice Presidency, Mrs. Loomis said that "the need to harmonize conflicting opinions and bring the society out on a firm basis of recognized rule and order, efficiently manned in all its various parts, is a heavier task than I can undertake."

Mrs. Loomis, who as President of the Monday Opera Supper Club sponsored the recent visit of the Grand Duchess Cyril of Russia, bluntly assumed responsibility for the move to new headquarters. She said there "had been those, not many, who thought the purchase of the house a very unwise thing," naming Miss Borrowe as one who had voiced that opinion.

"It has been mooted abroad," continued Mrs. Loomis, "by some of the managers that I had nothing to do with the purchase of the house, that it was done by others. I am willing to assume full responsibility for the idea of the purchase of the house at this period in the history of the society, even of this particular house, for the fact remains, in face of any argument, the first move made toward buying a house by the society was started as soon as I became President, and never before, in thirty years, as far as I know."

Offers to Buy It.

After telling of other sites that had been inspected, including the old Alexander Hamilton house, Mrs. Loomis went on:

"In brief, I desire to say to the members that upon leaving the position of President I could not consent to have it justly said by any one that I have saddled the society, either directly or indirectly, with an added burden, and then left them to carry it without me, particularly now that there can be no vote to increase the dues until 1926.

"I therefore offer to buy the house myself, and to pay back to the society, dollar for dollar, every penny they have put into it and every dollar which it may have cost them up to the present time, only excepting the interest from December until now, when they have occupied the building. Every other dollar which has been paid out in connection with and for the house and property I will reimburse the society.

"This offer stands for thirty days from today. If you accept it there will be no need to raise your dues. You will go back to the tranquil and static conditions in which you were when I became your President, without additional financial burden or worry. If you do not accept my offer I call upon every member of the society to realize and to acknowledge that I am cleared of all responsibility in this matter of owning property by the society from now on. You will, by this act, have

BILL ATTACKED IN HOUSE

Churchill, Answering Snowden, Declares Gold Basis Will Benefit England as Well as America.

Copyright, 1925, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 4.—The House of Commons was crowded today when the Labor ex-Chancellor of the Exchequer, Philip Snowden, moved his amendment calling for the rejection of the Gold Standard bill on the ground that the Government had acted with "undue precipitancy" which might "aggravate the existing grave condition of unemployment and trade depression."

Walter Guinness, Financial Secretary to the Treasury, gave to the House particulars of the emergency credits conditionally arranged in America to protect sterling exchange. One was credit with the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, which has undertaken to give the Bank of England a revolving credit of $200,000,000 for two years from May 10, or the date of the British Government's guarantee, whichever was latest.

The second credit was an arrangement with a syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan & Co. for a revolving credit of two years.

Mr. Guinness added that Great Britain had practical exchange parity with the United States and very nearly purchasing power parity for the difference between American and British price levels was becoming small by degrees.

Snowden Attacks Gold Standard Bill.

Mr. Snowden in moving his resolution said the object was to disassociate himself from any trouble which might result from the adoption of the bill. He was not opposed to a return to the gold standard, but the step at such a time was the continuance of the too hasty policy of deflation which had "ruined thousands of businesses" for the benefit of the renter.

Mr. Snowden said he voiced the fears of many people, that owing to the heavy reserves of gold in the United States this country might be flooded with American gold. There was nothing to prevent that being done, he said, provided exchange made it profitable. He also was unable to understand why the Treasury should have bought dollars in sufficient quantity to meet the next two instalments of interest on the American debt. It showed lack of confidence in its own proposals, he thought. It would have been cheaper to buy dollars when sterling was at par than when it was at a discount, and Britain must lose very considerably by the transaction, he added.

Mr. Snowden was also afraid the return to the gold standard might lead to the export of too much gold, in which case the Bank of England rate would have to be raised in order to protect Great Britain's gold reserves, with disastrous effects upon industrial credits.

Sir Robert Horne, Unionist ex-Chancellor of the Exchequer, was in entire disagreement with Snowden. He pointed otu the fact that many other countries were adopting or had adopted the gold standard and if Great Britain had said she was not ready, the consequences to her credit and industry would be disastrous.

"While it is good for America that this country should return to the gold standard at the present time," he said, "it is also a good thing for us, and the better it is for America the more

Park Av. Church Chimes Tested in England; Rockefeller Gift Likened to Bruges Bells

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES

LONDON, May 4.—The first concert on the carillon of fifty-three bells to be erected in the Park Avenue Baptist Church of New York City as result of the donation to the church by John D. Rockefeller Jr. in memory of his mother was given today at Gillett & Johnston's foundry in Croydon.

Chevalier J. E. F. Denyn, the famous carillonneur of Malines, had come over specially to try out the bells, and those who heard them were delighted with his recital. The bells were set up in heavy frames in the foundry and fitted with a keyboard not unlike an organ console, except that wooden handles took the place of ivory keys and the usual pedals.

Denyn, slipping off his coat and placing a handkerchief under his collar, played by snatching one handle after another with the curved small finger of his clenched fist. Sometimes he would grasp one handle firmly for a few seconds, but generally his hands were flying backward and forward over the handle board with inconceivable rapidity.

His program brought out all the capabilities of the carillon. First, he improvised and the bells sounded like a great zither with deep, underlying harmonies and gentle, sprightly melodies. The sweet tone of the smaller bells was particularly noticeable, and one who knew Bruges well declared they seemed to him to sound more absolutely in tune than even that world-famous carillon.

A number from Rossini's "Barbier de Seville" came next, and its tripping measures contrasted finely with the stream of molten metal which seemed to pour forth as Denyn played the "Ave Maria" of his own composition. Only when he went on to "Rule Britannia" did the limitations of the carillon become manifest. The resonance of the bells interfered with the curious runs which mark that air.

The bells and frames are to be shipped this month and Anton Breen, the carrillonneur of Antwerp Cathedral, has been engaged permanently to play them in New York. The heaviest of the bells is nine and one-quarter tons and the total weight of the peal is fifty tons. The frames weigh another fifty tons. They cover four and a half chromatic scales, their smallest being high A, weighing only fifteen pounds. The bourdon bell, or bass note, is low B.

HOUGHTON DEMANDS PEACE IN EUROPE OR OUR AID CEASES

Tells Pilgrims in London We Must Have Assurance of a Policy of Upbuilding.

EMPHASIZES MONEY AID

Declaration Is Extolled by London Press, Which Sees Warning to France or Germany.

ENVOY CONSULTED COOLIDGE

Copyright, 1925, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 4.—Alanson B. Houghton, the new American Ambassador to Great Britain, tonight warned Europe that America is questioning whether Europe's destructive methods and policies have been abandoned for those of peaceful upbuilding. If the assurances of peace is not forthcoming, he said, "I fear those helpful processes which are now in motion must cease."

The Ambassador spoke at a dinner given by the Pilgrims' Society. It was his first public welcome in this country. There was a representative gathering to meet him.

Mr. Houghton read his reply from a typewritten manuscript. The manner of delivery hardly detracted from the quality of the matter contained in his speech. His audience generally thought more of what he said than of how he said it. It was the unanimous opinion that the new representative of the United States was a worthy successor in the line of American Ambassadors to the Court of St. James.

The Duke of York represented the King. Stanley Baldwin, who as Prime Minister of a government which was elected by a great majority of the population, and who, individually, as well as it is possible for one individual to characterize a community, does typify a national thought, was among the guests.

Ramsay MacDonald, the former Prime Minister, whose views are the embodiment of aspirations of a world looking to an improvement upon old conditions which most of the world recognizes are out of date, was there also, and between Mr. Baldwin and Mr. MacDonald there was no difference of view as to the part which America could play in the reconstruction of a world distraught by past war and by fears of future war.

Mr. MacDonald proposed the toast of the Chairman, Lord Desborough. He did not know, he said, what the future might bring, but he shared the opinions of the American Ambassador. If the two countries did their duty in the right way that lay at their feet, they could leave the issues to God himself. The thing that was quite certain, he said, was that when storms came and clouds threatened, if reason and good will stood at the helm of both of their Ships of State there was no fear of wreckage.

Baldwin Avoids Sentiment.

Mr. Baldwin gave the impression of speaking from a practical common sense point of view based upon fundamental facts of existence. He represented the realities. There was no sentiment in his speech. He was the average Englishman believing in honest endeavor and straight dealing. His conviction was that the average American thought along the same lines as the average Englishman.

Behind all, Mr. Baldwin said was a vision of what two great countries with similar ideals could accomplish in perfecting an imperfect world. He said that the Englishman was not a great talker and he left it to be inferred that eloquence was not the ultimate desideratum of a world whose young men and young women were growing up with the hope of living peaceful and prosperous lives.

Stanley Baldwin has been growing in British eyes into something like an incarnation of British sentiment and British opinion as to what is necessary if not only this country but the outside world is to be made worth while. He is the idealist garbed in the raiment of a practical business man.

His speech at the Pilgrims' dinner, as reported by the stenographers, may give an inadequate impression of what he conveyed. After referring to Ambassador Houghton's work in post-war Europe, and mentioning, incidentally, that Mr. Houghton was "more familiar than many of your City men" with the problems which remain for solution, the Prime Minister said, addressing the American Ambassador:

"In this country, you will find that war has imposed on us, as on our allies, certain duties of reconstruction and reorganisation on this side of a disheveled world. Those duties we and our children stand pledged to fulfil, and we can promise you while you are here, nothing spectacular in our lives and nothing grandiose, but the day-to-day labor which lies before all statesmen of Europe and before all peoples.

Britain Realizes Cost of Victory.

"We trust that the end to be achieved may not be unworthy of the efforts which we make, and that the people of this country will not be unworthy of the sires who begat them. If, in consequence, you should find us a little absorbed and somewhat inarticulate, for we are not a race of talkers, remember that our silence does not mean subtlety.

"We are not a nation of machiavellians," continued Mr. Baldwin. "Few thoughts have we which we keep from the world, but those that we keep to ourselves have to do with our own lives. And we do not display our wounds in public. I think the principal key to these times of puzzle and distress is perhaps this, that our people are slowly realizing what it means, under modern conditions, to have won a war.

In Notre Dame in Paris, there recently has been erected a tablet to the memory of the 1,000,000 dead from the British Empire. One million dead, a greater number of whom lie in France. We are realizing now what that means. War and above the personal loss in the years that lie behind us, we feel their loss every day in our industry, in our politics in the working of our national life, so that we have little time to think about the loss of wealth and dislocation of our trade. One thing we do feel is that we never need again, in our lifetime, respond to that sentence in the litany that asks us for deliverance in the time of our wealth.

"These things that are spoken of are the very reasons that ought to bring together your nation and ours more closely, more intimately, than they have ever been brought together. For you realize, as we realize—and you will not misunderstand me when I say that we must realize—even more than you that war is a bloody and cursed thing. It must be driven from the world it is can be driven; and above all, as I believe, by the cooperation of our two nations for that purpose.

"No understanding between us can be too close and too complete. That understanding we have in this room among the Pilgrims, but it is not common yet to all men on either side of the Atlantic."

Praises Help on Gold Standard.

Premier Baldwin went on: "Those asides that are uttered by individuals and in the press are veiled as between us and foreign countries by the decent obscurity of a foreign tongue. They have to be hunted up and translated before they can be served to us and in the translation they lose, it may quote from the expressive vocabulary of your people, they lose their 'pep.'

"I trust you will look on these things as I do. I pay no attention to them. They leave me cold. I feel sure those things in America will be received exactly with the same shrug of the shoulders and the some contemptuous smile that they are in this country. I am quite sure that events are moving rapidly, as events do nowadays, in both countries to this end, the end of a better and completer and more rational understanding of each other, of each other's aims and ideals and each other's standpoints."

The Prime Minister then dealt with "only one thing more, to punctuate what I have said."

"I have seen, to my infinite regret," he said, "that observations have been made in this country with reference to the attitude the Government is taking upon the restoration of the gold standard to try to persuade our people that we are putting ourselves in pawn to America and making remarks about the good faith of America in this matter that I am ashamed should have been made by any Englishman.

"And I wish to say publicly at this dinner that when I remember the men responsible in America for working with us in the restoration of the gold standard, which in itself is taking a long step forward to the restoration of normal trade throughout the world, we are dealing principally with three Americans, Mr. Mellon, the Secretary of the Treasury; the Governor of the Federal Reserve Bank, and Messrs. Morgan. I should like to state as my convinced opinion that in those men we are dealing with men than whom there are none in the world who stand higher for financial ability and financial and moral rectitude. I would trust each and all of them no more and no less than I would trust the Governor of the Bank of England and those who have taken this matter in hand in this country."

In conclusion Mr. Baldwin offered to Ambassador Houghton a welcome "very friendly and ample to this little corner of the world from which your ancestors came."

TEXT OF HOUGHTON'S SPEECH.

LONDON, May 4 (Associated Press).—In his address at the Pilgrim's dinner tonight Ambassador Houghton spoke as follows:

"I rise, naturally, with some embarrassment. I realize that I have done nothing to deserve this welcome. But I am comforted by the reflection that no man receiving it could possibly appropriate it to himself, for it is for the President, who sends me here, and the great people I have the honor to represent, as well as on my own behalf, I thank you.

"It was Lord Lyons, I believe, who said that the proudest feather in his cap was the fact that he had left America without making a single speech. My own record is not so good. But I take a certain pride, nevertheless, in the fact that I left Germany with only one speech to my credit, and that in English. It is instances like these, after all, which make diplomacy so attractive to the diplomat and to the people to which he is accredited.

"Tonight, of course, it does not count. This dinner has come to be something more than a mere occasion of hospitality. It has become, in fact, a significant, if unofficial, step in the routine whereby an American Ambassador takes office. And I should be within tradition, I suspect, if I undertook now to say something about Anglo-American relations.

"But what is there to say? James Russell Lowell, in one of his essays, speaks of 'the difficulty of beguiling a new melody out of the one-stringed instrument upon which we have been thrumming so long.' I take the quotation, of course, quite apart from the context. I am sure Lowell did not have this evening in mind.

"But, when I began to ask myself what I could say to you tonight, and by some unconscious cerebration that long forgotten phrase of his came to my mind, it did seem to describe a possible situation with some accuracy. I say possible, for I fancy that the much thrummed instrument still is somewhere about the premises; I could, I dare say, if pushed to it, essay a few variations on its single string—and the audience is here and helpless. But, frankly, I see neither use nor propriety in such an effort; I am not enamored of the obvious.

Our Friendship No Tender Plant.

"I cannot bring myself to think that you need assurance from me of American good-will and understanding; rather does it seem to me that there are relations between the English-speaking peoples which we may safely take for granted and regarding which a certain reticence is instinctive, and in my poor opinion, desirable. I believe wholeheartedly that tangled up and involved in these friendly relations is the promise of a better and happier world.

"But, surely, the time is past when we need to dig up this friendship, as it were, on festive occasions, to examine the roots and felicitate ourselves on their growth and vitality. It is not a tender plant; it has endured through days which meant deeds rather than words. We have no reason to anticipate its untimely demise. But I will confess to you that in moments of rare and solitary self-communion I sometimes wonder if it were not well that it be spared the scorching winds of after-dinner oratory.

"I am going to assume, therefore, that you will not expect me to refer specifically to 'Hands across the sea,' or 'Blood is thicker than water,' or even to 'Our common law.' I hesitate, but I think we might perhaps usefully include also 'the language of Shakespeare,' which neither of us uses. No doubt there are others. With your permission I shall lay them all aside.

"What I do want to say a word about is the attitude of the plain people of America toward the reconstruction of Europe. I think that is important, because the American Foreign Offices are in a very literal sense, the homes of the American people, and because in these homes matters are discussed and decisions reached which, in the end, determine the attitude of the American Government.

"I feel the desire because every now and then either hear or read a statement which seems to imply that America's relation to the problem of reconstruction is substantially that of a participant in a gigantic game of skill, in which it behooves her to play her cards very warily, lest suddenly and without their knowledge—the American people find themselves subject to heavy penalties. I may say frankly that is not my own view.

Points to Europe's Recent Progress.

"I doubt if the American people look upon their venture in reconstruction in any such fashion. Their viewpoint is much more like your own. They, like you, are contemplating the slow recovery of a world which has been badly hurt morally and physically by war. If material progress hitherto has been slow we can at least congratulate ourselves that it has been sure.

"As we cast our eyes backward over the past year, for instance, we note a really encouraging measure. The fundamental necessity that the peoples of Central Europe shall be enabled once again to go to work has been met; capital, without which the other factors of production could not be made to operate, has been supplied; currency values have been largely stabilized. Your own long-sustained and magnificent effort to place your money on a gold basis has been crowned with success.

"Order has been established, and while to some extent the disorganization of international trade and markets, which came as a natural consequence of the war, still persists, marked improvement has been shown even here. It has been a somewhat trying time. We have, no doubt, learned a good deal in the process. That much at least we can put among our assets. But the heavy work is done, the foundations of a new prosperity have been laid.

"Nevertheless, what remains to be done is almost as difficult as what has already been accomplished. It involves considerations which are more or less intangible; it involves, in particular, a changed attitude of mind, for what the war destroyed was not only human lives, dreadful as was the toll, nor property, nor the forces of government. It destroyed for the moment belief in one another's good faith, and good faith is the cement which binds civilizations together. Without it, units, whether individual or national, simply fall apart.

"If human society is to function again as a whole, that good faith must at least be assumed. Peace cannot come from without; it must come from within.

"Now, we in America, as you know, are not wholly without experience in the kind of problems that have been tormenting Europe. We know the meaning of the wreckage and devastation a great war brings in its train; we know what it means to borrow capital under difficult conditions; we know the meaning of depreciated money, for we, saw our paper dollar shrink in value until it took almost three of those dollars to buy one gold dollar.

"We know wholly the natural unrest and resentment which these unhappy conditions create and foster. And that knowledge, naturally enough, has taught us to look upon the aftermath of the war in Europe sympathetically and with an honest desire to help.

"But—we, too, are a practical people. When we lent our savings to make it possible for the peoples of Central Europe to get to work it was because we knew that only in this way could Europe as a whole be made to function economically. When we lent our savings to rebuild the markets which had been destroyed it was because we knew that in no other way could they again be enjoyed. That was necessary in the beginning; that was mere common sense. If we went at the job with a certain moral earnestness, let that go to our credit.

"It is natural for us to assume that those who have suffered so much from war should seek a settlement which so far as is humanly possible should be free from conditions leading directly to war. To that end and in that spirit we have helped. But we have never forgotten that there was a limit beyond which we could not go.

What America Wants of Europe.

"The full measure of American helpfulness can be obtained only when the American people are assured that the time for destructive methods and policies has passed and that the time for peaceful upbuilding has come. They are asking themselves if that time has in fact arrived. And that question they cannot today answer. The answer must be given to them. It must come from the peoples of Europe, who alone can make the decision.

"If the answer is peace, then you may be sure that America will help to her generous utmost. But if—which God forbid—that answer shall continue confused and doubtful, then I fear that those helpful processes which are now in motion must inevitably cease.

"We are not, as a people, interested in making speculative advances. We can undertake to help only those who try to help themselves. And in saying this we are not thinking specifically of any one nation, but rather of a situation in which all are alike involved.

"Now with the working out of that problem in its details, the American people have no will nor desire to meddle. They recognize that into it factors enter with which they are only indirectly concerned. Their geographical position alone frees them from considerations which other nations must regard. They offer no advice. But I may say to you that they hope and that they fervently pray that a peace may soon be reached—not a peace of mere contrivance and arrangement based primarily on force, for that would merely be the prelude to another war, but a peace which contains the elements of permanency—a peace which will deserve and receive the moral support of mankind because it is just.

"And they believe that such a peace can come in only one way. It must be based upon the assumption of good faith by all who participate in it. That assumption may be larger, or it may be smaller, but in proportion as men seek to eliminate it altogether their work will be in vain. For now, as always, peace can come only through mutual and hopeful endeavor. Peace is an adventure in faith.

"Let me again express my warm and grateful appreciation of your generous hospitality. Never before, I think, have the relations between our peoples been so closely and so firmly knit. I look forward with happy anticipation to my life among you. I shall strive to carry on the noble traditions established by that long line of distinguished Americans who have preceded me here.

"Be assured that I take up my work among you in the full confidence that any differences of opinion which may arise between our Governments will be met in that spirit of fairness and frankness which has characterized their dealings in the past, and which I believe merely reflects the desire of our two peoples, like self-respecting neighbors, to get through the day's work with a minimum of bickering overwhelmed by a maximum of good-will. Again I thank you."

BRITISH PRESS LAUDS STAND.

Sees Houghton Warning Applying to France and Germany.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON (Tuesday), May 5.—That the friendly relations between the American and British peoples are a fact, "probably the most substantial fact in international politics today," as The London Times says, is accepted as axiomatic by the British press today in its editorial opinion.

There were vague suggestions in the comment heard after Ambassador Houghton's speech last night that he had delivered a warning to France that militarism was a bugbear in American eyes and that until America was convinced that Europe wanted to walk the paths of peace her full assistance in European reconstruction would be withheld. The French reaction to Mr. Houghton's speech is awaited before conclusions are drawn here.

The London Times editorially says:

"America has already taken a definite part in European reconstruction. In doing so she has closely cooperated with Great Britain. During the past year this joint effort has yielded definite results.

"Progress toward recovery has been quickened in Central Europe, and, in Germany, the heavy work is done, says Mr. Houghton. The foundations of a new prosperity have been laid out and here the instincts of the British and American peoples are absolutely at one. These foundations can only be firmly laid on good faith.

"This warning that the American people will hold aloof or will return to aloofness if there are any symptoms of a revival of the destructive methods and policies is altogether timely.

"The probable effect of recent political changes in Europe is not yet clear. There are difficulties ahead and the security of the Dawes scheme itself, which has so greatly contributed to progress in Europe during the last year, is still exposed to the vicissitudes of political conflict inside and outside of Germany. In the application of the Dawes plan the American people have played an important part. Here they have worked definitely side by side with Great Britain.

"This authoritative reminder that good faith and a real desire for peace are absolutely necessary if active American interest in Europe is to be developed and confirmed is of great weight at the present moment. It is, moreover, entirely in accordance with the distinctive trend of British opinion.

"Mr. Houghton's significant speech is of far greater direct political value than the torrent of rhetoric on the old theme of Anglo-American relations. Evidently the new Ambassador means business."

The Daily Telegraph says:

"It is to be remembered that Mr. Houghton, since he left the Embassy in Berlin earlier in the year, has been in conference at Washington with President Coolidge, whose intimate friend and trusted political associate he is. There can be no doubt that the Pilgrims' banquet had been chosen as the occasion for a declaration of the first order of importance.

"We shall imitate the discretion of the Ambassador in leaving undeveloped and without special application what can but be described as a seriously warning appeal. There is no nation that is not involved in the situation of which the Ambassador speaks and none that would not be the better for heeding on ear to the counsel which he conveys.

"Now as always peace can come only as a result of mutual and hopeful endeavor."

The Morning Post considers that Germany is the country particularly aimed at in Mr. Houghton's speech in which he said: "Peace is adventure in faith."

"Mr. Houghton is too keen a student of European affairs," it says, "not to know that it was a breach of faith which led to the great war and that it was a profound skepticism regarding the good faith of the nation which caused the war that led to the taking of stern precautions in the Treaty of Versailles and to the hesitancy of the allied Government to accept the promises, excuses and evasions of the German statesmen.

"The consequences of a breach of faith last much longer than those which may follow from it. After all, in this matter we have to reckon with the feelings and suspicions of the countries which have been almost wrecked by the criminal enterprises of men who looked upon war as a national industry.

"We are dealing with an academic question, not with some detached and airy world of gnomes and sylphs, but with Germans and Frenchmen and Englishmen whose mentality has been profoundly affected by the tragic events which led up to and attended the war.

"Mr. Houghton in his remarks was careful to announce that he and his countrymen were not thinking of any one nation, but rather of a situation in which all alike are involved.

"In that respect all Frenchmen and most Englishmen approach the problem from a very different standpoint. They do think of one nation, and that nation is Germany—the nation which was responsible for the war and a large number of whose rulers are not at all averse to having another."

THINKS SPEECH AUTHORIZED.

Washington Believes Houghton Spoke for Administration.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The speech made by Ambassador Houghton in London was taken in Washington as a clear indication of the attitude of the Administration and one almost certainly outlined to the Ambassador at the White House and State Department, with both of which he was in close consultation before he left this city.

No one here who pretended to know expressed any idea that the new representative to the Court of St. James's was voicing an individual view, but to all intents was acting under instructions. Secretary Kellogg would not comment on the speech and no information was forthcoming at the White House as to the attitude of both is surmised to be that spoken by the Ambassador.

Ambassador Houghton's statement that the plain people of the United States are watching the European situation with eagerness and intelligence is known to be an utterance in perfect sympathy with the White House. President Coolidge places enduring faith in the judgments of the ordinary men and women who make up the bulk of the nation; he believes their common sense is to be relied upon.

Senator Shipstead of Minnesota, who is a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, was pleased that the Ambassador had made the position of this country plain.

"I am glad that Ambassador Houghton has spoken plainly," he said. "The views he expressed I have held ever since the signing of the armistice.

"I know we are being accused of being selfish isolationists, but what other policy can we pursue if Europe insists upon going back to its own vomit."

On of those who expressed the opinion that Ambassador Houghton was speaking for the Administration was Senator Borah, Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, who said: "I find myself in thorough accord with the views of Ambassador Houghton," he said. "Not only did he outline a sound policy for the United States, but it is a sound and a sympathetic policy for Europe to follow. In other words, it is to Europe's interest to help herself if she wants the continued help of the United States."

While Ambassador Houghton was here he held lengthy conference with him, the Senator said, and added that he was "immensely impressed" with the new Ambassador.

Senator Willis of Ohio, another member of the Foreign Relations Committee, supported the Houghton speech. He said:

"Ambassador Houghton has expressed the sentiments of more than 95 per cent. of the people of the United States, and I stoutly agree with his views. This country will help to buy bread for Europe, but it is unwilling to buy bullets."

NEW POSTAL RATE HEARINGS

Congress Committee Will Begin Series at Capital July 20.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Hearings looking to a permanent revision of the postal rates to take care of the $88,000,000 increase in salaries to postal employes will be opened by the Joint Committee of the Senate and House here on July 20 and carried forward in half a dozen or more cities, East, South and West.

The hearings are authorized in the temporary postal pay and rate increase measure passed at the last session of Congress.

Chairman Moses of the Joint Congressional Committee announced today that from Washington the committee will go to Atlanta, Ga.; Philadelphia, New York, Augusta, Me.; Buffalo, Chicago and St. Paul.

CHALLENGES RIGHT TO GIVE GOLD CREDIT

Crosby Says If Bank's Money Is for British Government, Congress Should Pass on It.

QUOTES CHURCHILL'S WORDS

Precedent Might Be Embarrassing in Dealing With Other Governments, Former Treasury Official Asserts.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The authority of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York to arrange for a credit of $200,000,000 in favor of the Bank of England in connection with the re-establishment of the gold standard by Great Britain without action by Congress, was questioned today in a statement by Oscar T. Crosby, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in the Wilson Administration and one of the American financial advisers abroad during the war.

In building up his argument Mr. Crosby quotes from a statement attributed to Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer of Great Britain, that he (Churchill) had made arrangements to obtain credits of $300,000,000 or more from the United States. This statement Mr. Crosby interprets as possibly meaning that the credits established by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York are to be reloaned to the British Government by the Bank of England, and if that proves to be so Mr. Crosby feels that the transaction is "directly charged with political value."

The position attributed to the Federal Reserve Board that it has no right of supervision over the Federal Reserve Bank of New York in the transaction also is questioned by Mr. Crosby, and he further expresses the hope that future developments will show that there has not been established a precedent which may prove embarrassing where other foreign nations are involved.

Mr. Crosby's statement covers the credits of $200,000,000 provided for the Bank of England by the New York Federal Reserve Bank, and also the credit of $100,000,000 provided directly for the British Government by J. P. Morgan & Co. In the latter transaction Mr. Crosby says the people have no direct right or interest to inquire.

Crosby's Statement.

The statement by Mr. Crosby reads:

"Last week's headlines announced a financial event of great importance. A credit established by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York of about $24 per capita for every person in the United States and in favor of the Bank of England has been described as being a weighty contribution to the replacing of the pound sterling on a gold basis.

"The exact language used by Mr. Strong, Governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, as quoted in the press, is as follows:

"'In connection with the re-establishment of a free gold market in London, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York has completed an arrangement in which other Reserve banks will participate, to place $200,000,000 gold at the disposal of the Bank of England if desired. It is believed that this will be an effective aid toward general resumption of gold payments.'

"The corresponding announcement by J. P. Morgan & Co. is as follows:

"'In connection with the re-establishment of a free gold market in London the British Government has arranged a credit of $100,000,000 with J. P. Morgan & Co.'

"It is to be noted in the first case the Bank of England is mentioned as the beneficiary of whatever transactions in detail may result from the placing at their disposal by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York of $200,000,000 in gold.

"In the second case it is the British Government directly which obtains a credit from a private bank concern.

"Mr. Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, is quoted in cable dispatches as saying:

"'I have made arrangements to obtain, if required, credits from the United States of not less than $300,000,000, with a possibility of expansion, if need be.'

"The unity of the transaction into which the two New York establishments have entered is thus indicated, although no information has thus far appeared from any source that I have seen as to the detailed method in which these credits are to be used.

"Into the business of J. P. Morgan & Co. in this matter the public has no direct right or interest to inquire.

Public Interest in Reserve Bank.

"We are concerned, however, in the operations of the Federal Reserve system, whose resources are held in a sort of partnership between the American public and certain private banks.

"Suppose that the language quoted above from Governor Strong means only that his bank has agreed to purchase prime commercial bills bearing the endorsement of the Bank of England, and carrying also, perhaps a guarantee against possible losses due to fluctuations of exchanges. In this case the bank will be exercising its statutory right, and no political question would be involved, save that of the propriety of devoting for a time $200,000,000 of American resources to an investment which would not normally have been made, but which is now entered into to subserve the announced purpose of stabilizing British currency.

"If, however, the words in question mean that a loan is to be made to the Bank of England for the express purpose of relending this sum to the British Government, the business becomes more directly charged with political value. Note that Mr. Churchill's words are:

"'I have made arrangements,' &c. In this case Mr. Churchill's 'I' is in fact the British Government.

"With the objective held in view by all the parties to this transaction, most of us, I think, are in hearty sympathy. It remains, however, for the American people to consider how far, and under what conditions, they desire that their public resources should be placed, for any period of time, at the disposal of foreign Governments, without regard to the illuminating, though vexatious, processes of discussion as ever a treaty.

"We may hope that when fuller explanations are given it will be found that the patriotic and intelligent gentlemen who control the Federal Reserve Bank of New York will not have established a precedent which might be embarrassing when other European Governments desire to follow the example of the British Treasury.

"International politics and international finance are indeed married in a close bond. Governmental agencies engaged in the financial field can scarcely be left that perfect freedom which, I believe, should be enjoyed by private capitalists.

"Another point of interest is presented by this case—namely, whether or not in such a matter the Federal Reserve Board is by statute or practice expected to pass upon such an undertaking of a particular Federal Reserve Bank. Governor Crissinger of the board has been quoted in the press (as I understand words) to the effect that the board has no right of supervision in this case. But there is doubt, I believe, as to the soundness of this view. A transaction which, to say the least, seems to blaze the way for most important international relationships, might reasonably be expected by the public to be within the control of a board whose members are full-fledged Government officials. We may also reasonably expect more in the way of explanation than was at first vouchsafed in respect to a matter reported, when first publicly mentioned, as a fait accompli."

STUDENTS HAUL PRINCE'S CARRIAGE

Dutch of Stellenbosch University Give Him Warm Welcome—He Leaves Cape Town.

STELLENBOSCH, May 4.—The Prince of Wales, who received a hearty send-off from Cape Town, spent the day motoring through the countryside to the east of the Cape Peninsula.

At Somerset West the Prince was invited by the Mayor to accept an album of views in a case of carved oak from the original Van Der Stel estate in the neighborhood. Later he drove through the pleasant boulevards of Stellenbosch, gabled old Dutch houses gleaming white under the shadows of the trees. From the centre of the town the Prince was drawn in a decorated landau through the streets at a brisk trot by the students of the university.

Stellenbosch has always been known as a hotbed of Dutch nationalism but the massed students in blazers and white flannels prepared a most boisterous welcome for him in this earliest European settlement on the mainland, as one of the bravest and most daring of British sportsmen.

CAPE TOWN, Union of South Africa, May 4 (A. P.).—The Prince of Wales has captivated Cape Town, and particularly its women. When he drove through the city today at the beginning of his trip into the interior, women old and young turned out in their smartest attire and gave boisterous evidence of their delight at seeing him. The weather was perfect and the entire route over which the Prince passed was lined for miles with smiling faces and hands waving farewell. He acknowledged the salutations with animation.

JOHANNESBURG, May 4.—Hostile references at Communist meetings to the visit of the Prince of Wales led to disturbances causing the intervention of the police during the week-end. One meeting was broken up by students, former service men and supporters of the Labor Party.

One speaker condemned the expenditure for the visit because the Prince "represented the accursed usurpers of the people's liberty," and said the money ought to be spent on the education of the natives. The speaker was pulled from the platform and a free fight ensued.

Sir Charles Allom Says Her Best Men Are Coming Here.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Tuesday, May 5.—That England is passing through such a critical state that unless something is done she will no longer remain the centre of the trade of the world is the opinion of Sir Charles Allom, who has just returned from New York.

"All the best industrial men of the world are going to America," Sir Charles said to a Morning Post reporter. "The richest men in England are sending their money abroad and our most skilled artisans are crossing the Atlantic where labor conditions are incomparably better than in this country.

"Unless we develop a broader vision we shall find our country failing to a second-place position.

"My visit to the United States made me more than ever conscious of the British working man's loss of output as compared with the American, who despises Bolshevist agitation and works as hard as he can and as well as he knows how. Many of the richest Americans are kept from visiting England by fear of the income tax, and it is no secret that the great majority travelers on Atlantic liners leave the vessels at a French port to spend their money in France instead of in England.

"We are mad to make so many restrictions as to hamper trade and commerce. Our amusements should remain in full swing long after 10 o'clock and the Government should do all it can to foster a brighter London."

WINSTON GETS IDEAS OF FRENCH ON DEBT

They Want America to Accept Part of German Reparations in Settlement.

HOPE TO REACH AGREEMENT

Suggest to Treasury Official That Money Be Turned Over Through Dawes Transfer Agent.

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 4.—In his talks with the French leaders, including Foreign Minister Briand, Finance Minister Caillaux and Louis Loucheur, the industrial chief, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Winston has found that the prevailing idea in France is that a fair way to settle France's debts with England and the United States is to allocate for that purpose part of the payments France will get under the Dawes plan.

Of course France will get a reduction from England. After the definite figures of her foreign debt have been fixed France's statesmen would have England and America agree to arrange settlement by increasing their share of German reparations by percentages to be taken from France's share. In recent times M. Caillaux has frequently expressed his approval of this plan.

The offer England made to France in the Churchill note almost agreed with this procedure in that he agreed to accept an additional share of reparations in settlement if France would agree to a small annual payment independent of the German payments.

The big point is whether America will agree to such an arrangement.

The French point of view is that France has made large advances for repairing the common damage done to France by all the combatants and for which all the combatants are basically responsible. It was agreed that Germany should pay this damage. France having up to date alone advanced the needed money the French hold it is only natural that their paying America and England should follow their being paid by Germany. It is only a step further in favor of the creditors taking a share of German payments.

Up to the present the United States has, of course, refused to allow herself to be put in the position of collecting from Germany what the Allies owe America. There seems no reason to expect any immediate change in that attitude. It remains to be seen whether some formula can be found to meet both the French and American positions, some formula which leaves France responsible for payments but opens the possibility of mitigation if Germany does not pay.

As M. Loucheur pointed out to Mr. Winston, France can pay only in two ways—by part of what Germany pays or by exports to America. M. Loucheur contended that in France, in a far different international trade position from England, took on the same terms made between Washington and London there would be need to examine the question of transfer. Just as the whole Dawes plan hing on making machinery for the transfer of money from Germany to the Allies. Especially is this said to be true since the American tariff wall, plus prohibition, almost keeps out of America the leading French exports.

There being difficulty of transfer without hurting French exchange the French, who say they cannot pay America unless Germany pays France, think the simplest thing would be to turn over to America a slice of the money which the Dawes transfer agent can make available, because that is already in gold values.

Of course there is more than this in French ideas and purposes. Such a settlement would be expected to increase American pressure on Germany to carry out the Dawes plan, and that is especially appealing at a time when Germany is beginning to discuss the desirability of alterations in the Dawes plan, and it may be taken for granted that the alterations proposed do not constitute an increase of German payments.

It will be recalled that the Allies attached a great deal of value to American participation in reparation payments under the Paris agreement, because even if only for 2½ per cent. it did create a real material American interest in the execution of the Dawes scheme. If that percentage is increased the Allies believe American interest in the Dawes plan would thereby be increased. Of course if the Dawes plan did not work the French would have an excellent reason for arguing that they could not pay America.

While Mr. Winston's talks have enabled him to be in a position to go back to Washington and explain the French view, it would be unjustified optimism to believe he has progressed very far toward a settlement.

DENY SCHOOL VOTE ROW.

Opposition to Negro Merely Part of Program, Newtown Students Say.

J. D. Dillingham, principal, and three student managers of the Newtown High School's "political parties," denied yesterday that the school's election of April 29, when Arthur Waller, a negro, was elected President, had been preceded by disorder.

In a statement signed by John T. Wilver of the Independents, Fred Wolfe of the Service Party and Howard G. Myers of the Scholastic Party, it was declared that the campaigning and the election were orderly and that the opposition to Waller was not developed particularly against him, but as part of the regularly organized civic program of the school.

easy it will be for us to maintain the gold standard."

Mr. Penny, Unionist, who followed, expressed the hope Great Britain was not placing herself in the hands of America in this matter. "We had a few dealings with America before," he said, "and have come off second best."

Mr. Albery, another Unionist and financial expert, countered by declaring return to the gold standard would be the greatest thing that happened to Great Britain since her decision to pay her debt to America.

Churchill Denies "Precipitancy."

Chancellor Churchill, replying to criticisms, was scornful over Snowden's assertion that the Government acted with undue precipitancy.

"Undue precipitancy!" he exclaimed. "Where is undue precipitancy in acquiring discreetly over a period of six or seven months $163,000,000 required to defray our payments to the United States in the course of the whole of this year? Where is the undue precipitancy that began arrangements within the United States before Christmas last year? There never has been any step of this character taken by any Government which has been more characterised by design, forethought, careful, laborious preparation."

The Government had acted with caution and precaution of whose fruits Snowden's amendment would rob them. If it were carried Great Britain would have no American credits, would have to pay out sovereigns on demand to all and sundry and a tremendous rise in the bank rate would be the only safeguard.

"Had we waited till Dec. 31 we should have had everybody hoarding gold for eight months and finally coming upon our gold resources with all pent-up demands of that long period," he added.

"The interests of Great Britain are not dependent upon the United States, but the interests of both countries are interdependent." Mr. Churchill continued. "No doubt gold in the United States will not move physically to any large extent, but largely as a result of adoption of the gold standard in this and other countries it gradually will become active and become the foundation of credit in many parts of the world. If that is so, there will ensue a slow but healthy and perfectly legitimate expansion of credit all over the world.

"We are told we might be flooded with gold. That is not precisely the problem which occupied the minds of my advisers in recent months. Alone among the countries of the world we need fear no violent flooding of gold because, owing to farseeing provision in American debt agreement, we are enabled to pay our debt to the United States in gold. Therefore if we are flooded with gold all the Treasury would have to do would be to float an international loan by gold and remit it to the United States. This would have the advantage of substituting an internal debt for an external one. But that sort of thing happens in heaven (laughter).

"If gold is released from the United States it would go to European and other countries and set them on their legs again and we should benefit from the general revival."

Gold Standard Only "Reality."

Mr. Churchill continued:

"We are often told the gold standard will shackle us to the United States. The gold standard will shackle us to reality, for good or ill. I believe it is the only basis which offers any permanent security for our affairs. The economic foundation of Great Britain must be, as far as possible, based on reality. We are not only the financial centre of the world but the centre of a wide empire. If we detach ourselves from the great self-governing dominions in a matter of this kind, we run a great risk of becoming isolated, of loosening the bond. Canada already is on a gold standard, South Africa is about to return to the gold standard, and I received inquiries from Australia indicating what her desires are.

"If we take the opposite decision, or, worst of all, show ourselves incapable of taking any decision at all, the self-governing dominions might come on a gold standard themselves and the mother country alone would be left pursuing a different policy. The dominions would all have traded together and with the United States on a gold basis, but with the pound left out. It would have been on the gold basis of the dollar and not of the pound. It would have been a condition of affairs disastrous from every point of view. The same is true of the foreign countries with which we deal.

"If the English pound sterling is not to be anchored to the standard which every one knows and can trust and understand, the business not only of the British Empire but of Europe as well may easily be transacted in dollars instead of pounds sterling.

"We are told the gold standard will be injurious to us because America is in favor of it. But whether we went on the gold standard or not our interests are profoundly and intimately involved in those of the United States. Therefore it is not a question whether return to the gold standard makes us dependent on the United States, but whether it makes us more dependent or dependent in an unhealthy or subservient manner. The answer to that question seems to depend on whether we shall ourselves be stronger on a gold standard or not. Great Britain and her dominions together constitute an enormous power, a power so great, so comprehensive, that it is strong enough to exist side by side in amicable association with even a larger economic and financial power without any prejudicial effect."

Mr. Churchill concluded:

"If the pound dropped to $4, as I have been advised it might have done if we definitely announced the incapacity of this country to resume the gold standard or if the bill is rejected, we shall have to pay nearly one-fifth more on all payments to the United States, whether for debt or raw material. We shall also lose one-fifth of our £220,000,000 interest on foreign investments. That is to say, we shall lose nearly £100,000,000 yearly on our external overseas trading account."

After further debate Snowden's amendment was negatived without a division and the bill read a second time.

Randolph Churchill, son of Winston Churchill, sat today all alone in a privileged seat under the House of Commons gallery to hear his father's budget criticised. The good feeling which characterized the private life of his house was shown by the fact that Commander Kenworthy, one of his father's sturdiest opponents, crossed over to talk with him and soon afterward Mr. Churchill himself led up Walter Runciman, another great critic of his financial views.

Conditions of American Credit.

LONDON, May 4 (Associated Press).—The House of Commons, after a comparatively brief debate and without division, passed tonight the second reading of the Gold Standard bill and agreed to the necessary resolution for putting into force the Government's arrangements for restoring the gold standard.

The explanation of the bill given by Walter Guinness, Financial Secretary to the Treasury, showed that Great Britain would not be liable for any interest payments unless it became necessary to utilize the American credits. This statement was received with great satisfaction by the House.

In the first of the two credits Mr. Guinness stated, the Federal Reserve Bank had undertaken to give the Bank of England a revolving credit of $200,000,000 for two years from May 10, or the date of the British Government's guarantee, whichever date was the latest.

The second arrangement was with a syndicate headed by the house of Morgan, with the British Government direct, for a revolving credit of $100,000,000.

In each case the arrangement was for two years' interest, to be paid as and when the credit was drawn on, at 1 per cent. above the Federal Reserve discount rate, with a minimum of 4 per cent. and a maximum of 6 per cent.; or if the Federal Reserve discount rate exceeded 6 per cent., then at the discount rate of that bank.

Outlining the intentions of the bill Mr. Guinness for the most part retraced the details as presented by Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in his budget statement, and expressed the hope that there would be no delay in passing the bill. He explained that the bill was based on the historical precedent of resumption of gold standard in 1819, after the Napoleonic wars, but today the task was easier and conditions were more favorable because action had not been taken until parity had already been virtually re-established.

The Financial Secretary emphasized that any credits raised under the bill must be repaid within two years. He believed there was no fear of a consequent rise in the bank rate or a rise in prices, as had been intimated by some of the Labor members. It was the opinion of all the best expert evidence that the difference in price levels between Great Britain and the United States now was so small, if indeed it existed at all, as to be consistent with the view that Great Britain had reached a stage where its purchasing power was at parity. The Government belief was that there would be no serious movement of prices either way from the present level.

AUTOPSY CONFIRMS MURDER PHONE CALL

Body of Galvin, Missing Since March, Taken From River With Bullet Wound in Head.

3 ARRESTED FOR KILLING

Dead Man's Mother Told ver Telephone Two Weeks Ago That Son Had Been Shot.

Information that her son had been shot and killed, imparted by a mysterious telephone call to Mrs. Mary Galvin, two weeks ago, was verified yesterday afternoon when Dr. Charles Norris, Chief Medical Examiner, performed an autopsy on the body of Thomas Francis Galvin, recovered from the East River on Saturday and announced that the young man had been shot through the head.

A few hours later three young men, companions of Galvin, were arrested by Detective Thomas Devine of the East Sixty-seventh Street Station and charged with the murder. The men gave their names as James Stockdale, 26 years old, of 320 East Sixty-first Street; Joseph Madden, 28 years old, of 488 East Seventy-fourth Street, and William Conroy, 26 years old, of 1,302 First Avenue.

Mrs. Galvin of 438 East Sixty-eighth Street received a telephone message from an unidentified man who told her that his conscience was bothering him and that her son Thomas, who had been missing from his home since March 11, had been killed at Seventy-fourth Street and First Avenue and his body thrown into the river.

Following the receipt of the mysterious message, Detective Devine took Stockdale to the East Sixty-seventh Street station and questioned him for seven hours, but failed to obtain any admission from him that he knew anything of Galvin's whereabouts or of the telephone message. At that time Galvin was merely reported missing, although the police were convinced that he had been killed. Yesterday Devine again took Stockdale to the station house and after questioning him placed him under arrest.

Stockdale, Madden and Conroy all insist that Galvin had been with them early on the evening of March 11 but that he left about 10 o'clock, ostensibly to go home.

The police say Stockdale, who is said to be a chauffeur, was convicted of a hold-up in 1922 and sentenced to two years in Sing Sing prison.

Shortly before the hold-up Galvin was wounded in a fight, the police say, and though no formal complaint of the shooting was made, they believe the men now locked up know something of the details.

BLACKMAILERS SENTENCED.

Three Who Wrote Threats to Priest Are Sent to Prison.

Three men who were convicted three weeks ago of attempting to extort $10,000 by threatening letters from the Rev. Ernest d'Anquilo, pastor of Our Lady of Mount Carmel R. C. Church at Newark, were sentenced yesterday by Judge Edwin Caffrey in the Court of Common Pleas.

Michael Cortese, 43 years old, of 47 Ferry Street, got two to three years in the State Penitentiary. Frank Armistardi, 33, of 47 Ferry Street, got nine months in the County Penitentiary, and Frank Rizzo, 17, of 326½ Fourteenth Avenue, was sent for an indefinite term to the Rahway Reformatory. All lived in Newark.

FINDS SLAIN MAN IN CELLAR.

Tenement Inspector Discovers a Body Shot Through Chest.

When Inspector Abraham Lipner of the Tenement House Department was examining the cellar at 2 and 4 Carmine Street yesterday afternoon he found the body of a man who had been shot through the chest. The ban was afterward identified as Donato Serratelli of 419 East 147th Street through his finger prints on file at Police Headquarters.

The police say he had a criminal record, his last conviction being in 1921 when he was sentenced to Sing Sing prison for three years.

Los Angeles Reaches Porto Rico in 33 Hours; Longest Non-Stop Flight as American Ship

MAYAGUEZ, Porto Rico, May 4 (Associated Press).—The dirigible Los Angeles was sighted here at 6:19 P. M. and was moored to the mast of the tender Patoka at 7:45 P. M.

The Los Angeles left the naval air station at Lakehurst at 10:45 A. M. Sunday, making the journey to Porto Rico in exactly thirty-three hours, which is three hours under the time that Captain George W. Steele, the commander, originally estimated. The present voyage is the longest overseas journey undertaken by the airship since she was flown as the ZR-3 from Germany to this country last October. Two trips have been made this year to Bermuda, the airship making the first voyage without stopping but mooring to the mast of the Patoka on the second trip. As soon as the Los Angeles cast off from the Patoka on the last trip the tender was ordered to Mayagues to await the arrival of the airship there.

The original plans call for a stay of about three days in Porto Rico.

The start of the Los Angeles was delayed for a week by unfavorable weather, first at Lakehurst and afterward over the route she would travel on the trip down to the island.

The airship carried a crew of thirty-seven officers and men and four passengers besides 200 pounds of mail, the first air mail transported to any island in the West Indies.

Earlier dispatches received by wireless from the dirigible yesterday said that the ship's four engines were running at cruising speed with a quartering wind from the northeast. It was slightly cloudy then and Captain Steele expected to encounter head winds as the journey continued. It was estimated that at that time the airship was 550 miles off the coast of Florida.

LIMITATION IS SEEN AS YELLOW TAXI AID

Independents Say Enright's Plan Is Intended to Curb Competition.

THEY ARE NOT SURPRISED

Interpret Letter as an Admission Commissioner Lacks Power to Control the Number in Operation.

When taxicab men yesterday read Police Commissioner Enright's letter to the Merchants' Association in which he said there were too many taxicabs in the streets and that steps to limit their number might be taken, they expressed little surprise. It was recalled that in the recent discontinuance of licensing of new taxicabs by the police a group of prominent men in the industry expressed the fear that they might be caught unawares by the inauguration of such a policy. Commissioner Enright's statement to the Merchants' Association now furnishes confirmation of their position, they say.

The taxi men were particularly interested in Mr. Enright's statement that the problem "will sooner or later demand the attention of our Municipal Assembly and require necessary and proper regulation by law." In the suspension of licensing it was thought by some taxicab men that the police intended to assert a right to limit the number of licenses under the present laws. The Empire State Taxicab Chamber of Commerce and private concerns among its membership had their lawyers look up the legal bearings of this question and received the opinion that the police had no right to refuse to license duly qualified machines and an action of mandamus compelling the police to license would lie against them. They were preparing to take such action when the police resumed licensing.

Commissioner Enright's letter was interpreted as an admission that the Commissioner considered he did not have the power to refuse to license and such power could only be obtained by specific legislation by the Municipal Assembly.

While there was some objection yesterday among various branches of the industry to the idea of limitation, some of the manufacturers' sales agencies did not oppose it. As a matter of fact, some of the forward-looking ones among them have been prepared for such a development, recognizing that it would come sooner or later. These men have been at work trying to arrange a limitation plan fair to all.

The ghost of the Yellow Taxicab bugaboo stalks through this situation. The more violent of the independents say it is a move on the part of the City Administration to protect this organization from increasing competition. Others, who may hold the same view although they talk about it less, are quietly at work trying to provide that when the necessary legislation comes it will be so drawn as to leave the sale of replacement machines on fair terms to everybody.

In view of Commissioner Enright's statement, particular interest attached yesterday to Deputy Police Chief Surgeon Daniel J. Donovan's announcement that once more the inauguration of physical examination for applicant taxicab drivers had been postponed. Three times in the last few weeks the police surgeons have said that physical examinations would begin, and each time the day set arrived there was postponement.

Taxicab men see in this state of affairs an additional indication that the police intend to go slowly in all matters connected with licensing in anticipation of limitation legislation. Dr. Donovan said, examinations would be started in "four or five days."

STRESEMANN TELLS OF RUHR-PAYMENTS

Before Reichstag Committee, He Defends $175,000,000 Grant to Big Industrialists.

STINNES DEMANDED PLEDGE

Government Had to Choose Between Payment and Break With France, Minister Says.

By T. R. YBARRA.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, May 4.—Having recovered from a slight illness which has kept him abed during the last few days, Foreign Minister Stresemann appeared today as the star witness before the Reichstag committee investigating the granting by the German Government of credits to the big Ruhr magnates. These credits, it will be remembered, were extended when Stresemann was Chancellor and totaled about $175,000,000. They brought down upon the German Government a storm of criticism, especially from the Socialists, when they were divulged a few months ago, since they were granted without previous Reichstag approval and savored of favoritism toward Hugo Stinnes and other Ruhr captains of industry.

Government spokesmen, including Chancellor Luther, have maintained ever since the bursting of the storm last December that it was a question either of granting the credits, thus enabling the industrialists to meet the burdens imposed upon them by the French and Belgian authorities in the occupied Ruhr district, or of having the Ruhr industries collapse entirely, thus bringing economic catastrop to Germany.

In his testimony today, Stresemann adopted the same line of defense for the Government's action. He declared it was the Government's duty to guarantee to the Ruhr industrialists repayment of the burdens assumed by them as soon as Governmental finances permitted.

He said the action was determined upon in conferences wherein Hugo Stinnes participated, at one of which Stinnes stated he and his fellow magnates must be able to pledge the German Government's agreement to repay in order that they might get foreign credits wherewith to meet French and Belgian demands.

Stresemann further testified that later the Ruhr industrialists informed the German Government they had been unable to obtain sufficient foreign money.

Asked when the German Government got the idea applying a part of the loan expected under the Dawes plan to reimbursing the Ruhr magnates, Stresemann said the idea originated in April last year. In conferences with the Ruhr magnates it was pointed out that, assuming the awes plan went into effect in July 1924, it might be possible to get French and Belgian consent to dating the loan back to the previous April so some of the proceeds might be applied to reimbursing the Ruhr industrialists. The French and Belgians, however, refused to agree.

Stresemann declared the question at the time of granting the Ruhr credits was not whether Germany was doing a good piece of business but whether she was to escape a serious unemployment crisis which would have followed collapse of the Ruhr industries. Another question before Germany, he said, was "Shall we work toward the Dawes plan or toward a break with France?"

It was pointed out again today at the office of Seymour Parker Gilbert, Agent General for Reparations Payments, under the Dawes plan, that it always has been and still is impossible for the German Government to divert any part of the loan obtained as a result of the Dawes plan toward indemnifying the Ruhr industrialist for sums paid out by them to the French and Belgians in the Ruhr. One reason why the German Government had considerable cash in hand a few months ago for such indemnification, it was also pointed out, was that the Government had just been reimbursed by the Agent General for Reparations Payments for the sums advanced by it on the reparations account. Such payment, however, it was especially stated, must not be confused with the payment to the Ruhr magnates of a part of the loan obtained by Germany under the Dawes plan.

BELL BOY ADMITS HOLD-UP.

Made $90 a Week, but Lost Job for Sneering at 10-Cent Tip.

Edward H. Callahan, 17 years old, who a week ago refused a tip of 10 cents for carrying a suitcase while receiving $90 a week as a bell boy in the Hotel Commodore, was arraigned in the Long Island City Court yesterday, charged with being one of three men who held up two clerks in a Thomas Roulston chain store in Long Island City last Saturday night.

With him was Patrick Weil of 47 Borden Avenue, Long Island City, the police said. Weil is a taxicab driver. Callahan pleaded guilty. The two were held in $5,000 bail each for hearing on Wednesday.

William Wentz of 502A Morgan Avenue, Brooklyn, manager of the Roulston store, and Christopher Moonan, his clerk in the store at 313 Jackson Avenue, Long Island City, said that Callahan with two others entered the store, held them up at the points of revolvers and took $77. They escaped in a taxicab.

Callahan when arraigned said: "I'm guilty, Judge. I did it, but this man had nothing to do with it."

When questioned by detectives Callahan said he was working as a bell boy and made $90 a week. He said he lost his job when he sneered at a man who offered him a 10-cent tip.

Soviet Welcomes Jewish Farmers.

MOSCOW, May 4 (Jewish Telegraph Agency).—A proclamation welcoming the settlement of the Jews on the land was issued by the first Soviet conference of the District of Babruisk, which held its last session here today. It calls upon all Soviet institutions to help develop the Jewish colonization work and appeals to the Russian peasantry to support their Jewish fellow-peasants. The Police Commissariat of the Ukraine has announced that all prospective Jewish colonists to whom land was allotted during March must settle and begin work not later than May 10 to-13. Those who will fail to do so forfeit their land, which will be given to other Jewish settlers.

Men Were Guilty of Aiding Reds.

In a report of the arraignment of two men in the Tombs Court on a charge of distributing a foreign language newspaper containing Communist propaganda, which was published in THE TIMES last Sunday, it was erroneously stated that the men were discharged. The men were found guilty by Magistrate Joseph E. Corrigan on a disorderly conduct charge, but sentence was suspended.

28 INDICTMENTS IN JERSEY RUM CASE

CHARGE BRIBES AND GRAFT

Morris County Presentments Ask Governor to Oust the Accused Officials.

Special to The New York Times.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., May 4.—A Morris County special Grand Jury, sitting here today, after investigating for two months stories of open violation of the prohibition law, returned twenty-eight indictments against county officials and others.

Chief among the accused is the County Prosecutor himself, James H. Bolitho, a Democratic official in a Republican county, appointed by a Democratic Governor. The prosecutor has had the active support of the New Jersey Anti-Saloon League and has been praised as a fearless official.

Twelve indictments naming him in person and six in conjunction with others accuse him of accepting bribes, extortion, malfeasance in office and assault and battery. In a presentiment bitterly denouncing the conduct of the prosecutor's office it is recommended that the Governor and the Assembly start immediate proceedings to have him removed.

Besides Bolitho the indictments name William A. Hegarty, former Assistant Prosecutor; Fred Hubert, Assistant County Detective; Daniel A. Marinaro, Morristown lawyer; Pasquale Mutarello, a real estate dealer; Joseph Feldmen, proprietor of a roadhouse; George Estler, Boonton truckman and brother of Sheriff Charles E. Estler, and Arthur McDonnell, Max Reidler, Frank Salvi, Samuel Gould, John Macefield, William McDavitt and John Antonaccio, special constables.

Six of the true bills charge Bolitho, Marinaro, Mutarello, Hubert, Hegarty and McDonnell with conspiracy; another charges Hubert with bribery; another accusses Mutarello of bribery and violation of the Hobart act, the local prohibition law enforcement order, and the remainder charge Reidler and Estler with violation of the Hobart act and Salvi, Gould, Macefield, McDavitt and Antonaccio with assault and battery.

The presentment recommended that the county prohibition enforcement force named in the indictments be relieved and a new force installed, as the appointees of both the Sheriff and the prosecutor "held neither the respect nor the confidence of the people of the county." It recommended changes in the keeping of the county record and criticised the conduct of the County Judge for his alleged lax manner in remitting and reducing fines, of which there was not formal record.

Prosecutor Bolitho did not seem greatly disturbed at the sudden turn of events. He was not present in court when Justice Parker received the indictments, but after he was informed of the event he immediately got in touch with John Hathis, an attorney of Newark, who will represent him in future proceedings, and said he was ready to make a fight. He would not comment upon the action of the Grand Jury except to say that he would probably have a statement to make today that would contain interesting disclosures.

PADLOCKS APPLIED TO 9 MORE PLACES

Several Defendants Agree to Close for Two Months for Dry Law Violations.

Federal Judge John C. Knox held the first trial session of the Padlock Court yesterday, with fifteen cases on the calendar. When Court adjourned nine places were ordered padlocked.

The evidence against the defendants was handled by Frederic C. Bellinger and Herman Forster, Assistant United States Attorneys. The case against "Dinty" Moore's restaurant in Forty-sixth Street, went over for two weeks.

Four of the cases resulted in the defendants consenting to decrees being entered against them. Daniel Tolamo agreed to close his place at 346 Eighth Avenue for two months. William Engel and Daniel Pellegrino consented to shut down their premises at 82 Broadway and 64 Murray Street for the same period. Decrees of three months each were entered against Louis Sussman and David Rosenberg at 392 Sixth Avenue and Otto Arps and Herman Huneke at 499 Broome Street.

In two of the cases the defendant failed to appear. As a result Judge Knox ordered padlocks for six months after the Government's witnesses were heard. The defendants were Joseph Bonner and William Lefavey at 1,944 Lexington Avenue, and Joseph Eagan and Joseph Hansard at 1,560 Second Avenue.

Three of the defendants decided to stand trial and were sentenced to close their places for three to four months. They were Hugh Connolly, Thomas Fitzpatrick and George Ehret, with premises at 995 Amsterdam Avenue; the Peter Doelger Brewing Company and John Busiek, at 1,008 First Avenue, and Michael Hogan, at 775 Ninth Avenue.

SEARCH FOR LIQUOR BY POLICE IS UPHELD

Buckner Says Ruling Means Warrant Is Not Needed—Does Not Apply to Dry Agents.

United States Attorney Emory R. Buckner announced yesterday that in a United States Circuit Court of Appeals decision it was held that city and State police officers had the right to search for liquor without a search warrant. Federal prohibition and other anti-liquor agents do not enjoy the same privilege, however, he said.

The decision was hailed as one likely to have a great effect on the fight to halt rum-running and bootlegging. State troopers and municipal policemen, under the decision, may halt automobiles and look into them, and may demand that suspicious looking packages be opened, Mr. Buckner explained, and said that the decision would put a strong weapon in the hands of State agents seeking to stem this Summer's expected flow of liquor over the Canadian border.

The principle of law was laid down in the case of William Schroder, who was a New York policeman when, on Aug. 27 last year, he was arrested by two members of the Special Service Squad in the act of transporting six bottles of gin in an automobile. The policemen who made the arrest saw Schroder walk out of a hallway in West Fifty-fourth Street. He had a bundle in his arms, which he put into the automobile. The arresting officers opened the package and found the gin.

Schroder was tried before Federal Judge West and convicted on two counts—possession and transportation of liquor. He was fined $500 on each count, and later one of the counts was thrown out. Schroder appealed on the ground that his rights under the Fourth and Fifth Amendments to the Constitution had been violated.

The Circuit Court of Appeals in its opinion held that the seizure of the gin had not been accomplished contrary to law, and that the constitutional rights of Schroder had not been violated. The decision made the point that the arresting officers were not Federal men, nor had they been instigated by agents of the Government, and that the constitutional amendments raised by Schroder in his behalf did not apply to officers of a State Government. The case against Schroder was tried and handled on appeal by John M. Cashin, Special Assistant United States Attorney.

taken upon yourselves the full responsibility for present conditions.

"Let me reiterate in few words: I cease to be your President hereafter, and I offer within thirty days to release the society of all financial and other responsibility in connection with 421 East Sixty-first Street. Mrs. Lewis Livingston Delafield has asked me to say to the managers and members that she will not allow her name to be proposed as a candidate for re-election to the Vice Presidency."

Efforts to reach Mrs. Riker, to ask whether the society would accept Mrs. Loomis's offer, failed. It was explained for Miss Borrowe that she had quit as Secretary after eleven years simply because she planned an extended stay abroad.

Society Has 800 Members.

The society, which, as its name indicates, draws its membership from descendants of Colonial days, was organized in 1892 and has something like 800 members. There was a good attendance at Thursday's meeting at the society headquarters and it was said little beyond the acquisition of th emansion headquarters was discussed.

In her address Mrs. Loomis referred to the fact that when she was elected two years ago she had dedicated herself to the task of obtaining "suitable housing for our society." She quoted the minutes of that meeting as reporting her as saying that "we know, of course, that the body is more than raiment and the life more than meat and that the spirit of our society is of infinitely more value than any house we could occupy."

"I quote these words exactly," said Mrs. Loomis in her speech last Thursday, "because of the situation today, two years later. I feel more than ever that there is a great opportunity for the society, if led by broadminded and noble-thinking officers and managers.

"A house has been secured. We are in it today. But I regret to add that in my opinion the case has been reversed. The raiment has become of greater importance than the life. The house of more value than the spirit. In fact, the coming into possession of the house in December seemed to have been like throwing a bombshell into the midst of inflammable material.

"The purposes for which it could be used, the motives back of these, and the general spirit of approach to the whole situation has been broken up by differences and recriminations and the great purpose for which we exist as a patriotic organization seems frequently to have been lost sight of."

Mrs. Loomis declared that she had been advised that the constitution and by-laws of the Colonial Dames were "twenty years behind those in use in other organized patriotic societies of equal standing." She complained that the "Secretary interpreted the constitution, which says 'that the Recording Secretary shall be the keeper of the records,' to mean that she was to keep the minutes and other papers of the society at her home," and that hence the officers and managers had been hampered. She also said that the managers and officers were virtually a self-perpetuating body and added:

"Hence the criticism, which I have heard widely expressed, both in the past and now that the society is ruled by a close corporation, is founded more or less upon fact. Five officers standing together and obtaining one manager to vote with them could maintain themselves in office in perpetuity."

Mrs. Loomis, continuing her speech, said that she had learned that five other members had been asked to take the Presidency before she accepted, and that each had refused. She added that as effort to put twelve other members on the Board of Managers made at the time of her election, had resulted in only three accepting.

"I am sorry," she continued, "that in view of all I have been saying I must decline absolutely to allow my name to come up again for nomination as your President. I do not know that I should have been asked to allow it to come up, but in any case I withdraw it absolutely from consideration."

CONFESSES HE SPIED ON DE FOREST RADIO

Affidavits of Man and Girl Say Secrets Were Ferreted for Radio Corporation.

REPORTED IN SECRET ROOMS

Obtained Details of Business, Drawings of Machines and Personnel Data, They Say.

The Radio Corporation of America maintained secret offices at 25 Beaver Street, where its special investigators, known only by code numbers, reported the results of their espionage on the De Forest Radio Company and other concerns, according to affidavits filed yesterday in the Chancery Court of New Jersey. The papers were filed to support the injunction suit of the De Forest Radio Company against the Radio Corporation of America, brought last week at Trenton.

The affidavits alleged that agents of the Radio Corporation of America in the De Forest Radio Company's plant furnished John S. Harley, chief special agent of the Radio Corporation, with valuable information concerning secret methods of manufacturing radio apparatus, as well as the names and addresses of employes, the number of radio tubes produced, addresses of persons and concerns dealing with the De Forest Company, notices posted in the various departments, changes in the personnel, efforts made to speed up production, and especially what took place in the power tube department.

The information alleged to have been passed on to the Radio Corporation of America also included drawings of machines and samples of products made by the De Forest Company.

Details of how Harley is alleged to have placed his agents in the De Forest establishment and of his employment of De Forest employes to furnish him with stolen information are also contained in the affidavits.

General Electric Accused.

President Theodore Luce of the De Forest Radio Company, in an affidavit, alleges that the General Electric Company, with which, he asserted, the Radio Corporation was in combination, had succeeded in buying up the Electron Relay Company of Toledo, and cut off from the De Forest Company its source of filament wire.

"If the defendant and its associates, the General Electric Company and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, can control the filament wire output, they can, of course, prevent competition in vacuum tubes," he adds.

No statement was forthcoming yesterday, from the Radio Corporation of America in connection with the filing of the affidavits. General J. G. Harbord, President of the corporation, declined to comment. Vice President David Sarnoff was out of town.

The charges of commercial espionage and theft of valuable business information are contained in great detail in the affidavit of Charles F. Bowlby, cost accountant of the De Forest Company, employed by them between 1921 and 1923, who worked for the Radio Corporation from the early months of 1923 until April or May, 1924. Since Feb. 23, 1925, he has again been employed by the De Forest Company.

Bowlby's employment by the Radio Corporation came about in this way, he says:

Prior to leaving the De Forest concern he was told by his fiancée, Mildred Michael, a co-employe, that a man who gave the name of "Jameson," and who claimed to have met her at a radio dinner, had telephoned her for an appointment. Bowlby met "Jameson" at his fiancée's home. Her sister Madeline was present.

"Jameson" said he knew nothing about the details of the radio business but was devoting himself to the merger of various radio companies. He said he had been informed that there was some relation between the De Forest Company and the Radiocrafts Company, and asked Bowlby and his fiancée many questions about the De Forest Company, how it kept its books, cost records, production records, stock records, payroll and other records, saying that such information would be useful to him in connection with the enterprise on which he was engaged.

Hears More of "Jameson."

Two weeks after the meeting with "Jameson," Bowlby was told by William W. Buckbee, an employe in the De Forest laboratory, that he had been asked by an employe of the Radio Corporation of America, calling himself "Hurley," for information regarding instruments made by the De Forest Company; that he had been asked to furnish drawings of such instruments; that he, Buckbee, several times met a man who called himself "Hurley." The latter was accompanied by a young woman called "Miss Johnson." Buckbee said he knew her to be a De Forest employe. Buckbee's description of "Hurley" tallied with Bowlby's recollection of "Jameson," and Bowlby was satisfied they were the same person.

At that time, Bowlby called on Miss Johnson in the De Forest plant and questioned her concerning her relationship with the Radio Corporation of America. She denied she was in any way interested in the Radio Corporation, but Bowlby did not believe her and obtained her discharge.

In February, 1923, Bowlby married Miss Michael and the following April he left the employ of the De Forest Company. Subsequently his wife was discharged. Then he sought employment with the Radio Corporation. While calling on a friend at the 233 Broadway offices of the Radio Corporation, "Jameson" stepped into the room and recognized him, says Bowlby. He handed Bowlby a card on which was printed "John S. Harley, Chief Special Agent, Radio Corporation of America, 64 Broad Street.'" He called on Harley and found Miss Johnson in the office. Bowlby's affidavit reads as follows:

"She then admitted in the presence of Mr. Harley that at the time I had questioned her she was in the employ of the Radio Corporation of America, and that she had secured her position with the De Forest Radio Company under instructions from Harley. Harley confirmed her statement, and they joked about my catching Miss Johnson at the De Forest plant, and that I had procured her discharge, and now I was seeking employment with the Radio Corporation of America."

At Harley's request Bowlby took his wife to the Broad Street office of Harley, who said he had other operatives in the De Forest plants besides Miss Johnson. He offered Mrs. Bowlby a position, which she refused.

Offices Kept Secret.

Bowlby was employed as special investigator under Harley from May, 1924, until January, 1925, and he reported regularly in writing to Harley in Rooms 301, 302 and 303, at 25 Beaver Street.

"These were secret offices," he says, "and, as I was informed, were known only to certain officers of the Radio Corporation of America. There was nothing on the doors of the offices or on the bulletin board of the building to indicate that Harley or the Radio Corporation of America had any offices in that building; in fact there was nothing upon the doors of those offices except the room numbers.

"While in the employ of the Radio Corporation, Harley asked him, Bowlby alleges, to purchase radio tubes and roll filament wire from the De Forest Company, and to obtain the names of persons or firms from which the De Forest Company was purchasing its filament wire. He had been unable to do so, and Harley said he was particularly interested in obtaining the names of the makers of the apparatus in the tube department and of the high frequency bombarders used in the De Forest plant. He wished to have a diagram of the layout of the tube department, giving the names and locations of all the machines.

"He asked me to get a position with the De Forest Radio Company as a means of getting this information for him, at the same time continuing in the employ of the Radio Corporation of America," asserts Bowlby.

Continuing, Bowlby says he told Harley he could not obtain employment with the De Forest Company, but said that Henry Thies, a former De Forest employe might be able to get the information. Harley directed him to employ Thies for that purpose. He took Thies to Harley, who told him what he desired. Two weeks later he met Thies in Room 217 of the secret Beaver Street offices, "the room where the investigators were accustomed to go when they came in from their work and where some of them wrote up their reports."

Bowlby says he suggested that Thies obtain re-employment with the De Forest Company. Harley thought it a good idea and directed Thies to make prompt application.

"During the whole time that I was working for the Radio Corporation of America I was under the supervision and direction of Harley, but I was always paid by the check of the Radio Corporation of America," Bowlby's affidavit continues.

Known as "C-1."

"While I was employed by the Radio Corporation I was designated as 'C-1' and made all reports under the that designation. I never signed my own name to any reports. When I telephoned to Harley, as I frequently did, I always identified myself under that designation, never by any name. I know, of my own knowledge, that all employes working under Harley went by initial letters and numbers, as I would meet them in the room where their reports were being made out and they would tell me their designations and I would see these designations on the reports which they were preparing.

"While employed by the Radio Corporation of America, I frequently met Cecilia Lambert at Harley's office and I knew her as 'C-3.' She was doing investigating work and reporting to Harley under that designation. Since my recent employment by the De Forest Company I have on several occasions seen this same Cecilia Lambert at the De Forest plant in Jersey City. I was likewise told by another employe who was working under Harley, whose name I do not recall, that there was at that time another investigator stationed at the De Forest plant who was known as 'C-10.'

After saying that he arranged for Thies to procure certain information concerning the complainant, Bowlby declares he passed on Thies's written report to Harley, adding, "this report contained, among other things, a description of all the machinery used in the tube department of the De Forest Radio Company while he was working there, as far as he could remember the same, together with the method of operating these machines; also the information regarding filament wire used by that company in making its tubes and where they obtained the same."

Bernice M. Jennings, employed as typist by the Radio Corporation of America from November, 1924, to April 1925, said an employment agency sent her to Room 301, 25 Beaver Street, where she asked for Mr. Harley. She was engaged by a Mr. Silverton. There were six girls under Mr. Harley in Rooms 301 and 302, she says. Harley's private office was Room 303. She alleges that Room 217 in the same building was also occupied by a girl under Harley's direction and was also used by Radio Corporation's investigators.

Instructed on Secrecy.

Soon after she began work, alleges Miss Jennings, she was told by several other employes in the office not to give out any information regarding the people in the three rooms, or their business, and also not to let anybody know that there was any connection between the employes there and the Radio Corporation of America. Two weeks later she was transferred to Room 217. Once a man dropped in and asked for Mr. Harley. She directed him to Room 301. When Harley heard of the incident he is alleged to have said to Miss Jennings, "In the future, if any one comes here and asks for me, you don't know me nor anything about me, and no one here has anything to do with any radio business whatever."

Harley, the affidavit continues, received written reports from many investigators. They were usually stamped with Harley's initials and then went to Silverton, who stamped them with his designation, "C-2."

When she first began copying the reports, says Miss Jennings in her affidavit, they were headed by the name of the person or concern under investigation. For three months prior to April 10, 1925 she received almost daily reports from "C-3," Cecilia Lambert, reports headed "In re De Forest," but subsequently the heading was changed to "381" and that number was given to the file which contained matters relating to the De Forest Company.

The reports covered many things, the affidavit alleges, including the time employes began and quit work, "whether there were few or many employes at work, whether they worked overtime or less than full time, whether business was brisk or slow, what employes were discharged and what new ones were taken on, the names and addresses of employes, so far as she was able to give them; instructions issued to foremen and persons in charge, notices posted in the departments governing the personnel of superintendents and foremen, why a foreman had been laid off, efforts made to speed up production, and especially what took place in the power tube department; on two or thre occasions her reports contained attempted drawings of machines used in the department in which she was working."

Several times Miss Lambert, it was alleged, sent in with her report some pieces of filament wire, and she also sent in what she designated as "gold seals," used in connection with the manufacture of power tubes.

Corroborates Bowlby.

William Buckbee, a tester in the De Forest Laboratory, swears in an affidavit that in company with a young lady he met Harley, at the latter's suggestion. With Harley was Miss Johnson, whom Buckbee says he knew to be a De Forest employe. Harley, Buckee asserts, told him that Miss Johnson was an investigator for the Radio Corporation and that she was one of five or six employed in the De Forest plant who were also employed by the defendant.

"At that interview," the affidavit continues, "Harley offered the young lady accompanying me a position as confidential investigator for the Radio Corporation of America and stated to her that as such confidential investigator he could get her a position with the De Forest Radio Company as stenographer, and that he wanted her, after having such a position, to secure certain private papers, papers and specifications and other papers of the De Forest Company and deliver the same to him. She declined to take the position."

Sylvester W. Crowley, manager of the audion division of the De Forest Radio Company, said he employed Cecilia Lambert, mentioned in the Bowlby and Jennings affidavits. She was discharged April 16, 1925, "because it was discovered that she was employed by the Radio Corporation of America, paid a salary by them and was making reports of complainant's business secrets to that company through John S. Harley, the defendant's chief investigator."

Says Miss Lambert Confessed.

Crowley says he was present on April 16, 1925, when Miss Lambert admitted having furnished confidential reports to Harley, who assigned her to work for various concerns, receiving wages from her employer as well as salary and expenses from Harley.

Mr. Luce, President of the De Forest Company, says that for eleven years his concern has been making, leasing and selling radio receiving apparatus and audion tubes. For several years the defendant has been carrying on the same business with the possible exception of manufacture, he declares. While he has no definite information regarding the defendant's manufacturing business, he says that as a result of agreements between the defendant, the General Electric Company and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company the defendant was required to buy part of what it sells from each company. These three companies with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company have licensed each other under various patents. He adds, "the legality of this combination has been challenged by the Federal Trade Commission and is now under judicial investigation by it."

The temporary injunction, obtained by the De Forest Radio Company from Vice Chancellor John H. Backes of New Jersey, directs the Radio Corporation to appear in Chancery Chambers, Newark, on May 12, to show cause why a perpetual injunction restraining it from obtaining information secretly from the De Forest plant should not be issued.

DOCTORS ASK HELP IN WAR ON QUACKS

County Medical Society Joins Health Reserve Corps Formed by Monaghan.

LAITY WILL BE INCLUDED

Dr. Galdston Says Millions Are Mulcted Annually From the Poor in Bogus Treatments.

Dr. Iago Galdston of the Medical Society of the County of New York announced plans yesterday for that organization to help Dr. Frank J. Monaghan, Health Commissioner, in his recently formed Public Health Reserve Corps.

"It is apparent that physicians and health organizations of the city have a strong responsibility to the public," said Dr. Galdston, "and just as apparent that influential parts of the public are under obligation to support efforts on behalf of the people at large. The Public Health Reserve Corps gives concrete expression to this obligation.

"If the millions of dollars which are mulcted annually from the laboring classes by medical quacks, advertising in many foreign language newspapers and some native ones, could be saved for the working people and applied to better and happier living standards a great service would be done. This is part of the work for the Public Health Reserve.

"Obviously the care of the sick and the major part of public health education must still remain in the hands of the regular health army—and any doctor's family will tell you that this is no part-time job. We doctors can advance our scientific knowledge but we have no time to defend science itself. The profession cannot be expected to treat the sick, carry on research, cooperate in health movements and health education and combat those forces which pull counter to our very aims. Ours is the aggression against disease, but the citizen's duty is the defense of our purpose.

"Five of the largest broadcasting companies in and near the city are now cooperating with the Medical Society of the County of New York in its endeavor to present authentic health information to the public, to the extent of accepting voluntary supervision of all health talks going out over their wires.

"There are still, however, certain agencies, both radio and journalistic, which, to our great regret, have not closed their avenues of publicity to the insidious propaganda disseminated by persons whose ignorance of medical science is unbounded. They employ gross falsehoods daily in their attempts to discredit scientific medicine, and they advocate healing theories the fallacies of which are barely veiled by the plausibility in which they are clothed. The medical profession has been unable to stem the flow of this insidious propaganda.

"These are just a few of the instances where scientific progress awaits alliance with an enlightened and militant public opinion. The wellbeing of the individual has always been the trust of the medical profession. Today physicians are giving the same devoted attention to the equally important problems of preventive medicine and community health. We welcome the addition of a partly lay reserve to our ranks. To Health Commissioner Monaghan, who has fathered this praiseworthy innovation, the medical profession is prepared to give its fullest cooperation."

MRS. BUDLONG LOSES NEW SEPARATION SUIT

Newport Court Finds She Is Not a Resident—Further Action in State Barred for Two Years.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., May 4.—Mrs. Jessie Margaret Budlong today lost her second effort to obtain separate maintenance from her husband, Milton J. Budlong, of New York and Newport, in the Superior Court here.

A second suit filed by Mrs. Budlong, charging extreme cruelty and desertion, was dismissed by Judge Arthur Sumner on a defense motion contending that she was no longer a legal resident of Rhode Island. Under the law, she will be prevented from filing a new suit for at least two years, or until she has again established her legal residence in the State.

Twice, while under the cross-examination of Mr. Phillips, Mrs. Budlong was almost moved to tears, her voice breaking, but most of the time she showed the same keen insight into legal matters that she had during the trial of the first case. She was again represented by Judge Champlin of East Providence.

Early in the day a motion by the plaintiff for allowance and counsel fees was denied.

NEW TREMORS IN BAY STATE.

Lynn and Marblehead Are Shaken —Halifax Records Vibrations.

BOSTON, May 4.—Earth tremors, very slight but noticeable enough to cause excitement among residents, were reported from the north shore of Massachusetts today. First reports of the shock came from Lynn. Marblehead also reported a slight shock. The tremors occurred between 12:45 and 12:51 P. M. and lasted but a few seconds.

K. F. Mather, Harvard University seismologist, said that if an earthquake had occurred it was very slight and of a purely local nature. No record of it could be found, he said, without removing the needle of the Harvard seismograph.

HALIFAX, May 4.—The seismograph of Dalhousie University recorded two distinct earth shocks yesterday. The first disturbance was at 1:42 P. M., Atlantic Standard Time, and lasted until 3:30 P. M. The second was at 7:20 P. M., lasting until 9 o'clock. They apparently were vibrations from severe earthquakes, experts said.

FAENZA, Italy, May 4.—The seismograph at the observatory of Professor Raphael Bandandi recorded last night violent earth vibrations lasting three hours and apparently covering a large territory about 6,000 miles distant.

TERHUNE GETS HIS DOG.

Explorer, Prize Collie, Found at Tarrytown by the Police.

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., May 4.—Explorer, the prize collie owned by Albert Payson Terhune, novelist, who escaped from his kennel at Mount Kisco last week, was found today near Tarrytown by the police.

The dog had been lent to Miss Genevieve Terry of Mount Kisco by Mr. Terhune, and since it was the first time he had been away from home he tried to get back. He got as far as Tarrytown, where it is believed he decided the Hudson was too wide to swim and had to stop. Since he is a "one man" dog he would accept no food from strangers, and he was hungry and almost exhausted when the police found him. They will get the $100 reward offered by Mr. Terhune for Explorer's return.

action with a French detachment which attempted to throw a pontoon bridge across the Wergha. The French were forced back, but managed to destroy the boats before withdrawing.

Although Marshal Lyautey is not yet ready to begin a carefully organized operation to clear out the zone, it was decided that the tribesmen could not be allowed to proceed any further, and a slight push, it developed, was all that was needed to drive them back.

To Renew Attack on Spaniards.

TANGIER, May 4.—Although since the withdrawal of the Spanish troops during last Autumn and Winter toward the coast there has been a lull in fighting in the north, it seems that the Riffians do not intend to leave the Spanish lines long without attacking them in force and probably in more than one direction.

On the Eastern front the Spaniards are said to be expecting an outbreak of hostilities to the southwest of Melilla, while it seems certain that Abd-El-Krim is preparing to attack the Spanish lines between Tetuan and Tangier and on the frontier between Tangier and the Spanish zone. His objective is to disperse the Spanish troops in that region and open the Tangier market to the half starving Jabala tribesmen.

It is his intention to recognize, as he has always done, the special status of Tangier and it is his adherents' to create no incidents in the Tangier zone.

It does not appear that Abd-el-Krim intends sending any very strong contingents of Riffians to this district, as he relies on Jabala tribesmen to break the Spanish lines. But the Jabala tribesmen have lately been showing signs of desiring to return to Spanish allegiance and it may still be the wish of part of them to do so. Abd-el-Krim lately threatened reprisals against any tribesmen exhibiting such tendencies and some villages of the Anjera, whose inhabitants are accused of pro-Spanish proclivities, have lately been burned. For the moment, at least, it seems that this return of friendly feeling toward the Spaniards has been crushed.

With such an extensive program in view against the Spaniards it seems strange that Abd-el-Krim should have chosen this moment to make war on the French. There are, however, reasons that mayhave forced his hand.

The tribes on the frontier between the Spanish and French zones in the regions north Fez and Taza, which owing to the distance of their territory from Tetuan and Tangier have not been able to take an active part in attacks on the Spanish forces in their present position near the Mediterranean and Atlantic have become impatient.

Last year's advance of troops of the French Protectorate into the upper valleys of the Wergha cut off rich corn-growing country and left these mountain tribesmen and to a large extent Abd-el-Krim's army without adequate sources of supply. At the time of the French advance these frontier tribes appealed to Abd-el-Krim for assistance to resist the French, but such help as was given was totally inadequate and Abd-el-Krim made it quite clear that he was not at that moment desirous of starting a new campaign. The result was a certain amount of discontent among these tribes and them threats that they would come to terms with the French.

Anxious to Avoid Clash.

During the autumn Abd-el-Krim on several occasions wrote me stating that he was anxious to avoid hostilities with the French and was prepared to make arrangements for policing their frontier, but regretted that he could not accept as the frontier the line claimed by the French under the Treaty of 1912, which he stated did not correspond with the frontier as claimed by the Spaniards. The fact is, and Abd-el-Krim knows it well, that the frontier has never been delimitated or even in detail agreed upon between the French and Spaniards and French and Spanish maps differ widely on the subject. Abd-el-Krim demanded, and still demands, that the French should withdraw to the course of the Wergha.

In order to escape a campaign against the French last year, when all his energies centred upon attacking the retiring Spaniards, he put off the frontier tribes with the promise that at some date he would drive the French out of the newly occupied country and hand back the disputed district to the tribesmen. They waited for the Riffian leader to carry out his promises till this Spring's fighting season arrived after the rains and Ramadan had passed, and now have either advanced without his full consent —which seems improbable as they are accompanied by strong contingents of his Riffian soldiers—or forced his hand by insisting upon no further delays.

It is quite possible that if the Riffians meet with a severe check in the French zone Abd-el-Krim will repudiate their invasion and try to come to terms over the frontier question with the French.

But here another difficulty arises. The French, in loyalty to the Spaniards, cannot treat with Abd-l-Krim, who is legally the leader of the rebellion against the Sultan of Morocco in the Spanish zone. The most they could do would be to come to some temporary understanding with the frontier tribes, in arranging which Abd-el-Krim could materially assist them in the matter of policing the frontier.

Has No European Expert Advice.

In this invasion of the French protectorate and the secrecy with which the Riffian leaders have evaded the French posts and in the subsequent action upon local tribesmen Abd-el-Krim's men have again shown a very remarkable capacity for organization and tactical skill.

It is difficult to credit any Riffian leader with the details of Abd-el-Krim's various program and yet it appears, in spite of reports to the contrary, that he has no European expert advisers and stories about the presence of German and Turkish officers or others at Ajdir are entirely unconfirmed. A few European adventurers have from time to time resided there but none of them remained long and none appear to have been men with any military capacity.

It is becoming clearer day by day that Abd-el Krim himself is a man of very great ability. Even should his invasion of the French protectorate fail he has still scope for action of far-reaching importance in the Spanish zone. He has never for one moment abandoned his intention to drive the Spaniards out of Morocco.

The strength of General de Rivera's line has not yet been tested. Will it withstand an organized attack by massed tribesmen? Will the Spaniards try to forestall such an attack by landing at Alhucemas and thus create a diversion? At Sheshuan the Riffians are concentrating an important force. What is its objective? Sheshuan itself is almost equi-distant from Tetum and from Larache, from the Tangier zone and from the French frontier near Wezzan. Where is this force destined to strike? No one knows.

The greatest secrecy is being maintained. On this point and on his general program Abd-el-Krim's intentions are shrouded in mystery. All that can be said is that wherever he strikes, as has just been proved in the French protectorate, he will strike secretly and hard. There is thunder in the air, but where the next storm will burst it is impossible to say, in any case it cannot be long delayed.

I returned from Rabat overland to Tangier on Saturday. The road through the Spanish zone is strongly guarded and patrolled, and the Spaniards appear to be reinforcing the posts near the frontier of the Tangier zone. Although there had been bombing near the road on the previous day, all was quiet when I passed.

KABYLES IN BAD PLIGHT.

Raided by Abd-el-Krim on One Side and by Spaniards on Other.

TETUAN, Spanish Morocco, May 4 (Associated Press).—Abd-el-Krim, the rebel leader, is resorting to severe tactics in his campaign to force those of the Kabyle tribesmen friendly to Spain but who live outside the Spanish front to join his forces. He is carrying out raids on numerous villages and taking away in chains to the Riff country notables among the Kabyles.

The situation of the Kabyles is considered desperate, for they are between two fires. In addition to the Riffians, Spanish aviators and native auxiliaries are carrying on continued raids into their territory, making their situation a sorry one.

REDS LOSE TO SOCIALISTS

Result Is Held to Show That the Mass of the People Eschew Both Revolution and Reaction.

Copyright, 1925, by The New York Times Company.
By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 4.—Contrary to earlier indications, the Left parties appear today to have held a slight advantage over the Nationalists in the municipal election throughout France yesterday.

The Minister of the Interior tonight issued statistics showing the trend of the election, according to the latest results.

Municipal Councils chosen 181, to be chosen or results unknown, 204.

The political complexion of the completed Municipal Councils is as follows:

Conservatives, 6 Councils, a loss of 4; Republican-Democratic Union, 20 Councils, a loss of 3; Left Republicans, 25, a loss of 14; Radical Republicans, 8, a loss of 2; Radical and Radical Socialists, 93, a gain of 18; Socialist Republicans, 5, a gain of 1; International Labor Federation Socialists, 15, a gain of 39; Communists, nil.

Owing to the operation of the proportional system, it will not be until the second ballot is taken next Sunday that the final results will be known. The Radical Socialists and Socialists have, however, won complete victories in several important cities and districts, such as Bordeaux, Toulouse, Calais, Orleans and Poitiers. These gains will enable the Left cartel to control during the next four years a number of important Senatorial elections and strengthen their party in the upper house.

In general the result of the elections has caused disappointment among the Nationalists, who were counting somewhat optimistically on a change of opinion from last May, when Left candidates throughout the country were swept into power and Parliament. Had the Right showed an increase in strength it was generally admitted that the next step would have been to try and secure a new general election. That manoeuvre has now been prevented by the obvious satisfaction of the voters with the conduct of the parties in power.

As indicated yesterday, the defeat of the Communist candidates in the Paris district and elsewhere was one of the most notable features of the election. In every case where they were defeated it was by a Socialist candidate, the division between these two parties being, in this country, clearly defined and without compromise.

This defeat of the Communists and the prevention also of any marked Nationalist gains will, it is hoped in Government circles, help to put an end to the bitter strife which has been going on between the two extremes. During the past months, while the Nationalist press and politicians have been crying aloud about the danger of Communist centuries and battalions, the Communists have been equally extravagant in denunciation of the danger of Fascism.

If it proves nothing else, yesterday's election proves that both parties of extremists are wrong and that the great mass of French people are eager to pursue an even liberal and pacific policy, avoiding both revolution and reaction.

French Cabinet Acts to Prevent Clashes Between Demonstrators.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 4.—The Cabinet this afternoon decided to forbid any parade in Paris on Joan of Arc Day, next Sunday, because "the Government has been advised that manifestations and counter-manifestations likely to become of somewhat violent a character, have been prepared."

Up to today it was generally expected that processions of a religious character would be allowed in view of the fact that it is a national holiday, but the recent distressing incidents which cost the lives of four young Nationalists caused the Government to adopt a policy of the utmost prudence.

nott & Canty firm and reputed to be an intimate friend and associate of Mayor Hylan. Mr. Coyle is employed by the city's Law Department as "special counsel" at $8,500 a year and is engaged in matters affecting the Board of Water Supply, of which James P. Sinnott, father of the Sinnott brothers, is Commissioner. The amount of the check, payment of which was withheld by the Controller, is $708.33. According to Mr. Kerrigan, Mr. Coyle was with Mayor Hylan at Palm Beach this Winter and last.

Mr. Kerrigan made public parts of the testimony of two contractors. One of these, J. Charles Andrews, Treasurer of the Turner Company, testified that he had originally had intended to give the business of furnishing his company a bond on a city contract to another broker but changed to Sinnott & Canty because the latter had solicited "so energetically" and he and his associate had thought it "might do them some good."

Thomas J. Johnson, President of the Hayson Construction Company, testified that Sinnott & Canty had furnished a bond for the construction of public school 212 in Brooklyn, and said that his company had not employed Sinnott & Canty on another contract and had failed to get the contract, although it was low bidder.

Swayed by "Good Business."

"For some time past," said Mr. Kerrigan, in telling of his investigation, "the Controller's office has been inquiring about the placing of surety bonds on contracts with the city and its various departments to ascertain whether any connection exists between the Mayor's office in City Hall, the contractors doing the largest construction jobs and the commissions paid to the firm of Sinnott & Canty, brokers, at 80 Maiden Lane.

"Some of the information obtained is of a grave nature indicating that extreme methods have been employed in order to obtain a commission on business with the city.

"The percentage collected by the insurance brokers is comparatively small, when figured on any one contract, but taken in the aggregate, runs into hundreds of thousands of dollars. The rate of premium varies with the kind of work done, in some instances being figured at three-fourths of 1 per cent. on the contract and in others as high as 7 per cent. on the amount of the bond.

"Sinnott & Canty in approaching contractors, relied almost entirely, according to the evidence thus far obtained, on the relationship existing between J. Paul Sinnott of the bonding firm and his brother, John F. Sinnott, Mayor Hylan's son-in-law and Secretary. There is not a contractor in town, who has not been informed of this relationship and some of them frankly admitted that they believed it was 'good business' to swing their bonding orders to Sinnott & Canty in order to stand in right with 'the boss' at City Hall.

"It also developed, in the course of the inquiry, that Frank J. Coyle, an intimate friend and associate of Mayor Hylan and John F. Sinnott, the Mayor's secretary, was one of the incorporators and officers of the bond firm of Sinnott & Canty. Mr. Coyle holds a city position, as 'special counsel' in the Law Department, at $8,500 a year and is engaged in connection with matters affecting the Board of Water Supply of which James P. Sinnott, father of the several Sinnott brothers, is a commissioner.

"As a result of the disclosure of the connection between the Sinnott & Canty bonding enterprise and Mr. Coyle, Controller Craig has withheld Coyle's pay for the month of April, a voucher for which in the amount of $708.33 was received on April 22. Coyle maintains a private law office at 55 Liberty Street in the building owned by the ol- interests of Harry Sinclair. Coyle spent a vacation with Mayor Hylan at Palm Beach this Winter and last.

"The ramifications of the business of the firm of Sinnott & Canty, the inquiry has shown, are quite extensive. It is not confined to the writing of curety bonds for the faithful performance of contracts with the city. It also reaches into the fire insurance, liability insurance and workmen's compensation fields, and in several instances it has developed that where Sinnott & Canty were refused the surety bond premiums by city contractors they have written the other policies of insurance. In other cases it appears they have written insurance on private work done by contractors for private concerns where the same concerns happened to be bidders on city contracts.

Told of "Punishment."

"Mayor Hylan's School Building Program" of over 100,000,000, it is indicated, has been accompanied, hand and hand, as it were, by the Sinnott & Canty premium collecting and bond writing agency. But the business has been pushed even beyond the school building contracts to include Police Department buildings, hospital buildings, the construction of public markets, water supply contracts and other construction projects. In fact, practically every successful bidder on any large city project during the past two years has been solicited, sometimes roughly and sometimes gently, to place its business through Sinnott & Canty. Two different contractors have testified that they ordered a representative of the bonding firm out of their offices because of offensive tactics.

"Several of the contractors who resisted the attempts of Sinnott & Canty to obtain the writing of their business seemed very loath to tell of their experiences. One man referred to "punishment" for turning them down. Others have told of losing contracts on which they were the lowest bidders. Some of the larger concerns, on the other hand, stated that they had not been 'interfered with.'

"The inquiry is being continued from day to day in the Comptroller's office and may consume several weeks."

Bonds for the Turner Construction Company, one of the largest in the city, were furnished by Sinnott & Canty, according to information obtained by Mr. Kerrigan. On one contract, the construction of the James Madison High School in Brooklyn, the bond amounted to $1,000,000, and on the contract for the construction of Public School 210 the bond was $600,000. On bonds of this character the premium is said to be usually three-fourths of 1 per cent. of the amount of the bond, the premium varying according to the kind of work and amounting to as much as 7 per cent. in some subway construction contracts. The commission to the agent is understood to be generally about 30 per cent.

Changed His Mind.

J. Charles Andrews, Treasurer of the Turner Company, testified that Sinnott & Canty in addition to furnishing bonds for its city contracts had written bonds on contracts in New Jersey and also a bond on the construction of a building for the General Baking Company in Flatbush.

Mr. Kerrigan asked Mr. Andrews if his company had not intended originally to place its bonds with another agent.

"I think that Mr. Fincken had been soliciting that business," Mr. Andrews replied. "I know him very well and I think he assumed that he was going to get that bond. I have no recollection of having made any engagement. I think he assumed he would get it."

Mr. Andrews added that when the business was finally placed with Sinnott & Canty, there was a redistribution of the business among different companies. "These insurance companies are very active in soliciting business of this kind and they sit on your doorstep all the time," Mr. Andrews added.

Under further questioning, Mr. Andrews testified that Mr. Sinnott had personally solicited the business from Mr. Turner, President of the company. Questions and answers follow:

Q.—Did he let you know that he was related to anybody in the Mayor's office? A.—I think we knew it; I don't think he said anything about it.

Q.—Did he tell you he could help you get your payments through the Controller's office? A.—I would not like to say yes or no to that. I don't think I know any brokers who have not said that to me. Fincken has said that to me and I think this man said to me if I had any trouble to let him know. I think that is the way he put it. I don't think he could do much in the Controller's office judging from the knowledge we have from the papers.

Sought to Avoid Trouble.

Mr. Andrews added that the company gave the business to Mr. Sinnott "because he solicited the business very energetically."

"We didn't think it would do us any harm to put it through this way, feeling that it might do us some good," he added.

When asked if he considered that there had been improper solicitation, Mr. Andrews said:

"We go into this business to fulfill our contracts and if we get a square deal that is all we ask, absolutely. We don't want to get into trouble because somebody is trying to put a spoke in our wheel. I have heard of people getting into trouble through no fault of their own. If we can avoid that sort of thing that is substantially what we want."

Thomas J. Johnson, President of the Hayson Construction Company, testified that Sinnott & Canty had furnished him a bond for the construction of Public School 212, Brooklyn, amounting to $480,000. He said he never had done business with that firm before.

"We were solicited by their representative," he said. "It is a peculiar thing on these school bonds. Every one is after you for a bond when you happen to be low bidder on a job. They are all after you. Sometimes you are apt to make bad friends by turning a man down."

Mr. Johnson testified he was low bidder on another city contract, gave the writing of the bond to another broker and did not get the job.

"Why, I don't know," he added. "I was told that the job was not awarded because there were only three bidders, although just before that they awarded them on two bidders."

Mr. Johnson testified that the contract was readvertised a month or two later. "Some one else came in lower and got the job because our figures were exposed on the first bid," he said. "We felt very sorry we did not get it and consulted counsel with the thought that we might take some action to compel them to award the job to us. Counsel was not very encouraging and told us that we would have to show that they were really discriminating against us, and we dropped it."

In explaining his acquaintance with the firm of Sinnott & Canty, Mr. Johnson said:

"I know Mr. Sinnott's brother personally—this brother with the Taxi Company. I used to buy clothes in a store in Brooklyn and he was the salesman who waited on me. I got to know him. I always considered him a nice salesman there."

"Did any one call you up and tell you at that time that, if you did not give the bond to Sinnott & Canty you would not get the job?" Mr. Kerrigan asked.

"No," replied Mr. Johnson. "In all my time I never had any one say that. I have heard of other brokers doing that. There is a little jealousy between them because they don't get the bond. I have heard them say these fellows go as far as to get certain members of the Board of Education to call up and solicit the bond. They never did it with us."

THE MAYOR'S REPLY.

He Attacks Swope in Connection With Bonding Charges.

The Mayor's only answer yesterday to the allegations regarding the Sinnotts took the form of a personal attack on Herbert Bayard Swope, executive editor of The World, in whose columns the matter appeared yesterday. The Mayor, in this attack, linked the name of Mr. Swope with that of Arnold Rothstein, the gambler, and added:

"He has a new ally [against the Mayor] in Controller Craig and Deputy Controller Herrigan, who does nothing for his salary but give out misleading statements abusing those whom Craig cannot use."

HINDENBURG PLANS QUIET BERLIN ENTRY

President-Elect Will Leave the Train at Suburban Station and Motor to Wilhelmstrasse.

OFFICIALS GO TO MUNICH

Opening of New Museum Will Be Celebrated This Week—Pension for President Ebert's Widow.

Copyright, 1925, by The New York Times Company. By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, May 4.—Berlin, the city which is about to acquire President-elect Hindenburg as a resident, and Hanover, the city which is about to lose him, are vying with each other in hastening plans respectively for greeting him and bidding him farewell. While Hanover is putting the finishing touches to preparations for a torchlight procession, &c, when Hindenburg moves away and seeking to protect him from importunate persons trying to thrust themselves into his presence, the Berlin reception program is constantly drawing near to completeion.

Today it was announced that Hindenburg will not leave the train from Hanover at one of the big Berlin railway stations, where his coming might cause serious traffic interruptions, but will instead alight at Heerstrasse, a suburban station beyond Berlin's west end.

Leaving Hanover at 1 o'clock on the afternoon of Monday, May 11, and traveling in a special parlor car attached to an express train, he will reach Heerstrasse at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon and will be greeted there by Chancellor Luther and other members of the Government. The latter will include General von Seeckt, the Minister of Defense; Herr Schiele, Minister of Interior; Herr Meissner, Secretary to ex-President Ebert, who is to continue at the same post by Hindenburg's wish; Mayor Böss of Berlin, State Secretary Kempner from the Chancellery and Acting Chief of Police Friedensburg.

From the Heerstrasse station the President-elect will motor to the Presidential Palace in Wilhelmstrasse, where he will spend the night. Next day he will drive in an open motor car, accompanied by Chancellor Luther and escorted by a squad of cavalry, to the Reichstag Building, where he will take the oath of office. Then he will return in the same motor car to the Presidential Palace, where Acting President Simons will turn over to him pending matters requiring action by the new President.

Meanwhile at Hanover a flood of congratulatory messages and a crowd of visitors continue to pore in on Hindenburg. If visitors are able to pass scrutiny of the police guards posted around the President-elect's villa and reach the front door they must next run the gauntlet of Karl, the Field Marshal's faithful servant, who subjects every one to searching questions and only allows to pass onward to Hinderburg's sanctum those with unquestionable reasons for entering there.

Munich Celebration Today.

Acting President Simons leaves Berlin tonight for Munich to participate in the inauguration ceremonies of the splendid new German museum. Chancellor Luther is going to Munich tomorrow by airplane, accompanied by Minister of Posts Stingl, Minister of Economics Neuhaus, Minister of the Interior Schiele, Minister of Transportation Krohne, President of the Reichstag Löbe and other notables. They will travel in two Junker airplanes.

Acting President Simons is going to Munich at the express desire of President-elect Hindenburg. At first Dr. Simons wished to stay in Berlin until all details were cleared up connected with the reception of Hindenburg when he comes here to take the oath of office. It soon transpired, however, that there was so much to do that Dr. Simons would not finish before tomorrow, the inauguration date of the Munich museum, whereupon Hindenburg insisted that Simons should not give up the Munich journey on his account.

The Lokal-Anzeiger, a newspaper of pronounced pro-Hindenburg sympathies, prints this afternoon dispatches from its New York correspondent indicating that President Coolidge is favorable toward Hindenburg. The dispatch reads:

"I had an opportunity to speak with a personage who had a long conversation with President Coolidge concerning the German election. He pointedly emphasized the fact that Coolidge was firmly determined to remain absolutely unbiased toward Hindenburg. My informant further stated he received the impression during his talk that Coolidge was at least not without sympathies for Hindenburg and that he was favorably inclined toward the latter."

Gerhart Hauptmann, the poet and dramatist, has come out for Hindenburg. Since Hauptmann is strongly Republican in sympathies one might suppose him inclined to pessimism, now that Hindenburg has been elected. On the contrary, however, he is filled with optimism regarding the new President.

Hauptmann's Statement.

To an interviewer who sought him out at Lugany, Switzerland, Hauptmann said:

"I am not apprehensive about Germany's future. Hindenburg will swear to the oath of allegiance to the Republic and keep it. The late President Ebert had no inkling in his youth and first manhood years of the great task the future had in store for him. Nor can one foresee the development even of an old man like Hindenburg. Nearly all Popes reached the papacy when old. One in fact was so aged and weak he even was forced to use crutches. Yet during his papacy he changed entirely, threw away his crutches, grew strong and youthful. He developed new wings and became the best and most purposeful leader of the faithful. I have the same hope for Hindenburg."

A bill was introduced in the Reichstag today, sanctioned by all parties excepting the Communists, for having the pension to the German President's widow increased. If the bill becomes law, as it almost undoubtedly will, President Ebert's widow will receive about 18,000 marks yearly. From this, however, taxes must be deducted.

Today Nationalist Reichstag Deputies introduced a resolution demanding that the German Government inform the Reichstag whether it was prepared to take energetic steps toward forcing the Polish Government to indemnify the families of the victims in the railway wreck last Friday in the Polish corridor and toward arranging with the Polish Government to have the German railway authorities cooperate in the upkeep of the corridor railways and to have German as well as Polish trainmen travel on the trains through the corridor.

BERLIN, May 4.—The final count of the votes in the Presidential election of April 26, which will be officially announced tomorrow, show a gain for Hindenburg of 16,367 and a loss for Marx of 1,025 votes from the previously announced figures. The final count is:

Total valid votes cast	30,351,943
For Hindenburg	14,655,766
For Marx	13,751,615
For Thaelmann	1,931,151
Scattering	13,410

According to these official figures Hindenburg's plurality was 904,151.

Lord Birkenhead Spares No Artist's Feelings at Royal Academy Dinner.

Copyright, 1925, by The New York Times Company. Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 4.—Lord Birkenhead, in paying high compliment at the Royal Academy dinner to the late John Singer Sargent, seemed not to care much for the feelings of the eminent artists who were his hosts.

"Sargent had not the equal in our day or generation," he declared, and rubbed it in by saying that Sargent had "reached the highest pinnacle of art in this country."

The Star remarks today:

"I am not quarreling with Lord Birkenhead's facts. I merely ask if it is quite tactful to put it quite so high in speaking to the elect of British art at their own dinner table about a great painter who, after all, was born an American."

upstairs, and all of Jack's $100,000 worth of liquor was returned.

When the restaurant closed 100 employes, of course, lost their jobs, but none, said Jack, need worry. They can all go to good jobs immediately, and a score or more need never work again unless they want to, for they've got rich serving in the house that Jack built. Twelve of them have been with Jack since he and the late Timothy Hurley began business thirty-four years ago. There's Jim Moran, the head waiter, whose mustache is beginning to whiten. There's Jim Hall and Jim O'Connor and George Geatz—all rich men.

"They've got plenty," said Jack. "Don't be worrying about them. George has got $100,000 worth of property at White Plains. The boys don't need to work. Maybe they'll all go to Europe with me. They, too, need a rest, and this is their chance to get it—when the restaurant closes tonight."

"But will you take your sign—'Jack's'—down?" he was asked by a sentimental patron.

Jack hesitated.

"No—I don't know. I'll let my son decide."

JOINS SONS OF ST. PATRICK.

Cardinal Hayes Becomes a Member at Broadcast Ceremony in Astor.

Cardinal Hayes was made an honorary member of the Society of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick last evening. The certificate of membership was presented to the Cardinal at the quarterly meeting of the society at the Hotel Astor. The ceremonies were the feature of the meeting, and the Cardinal received an enthusiastic welcome when he appeared on the dais. The ceremonies were broadcast from station WJZ.

The certificate of membership and a gold badge of the society were handed to the Cardinal by Supreme Court Justice Victor J. Dowling. The Justice was introduced by James J. Hoey, President of the Friendly Sons, who spoke of the honor conferred upon the organization by the presence of the Cardinal.

The Cardinal in accepting the badge and membership emphasized the friendliness of the Sons of St. Patrick as indicated by their name. He pledged himself to be a true Son of St. Patrick. A

WORKMEN'S CIRCLE VOTES DOWN REDS

Elects Louis Bennison Chairman by Wide Margin in a Noisy Election.

Four Communists Are Barred From Convention and Others Face Contests Today.

A contest over the seating of Communist delegates to the convention of the Workmen's Circle marked the session at the New Star Casino, at 107th Street and Park Avenue, yesterday. The convention was opened at Madison Square Garden Sunday. Twenty-two of the Communist delegates faced contests when the committee made its first report to the convention, and seats were finally refused to four of them by a vote of about 800 to 150. More of these contests will come up today.

The struggle between the Right and Left members of the organization was minimized yesterday by those who saw in it merely the annual attempt of the Communists to gain control of the organization. The best showing of the Left Wing was in the vote for the presiding officer, in which Louis Bennison of Chicago was elected Chairman by a vote of 681 to 231. There were numerous outbreaks of cheering and protests by both sides, but nothing disorderly. The street outside was guarded by patrolmen, who had little to do.

J. Weinberg of New York, President of the organization and Chairman of the Executive Committee, thanked the delegates for the way they had conducted themselves in the Madison Square meeting and said the disorder had been caused by persons not members of the Workmen's Circle.

"We are proud of America and loyal to America," he said. "We appreciate the struggle which led to the establishment of America. But we cannot agree with a United States represented by A. Mitchell Palmers, Harry M. Daugherty and Albert S. Falls. The real United States, as we conceive it, is the United States of Wendell Phillips, Abraham Lincoln and Eugene V. Debs."

The last sentence was loudly cheered.

It was voted to reimburse the delegates from Philadelphia, who came to attend the Garden meeting and were unable to get in because of the crowd.

CORPORATION BUREAU GETS $521,226 IN APRIL

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, May 3.—With receipts in the Corporation Bureau amounting to $521,226 for the month of April, the bureau has established a new high record, Mrs. Florence E. Knapp, Secretary of State, announced today. Up to May 1 the receipts of the bureau exceeded those of the same period of last year by $590,385.

During the first four months of this year 7,946 companies obtained charters as compared with 7,466 companies during the corresponding period of 1924.

In April, 1,995 new corporations were formed as against 1,783 for April, 1924. Of the number that were incorporated last month there were 301 scattered over 45 counties outside of Greater New York, Erie County leading with 54 companies, Westchester second with 52 and Nassau third with 42. The number of corporations giving Greater New York as the principal office numbered 1,694 for the month.

AUTO MAKER IN BELLEVUE.

M. W. Haynes, Son of Pioneer In Motor Field, Has Nervous Break-Down.

March W. Haynes, 29 years old, an automobile manufacturer of Kokomo, Ind., son of the late Elwood Haynes, inventor of the "horseless carriage," which was the forerunner of the automobile, was taken to the psychopathic ward at Bellevue Hospital yesterday, following a nervous break-down brought on by brooding over his father's death on April 14.

Mr. Haynes had been in New York only a day and was living at the Hotel Pennsylvania. His relatives in this city became alarmed over his eccentric behavior, and a cousin, Frederick Headington of 145 Audubon Avenue, was asked to watch the young man. He finally persuaded Mr. Haynes to accompany him to Bellevue.

LAY BUYING DROP TO COOLIDGE POLICY

spending money as a matter of principle, provided it is spent for something worth while. If everybody stopped spending money the time would soon come when nobody would have any money to spend. Hard times come when people are hoarding money, not when they are spending it.

"I give you fair warning now that I am not going to try to save Rotary's money. Neither am I going to see it wasted. Henry Castens has been appointed Chairman of a Budget Committee and this committee will undertake to find out how Rotary's income from its membership fees and dues can best be expended to bring to its members the largest possible returns in profit, pleasure and happiness."

"In many places and from many sources I have heard the same sentiment expressed, a severe and sometimes almost bitter resentment concerning the President's advocacy of rigid personal economy," commented Mr. Davey in making public the reputed words of Mr. Radcliffe. "The people seem to rejoice in the idea of economy in Government, but I have heard many business men from Chicago to New York speak in strong resentment concerning this talk of personal economy. They say it is hurting business. It may or may not be true, but many business men are saying it just the same."

Admit Complaints Are Numerous.

Advisers of the Administration say that the complaints, while numerous, cannot be founded upon sane economy. They point out that if there is prosperity the people will buy what they need and at times indulge in luxuries. Some of them admit that there might have been a recession in retail trade due to Washington utterances, but are of the opinion that the effect could not have been to the injury of business to such an extent as some of the critics assert. In the opinion of most of those connected with the Government departments in touch with business, the country is enjoying a safe development, with the people saving and buying as is consistent with their incomes and needs. These persons contend there can be nothing fundamentally wrong with American business and prosperity when savings reach $7,785,684,000, as shown by the reports of deposits in 893 banks on April 1.

President Coolidge intends appearing before the meeting of the Budget Committee on June 22 to urge more economies in governmental expenditures. His position is that the Government must reduce its outgo to $3,000,000,000 a year and as far below that as possible. He has received so many congratulatory letters from business men approving his stand as to economy and his conservative attitude that the reports recited in the foregoing do not harass him.

START TOMORROW ON ST. JOHN FRONT

Service Will Mark Breaking of Ground for Amsterdam Avenue Facade.

BUSINESS MEN RAISE FUND

Public Invited to Exercises, Which Will Include Procession of Clergy and Laity.

A special service will mark the breaking of ground for the west front of the Cathedral of St. John, at 112th Street and Amsterdam Avenue, at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The ceremony will be under the auspices of the Business Men's Division of the Committee for the Completion of the Cathedral, but the entire public is invited to attend.

Haley Fiske, President of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, and chairman of the division, which has raised about $900,000 of the $2,500,000 needed to build the west front, will officially present "this beginning of the west front," and Bishop William T. Manning will formally accept it.

Before the service members of the division will meet at the Synod Hall, 110th Street and Amsterdam Avenue, and will march in procession along Amsterdam Avenue to the west end of the nave foundation. The order of the procession will be:

Business Men's Division, Executive Committee of the cathedral campaign, the cathedral architect, trustees of the cathedral, the crucifier and choir, the clergy, the acting dean and Bishop Manning.

After the presentation and acceptance speeches Bishop Manning will give the order to begin, and the steam shovel will scoop out the first shovelful of earth. Excavation will be made to the solid rock upon which the concrete foundations to support the great western towers will be laid. It is known that at one side solid rock is only twenty feet below the surface, but the rock formation slopes, and it is not known just how deep the excavation will have to be. Under one of the main piers of the cathedral the builders had to take out disintegrated rock to a depth of seventy-five feet and fill in with concrete.

Bishop Manning said yesterday that he wanted to make it clear that every one was invited to the ceremony.

The Y. M. C. A. branch of the City College will begin a drive tomorrow to raise funds for the purchase of a stone to be contributed to the college bay of the cathedral. The drive committee consists of J. K. Ackley, chairman; Frank Tartaron of the Newman Club, Cuthbert Spencer ofthe Douglas Society and Samuel B. Oldbaum of the Menorah Society.

ORVILLE WRIGHT ASKS INQUIRY ON CHARGES

Says His Statements of Changes in Langley's Machine Have Not Been Denied.

Special to The New York Times.

DAYTON, Ohio, May 4.—Urging that an investigation of the charges he prefers against Dr. Walcott with reference to his alleged unlicensed use of the Langley airplane placed in the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, Orville Wright issued tonight what is believed to be his final statement in the controversy.

"I have made specific charges as to many changes in the machine at Hammondsport," said Mr. Wright. "Dr. Walcott does not deny one of them. His answer is, 'I examined the machine carefully and found it with the original engine, driving mechanism, driver's seat, main frame and double tail and wings inferior in workmanship, but of Langley design.'

"Dr. Walcott's answer mentions the parts which were the same. He gives the impression that the wings used at Hammondsport had the same design as the wings used by Langley.

"The design could not have been the same when the wings had a different camber, different aspect ratio, and different area.

"Does Dr. Walcott dare affirm that the location of trussing of the wings in the Hammondsport machine in 1914 was the same as the location of the trussing of the wings in the Langley machine of 1903?"

"This controversy can never be settled while one side is talking about one thing and the other side answers by talking about something else. It can be settled by an investigation of impartial experts.

WASHINGTON, May 4. — Orville Wright's announced intention to send the original Wright brothers' flying machine to a British museum will find opposition in the coming session of Congress.

Representative Bloom of New York, a member of the House Patents Committee, announced today that he would introduce a bill forbidding removal from the United States of any patent model, except for exhibition purposes as a loan.

SAFE LOOTED OF $5,000 IN A BROADWAY OFFICE

Well-Equipped Thieves Smash, Pry and Blast Their Way to a Big Payroll.

Thieves cracked the safe in the offices of the L. Tanenbaum and Strauss Real Estate Company, Inc., on the seventh floor of the new Corn Exchange Bank building at 525 Broadway early Saturday morning and escaped with several thousand dollars in cash.

A porter entering the offices yesterday morning to sweep discovered the raid. He telephoned Leon Tanenbaum, one of the members of the firm, at his home and informed the police.

It was thought the thieves had broken in about 6 o'clock in the morning and had left in a hurry, since they had left some of their tools, including several steel jimmies of unusual size. Their tracks were easily traceable. They had ascended from Spring Street by a partly enclosed fire escape and pried open the heavy metal-covered door leading to the L. Tanenbaum and Strauss offices with a large lever. They crawled over a partition into the room containing the safe and broke the hinges of a heavy steel door to the compartment containing the safe with an electric drill. Then they blew open the safe with an explosive which loosened its door, which is six inches thick.

The safe contained money to pay the maintenance force of office buildings operated by the company, Benjamin Strauss, a member of the firm, declared. These payrolls had been made up Friday for distribution the following day. All the money was in cash. Some reports put the amount as high as $40,000. Mr. Tanenbaum, however, said the loss was not more than $5,000.

ADVERTISING MEN HERE FROM BRITAIN

Sir William Veno Heads Twenty Delegates on Their Way to Houston Convention.

WELCOMED AT QUARANTINE

Juvenile Court Judge Also Arrives on the Samaria—Guest of Probation Officers.

Twenty of the British delegates to the convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs, headed by Sir William Veno of Manchester and Major Wynne Williams, manager of the advertising department of The London Times, arrived yesterday afternoon on the Cunarder Samaria. They will leave for Houston, Texas, on Thursday. They were met at the pier by Jesse H. Neal, Secretary and Treasurer of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, and Clifford Jackson, Secretary of the New York Advertising Club.

Sir William Veno is a freeman of the City of London. He founded one of the largest proprietary medicine businesses in Great Britain, from which he recently retired. During his last year in business, he said, his firm spent $1,600,000 in advertising, of which 90 per cent. went to the newspapers and the remainder on billboards. He said that business in England was not good, but that the indications gave hope of an improvement this year. The reduction of sixpence in the pound in the income tax made by Mr. Churchill will not start any boom in trade, he said; but added that if it had been a shilling there would have been an increase in commerce.

Sir William is one of the wealthiest men in England. He was at one time Mayor of Altrincham, twelve miles from Manchester, which received its first charter from King Edward I in 1292. Before sailing Sir William gave $50,000 to the Middlesex Hospital in London for cancer research.

Major Wynne Williams said this was the largest delegation of advertising men that had ever left England. The other delegates were George Reg. Coates, London; Ambrose Wilson, Ltd.; Mrs. George Reg. Coates, London; A. Stanley Porter, Ronald S. Porter, Mrs. Stanley Porter and Miss Joyce Kathleen Porter, Liverpool; Edwin Chambers of Edwin Chambers, Ltd., Bradford; Ralph Edgar Perring, John Perring & Co., Ltd., London; Henry George, Geneva, Publicitas Societas Anoyme Suisse de Publicte; Norman Ashley of L. Sanderman Allen & Co., London; Harry Walter Wayne, London; Mrs. Lynette Wynn, Teignmouth; Victor Charles Stokes, Bushey, Herts, Stokes & Sons, and Union of London Meat Traders; Mrs. R. S. Haye, Porthcawl, and Mrs. Alfred Mariand, Southport, Griffith Hughes & Co., Ltd.

The delegates were welcomed in Quarantine by John J. Regan of Houston, Texas, on behalf of his State.

Another passenger was T. W. Trought, J. P., of Manchester, who has been sitting for twenty years in the Juvenile Court without pay. He has come as a delegate of the British Probation Officers, and will be the guest of the Federation of Probation Officers in New York and at Denver, where he will attend the first convention of the International Probation Association. Justice Trought was met at the pier by Professor Frederick W. Roman of the Chair of Economics at Columbia University.

W. B. Nelson, assistant passenger manager of the Cunard Line, who was at the pier, said that customs officials charged $10 duty on the silk flag sent by the Advertising Club of London to be presented to the convention in Houston. He said that this was very different from the reception given to the American delegates who went to London last Summer.

LIQUIDATED BUSINESS HE WILLED TO EMPLOYE

George H. Kendall Left Residuary Estate of $237,436 to Secretary, However.

An appraisal in the Surrogates' office yesterday of the estate of George H. Kendal, owner of the New York Bank Note Company, who left the bulk of his estate to his secretary, Miss Ethel Graham Allen, of 70 Sunnyside Avenue, Brooklyn, with the request that the business be continued by her "as a monument" to him, shows that the business had been practically liquidated at the time of his death and that the value then was only $14,403.

The will was made June 15, 1921, and a codicil was signed Aug. 9, 1923, explaining the gift of the residuary estate to Miss Allen. Mr. Kendall died April 24, 1924. It was estimated at that time that the estate would amount to nearly $1,000,000 and that the value of the bank note business was considerable. The appraisal fixes the value of the estate at $624,613 gross and $483,046 net. The deductions of $140,667 included $75,000 for a mausoleum to be erected in Woodlawn Cemetery.

The codicil to Mr. Kendall's will increased a bequest of $50,000 left for the erection of a mausoleum to $150,000, and authorized Miss Allen, who was named executrix, to use such part of this sum as she desired for that purpose.

Miss Allen, as the residuary legatee, received a total of $237,436. The estate included the property at 75 Sixth Avenue, where the business of the New York Bank Note Company was conducted, valued at $96,500; personal effects worth $435, and cash amounting to $80,356. The securities appraised at $465,511 included $199,250 French External Loan gold bonds.

NURSES' UNION PLAN MEETS OPPOSITION

Proposal to Join Labor Federation Rebuffed by Peck Hospital Alumnae.

As a sequel to a recent meeting of trained nurses to consider demands for more pay and shorter hours, the Nurses' Alumnae of the Carson C. Peck Memorial Hospital, Albany Avenue and Crown Street, Brooklyn, announced yesterday that it was not in favor of joining the American Federation of Labor or any other labor organization. The announcement followed a warning by Dr. Augustus S. Downing, Assistant State Commissioner of Education, that physicians and the State Board of Regents would not tolerate the proposal to form an Association of Private Duty Nurses.

The proposal to unionize the nurses has aroused great discussion in the various organizations of nurses and among physicians.

AGUINALDO BACKS WOOD.

Scores the "Bickerings" of the Filipino Politicians.

MANILA, May 4 (Associated Press).—General Emilio Aguinaldo, President of the Veterans of the Philippine Revolution, addressing members of that organization at Baguio, Luzon Island, today urged the members to support Governor General Wood and his administration.

General Aguinaldo declared that the veterans' organization was not political, and that it should work for national unity, which he said was now threatened by political bickering and lack of cooperation.

The General referred to the American flag as the greatest symbol of liberty in the world, saying:

"When the time comes, the United States will grant you freedom."

Fine Lawns at Less Cost

Right now is a good time to investigate the economies of an Ideal Power Mower for your lawn. In the early spring, frequent cutting is necessary and rolling is especially beneficial.

By using an Ideal, you can make a big saving in labor, eliminate the hard work and have a finer lawn in the bargain. The saving in labor is sufficient to soon pay the entire cost of the mower.

IDEAL Power Lawn Mowers

Best of all, Ideal Mowers are dependable, trouble-free machines that the average workman can operate successfully. They are sturdy and durable. Over 15,000 Ideals in service and many of them have been in use six, seven, and eight years.

Prompt deliveries from local stock. Grass cutting time is here. Order your Ideal early and get the full season's benefit of the saving in labor. We will gladly demonstrate an Ideal on your lawn if you wish.

HIGH COURT UPHOLDS PUBLICITY OF TAXES

District of Columbia Tribunal Sustains Power of Congress to Open Returns to Public.

MEANT TO AID ENFORCEMENT

Government Will Not Exhibit 1925 Income Tax Payments Until After July 1.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Lists of names and addresses of taxpayers which show the amount paid as income tax by any person are Government property and may be lawfully exhibited by the Government, even though it hurts or offends the taxpayers, according to a decision today by the District of Columbia Court of Appeals in a test case involving the right of the Government to publish income tax returns under the 1924 revenue law.

This was one of the cases arising out of the action of Congress in authorizing publication of tax returns. The Government, while permitting newspapers to copy amounts of income tax paid by individuals, has entered suit against two newspapers for publishing these amounts and the names of the persons who paid them.

The case was brought by Gorham Hubbard of Boston, who sought an injunction against David H. Blair, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, to prevent publication of income-tax payments. Mr. Hubbard's principal contention was that such publication violated the spirit and letter of the Fourth Amendment to the Constitution, which denounces unreasonable search and seizure. Justice Hoehling, in the District of Columbia Supreme Court, dismissed Mr. Hubbard's petition and he appealed to the Court of Appeals.

The Fourth Amendment protects the person and property of a citizen against unreasonable search and seizure, the Appellate Court noted, but since Mr. Hubbard's person and property were not involved, the Court brushed this plea aside and, according to the opinion signed by Justice Hatfield, it appears that the Court considered the intent and meaning of Congress in providing for tax publicity.

"It seems to us," the Court goes on to say, "that the provisions for public inspection of lists containing the name and address of each person making an income-tax return and the amount of tax paid by him were considered by Congress appropriate means of securing the enforcement of the Income Tax law, and that such provisions are plainly adapted to that end. They may cause many hardships and may prove injurious to many; it may develop that Congress was very unwise in enacting such provisions, but such considerations in no way affect the constitutional authority of Congress in the premises."

It is understood that today's decision will not serve to advance the date when income-tax payments payable in 1925 are made public. The Internal Revenue Bureau has indicated that there will be no action regarding publicity before the end of the fiscal year, June 30, at least. The Internal Revenue Collector at Kansas City undertook recently to make public some of the payments made in March and was directed to stop it.

In announcing that publicity would not come at least until July 1—and it probably will be some time later—the Internal Revenue Bureau pointed out that all tax payments would not be reported before that time. In some instances, because of peculiar circumstances, delays of from thirty to ninety days are allowed after the first payment date, March 15, before reports must be made. There also are corporations which make their returns on the basis of earnings during the fiscal year, instead of the calendar year, although the latter system is followed in the great majority of cases.

The bureau also is hopeful that decisions will be handed down by the Supreme Court of the United States by July 1 in the two cases now pending before it, in which the Department of Justice is seeking to obtain the opinion of the highest court in regard to the legality of tax publicity.

MASSACHUSETTS TAX IS DECLARED VOID

Supreme Court Rejects Levy on Corporation Solely in Interstate Trade.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 4.—Attempts by the State of Massachusetts to tax a corporation doing nothing but interstate business, so far as the Commonwealth is concerned, were denied by the Supreme Court today in an opinion handed down by Associate Justice MacReynolds. On two other occasions Massachusetts has tried to lay an excise tax of this character and each time the Supreme Court has refused to permit it.

The case was that of the Alpha Portland Cement Company against the State of Massachusetts. Under the State law a tax was levied against the total value of capital shares of the company attributed to transactions within the State and also the proportion of net income. But the corporation contended that its principal offices were in Pennsylvania, its mills outside of Massachusetts and that, while it kept a Boston office, it did not have a bank account in that city, and that its property there was nothing but office furniture.

The tax challenged by the Portland Cement Company, the Court declared, did not differ materially from that declared unconstitutional in the Cheney case, "and cannot be enforced against a foreign corporation which does nothing but interstate business within the State. The introduction of an extremely complicated method for calculating the amount of the exaction does not change its nature or mitigate the burden."

Justice Brandeis dissented from the majority opinion.

CITY BREVITIES.

The nominating committee of the Advertising Club of New York has proposed the following for the election on May 26, for officers of the club: For President, Robert T. Tinsman; for Vice President, Gilbert T. Hodges; for Treasurer, H. R. Swartz; for Directors, H. H. Charles and Grover A. Whalen.

Several department stores have agreed to allot tables on their main floors on successive Saturdays to the Community Workers of the New York Guild for the Blind, to assist in the benefit sale of a book, "Aces," consisting of short stories contributed by American authors. The sale will start May 9 at Franklin Simon & Co.

The Harlem Home of the Daughters of Israel held a benefit whist, bridge and mah jong party yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Bradford, 210 West Seventieth Street. The proceeds will go to the fund for the construction of the institution's new home at Fifth Avenue and 107th Street.

The following have been nominated for officers of the Magazine Club of New York: President, Gilbert T. Hodges and R. B. Alexander; Vice President, A. M. Carey and Clair Maxwell; Second Vice President, Leonard Draw and Robert L. Johnson; Secretary, H. S. McKever and E. L. Townsend; Treasurer, Herbert A. Donohue and Elliot D. Odell.

Addresses will be given on "Northrop Memorial Camp" by Miss Margaret Knox on "In Brightest Africa" by Carl E. Akeley, and on "School Nature League and Its Relation to the Museum" by George H. Sherwood at a meeting of the School Nature League in the Museum of Natural History next Thursday evening.

WILLIS FORESEES FURTHER TAX CUTS

Ohio Senator Says Reduction Will Be the Slogan of Congress.

FOR SENATE RULE REFORM

Declares Republican Party Must Keep Its Pledge to Join the World Court.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Tax revision, changes in the Senate rules and adherence by this country to the World Court are the principal things which the next Congress must undertake, Senator Willis of Ohio said today after a conference at the White House with President Coolidge.

While supporting Vice President Dawes in his desire for reform of the Senate rules, Mr. Willis prescribed no remedy, contenting himself with suggesting an alteration that would "facilitate public business yet preserve the right of legitimate debate."

"At the regular session of Congress beginning next December three major problems will press for solution," said Senator Willis.

"First, tax reduction. Lightening of the tax burdens of the people is made possible by the very satisfactory returns from the tax laws now in force, and by the substantial economies wrought by the Administration of President Coolidge. Congress actively cooperated with the President and the Budget Commissioner in bringing about these economies; indeed, in some cases, Congress reduced appropriations even below the budget estimates.

"The $100,000,000 surplus this year and the estimated surplus next year of $300,000,000 make certain important tax reduction. 'A million a day of tax cut away' will be the slogan of this Congress.

"The financial legislation of this Congress should be limited to tax revision and tax reform.

"The second major problem is such revision of the Senate rules as will facilitate public business yet preserve the right of legitimate debate. Under the present closure rule, there can be ninety-six hours of debate after the rule of closure is applied; in other words, after debate is 'closed.' Under Rule 22 the question could still be debated two solid weeks, eight hours every day, or four days and nights with the Senate continuously in session.

"A third probem, solution of which must be taken up early in December and pressed for final decision, is that of the World Court. The Republican Party must keep its solemn pledge. In numerous national platforms the Republican Party has endorsed an International Court of Justice. With the vision which only the rapt and parting soul may know, President Harding pleaded for American entrance into the World Court; Secretary Hughes argued for it; President Coolidge urged it; the Republican National Convention at Cleveland endorsed it, and the people at the polls approved it. The time has come for the Republican Party to redeem its pledge to the people."

OLD BATTLER VICTOR IN RHONE COW FIGHT

Winner of Tournament Will Lead Her Herd to Choicest Swiss Mountain Pastures.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GENEVA, May 4.—The annual cow fight for the supreme queenship of the herds of the Rhone Valley took place today at Sion, in the Canton of Valais, with the result that the 12-year-old "Violette" of Martigny, for the third year, will lead her charges to the favorite pasturages.

Ninety-nine animals participated in the finals yesterday, every man, woman and child in the valley cheering the variations of the strange combat. The elimination fights between the young cows brought forth game material, but none of the youngsters was able to stand against the aged rulers who for years have had to fight for the favorite grazing places for their herds.

To a stranger the tales of the fighting qualities of the Val d'Héron cattle are almost unbelievable. The ordinary cow is the gentlest of creatures, who leaves all belligerency to her husband. Not so the cows of the Rhone Valley, which, according to the people of Valais, are a pure breed which has come down from the Romans for 2,000 years and are accustomed to fight among themselves for existence. For several hundred years the peasants have made a sport of the animals' fighting qualities, and in the last few years the sport has brought all the peasants of Valais to the annual fête.

The Val d'Heron cows are small creatures barly higher than a man's waist, but built like a barn, with pigeon skulls harder than a ram's. When two or more of the animals come together they fight for mastery, and the herds which are sent to the mountain tops with the melting snow always have a recognized queen. The queen leads the herd to the best pasturages, and when she encounters another herd, fights its queen for the rights to the good grass.

The fights often last an hour and not infrequently end fatally. The battle consists principally of butting or locking horns and wrestling. The cows come together with a shock which would crush the skull of any other creature. They push back and forth, drop to their knees and try to throw each other. When one has had enough she breaks and runs and for the rest of her life the defeated cow refuses to meet her vanquisher in conflict again, either in the arena or in the mountains.

The queens have a great value and are tremendously difficult to buy. With these people, cattle are capital, and the queen not only assures the herd good pasturage but it is considered that she passes her fighting qualities to her calves. Moreover, there is a sense of sportsmanship about the combats, causing the sturdy Swiss mountaineers to walk as much as forty miles to lead a cow to the tournament.

MOTTARD IS OUT ON BAIL.

Held in $15,000 on Charge of Causing Woman's Death.

Judge McIntyre in General Sessions accepted $15,000 bail yesterday for the release of Henry Lee Mottard, alias "Dr. H. L. Green," pending Mottard's trial on a manslaughter indictment in connection with the death of Mrs. Anna Allison, 1,180 Dean Street, in his office at 114 West Seventy-first Street on Sept. 29, 1923. Mottard had been committed to the Tombs without bail in the Homicide Court in advance of his indictment. He pleaded not guilty last week before Judge Collins in General Sessions and again was sent to the Tombs.

Mottard is accused of having caused the death of Mrs. Allison through a criminal operation. Her death had been officially reported at the time as due to a fall down an elevator shaft in the West Seventy-first Street house. Chief Assistant District Attorney Pecora agreed to the fixing of bail by Judge McIntyre.

TRIED ON LEGALITY OF FEE.

Justice C. H. Stoll of Hicksville in Court at Mineola.

Special to The New York Times.

MINEOLA, L. I., May. 4.—Charles H. Stoll, member of the Oyster Bay Town Board and Justice of the Peace of Hicksville, was placed on trial before County Judge Reuben L. Haskell and a jury in the Nassau County Court today, charged with illegally accepting a fee for services as counsel to the Jericho Water Commission while he was a member of the Oyster Bay Town Board.

The State alleged that Stoll participated in the appointment of three members of the Water Commission and that he was paid $65,000 for his services as counsel to it. Judge Haskell reserved decision until tomorrow on a motion to dismiss the indictment.

54 CLERGYMEN SIGN HOSPITAL PETITION

Preachers Agree That Need to Relieve Crowded Institutions Demands Prompt Action.

Fifty-four clergymen, thirty-six of them Protestant ministers and eighteen rabbis, petitioned the Board of Estimate yesterday to issue corporate stock enough to provide better quarters for the sick and poor who are now lodged in municipal hospitals and other institutions believed dilapidated and unsafe.

The clergymen's resolution said:

"Whereas the duly appointed Commissioners of the Departments of Public Welfare and Health and the Trustees of Bellevue and Allied Hospitals have presented the needs of the municipal hospitals and institutions under their charge to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment and requested that sufficient corporate stock be issued to replace certain dangerous firetraps and to provide relief for crowded conditions;

"We therefore, as representatives of Jewish and Protestant congregations, knowing the needs of the sick and poor and the importance of providing proper buildings where those who require care, treatment and help by the city may be properly cared for, jointly approve an adequate bond issue and respectfully urge that the members of the Board of Estimate take prompt and suitable action to meet the needs of the hospitals."

The Protestant clergymen who signed the resolution represented the Baptist, Congregational, Lutheran, Methodist, Presbyterian and Episcopal Churches. They consist of the following: dozen members of the Coast Guard force in this territory in jail for various offenses, such as desertion, absence without leave, and lesser infractions of the rules. Some of them are awaiting trial and others are being held for review of their conviction. It was explained that these cases had nothing to do with the shift of personnel.

Bishop WILLIAM T. MANNING, Bishop of New York.

MOBILIZE FLEET FOR LIQUOR DRIVE

Captain John I. Bryan, commanding the Staten Island base, denied that he had said men under his command were charged with accepting bribes from rum-runners. The denial was made in reply to a report that nineteen coast guardsmen had been jailed for dishonesty. Inquiry at the Richmond County Jail disclosed that twelve guardsmen were being held there "at the request of the Government." No charge was made against the men beyond the mere accusation that they had violated the rules of the service.

In all, seventeen men have been lodged at the jail during the last three months. They were held to await courts-martial. Five of them have been tried.

The shooting of William Delmage, former member of Troop K of the State Police, which led to the seizure on April 11 of $250,000 in liquor on the Benson estate at Montauk, L. I., will be the subject of a Grand Jury investigation today at Riverhead, L. I. District Attorney George W. Hildreth of Suffolk County will present the case.

Captain Edward F. Tobey, commander of Troop K, at White Plains, N. Y., issued a copy of the official report of Lieutenant Joseph B. Lynch, commander of the troopers in the Montauk zone. In the report Delmage is represented as admitting that he was wounded while trying to "hi-jack" two automobile loads of liquor on the Benson estate, and the document introduces the name of Miss Helen Smith, whose brother was with Delmage in the shooting affray. Miss Smith was described as a "bootleg queen."

In charging the Grand Jury Supreme Court Justice Lazansky made no direct mention of the rum running situation. He said that "certain crimes" were to be investigated and that the District Attorney would act as advisor to the jurymen. Herbert B. Hawkins of Port Jefferson, a civil engineer, is foreman of the Grand Jury. Mr. Hildreth refused to name the witnesses to be heard today.

Waco

By the General Manager of the Waco Chamber of Commerce

IN 1849, on the site where a tribe of Indians, called Huaco's, were living, was located a settlement which today has over 57,000 inhabitants and is known as the City of Waco. Being a city with beautiful tree lined streets, well kept lawns and palatial homes, together with numerous small parks scattered throughout the city, reaching a climax in Cameron Park, the most beautiful natural park in the country, comprising 400 acres, with excellent playgrounds and beautiful drives, Waco has justly earned the title "The City With a Soul." Waco is the nearest city to the center of population of the great State of Texas, and within a radius of 150 miles are found fifty-seven percent of the entire population of the state. This advantage, together with excellent railroad facilities, natural advantages on account of nearness to raw material and ample fuel supplies, makes the prospect exceedingly bright for the continued building of a great city.

$123,814 IS ADDED TO HOSPITAL FUND

Chairman Brown Reports $1,850,015 Needed to Complete Presbyterian Medical Centre.

GIFT FROM MRS. HARKNESS

The First Report Luncheon Is Held in the Campaign for a $7,000,000 Structure.

Thatcher M. Brown of Brown Brothers & Co., Chairman of the building fund campaign for the New Presbyterian Hospital Medical Centre, to be erected in conjunction with Columbia University at Broadway and 168th Street, announced new subscriptions totaling $123,814 yesterday at the first report luncheon, held at the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, 65 Liberty Street.

The total cost of the buildings to be erected by the Presbyterian Hospital is $7,000,000. Of this sum, $2,500,000 already had been pledged when the present campaign to raise the balance of $4,500,000 was started last October. The total amount which the present effort has thus far netted is $2,640,984, leaving a balance of $1,850,015 still to be raised before the drive ends May 15.

Miss Anna C. Maxwell, Honorary Chairman of the Nurses' Division and founder of the Presbyterian Hospital School of Nursing, announced that Mrs. Edward S. Harkness had pledged $25,000, conditional on the success of the nurses in raising their quota of $1,000,000.

One-half of this amount will be derived from the sale of the present nurses' building, leaving $500,000 as the goal. Of this sum, $218,500 already has been pledged. Mrs. J. Herbert Ballantine, active Chairman of the Nurses' Division, said that all the subscriptions had been for small amounts, the largest single pledge being one for $15,000.

Miss Jeanette Archer, Chairman of the Student Nurses' Division, said that although the quota for the nurses was $25,000, they had already succeeded in raising $22,000, and that further efforts would be made.

New contributions reported yesterday by the Men's Committee amounted to $22,455, with a total of $2,277,949 since the campaign began. The Women's Committee, headed by Mrs. Linzee Blagden, reported $97,986 in new pledges, with a total since the commencement of the drive of $155,851. Mrs. Blagden said that Mrs. Thatcher M. Brown had personally raised more than half of the pledges.

Mrs. William Vanamee, a Republican leader on Washington Heights and head of the women's section of the Uptown Division, said that 150 women were working for the fund.

"The institution will have the sympathy and support of the home folks on Washington Heights, who know what it means to have the Medical Centre there," Mrs. Vanamee said.

Collin H. Woodward, Chairman of the men's section of the Uptown Division, announced that, within a day or two, at least 150 workers would be soliciting subscriptions. The first report dinner would be held, he said, at the Royal Palms restaurant, 129th Street and Broadway, at 7 o'clock tonight, when the results of the work of each of the twenty-four teams would be given out.

Mr. Brown said the next report luncheon would be held at the Hotel Astor at 12:45 o'clock next Thursday. One of the latest recruits to the Women's Division is Alma Gluck, wife of Efrem Zimbalist, the violinist, who attended yesterday's meeting.

Dr. Tamayo to Head Dominicans.

MANILA, May 4 (Associated Press).—The Very Rev. Dr. Serapio Tamayo, Superior of the Dominican Order in the Philippines, has been named to succeed the Most Rev. Louis Theissling, Master General of the Dominicans, who died in Rome last week. Dr. Tamayo, whose succession is automatic, will sail from Manila for Rome within a few days.

INWOOD HILL TO BE A PARK.

City Turns Isham Property Over to Gallatin's Department.

New York City acquired one of its most attractive park areas yesterday when the city formally turned over to the Park Department the northeast tip of Manhattan Island, known as Inwood Hill. The property was purchased from the estate of the Isham family for $600,000, appropriated April 21 last, and will be known as Inwood Hill Park, distinguishing it from Inwood Park, to which it is contiguous.

Alderman Joseph R. Smith officiated for the city and Commissioner of Parks Francis D. Gallatin for the Park Department. The ceremony took place on a large plot of ground bounded by Cooper and Isham Streets and Seaman Avenue, on which work has already begun for the erection of children's playground facilities.

The new park extends from Dyckman Street north to the Harlem River. The Hudson bounds it on the west and Seaman Avenue cuts through its northeast corner.

ELKS BAR 'FRAT' DANCES.

Too Much Drinking at High School Affairs, Says Lodge Official.

The Lodge of Elks of Union Hill, N. J., announced last night through Max Loose, manager of the restaurant in the Elks' million-dollar clubhouse there, that the building will be closed henceforth to entertainments given by the high school fraternities and sororities in that section because, it is stated, the young people "drink too much."

Mr. Loose in making his announcement said he had decided to bar the high school pupils after a fraternity dance a week ago. He refused to name the fraternity, but said "the drinking was awful, with boys supplying girls with whisky at both the table and on the dance floor." Several bookings for high school entertainments, he said, would be canceled.

ANNUAL Roll Call

WHITE TRUCK FLEETS OF TEN OR MORE

Again this year we publish a bigger, greater White Roll Call. It is the most convincing performance document in the field of motor transportation. It is indisputable evidence of White Truck leadership.

Here, in open book, is the transportation history of 837 of the country's foremost truck owners—in all lines of business, all locations—operating 31,093 Whites of all models in fleets of 10 or more.

It shows an increase of 80 owners and 2,927 trucks over last year's record. Normal business changes, mergers and reorganizations have caused a few fleets to decrease and others to lose their original ownership identity.

In addition to the owners on the Roll Call, tens of thousands of owners operate White fleets of less than 10 or single Whites. There are more White Trucks in service than trucks of any other high-grade make.

We say again, as we said in 1924 . . . no other truck manufacturer has ever published such a volume of evidence of uninterrupted service at low cost. No other truck manufacturer can.

MACROBERT CRUEL, HIS WIFE TESTIFIES

But Never Discussed Marital Troubles With Him, Adds Plaintiff in Separation Action.

Trial of the suit for separation brought by Mrs. Mona G. MacRobert against her husband, Dr. Russell G. MacRobert, a neurologist, of 20 West Fiftieth Street, began yesterday before Supreme Court Justice Wagner. Dr. MacRobert has a suit for $50,000 damages for alienation of affection pending against the Rev. Dr. Robert M. Russell Jr., rector of the Larchmont Avenue Presbyterian Church, Larchmont, and is also bringing a like suit against Mrs. Daisy Fitzgerald, his mother-in-law, her son, Frederick, and her daughter, Pauline.

Mrs. MacRobert testified that she was married in 1915 and since that time has been treated abusively by her husband. He gave her only $10 a week to support the household, she said, which includes two children, Mona, 8 years old, Allan, 5 years old, and a nurse. Her husband has since bought a $24,000 residence in Larchmont, she said. Mrs. MacRobert testified regarding her husband's suit against the Rev. Dr. Russell that she had never discussed her marital troubles with the rector, but had played golf with him on one occasion.

The couple met in Toronto, Mrs. MacRobert testified, where they both attended the same high school. After their marriage they lived in that city for a short time and later moved to New York, where Dr. MacRobert rented an apartment on Central Park West. Mrs. MacRobert said that she suffered hardships in this apartment, which comprised two dark rooms and a bathroom, where she had to cook and wash, "and starve most of the time." During their stay in the apartment the family lived on $5 or $6 a week.

Mrs. MacRobert told the Court of her husband's alleged cruelty on one occasion when she informed him she was going to direct a rehearsal. He hit her six or seven times until she was knocked out, she charged. Another time, she said, he beat her because she wanted a servant to do her washing.

Mrs. MacRobert testified that she is 36 years old and had been on the stage before she was married. Justice Wagner stated that this had no bearing on the case. Dr. E. Leslie Burwell testified that he was called to attend Mrs. MacRobert and found that she had suffered a number of bruises. The trial will continue today.

JURIST TO EDIT PAPER; BARS NEWS OF CRIME

Special to The New York Times.

CAMDEN, N. J., May 4.—When, about a month ago, Judge John Kates of Camden declared at a public gathering that the newspapers of today were operating on a mistaken policy in featuring news of crime and that they would be far better if they ignored crime news, the publisher of The Camden Courier offered to give him complete control of a single issue of The Courier in order that he might have an opportunity to present what he believed would be a thoroughly proper newspaper.

Judge Kates accepted and this afternoon The Camden Courier will appear with the Judge as editor-in-chief. He will be assisted by a former newspaper man who is now an attorney in Camden.

While crime news will be omitted from today's issue of The Courier, there is an understanding between the publishers and Judge Kates that should any major crime occur that the people ought to know about, it will be mentioned on an inside page, but details will be reduced to a minimum.

Correspondents of The Courier have been instructed to omit crime news from their reports and instead to send in articles dealing with civic improvements, good roads and social activities.

SOMERS REAPPOINTED ON EDUCATION BOARD

His Retention by Hylan Credited to the Influence of Leader McCooey.

Mayor Hylan yesterday made good his promise of several days ago to reappoint Arthur S. Somers as a member of the Board of Education. When the announcement was first made it caused considerable surprise because in recent years the Mayor and Mr. Somers have hardly been on speaking terms in a political sense.

It is regarded as certain that Mr. Somers owes his reappointment to John H. McCooey, the Democratic leader of Brooklyn, who is one of his lifelong friends. Mr. McCooey had a long talk with Mayor Hylan at the City Hall a week ago. It was the following day that Mayor Hylan made it known that he would let by-gones be by-gones and would appoint Mr. Somers for another term.

In political circles the appointment was regarded as indicating that Mayor Hylan is fully aware that his hope for renomination for a third term rests with the Democratic leader of his home borough and of his anxiety to keep on the right side of Mr. McCooey for that reason. Mr. Somers is President of the Madison Club, which is the Democratic organization of Mr. McCooey's home district.

Once on the best of terms, Mayor Hylan and Mr. Somers had their falling out over the Mayor's transit policy. Mr. Somers, as President of the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce, which opposed the Mayor's transit views, and as a member of the B. M. T. Board of Directors as the representative of the public under appointment from the Transit Commission, has more than once engaged in controversy with Mr. Hylan.

"Though Mr. Somers has not always agreed with me," Mayor Hylan said in announcing his reappointment, "I felt that his long and splendid record as a member of the Board of Education entitled him to reappointment. His faithful work in helping to keep our school budget on a sound business basis and within reasonable proportions is deserving of particular praise."

The reappointment of Mr. Somers becomes effective today, when his present term expires.

Dr. S. Edward Young, pastor of the Bedford Presbyterian Church in Brooklyn and also President of the Society for the Prevention of Crime, made public yesterday a letter he had sent to George W. Olvany, leader of Tammany Hall, in which he urged that some man be nominated for Mayor who can administer the City Government "with more dignity and efficiency," than it is at present administered.

THIS FISH HAS DOUBLE CHIN.

And the Papa of the Species Hatches the Eggs.

A fish with a double chin is to be one of the stars of the new Hall of Ichthyology to be opened soon by the American Museum of Natural History. This is the gaff-topsail catfish, whose natural habitat is the South Atlantic.

Dr. E. W. Gudger of the museum staff has spent sixteen years studying the habits of this fish. He says that the male has the unusual habit of carrying the eggs in its mouth during the process of hatching, about seventy days. It has a very large mouth cavity which gives it the appearance of having a double chin. The young fishes remain in the mouth of the parent until they are quite able to take care of themselves. They come out to feed but dart in again at the appearance of danger.

CITY TO SELL TODAY $60,000,000 BONDS

OFFERS FROM SYNDICATES

Premium May Reduce Yield to 4 Per Cent. or Less—Bankers Praise Craig.

Strongly competitive bidding, with most of the big financial houses of Wall Street participating, is expected to be revealed today when Controller Charles L. Craig awards $60,000,000 of 4½ per cent. bonds of the City of New York. Bankers generally emphasized the pronounced strength of high-grade municipal bonds in connection with the city offering. While speculation as to the price is largely guesswork, it is expected that the bonds will sell at a premium that will result in a yield of about 4 per cent. Some bankers expressed the opinion that the yield would be slightly less than 4 per cent.

Bidders for the issue will be divided into several syndicates. At the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co. yesterday there was no statement forthcoming as to whether that house would bid for the issue, but it is generally expected to make a proffer. The National City Company will head a group composed of the First National Bank, Bankers Trust Company, Guaranty Company and Brown Brothers. Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and Dillon, Read & Co. will bid together, and another competitive factor is expected to be made up of the Chase National Bank, Speyer & Co. and Blair & Co., Inc.

Factors making for the popularity of the city issue, according to bankers, include the cheap money now prevalent and high taxation, which are driving more and more investment into tax-exempt issues.

Bankers expect low money rates to continue well into the Summer. In this instance conditions in the bond market are emphasized by the exceedingly high credit standing of New York City, whose securities, as to liquidity, are rated second only to United States Government issues. In banking circles there is general praise of the work of Controller Craig in handling the city's finances. They say that in arranging the maturities, ranging all the way from 1926 to 1965, he is following the methods of Secretary Mellon.

Another factor is that the Controller has chosen the psychological moment to make the offering. It comes at a time when municipal bond dealers have practically nothing on their shelves as the result of the steady upward movement which has carried the prices of high-grade municipals to levels not seen since the high prices of 1917.

The city's issue is in the form of serial bonds maturing as follows: $5,000,000 due in ten equal annual instalments on May 1, 1926 to 1935, inclusive; $9,000,000 due in fifteen equal instalments on May 1, 1926 to 1940, inclusive, and the balance of $48,000,000 due in forty equal annual instalments on May 1, 1926 to 1965, inclusive.

While agreeing that the city issue was a choice morsel, bankers add that upon their viewpoint the situation was "too strong"—that is, that an issue such as the present one commands so strong a position from a price standpoint that the banking groups in formulating bids are held to an extremely narrow margin of profit.

ALTERS AIR MAIL SCHEDULE.

Postmaster Kieley Announces Later Departure of Planes.

Changes in the schedule of the Transcontinental Air Mail Service, to enable the planes to make better connections with trains, were announced yesterday by Postmaster John Kieley. The airplane leaving San Francisco daily will start at 8:45 A. M. instead of 4:30 A. M. Due to this later departure, the San Francisco-Los Angeles train leaving Los Angeles at 6 P. M. will make connections with the east-bound plane. Mail can now leave San Diego at 2 P. M. or Los Angeles at 6 P. M. on a Monday and reach New York by Wednesday afternoon.

On the west-bound flight the time has been altered slightly en route to allow for delays, while still permitting arrival on time in San Francisco. Under the new schedule west-bound planes will make connections at San Francisco with a train leaving at 6 P. M. and due in Los Angeles at 8:15 the following morning. Mails leaving New York on Monday morning should be in Los Angeles on Wednesday morning.

Ride on GENUINE LOW AIR PRESSURE

If you can cut down the air pressure in your balloon tires it will add just that much more to their cushioning effect.

Maybe you can't do this safely with your present make of balloon tires.

But you can with the new U. S. Royal low-pressure Balloons—

Because—

These tires have the new U.S. "Low-Pressure Tread".

This tread gives a much greater area of road contact than a round tread.

It distributes the load evenly over the tread surface and reduces the weight on the individual tread blocks. This does away with early, uneven and disfiguring tread wear.

U. S. Royal Balloon gives long service even at lower air pressures than have been recommended in the past.

For in addition to this new Low-Pressure tread they are built of Latex-Treated Web Cord. The only cord construction in which the cords are webbed together with pure rubber latex. This gives maximum strength and maximum flexibility.

Don't compromise on balloon tire pressures any longer.

Ride on genuine low pressure.

It will surprise you to know what a difference it makes.

RELIGION IN SCHOOL ATTACKED BY RABBI

FOR A CENTRE IN PALESTINE

Committee Will Raise Funds to Erect Building—Plea to Observe Jewish Sabbath.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 4.—American democracy and the cause of religion are menaced by religious education in the public schools, declares a resolution unanimously adopted here today at the thirteenth annual convention of the United Synagogue of America in the Hotel Breakers.

The convention also adopted a resolution authorizing the appointment of a committee to raise funds throughout the country for the establishment in Palestine of a synagogue centre, as proposed by Rabbi A. A. Neuman of Philadelphia. The building will contain a synagogue, gymnasium, auditorium, social and class rooms, and will not conflict with the plan of the United Synagogue to build in Jerusalem with the aid of Jews throughout the world a monumental synagogue, representative of "Catholic Israel."

The subject of religious education in the public schools was discussed by Rabbi Samuel M. Cohen of New York, executive director, who conducted a survey in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Connecticut, Illinois, Kansas, Wisconsin, California and South Dakota.

"No amount of external pressure," said Rabbi Cohen, "can strengthen real religious feeling. If religion is not sufficiently virile to attract and maintain the loyalty of humanity, no pressure brought by the State will help. Mere suasion on the part of the public schools, equivalent to compulsion, can have no lasting effect. If anything, the ultimate tendency will be toward revolt from all religious influence.

"Democracy is threatened because the tendency is to surrender to the Church all prerogatives in educating the child in proper ethical habits."

The resolution on the subject read as follows:

"The United Synagogue of America takes this opportunity to reaffirm the Jewish principle that no education is complete without religious education, and that it is the duty of all parents to provide their children with spiritual as well as secular training. We stand also within the American tradition which maintains the complete separation of Church and State as a means of safeguarding the liberty of its citizens, and according to which the secular training of the child and his preparation for citizenship remain the task of the parent and the Church with which he is affiliated.

"We feel that any attempt to link up the public school system with religious education is a departure from the American tradition which, however innocent in its beginning, may lead to grave consequences."

Dealing with the question of the Jewish Sabbath, which falls on Saturday, Rabbi Max Drob of New York, Chairman of the Religious Observance Committee, said that "without such Sabbath observance, all other efforts to maintain Judaism are bound to fail." He favored calling a national convention on Jewish Sabbath observance.

Regarding the proposal to build a great synagogue in Jerusalem, Mrs. David Yellin of Jerusalem, wife of the Vice Mayor there, said that while other religious denominations have buildings in Jerusalem which adequately represent their faith, there is no structure to properly symbolize the Jewish faith.

When Better Automobiles Are Built, Buick Will Build Them

No. 7

Question: What indicates best what people think of their motor cars?

Answer: Whether they buy another of the same make when they come to buy a new one. More than 75% of the Buicks built each year are purchased by former Buick owners.

Rally in Ninth Beats Yanks—Giants Win While Robins Lose

YANKEES AGAIN LOSE; BEATEN IN NINTH, 8-7

Bishop's Homer, Dykes's Single and Triple by Miller Bring Victory to Athletics.

FIFTH DEFEAT IN A ROW

By JAMES R. HARRISON.

The Yankees lost to the Athletics again yesterday, 8 to 7. While this is not really surprising when you consider the matter in a broad way, it was something of a shock to 8,000 fans, who were led to believe as late as the ninth inning that the Yanks were actually going to win a ball game.

This shows how easily the credulity of the public can be imposed upon. When the ninth frame opened there were probably three or four thousand persons present in the Stadium who would have bet a dollar to a doughnut that the Yanks were already safely under the wire. In fact, there were a few optimists who walked out on the proceedings and went home to tell the wife how the Yanks had won the game, 8 to 6.

These brave souls missed one of the nicest innings ever unveiled at Colonel Ruppert's amphitheatre. It was a work of art. As soon as the two teams had squared off at the start of the ninth Waite Hoyt tossed one of his choicest curves up to the plate. It was a curve that Waite has been saving up for a long time, but Max Bishop leaned back and socked it into the right-field bleachers on the line.

Jones Is Rushed In.

This tied the score on one pitched ball, but before Hoyt could do any more damage Miller Huggins told him to hurry in and catch the 6:08 express for Flatbush. Sam Jones was ordered to the mound, and Jimmy Dykes greeted him with a hot single to left. Welch laid down a sacrifice, which sent James to second. This brought Simmons to the plate. Simmons had already hit a double which scored one run and a homer which scored two, and he had brought in another tally himself in the sixth. He still entertained hostile notions and smacked a line drive which made rapid progress for the left-field bleachers. Just at the moment of impact Earl Combs rushed back and made a glittering catch.

The crowd howled boisterously, under the impression that this had saved the Yankees, but this was a foolish idea. Bing Miller, the home-run hero of the Sabbath, simply caressed a triple to left, and when Dykes legged it over the plate the game was as good as over.

It was the fifth straight defeat for the Yanks and their eighth thrashing in nine starts, but the Hugmen are getting better. Sunday they lost in the second inning; yesterday it wasn't until the ninth that defeat came to roost on the New York banners.

There was a novel touch in yesterday's funereal upset. It's not every team that can lose in the ninth inning after taking the lead twice in the game. The Yanks lost the lead at the start, regained it in the fourth, lost it in the seventh and took it back in the same round.

Ward Hits With Two On.

Home runs were even. Al Simmons hit one with a man on in the seventh and put the Yankees two runs in debt. Aaron Ward came back in the same inning and slapped the ball into the right-field bleachers with two aboard the bases. This rebuttal had the effect of forcing the Yanks to lose the game in the ninth instead of the seventh, which would have been just as good.

The number of pitchers uncovered from time to time during the competition was close to an A. A. U. record. The Yankees employed four—Shawkey, Hoyt, Jones and Francis—and Connie Mack managed to worry along with the same quota. He started with Stanwood Baumgartner, but decided in the fourth inning that Stanwood was all his mistake. Rube Walberg, another southpaw, toiled the remainder of the inning, but when a pinch hitter appeared for Rube in the fifth the New York fans got their first glimpse of Lefty Groves, the left-hander who cost the Athletics a cool $100,600. This is a pretty penny to pay for a left-hander. Eddie Rommel pitched the ninth frame and didn't go any too well.

Doubles by Lamar and Simmons with two out gave the Macks a run in the first. Dykes's two-bagger and Simmons's single had the same effect in the third, but in the fourth the Yanks got an idea that it wouldn't be amiss to collect a few tallies themselves. Combs led off with a single and Meusel and Pipp followed suit. Combs scoring. Between the last two clouts Baumgartner was painlessly extracted in favor of Walberg. Ward bunted and Walberg got the ball, but unfortunately sat down just when he was going to heave it.

With the bases full Scott grounded into a double play and Meusel had plenty of time to score. Pipp dragged his weary frame across when O'Neill singled to right.

Groves Forces in a Run.

The Yanks actually became two runs ahead in the fifth, with Groves pitching. Paschal doubled inside third and advanced on a wild pitch. This was a symptom that an attack of wildness was about to seize Mr. Groves. When he gets into one of these convulsions there is nothing to be done about it. Medical aid is useless. So Lefty walked Combs and Meusel. Pipp popped out, but Groves insisted that Ward take his base on four wide ones, and this forced Paschal over the platter.

Simmons hit a single, Miller tripled to right centre and Poole shed another single in the sixth to tie the score. In the seventh Lamar contributed a base hit and Welch ran for him, Bill having a game leg. This was an unnecessary proceeding, for Simmons spattered a homer into the right-field section and Welch walked home in front of the slugger.

Ahead of Ward's four-baser in the same seventh came Combs's walk and Pipp's single. After it came the deluge.

Browns' Leader, Hitting in 19th Game, Gets a Homer, Two Singles and Steals Home.

ST. LOUIS, May 4.—George Sisler, manager of the St. Louis Browns, had a field day today and was largely responsible for the 5 to 4 defeat administered to Detroit.

In addition to getting two singles, Sisler hit into the right field bleachers with two men on the bases and then in the eight inning pilfered home on a double steal. It was the nineteenth consecutive game in which he has hit safely.

Davis, although issuing nine passes, held the Tigers safe until the ninth when he had to be relieved.

JOHN McGRAW IS ILL.

Cold Prevents Giants' Manager From Making Trip With Team.

Manager John J. McGraw of the Giants, who is ill at his home in Pelham, N. Y., is suffering from a heavy cold, but his illness is not of a serious nature, according to Dr. William Walsh, who is attending the giant chieftain, in a statement issued last night through Eddie Brannick, assistant secretary of the Giants.

The leader of the Giants caught cold just after the return of the team from the Spring training trip. He was unable to attend the opening game of the Giants and Braves at Boston but later joined the club but was taken ill again Sunday night.

RUTH HAS RESTFUL DAY.

Yankees' Star Continues to Show Improvement, Doctors Say.

Babe Ruth, the invalid athlete of the Yankees, spent another quiet day in St. Vincent's Hospital yesterday, and last night he was reported to have made very satisfactory progress. The Babe's main trouble now is weakness, and the remainder of the time that he spends in bed will be toward building up his constitution generally. All traces of the influenza which caused his first collapse more than three weeks ago have disappeared. A rigid diet has built up his digestive system so that he no longer is troubled with that malady, and the wound from the operation for an abscess has almost healed. The matter of just how long it will be before the Babe is able to leave the hospital is still a question of doubt.

Lamar of Athletics Hurt.

Bill Lamar, Connie Mack's speedy left fielder, probably will be out of the Athletics' line-up for ten days or two weeks as a result of a pulled muscle in his right leg. Bill lasted until the seventh inning yesterday and then had to leave the game. Previously he had been the victim of a charley-horse, but this had improved until he pulled the muscle in the same limb yesterday.

GIANTS ROUT PHILS WITH 3 HOMERS, 12-2

BENTLEY ALSO HIT HARD

But Keeps 13 Safeties So Well Scattered Fletcher's Men Fail to Score Until Ninth.

BY HARRY CROSS.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 4.—It is Art Week in this city but genius has escaped the Phillies. The Giants were the real artists here this afternoon and showed the Phils what talent consists of in the national game. New York gave Fletcher's boys a high-powered 12 to 2 lacing.

Manager McGraw is laid up with a sore throat at his home in Pelham and his players thought a score with lofty arithmetic would please him. It didn't please a single inhabitant here. In the bruising exhibit the Giants got 15 hits, including two homers by Jackson and one by Frisch. Jackson is a candidate for the grand prix for Art Week.

Art Decatur, formerly of Brooklyn, and Dana Fillingim were knocked out of the box and Ulrich was handled roughly. Every Giant took a smack at the ball but Ross Young. He didn't regard it as at all necessary.

Jack Bentley did the carving for New York and out of thirteen hits the Phils could only sculpture on pair of runs. Jack kept the hits so judiciously scattered until the ninth that ten safe bangs netted nothing at all.

Phils Help Themselves.

The Phils' runs were in a way complimentary because when the runners got on the bases no effort was made to prevent them from wandering from base to base as they pleased. A pass to Sand and hits by Huber, Burns and Kimmick, interspersed with unmolested touring on the base paths, gave the Phils their counters.

Burns got a Texas leaguer back of first in the opening inning. Both Kelly and Frisch were near enough to the ball to pluck it, but it fell unmolested, and Burns must have forgotten the Giants had a shortstop, for he kept on going to second. Frisch threw him out to Jackson.

Something of the same sort of play killed off a Philly runner in the second. Mokan singled through second and when Southworth fumbled the ball for a second Mokan galloped to second. Southworth tossed him out to Frisch. Hawkes fanned and Henline was safe on Jackson's fumble. It did him not an iota of good, for Band hoisted to Frisch.

The Giants went into the run business, but not extensively, in the fourth. Southworth ambled and went to third on Frisch's single to right. The two speed boys started a double steal, but Henline made a bad low toss to second, Southworth scoring on the error and Frisch going to third. Frankie got credit for his steal of second. Young and Kelly went out on infield flies and Lindstrom walked. Meusel could do nothing for the cause and skied to Kimmick.

Jackson Breaks Up Rally.

The Phils threatened slightly in the fourth. Meusel got Kimmick's cloud breaker and Joe Schultz singled to right. Mokan's sacrifice pushed him along as it was intended to. Hawks almost knocked Jackson over with a hopper but Jax held the ball by the ear and stopped Schultz at third. The Phils' hopes faded with Henline's loft to Young near the wall in right.

Travis Jackson, the agile youngster from Waldo, Ark., slapped one of Decatur's flips amidships for a home run at the opening of the fifth. The ball went high and dry among the two-bit guests in the left field bleachers. Jax came home in low. Gowdy popped to Huber and Bentley walked. Southworth flayed a double to left centre and Bentley pulled up at third. He scored on Frisch's fly to Burns and Southworth scooted to third on the same play. Activity ceased for a while, when Kimmick flung Young out at first.

The natives of the fair city couldn't find a thing to laugh about in the sixth. After Kelly struck Henline Sand with a hot liner Lindstrom doubled to left centre. Irish Meusel's single to centre scored the infant third baseman.

The New York gent now at the bat is Jackson. The crowd hopes that the Arkansas thumper will behave himself. Hope got them nowhere, for Jax pumped another home run into the bleachers close to centre field, a whale of a whale. Bentley registered in front of Jax. Gowdy and Bentley were easy demises.

Fillingim Enters Game.

The Phils elected a new battery in the seventh, Fillingim and Wilson. With one gone, Frisch beat out a beautiful bunt, making the greater part of the trip to first base on his chest. Young rescinded the vote by hitting into a double play.

There was a slight tingle of a threat from the Phils in their portion of the seventh. After Wilson fanned, Sand singled to centre and went to third on Huber's two-base tickle against the right field fence. Jackson leaped high to bring down Fillingim's liner, and Burns lifted to Meusel.

The Giants tapped Fillingim right out of the game in the eighth. Kelly singled and Lindstrom filed to Schultz. Meusel got an infield hit in front of third and Jackson displayed a commendable spirit of mercy and didn't make another home run. He filed to Burns. Gowdy singled and scored Kelly and Meusel. Hank's hopper bounding far out of Sahdo's reach. Bentley singled off Fillingim's tootsies and went to third on Southworth's double, which scored Gowdy.

About this time there was a tiresome sameness about the game. Fillingim gave way to Ulrich and Frisch blistered him for a home run over the right field stockade. Bentley and Southworth trotting in ahead of the Giants' captain. Young walked and Kelly, up for the second time in the same stanza, ended the agony with a fly to Mokan. Six hits and as many runs in that mess.

Straw hats are already in blossom here. That's one thing in which Philadelphia leads New York, anyway.

Manager McGraw's physician had ordered him to stay away from Philadelphia, but there is nothing sinister behind the order. A few days reading the scores at home is calculated to serve as a good cure for his cold.

Lou Fonseca, who has been playing great ball for the Phils at second, is out of the game with an injured wrist. The accident came from a batted ball, but it did not break his watch.

There are many suggestions here and in other National League cities about the way the Giants can dispose of their wealth of recruit material. Every one has been consulted except the Giants' manager.

Hank Gowdy made his first appearance behind the bat this season in a championship game. He's as lively as ever and twice as handsome.

A big difference between Philadelphia and New York is that most of the crowd sits in the bleachers. Also they follow the chivalrous but old-fashioned custom of admitting ladies free on Fridays.

It can come closer to raining here and not actually doing it than in Harlem. But even that hasn't helped the Phils. They discovered that one thing which would help them would be for the Giants to stay away.

Bill Southworth produced a couple of crackling doubles and is going at high speed in the field. William has arrived.

It was a big crowd for Monday. There were 5,000 here and no chance to gargle a single cheer.

COLUMBIA TO PLAY TODAY.

Coakley's Nine to Resume Relations With Syracuse Here.

Columbia and Syracuse are scheduled to resume baseball relations, after a lay-off of several years, this afternoon at South Field. The game will be called at 3:30 o'clock. Syracuse has not been conspicuous on the Blue and White schedules in any sport, except crew, since before the World War. Last Fall, however, the up-Staters had the choice position on the Lion football list when the two elevens battled at the Polo Grounds on Thanksgiving Day.

Coakley is undecided as to whom he will order to the mound today, but the selection probably will go to Captain Jack Van Brocklin, who shut out the Army, 3 to 0, on Saturday. Coakley, however, may decide to save Van Brocklin for the game with Virginia at South Field tomorrow. In that case either Fitch or Billings will pitch.

Syracuse's twirling is expected to be taken care of by Schlegel, with Knight in reserve.

The probable line-ups:

Columbia—Rothenfeld, 1b; Horton, of; Trentacosti, 3b; Kennedy, ss; Zegri, lf; Miller, rf; Lerch, 2b; Ray, c; Van Brocklin, Fitch or Billings, p.

Syracuse—Ringwood, ss; Carr, lf; Hanson, 3b; Boughter, 1b; Flanagan, cf; Greve, 2b; Noble, rf; Mahoney, c; Schlegel, p.

N. Y. U. TO MEET COLGATE.

Violet Will Face Up-State Nine at Hamilton Today.

Coach Bill McCarthy and fourteen New York University baseball players left last night for Hamilton, N. Y., where the Violet meets Colgate today. Two catchers, four pitchers, five infielders and three outfielders comprise the squad which goes in quest of the scalp of the team which has already defeated two New York college teams.

Dominick Torpe, the Violet pitching ace, will probably remain idle during the two-day trip as McCarthy plans to use Corbin today and either Krassner or Rosenberg against Hamilton College on Wednesday.

New York University has won its last three starts, defeating successively C. C. N. Y., Lafayette and Fordham. Colgate has not played nearly as many games as the Violet, but its three contests resulted in a defeat by Holy Cross and two victories over C. C. N. Y. and Fordham.

Cosgrove Three-Cushion Winner.

Joseph Cosgrove defeated Louis Klar at Doyle's Academy last night in the Greater New York three-cushion championship 30 to 21 in fifty-one innings. At the Recreation Academy, Brooklyn, Frank L. White defeated A. Kaiser 50 to 25 in forty-nine innings.

$5,000 Reward Is Offered as Detectives Begin Search for Poisoner of Sunny Man

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The Washington Post tonight offered a reward of $5,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for the poisoning of Sunny Man, three-year-old colt owned by Willis Sharpe Kilmer, which died Sunday at Pimlico.

Statements from Dr. R. W. McCully, veterinarian who attended the horse, and J. P. Smith, trainer for Mr. Kilmer, reiterated their opinion that the horse was given a dose of arsenic with intent to kill. They ridicule reports that the horse's illness had been caused by a sedative administered within the stable to quiet the colt's nerves.

Kilmer Starts Investigation.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 4.—Private detectives have been ordered by Willis Sharpe Kilmer to investigate the death of Sunny Man, one of the best three-year-olds of the season, which occurred at the Pimlico track late Saturday night after an ailment of several days which, in the opinion of several local veterinarians, was due to poisoning.

Sunny Man, a son of Sun Briar out of Romagne, after a number of notable performances as a two-year-old, was reported by Trainer J. P. Smith to have been working speedily at Havre de Grace prior to last Monday. The colt was defeated that day, and became ill while being moved to Pimlico at the close of the Havre de Grace meet.

Sunny Man was an outstanding Preakness candidate, and his elimination increases the casualty list which already cotains Stimulus and Master Charlie.

Edward Burke, general manager of the Harford Agricultural and Breeders' Association, which conducts the racing at Havre de Grace, today disclaimed any responsibility for the incident, declaring that he did not think it was up to his association to start an investigation. Trainer Smith was assigned an entire barn for the Kilmer horses, Mr. Burke said, and, as he understood, had two of his own men act as watchman day and night over Sunny Man and the rest of the string.

"If the horse was tampered with after these precautions," Burke added, "then there is nothing that we can do in the matter."

ROBINS LOSE IN 9TH ON MARRIOTT'S HIT

Beaten by the Braves, 6-5, When Short Fly Falls Safe for a Two-Bagger.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, May 4.—Zack Wheat failed in his attempt to make a shoestring catch of a short fly lifted by Bill Marriott in the ninth inning of today's game here, and the miss enabled the Braves to score a 6-to-5 victory over the Brooklyn Robins. Manager Bancroft, who was on third when Marriott made what was scored as a double, carried his team's winning tally over the plate. Tiny Osborne, who was pitching for the Robins, retired the first two Braves in the ninth, but passed Bancroft, who stole second and continued to third when Hank DeBerry made a wild throw past the base. Marriott's scratch hit followed to end the game.

Jess Petty was the first pitcher used by Wilbert Robinson. The southpaw was the victim of a three-run rally in the seventh, and when the Robins batted in the eighth Petty gave way to a pinch hitter, Osborne finished the game. The Braves also used two pitchers, Rube Marquard and Kyle Graham. Marquard was chased off the mound in the eighth, but before Kyle retired the side three Robins had dented the plate.

After Fournier had flied on a long fly to Harris in the second the Robins staged a short period of consecutive batting which produced their first three runs. Brown walked to Mitchell, who dropped safely between Marquard and O'Neil for a single. Tierney shot a double past Marriott that sent Brown to third. Stock singled to left, scoring Brown and sending Tierney to third. DeBerry's sacrifice fly to Harris enabled Tierney to cross the plate.

Braves Get Three Tallies.

Petty was not scored on in the first two frames, but in the third Manager Bancroft delivered an old-fashioned home run that put his team on even terms with the visitors. With two out, Neis was patient and drew a pass. Bancroft then caught hold of one of Petty's slants, and the ball went to centre field like a rifle shot. Brown and Johnston were unable to get in front of it, and it rolled to the flagpole with long-legged Eddie Brown in pursuit. Before it was relayed to the infield Neis and Banny had scored.

In the Braves' half of the sixth Petty pitched himself out of a tight spot. With one out, Marriott and Harris made singles and Marriott took third on the hit by Harris. Johnston threw to Tierney and Harris advanced to second. Welsh hit to Petty and was tossed out, while Marriott held third. Burrus followed with a grounder to Mitchell, who threw him out, Fournier making a good pickup of a rather low throw.

The Braves got to Petty in the seventh and scored three runs. Padgett and O'Neil led off with singles, and when Marquard bunted over Tierney's head the bases were filled. Neis struck out and Bancroft forced Padgett at the plate, Petty ot DeBerry. However, Petty lost a chance for a double play when he hesitated about throwing to the plate. He first made a bluff throw to first. Marriott then found the rattled Robin pitcher for a triple that scored O'Neil, Marquard and Bancroft. Harris lifted to Johnston to close the inning.

Cox Makes a Double.

Robbie's men came back in the eighth and tied the score in a rally that brought about Marquard's departure. Cox batted for Petty and led off with a double. Mitchell drew a pass, and then Graham replaced the veteran southpaw. He encountered a wild pitch that moved up each runner, and Cox scored on Johnston's sacrifice fly. Wheat was disposed of, but Fournier tripled to left, sending Mitchell home. A single by Brown scored Fournier.

In the Robins' half of the ninth Stock led off and drew a pass. However, the hits needed to push him around the bases were not forthcoming.

SANDE WINS TWICE AT JAMAICA TRACK

Takes Montauk on Cannae and the Pansy Purse With G. D. Widener's Chatterer.

10,000 SEE THE RACING

Largest Monday Crowd in Many Years Throngs Course—Top Sergeant Scores at 20 to 1.

By HENRY R. ILSLEY.

Ten thousand enthusiastic race followers cheered Earl Sande at the Jamaica course yesterday afternoon when he brought R. T. Wilson's colt Cannae home an easy winner in the Montauk Claiming Stakes, which featured the day's card. They had previously given him a warm reception when he came back to the scales on George D. Widener's Chatterer, winner of the Pansy Purse, after a great battle with Laverne Fator, and they rooted for him in the final race when he kept Our Buddy going long after he wanted to stop, to take third money.

It was the largest Monday crowd that racegoers remember at Jamaica. The form players came away happy after two favorites and one equal choice were victors, while a few who took a chance cashed on a 20 to 1 shot, Top Sergeant, winning the Cumberland Handicap at that price.

Cannae was the 13 to 20 favorite for the Montauk, coupled with Walter J. Salmon's Wormwold, both being trained by Tom Healey. Cannae, winner of the Suffolk Stakes on the opening day of the meeting, picked up ten pounds for that victory and was in at top weight of 112 pounds. He ran the five and a half furlongs in 1:06 4-5 over a fast track, beating four others and earning $3,100 for the President of the Saratoga Association.

James Butler's Hang On and Edward Arlington's Janetta were scratched, leaving in five to take the world. They were sent away to a good and fast start, Cannae getting off with a rush from his outside position at the post. Sande took the colt out into the lead in the first furlong, opening up a lead of nearly two lengths, which enabled him to take the colt over on the rail.

Sande Saves Ground.

Cannae had the speed of the lot, going to the quarter in 0:23 2-5 and to the half in 0:47 2-5. Sande saved every inch of ground and the result was never in doubt. At the head of the stretch the colt had four lengths on the Greentree Stable's Hell Cat, his nearest competitor, and Sande was able to take him in hand toward the end, to win easily by three lengths.

Hell Cat was always nearest the pacemaker and stood a final drive by Harvey to finish a length and a half ahead of G. W. Coburn's Escarra, the second choice. Escarra was well up, but hung badly when Coltiletti went to the whip. Wormwold was knocked out of the contention at the start, but made up a lot of ground to finish fourth.

Top Sergeant, fairly burned up the track to win the Cumberland. The old son of Cock o' the Walk and Fairy Ray, under 110 pounds, ran the distance in 1:11 3-5, only two-fifths of a second slower than the track record. He was out in front throughout and won cleverly, coming home a length and a half in front of the favorite, F. M. Kelly's Long Point. Billy Warren, second choice, was third.

Seven went to the post in the secondary feature of the afternoon card and there was plenty of money poured on Long Point, which went to 13 to 5; on Billy Warren, backed to 13 to 5, and on Charles A. Stoneham's old favorite, Dry Moon. Top Sergeant opened at 15 to 1 and quickly went to 20 to 1.

Top Sergeant showed surprising early speed, going to the quarter in 0:23 1-5. Collins rushed him to the front soon after the break and he held his field safely all through. Billy Warren was well up all through and held on to nose out F. E. Brown's Hayward for third money.

Sande put up a great fight for the money on Our Buddy in the dash of five and a half furlongs for maiden three-year-olds, but the gelding wasn't good enough. Sande got his mount off flying and held him out in front as far as he would go, but the gelding was trying to bear in all the way.

The winner was F. H. Durrant's Padraig, making his first start of the season. He was outpaced in the early running, came with a great rush through the stretch and was up to beat H. P. Whitney's Coronation, the 11-to-20 favorite, by half a length. It looked as though Ivan Parke was caught napping on the Whitney colt. He was giving all his attention to beating Our Buddy and didn't reckon on the winner's great rush. Padraig was at 6 to 1, backed from a high of 12 to 1.

Chatterer Down in Front.

Chatterer, owned by George D. Widener, beat four other three-year-old fillies in the race for the Pansy Purse over the course of five and a half furlongs, and Sande had the satisfaction of showing the way to the representative of his former employer. The Rancocas Stable's Barbary was the 6-to-5 favorite to boot. Sande had a length on Laverne Fator as they passed the winning post.

There was one false break, in which Barbary was standing stock still. They finally got away to a splendid start. Fator took Barbary to the front and saved ground with the Trap Rock filly. Sande steadied Chatterer in back of the pace until they were straightened out in the stretch. There she caught Barbary and under a hard drive was slowly going away at the end. Barbary faltered in the last furlong, lasting to take the place by a head from Idiosyncrasy. The summaries:

Brass Band Meets Derby Hope, But Spares His Finer Feelings

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 4.—Silent tribute from a brass band was the unique experience of Kentucky Cardinal, G. Frank Croissant's Kentucky Derby candidate, when he arrived at Churchill Downs from Lexington yesterday. A reception was held for the chestnut son of North Star III—Lucrative, but the musical program was abandoned because it was feared that the horse, as well as six of his stable mates who arrived at the same time, might become frightened. The syncopators joined the large crowd in admiring the beautiful animal.

ZEIGLER GETS CALL ON SANDE'S SERVICES

Turfman Pays Sum Said to Exceed $15,000 for Secondary Rights on Star Jockey.

Second call on the services of Earl Sande, America's leading jockey, was purchased yesterday by William Zeigler Jr. for an amount believed to be in excess of $15,000. As Sande receives a salary of $25,000 and a percentage of his winnings for the stable of Joseph E. Widener, his earnings this year should amount to a princely sum.

The deal was consummated at the Jamaica track yesterday, where Sande scored his double victory. Following his riding in the last race, in which he finished third, Sande left for Baltimore, where he will ride H. C. Fisher's Swope in an allowance race at a mile and a sixteenth at Pimlico this afternoon. This will be Swope's preparation for the $50,000 Preakness to be run on Friday, and Sande will have the mount in that race, it was announced yesterday.

One of the reasons Sande gave when he desired to leave the employ of the Rancocas Stable was that he wanted to be in a position to accept more outside mounts. He believed that he could make a great deal more money than he was receiving as the star rider of the Sinclair horses. He has already demonstrated this.

Both the Widener and Zeigler stables are small as compared with the Rancocas. Sande has been riding brilliantly ever since he had his first mount on Sarazen in Maryland. He has ridden the great gelding to victory on two occasions. He has had many mounts at Belmont Park and Jamaica, and his earnings are mounting by leaps. In addition to his big retainers from the Widener and Zeigler stables, Sande probably will have about all the outside mounts he will care to accept.

HEDGEFENCE CUT DOWN.

Colt Hurt at Jamaica Saturday Will Not Start in Preakness.

Hedgefence, the Greentree Stable's three-year-old colt by Whisk Broom II.-Homely, will not be a starter in the $50,000 Preakness Stakes at Pimlico next Friday, it was learned at the Jamaica track yesterday afternoon. The winner of the Tijuana Derby and one of the Greentree candidates for the Kentucky Derby was cut down in the running of the Wood Stakes at Jamaica on Saturday.

Trainer Clyde Phillips said yesterday that Hedgefence would not be able to go to the post in the Preakness. Whether he will be shipped to Churchill Downs cannot be determined at this time. Chief Uncas was kicked at the post in the Wood and came out of the race lame. He is also a Derby eligible.

TO IMPROVE UTAH TRACK.

Syndicate Will Prepare the Lagoon Course for Horse Racing.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, May 4.—Lagoon, the one-mile horse racetrack located midway between Salt Lake City and Ogden, is being put in shape for racing by a syndicate headed by Leo Dandurand of Montreal, Canada. Contracts for grading and reconditioning have been let. Racing in this State is dependent upon a license by the Racing Commission, which meets on May 11.

The Utah State Fair Grounds track here also is being prepared for racing this Summer. The organization figuring on this track is headed by Fred Dahnken of San Francisco, William P. Kyne of Reno, Nev. and H. Clark of New York.

Post and Paddock

The handicappers couldn't figure Top Sergeant to win the Cumberland Handicap at the Jamaica course yesterday afternoon, despite the fact that he had won four of his five races this year and was third in his other start. All but one of his races have been at more than a mile and he is generally a slow beginner. A number, however, cashed at 29 to 1.

Earl Sande's mount in the Preakness will be H. C. Fisher's Swope. Alex Gordon shipped the bay son of Volta and Embassy to Pimlico yesterday for his final preparation for the $50,000 stake next Friday.

Running Fox tossed off Kellum while the horses were at the post in the final number, but the boy was up in a jiffy none the worse for his tumble. The Fisher gelding didn't run to his name, finishing last.

The scratch habit is cropping out again. With no change in track conditions there were twenty-seven scratches from yesterday's card.

R. T. Wilson was out to see his colt win the Montauk. The President of the Saratoga Association bred Cannae, which is the first of the get of Hannibal to race. His dam is Orange Lilly, by William the Third.

The three-card-monte men started on the Long Island trains with the opening of the season and seem to ply their game without molestation.

There wasn't a great deal of class in the opening race, but the four contenders made a hot race of it. Everglade, the winner, is out of Margaret Hastings, a daughter of Hastings, and he was claimed by Clarence Buxton for $3,500.

Buxton also recruited his stable after the running of the Cumberland, leading away Frank Kelly's Long Point for $6,000. Edward Arlington claimed C. A. Stoneham's Dry Moon for a like amount.

Frank K. Sturgis, Chairman of the Jockey Club, was among the visitors to Jamaica yesterday. He was welcomed by President E. P. Kilroe and watched the racing from a seat in the stewards' stand.

If all the entries go to the post today the Kings County Handicap should be one of the greatest races of the Spring. Mad Play is top weight with 122 pounds, with Dunlin in at 116, Aga Khan 118, Klondyke 114, Cherry Pie 111, Saline 106, Leopardess 104, Felix 103 and Moonraker 103.

PIMLICO OAKS WON BY MAID AT ARMS

Man o'War Filly Merely Canters to Take Feature at Maryland Track by Seven Lengths.

REVOKE FINISHES SECOND

Shows Fine Courage to Nose Out Primrose, the Favorite—Jockey Stevens Suspended.

Special to The New York Times.

PIMLICO, Md., May 4.—Maid at Arms, the Glen Riddle Farm's filly by Man o' War—Thrasher, this afternoon captured the seventh running of the Pimlico Oaks, beating seven other three-year-old fillies with ease over the course of a mile and a sixteenth. Under 113 pounds and with Albert Johnson in the saddle, the filly ran the distance in 1:46 over a fast track. She was the 7-to-5 second choice, paying $4.80 for a $2 ticket in the mutuels. The race was worth $4,420 to the owner of the winner.

There were ten scratches, leaving eight that accepted the issue. The field was sent away to a good start, Maid of Arms breaking fast from her post position on the rail. Johnson let the filly run and she quickly took command. He then took her in hand, although she had opened a winning lead on the rest of the field. Coming into the homestretch Johnson let his mount down a bit and she drew away into a long lead. She had only to canter at the end to win by seven lengths from J. S. Cosden's Revoke. It was her second victory in two starts this season.

Revoke made up considerable ground in the stretch, finished with fine courage, wearing down Primrose, the favorite, and Thistlewood, and was up to nose out Primrose for the place. The Salmon filly took third money by the same narrow margin from Thistlewood. Primrose had the worst of racing luck. At the start Stevens cut across the track from the outside position with the Belair Stud's Beatrice, interfering with Primrose. Mathews was forced to pull Primrose up sharply. She moved up stoutly at the turn out of the backstretch, but the effort told on her and she tired at the end.

When the boys returned to the scales Stevens was called to the stewards' stand and questioned. The stewards then announced that Stevens had been suspended for the rest of the meeting for his rough riding.

MISS JENNY'S 85 SETS COURSE MARK

Score Is Best Ever Made by Woman at Hudson River—Mrs. Hite Wins Tourney.

Miss Marie Jenny of North Hempstead, who several times has demonstrated her golfing capabilities, distinguished herself at the Hudson River Country Club yesterday by playing the course in 85 strokes, the best figures ever made by a woman golfer on the course. Unfortunately Miss Jenny was not a member of the Women's Westchester and Fairfield County Golf Association, which was holding its inaugural one-day tourney at the Yonkers club, and hence was ineligible for any of the prizes, although her score would have entitled her to all of them.

Being a golf enthusiast, Miss Jenny motored out from Long Island to take part in the tourney, knowing full well that whatever she did in a record-making way would count for nothing except the knowledge of having done the thing to the best of her ability. As it was, she turned out to be the heroine of the day, and her score was the only redeeming feature of an otherwise dull day of scoring.

The low gross winner of the day was Mrs. George Hite Jr. of Apawamis, who turned in a 92. Mrs. F. E. DuBois of the Westchester Biltmore Club had the next best round, a 96; then came Mrs. A. N. Benedict of Hudson River, and after her came Mrs. Edward Stevens of Woodway. Those were the only four members of the W. W. and F. C. G. A. who succeeded in breaking 100, although more than thirty took part in the competition. First low net honors were won by Mrs. Benedict, whose handicap of fifteen strokes brought her total down to 82, while a tie for second resulted between Mrs. Hite and Mrs. Charles McHouse of Wykagyl, each of whom had net scores of 81 after deducting like handicaps of fifteen.

Miss Jenny lost three strokes to par figures at the first two holes, but reached the turn in 41, against the men's par of 35. After taking a 6 on a par 4 sixth hole she finished the outgoing nine in minus-perfect, perfect and pluperfect golf. She was a stroke away from par on the seventh, equaled par on the eighth and registered a birdie 3 at the ninth. From there on for the next four holes she played along on almost level terms with par, but slipped at the four-teenth and fifteenth.

Mrs. Hite got away to a grand start for a low score when she played the first four holes in almost par figures. But from there on until the sixteenth hole she slipped away from par and finished with three 4s for her 92.

The scores, with par figures for the course:

MISS COLLETT GETS BYE IN GOLF PLAY

Will Start in Second Round of British Open—Miss Wethered Also in Upper Half.

Draw for Tourney Beginning May 18 Shows Strong Opposition From Overseas Players.

LONDON, May 4.—Ninety-four competitors are entered for the British women's open golf championship tournament, commencing at Troon on May 18, and the draw which was announced today shows there will be strong challenge for the title by overseas players. Miss Glenna Collett, Miss May O'Gorman, Miss Harriet Ellison and Miss Maud Hunnewell will represent the United States; Mrs. K. C. Allen is a Canadian entry, while Miss C. Lascelles and Miss Ruth Affleck will play for Australia. There are several entries from Ireland.

In the top half of the draw, which is the most difficult, Miss Joyce Wethered, the holder of the championship, probably will meet Miss Collett in the third round. Others in this half are Miss Doris Chambers, Miss Fowler, Mrs. Temple Dobell, Miss Hunnewell, Miss Gourlay and Mrs. Cautley. In the easier lower half Miss Cecil Leitch must overcome Mrs. Gavin, Miss Gladys Bastin, Miss Joan Stocker and Miss Mabell Wragg before reaching the final.

In the top half, having received a bye to the second round, Miss Collett will play the winner of the match between Miss Fowler and Miss Croft. In the first round Miss Doris Chambers meets Miss O'Gorman, Mrs. S. F. Jameson meets Miss Hunnewell and Miss Cecil Leitch plays Mrs. J. Cochrane.

For the ladies' Northern foursome competition, which opens tomorrow over the Lytham and St. Anne's course, Miss Collett has been paired with Mrs. Alan MacBeth of Bowden. Miss Collett and her partner drew a bye in the first round and will meet Mrs. T. H. Miller and Mrs. E. S. Catlow of St. Anne's in the second.

BRITISH GOLF BODY BANS WOMAN 3 YEARS

Copyright, 1925, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 4.—At a meeting yesterday of the Ladies Golf Union, which governs the sport in this country so far as women golfers are concerned, it was decided to suspend for three years a woman golfer who was alleged to have returned an incorrectly marked card which gave her a winning score in competition.

The suspension, which was decided after hearing legal arguments, means that the woman is disqualified from participating in all competitions run by clubs affiliated with the Ladies' Golf Union. This is the first time suspension has been prescribed as a punishment for a golf offense.

LIGHTNING STRIKES GOLFER.

Mrs. Arthur Felled by Bolt at Brae Burn, but Finishes Match.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, May 4.—Mrs. J. Arthur, member of the Providence team of the Boston Women's Golf Association, was struck by lightning while she was playing in a match game at the Brae Burn Country Club today. Mrs. Arthur was knocked down by the bolt and her caddy also was dazed and his cap whisked from his head.

Neither was seriously affected, but the incident served to disturb Mrs. Arthur's nerve and cost her the game. She was two up on her opponent, Miss Dorothy Von Olker, when the flash came at the sixteenth hole. Mrs. Arthur lost the seventeenth and eighteenth holes and the match. Later in the day she returned to her home in Providence, apparently as well as ever.

MARK MASTER IS INJURED.

H. G. Shimp's Nominee Will Probably Be Unable to Start in Derby.

CHICAGO, May 4.—The fourth Chicago-owned Kentucky Derby eligible was dropped from the list of prospective starters today, when Mark Master, H. G. Shimp's nominee, was reported to have incurred a quarter cleft in a workout.

The accident was reported to Mr. Shimp by George Walker, veteran Kentucky trainer, who said Mark Master's chances of going to the post in the rich classic probably were destroyed.

"There remains an outside chance Mark Master may be gotten ready," said Mr. Shimp, "but Walker's letter was pessimistic and I doubt whether he will start."

Mark Master is by Luke McLuke out of Yermilla, who was by Jack Atkin, and his chances in the Derby were well fancied.

GARDEN TO WITNESS LAST BOUT TONIGHT

Battle Between Dundee and Terris Will Ring Down Curtain on Historic Arena.

CAPACITY CROWD EXPECTED

Veteran Italian Confident He Will Regain Former Rank—Snyder to Meet Shea.

Finis will be written tonight to the history of Madison Square Garden as a centre of sports. As a fitting finale before the house-wreckers begin on their work of demolition tomorrow, Promoter Tex Rickard will conclude the promotion of sport in the old building and his association with it, with a boxing carnival, featured by a twelve-round clash between Johnny Dundee, veteran Italian, and Sid Terris, rising young east side contender for the world's lightweight championship.

The ring sport, more than any other line of sport or commercial, industrial, political or social enterprise which the Garden has housed in its three decades of service, has been the favored attraction at the Garden. That a carnival of flying fists should see the end of the historic old arena, with two perfectly trained, physically fit athletes—one of them aged as athletic activity is measured and the other on the threshold of prominence—struggling for victory in the principal bout, under the glare of the powerful ring lamps and in a ring hallowed in the memories of veteran followers of the sport, therefore, is in keeping with the general scheme of things.

May End Dundee's Career.

Much sport history has been written in the Garden. Most of it has been boxing history, and it is altogether possible that another, though tragic, chapter in pugilistic history will be written tonight. A crowd which is expected to taxe the capacity of the Garden, attracted by the sentimental magnet as well as the competitive, is predicted by Promoter Rickard for tonight. This crowd may see the period applied to the brilliant career of the great Dundee, the Italian veteran, who stands today as a marvel of the ring as well as one of the inspirations for other youngsters of the sport ambitious to attain the heights.

Dundee will be facing a lad possessing tremendous speed, remarkable agility, brilliant boxing skill and cleverness, and a punching ability which commands respect when he squares off against Terris. There are many who confidently expect that Terris's natural advantages over Dundee will overwhelm the Italian—that Dundee will be knocked out before the full twelve rounds have been traversed.

This is the possible tragedy which impends tonight—the spectacle of seeing Dundee, approaching 32 years of age and survivor of fifteen years of active ring service, crushed in a knockout defeat by Kid Kleinfeld, C. C. N. Y., at the Garden farewell. Dundee, incidentally, faced Joe Welling in the first bout under the Walker law in the Garden and came through with flying colors. He is confident he will repeat tonight with Terris as his rival, despite the weight of majority opinion against him.

Veteran Still Confident.

That his fifteen years of ring service have taken their toll of Dundee's capabilities is plainly evident even to the inexperienced. Only to Dundee does it appear that he is still the same fighting man. He will be called upon to employ every trick of the trade at his command, every bit of ring knowledge, to stave off a knockout at the hands of Terris, who will enter the ring a prohibitive favorite to carry off the decision.

Dundee yesterday denied that he contemplated retiring from the ring, maintaining that he was good enough for at least two years more of activity. It is expected, however, that the Italian star will retire in the event that he is knocked out by Terris tonight.

Each boxer is reported in superb condition and ready for the fray. They will enter the ring at about equal weights, each weighing about 132 pounds. Terris, however, will have advantages in height and reach which are expected to tell in the progress of the bout.

A twelve-round semi-final will bring together Jackie Snyder, Brooklyn junior featherweight, and Eddie Shea, of Chicago. Jimmy Trannitt and Nick Quagarelli have been matched for a six-round bout and Mike Reilly and Jack Grebelasky have been paired in another. Ruby Goldstein and Marty Silvers are to furnish the opener of four rounds.

KRAMER SCORES KNOCKOUT.

Philadelphia Featherweight Stops Travers in 8th Round.

PHILADELPHIA, May 4.—Danny Kramer, Philadelphia featherweight, tonight knocked out Mickey Travers, New Haven, Conn., in the eighth round of their scheduled ten-round bout. The fight was fast and hard.

For the first five rounds Travers forced the going, repeatedly sending Kramer to cover. Starting the sixth the Philadelphian assumed the offensive and early in the eighth round sent his opponent to the canvas with a series of hard lefts to the jaw. Travers regained his feet at the count of nine, but was met with five knock downs before the knockout. Kramer weighed 125½ and Travers 128½ pounds.

SLATTERY STOPS McDONALD

Knocks Out Heavyweight Rival in Third Round at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 4.—Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo entered the heavyweight ranks here tonight, knocking out Jack McDonald of Butte, Mont., in the third round of a scheduled six-round bout. Slattery scored three knockdown before th eknockout. The weights were: Slattery 164½, McDonald 177.

LEHIGH MANAGERS NAMED.

Swimming and Wrestling Teams Also Choose Assistants.

Special to The New York Times.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., May 4.—At a meeting at Lehigh University today the following managers were elected: Versity swimming manager, B. Miles, Mount Vernon, N. Y.; assistant manager, W. E. Feuerbach, Richmondville, N. Y., and manager of freshman team, H. C. Nutting, Lebanon, Pa.; wrestling varsity manager, Sinwell, Bethlehem; assistant manager, P. W. McCord, Flushing, N. Y., and manager of the freshman team, F. M. Fisher, Wyomissing, Pa.

DETROIT BOWLERS IN LEAD.

Score 2,953 in Five-Man Event in Cleveland—Chicago Women Place.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 3.—The locals of Detroit tonight took the lead in the five-man event in the Mid-West "end to the world" bowling tournament with a total of 2,953. V. Guttersen and J. Klingman, Toledo, lead the doubles with 1,202, and G. Santer, Buffalo, the singles with 642. The Sheridan Recreations, Chicago, went into sixth place in the five-women standing tonight, rolling 2,382.

Anderson Defeats Ryan.

CHICAGO, May 4.—Eddie Anderson of Moline, Ill., won a newspaper decision over Tommy Ryan of McKeesport, Pa., in a boxing bout at East Chicago, Ind., tonight.

Coolidge Presents Watch, Senators' Gift to Harris

WASHINGTON, May 4.—President Coolidge made another presentation today to Stanley (Bucky) Harris, boy manager of the world's baseball champions. It was a watch, the gift of President Griffith of the Senators and other admirers. In handing the watch to Harris at the White House, Mr. Coolidge said he did not know whether he was supposed to pitch or bat it to the manager. Griffith suggested that in view of his good throw to Walter Johnson at the opening game of the season here he had better pitch it.

DEMPSEY DENIES BOUT IN GERMANY

Says Trip to Europe Is to Be Belated Honeymoon—Will Sail Tomorrow.

When Jack Dempsey sails for Europe tomorrow morning on the Cunard liner Berengaria he will be looking forward to a trip arranged strictly as a belated honeymoon trip and not concerning himself with any championship fights while abroad. This was the statement made yesterday by the world's heavyweight title-holder at the Hotel Alamac, where Dempsey spent part of the day preparing for his departure. Unless some arrangement is made with his manager, Jack Kearns, the champion said, he will not appear in a bout abroad.

"I am going to Europe strictly and absolutely for a honeymoon," said Dempsey. "I know nothing of any plans for me to fight over there. Certainly nothing has come to my attention directly concerning European fights, and I have no word about a bout over there from Kearns. I have heard of a lot of offers for bouts and reports of bouts being made, but that is all I know about the matter."

A report was circulated yesterday that Dempsey had practically closed for a bout in Germany during his trip abroad, but this was denied by the champion.

FORDHAM IS TENNIS VICTOR.

Beats C. C. N. Y., Five Matches to One—Rosenblatt Scores for Losers.

The Fordham tennis players yesterday defeated the C. C. N. Y. team on the Fordham courts, five matches to one. Four singles and two doubles matches were played, the Maroon winning three of the former and both of the doubles. The only City College victory was scored by Rosenblatt.

The summaries:

Singles—McCauliff, Fordham, defeated Ruhl, C. C. N. Y., 6-4, 6-1; Hess, Fordham, defeated Kleinfeld, C. C. N. Y., 6-4, 6-2; McCarthy, Fordham, defeated Vantel, C. C. N. Y., 6-4, 2-6, 6-1; Rosenblatt, C. C. N. Y., defeated Walsh, Fordham, 6-2, 6-2.

Doubles—Walsh and McCauliff, Fordham, defeated Rosenblatt and Ruhl, C. C. N. Y., 1-6, 6-4, 6-2; Hess and McCarthy, Fordham, defeated Kleinfeld and Vantel, C. C. N. Y., 6-4, 6-2.

COLUMBIA DRILLS TODAY.

Crews, After Day of Rest, Will Resume Work for Race May 16.

Head Coach Fred Miller declared a holiday yesterday for the Columbia varsity, junior versity and freshman crews, all of which finished third in the triangular regatta with Pennsylvania and Yale at Philadelphia on Saturday. The squad will start its afternoon workouts again today in preparation for the races on the Harlem River on May 16, when the varsity meets M. I. T., the junior varsity races Syracuse and the second freshman boat lines up against Choate School. The trio of defeats probably will cause Miller to order several changes before the May 16 regatta.

The final week of outdoor Spring football practice for the Lion squad got under way at Baker Field yesterday when Head Coach Charles Crowley put the candidates through a light scrimmage. Scrimmages daily will be the order of work for the balance of the week.

COLGATE SETS GOLF DATES.

Syracuse, Union and Army Among Those on the Schedule.

Special to The New York Times.

HAMILTON, N. Y., May 4.—Two matches each with Syracuse and Union and single contests with Brown, Army and Holy Cross feature the Colgate golf schedule, which was made public tonight by Student Manager Lawson Wolsey. Ten contests in all have been arranged for the Maroon athletes, none of which will be played at Hamilton.

The schedule follows:

May 1 and 2, New York State Intercollegiates at Syracuse; 9, Rome Golf Club; 11, Union at Utica; 16, Syracuse at Utica; 19, Syracuse at Syracuse; 22, Union at Schenectady; 23, Army at West Point; 25, Brown at Providence; 26, Holy Cross at Worcester; 27, M. I. T. at Cambridge.

DONOHUE DEFEATED IN GARDEN TOURNEY

Met. 126-Pound Champion Loses to Reed in 77th Division Benefit Boxing Show.

112-Pound Amateur Titleholder Bows to Dorfman—Traub Is Victor—5,000 See Bouts.

One of the largest crowds that ever turned out for an amateur boxing tournament in this city, to the number of 5,000 spectators, thronged Madison Square Garden last night for the fifth annual boxing tournament conducted by the Seventy-seventh Division for its relief and welfare work. With the days of the arena limited, the bouts marked one of the last opportunities for patrons of the sport to pay tribute to its popularity in the historic surroundings, and this added to the fact that charity was to be benefited and that some of the best amateurs in the East were on the card lured greater numbers to the Garden than have attended amateur bouts there in many years.

It was an interesting night in every respect, and particularly because of the fact that several champions were defeated. Among the boxers of established reputation who were outpointed were Jack Donohue of the Holy Name Club, metropolitan 126-pound titleholder, and A. Morgan, unattached, who is the metropolitan champion in the 112-pound division.

Donohue lost the decision to Calvin Reed of the Star Boxing Academy, New York, in the feature bout of the early proceedings. Reed scored a clean-cut victory, handling himself with ease and showing clever foot work. He used both hands equally well and put up so strong a defense that Donohue found it difficult to hit him. The judges had no difficulty in arriving at a decision in favor of the Star Boxing Academy representative.

Dorfman Shows Form.

Sam Dorfman of the Clark House A. A. was the favorite of the judges over Morgan. Morgan put up a good fight but Dorfman was just a little better, starting strong and piling up points in each of the three rounds. In the second round Morgan went out after his man to regain the points he had lost in the opening session, but his opponent was as willing and eager as he was, and the metropolitan champion was put on the defensive.

Dorfman continued on the aggressive in the final round, in which Morgan tried hard for a knockout. There was no occasion for ordering an extra round and the judges agreed on the boxer from the Clark House.

Harry Traub, the Ascension Parish House's star entry, who holds the New York State and national junior championship in the 112-pound division, showed at his best and clearly earned the verdict over Tony Mormando of the Newsboys' Club. Traub gave a clever exhibition, taking few chances and forcing openings for rights and lefts.

Mormando gave his best but he was no match for the Ascension Parish House star. Another champion who maintained his prestige was Phil Goldstein of Pittsburgh, Allegheny Mountain A. A. U. champion in the 118-pound class. His opponent was Harry Usse of Beecher's Club. Goldstein got the decision after three rounds of fairly good milling.

Mendoza Triumphs.

Another winner in the 118-pound division was Jimmy Mendoza of the Paulist A. C. Harry Welderman of the Westney A. C. of Jersey City fought two fast rounds with Mendoza, with little to choose between the two men. But in the final session Mendoza showed his superiority, landing the more frequently and putting up a good offensive exhibition. This bout, too, went on decision.

Paul Canamare, brother of Joe Canamare, outpointed Ted Guzman of St. Mary's Lyceum, Pittsburgh, in another intercity bout. The Glencoe A. C. boxer fought a clever fight and got the decision in three rounds.

Goldstein got the decision to Mendoza in the 118-pound final. The decision was an extremely unpopular one. Goldstein, tall and lean, with a long reach, was the aggressor throughout the bout, and appeared to have piled up more than enough points at the end of three rounds to give him a clear call on the verdict. In the third round the two boxers met head-on and a big gash was opened under Goldstein's left eye, from which the blood poured, smearing his whole face.

In the final of the 112-pound bout Harry Traub got the decision over Sam Dorfman after an extra round had been ordered by the judges. Frankie Genaro, American flyweight champion, refereed Dorfman's bout with Morgan, while Paul Berlenbach, the Astoria light-heavyweight, officiated in the 175-pound bout, in which John Kehr of the Pastime A. C. got the decision over Dick Kenny, unattached.

Semi-Finals.

Brown, Columbia Grammar Relief Pitcher, Shines Against Montclair Academy.

Special to The New York Times.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., May 4.—One of the finest exhibitions of school boy pitching ever witnessed here was turned in this afternoon when Brown of the Columbia Grammar School nine struck out sixteen batters in five and two-thirds innings in the game with the Montclair Academy. Relieving Rosenthal in the fourth inning with one out, Brown made sixteen of the remaining putouts by fanning the batter. The game was called at the end of the ninth inning on account of darkness with the score tied at 6—6.

Leibowitz, catcher on the Columbia Grammar School team, was forced to leave the game early when he was struck by a bat over the eye. The wound bled considerably, but Leibowitz stayed at the field until the game was over. Bass, who went in for him, made four hits in four times at bat, three of them being for two bases.

The score by innings:

Columbia G. S.	3 1 1 0 0 0 0 1 0—6	12	7

Batteries—Rosenthal, Brown, Leibowitz and Bass; Young and Andrews.

Tommy Dillon pitched the De La Salle Institute baseball team to another victory yesterday when the West Side School boys defeated Manhattan Prep at Van Cortlandt Park by a score of 3 to 1. A home run by Murphy in the first inning was the only tally registered by Manhattan off Dillon's delivery. De La Salle tied the count in the fourth inning and in the sixth scored twice, clinching the game.

The score by innings:

Batteries—Dillon and Canigiis; Decicy and Davis.

Brooklyn Prep School's baseball nine scored its first victory in five years over St. Peter's Prep of Jersey City yesterday on the Brooklyn team's field by the score of 5 to 3. Errorless support for Mullaney and timely hitting by the Brooklyn Prep lads gave them their signal triumph, Mullaney recovering in the seventh and last inning in time to ward off the efforts of a determined St. Peter's rally which produced two runs.

The score by innings:

Brooklyn Prep	0 0 0 2 0 2 1 —5	8	0
St. Peter's	0 0 0 1 0 0 2—3	7	1

Batteries—Mullaney and McCann; Saxmeyer and Dunn.

A heavy offensive carried through the first and second innings gave the St. John's Prep School team a victory yesterday over the New Utrecht High School on the St. John's field, Brooklyn, by the score of 10 to 7. St. John's scored its runs in that opening attack, getting three in the first inning and seven in the second.

The score by innings:

St. John's	7 1 0 0 0 2 0 0 —10	9	3
New Utrecht	0 1 1 0 4 0 1 — 7	7	5

Batteries—Damm and Semmesso; Senderowitz and Sehres.

S. Zbyszko Throws Kotsonaros.

CHICAGO, May 4.—Stanislaus Zbyszko, heavyweight wrestler champion and conquerer of Wayne ("Big") Munn, tonight defeated George Kotsonaros in straight falls. He took the first in 37 minutes with a flying hold and the second in 9:50 with a wrist and body lock. Joe Stecher and Frank Hudson went 30 minutes to a draw in the semi-windup.

ALEKHINE WINNER AGAIN IN TOURNEY

Russian Defeats Mieses and Now Leads Nearest Rivals by 3 Points at Baden-Baden.

MARSHALL TIES FOR SECOND

U. S. Chess Champion Scores Over Dr. Tarrasch—Torre-Rubinstein Game Adjourned.

STANDING OF PLAYERS.

BADEN-BADEN, Germany, May 4.—By defeating Mieses of Germany in the fourteenth round of the international chess masters' tournament at the Kurhaus, Alexander Alekhine of Russia today opened a clear lead of three points between himself and his nearest rivals—Marshall, the United States champion and Gruenfeld of Austria. Although he has seven more games yet to play, the Russian is now a distinct favorite for first honors with a total of 12 points out of a possible 13.

Marshall won again to day from Dr. Tarrasch of Munich and tied Gruenfeld for second place, as the Austrian could do no better than draw with Dr. Tartakower of Vienna. Rubinstein of Poland, however, is so close up, with only three losses charged against him, that he may displace them whenever his adjourned games are played off.

Today Rubinstein was paired with Torre of New York, and this game was adjourned. There is also a game pending between Rubinstein and Gruenfeld from the thirteenth round.

Alekhine, playing black, adopted the defence which bears his name against Mieses, who was outplayed in brilliant style. The game lasted 34 moves.

Marshall Wins in 49 Moves.

Marshall had the white side of a queen's gambit declined and, by dint of slow pressure upon the position, forced Dr. Tarrasch to part with a pawn. The American won in 49 moves.

Dr. Tartakower and Gruenfeld discussed a giuoco piano, in which Gruenfeld had the defense. A series of exchanges led to a draw after 19 moves.

Bogoljubow of Russia further improved his standing by defeating Colle of Belgium in a queen's gambit declined after 38 moves. Colle lost a pawn and thereafter was unable to save the game.

Niemzowitsch of Denmark remained tied with Bogoljubow, thanks to a victory over Carls of Germany, who adopted the English opening. Carls lost a pawn and the game after 33 moves.

Saemisch of Germany moved into fourth place by defeating Treybal of Czechoslovakia in a queen's gambit declined lasting 48 moves. Treybal played the black pieces and a blunder cost him the game.

After losing two games in succession Reti of Czechoslovakia gained some ground with a victory over Spielmann of Austria, who lost a pawn in his effort to prevail against Alekhine's defense in the hands of his opponent. This game went to 31 moves.

Rosselli Continues Good Work.

Rosselli of Italy continued his excellent work of the past week by winning from Yates of England, who played the black side of a three knights opening. An oversight was the cause of the Englishman's discomfiture and he resigned after 37 moves.

The games between Rubinstein, Poland, and Torre, America, and between Rabinowitsch, Russia, and Kolste, Holland, were both adjourned after interesting contests. Rubinstein had white in a queen's pawn opening which went to 47 moves, and Rabinowitsch adopted the English opening against his Dutch opponent, playing 50 moves. Sir George Thomas of England had a bye.

In the fifteenth round tomorrow the pairings will be as follows: Torre vs. Tartakower, Colle vs. Rubinstein, Tarrasch vs. Bogoljubow, Yates vs. Marshall, Niemzowitsch vs. Rosselli, Alekhine vs. Carle, Kolste vs. Mieses, Reti vs. Rabinowitsch, Treybal vs. Spielmann, Thomas vs. Saemisch; Gruenfeld, a bye.

HARMON LOSES TO BARG.

Meets First Defeat in Eastern States Pocket Billiard Tourney.

Charles Harmon suffered his first defeat in the Eastern States pocket billiard championship last night when he lost to William Barg at the Cosmo Academy. The score was 100 to 88. The game lasted thirty-six innings. Harmon made a high run of 54, while Barg's high run was 37. Peter Judice was the winner over James McCoy at the Fourteenth Street Academy at 100 to 40. Judice went out with an unfinished run of 62 in the twelfth inning.

At Lewenberg's Academy O. Lauri defeated Carl Vaughan, 100 to 42, in twenty innings, making a high run of 27. Vaughan's best run was 14. In the fourth game played last night in the tournament Daniel Denny won from Walter Townsend at Dunn's Academy, 100 to 51 in twenty-nine innings. Denny's high run was 28, Townsend's 26.

Glick to Meet Toverisky.

Joe Glick and Alex Toverisky, rival local welterweights, are scheduled to clash tonight in the main bout of eight rounds at the Twenty-seventh Division Train Armory, Brooklyn. Eddie Benson will tackle Jack Ford and Billy Ryckoff will oppose Kid Rash in two other eight-round battles.

QUIST RETURNS $16 ON EXPENSE ACCOUNT

Used $1,184 of $1,200 Given, He Tells Coast Body—Receipts of Meet $9,181.50.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—William T. Humphrey, President of the Olympic Club, said tonight that there was no significance in the careful recheck of gate receipts of the track meet Saturday and Sunday in which Paavo Nurmi, Willie Ritola and other prominent athletes appeared, and that the only reason it was done was to set at rest rumors that excessive amounts for expense money would be paid Hugo Quist, the manager.

Humphrey added that Quist called on him today and explained that he had a balance left from the $1,200 advance expense money he had received in Chicago for a trip to the Pacific Coast. Later Quist turned in to Joseph R. Hickey, general manager of the track meet, an expense account for $1,184 and Quist then paid back the $16 left, Hickey announced.

"Quist has made no demands on me of any kind since he arrived here with his athletes," Humphrey explained. "He merely told me that he wanted to turn in his expense account and pay back any balance that was left."

The meet, an annual affair of the Pacific Association of the A. A. U., was held under the auspices of the Olympic Club. The receipts totaled $9,181.50. Profits will go toward a clubhouse for the children, Humphrey said.

SAYS OHIO HAD NO TEAM.

St. John Gives Reason for Not Meeting Georgetown Quartet.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 4.—L. W. St. John, athletic director, today absolved Ohio State University of any unsportsmanlike intentions in not having a relay team in the two-mile championship event in the recent Pennsylvania relays in which Ohio State, along with Princeton, Harvard, Holy Cross, Pittsburgh and others, were criticized for failure to compete against Georgetown.

"In the first place," Director St. John explained following the receipt here of a statement exonerating the other teams, "Ohio State did not have a relay quartet of any kind at the Pennsylvania games. The only men we had there were three athletes in the individual events. If we had had a team there we should not have hesitated to compete against Georgetown."

DONOVAN TO AID FARRELL.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 4.—William Donovan, trainer of the Harvard football and baseball teams, will help Eddie Farrell, track coach, develop the Crimson sprinters. Donovan was head coach of track before the war. He will give part-time coaching to the 100, 200 and 440 yard runners.

Albert O'Neil of Dorchester was elected captain of the Crimson freshman track team today. He prepared for college at Exeter, where he ran the quarter, half and the mile. O'Neil captained the freshman cross-country team and Saturday won the quarter and half mile runs against Andover.

MAXWELL BUYS YACHT.

Purchases Power Craft Dorian as Tender for Racing Fleet.

Harry L. Maxwell, who this year will race one of the new R class sloops, yesterday purchased from Rear Commodore H. B. Plant the power yacht Dorian, a craft 60 feet long, which will be used as a tender during the season for the Maxwell racing fleet.

As is usual with the Maxwell yachts, the newly acquired boat will have an Irish name and will be called Ballymena, after that famous town in Tipperary. Others of the Maxwell flotilla having Celtic titles are the forty-footer Banshee and the six-meter yacht Colleen. The old tradition will be somewhat shattered in the case of the new R class sloop now building at the Nevins yard for Capt. Maxwell. This yacht was designed by Fife, the Scotch naval architect, and will be called Fife.

W. P. STEPHENS VERY ILL.

L. I. Yacht Association Recorder's Condition Is Critical.

William P. Stephens, recorder of the Yacht Racing Association of Long Island Sound, was reported as seriously ill yesterday at the Flushing Hospital, Flushing, L. I., following an operation for a carbuncle. Mr. Stephens, who is 71 years old, was so weakened that the operation could not be completed and the doctors in charge said that his condition was critical.

Besides his duties as recorder of the Yacht Racing Association, Mr. Stephens has been for a number of years the editor of Lloyd's Register of American Yachts. He is an authority on yachting history and a co-author with W. U. Swan and Winfield S. Thompson of the history of the famous schooner America, which is now in process of publication.

P. M. C. POLOISTS TRIUMPH.

Special to The New York Times.

CHESTER, Pa., May 4.—Pennsylvania Military College poloists defeated Virginia Military Institute, 14 to 1, this afternoon in the second game of a two-game polo series. Virginia Military Institute's solitary point was gained in the first chukker on a foul on Elmer Putt, back, for the Chester cadets. The first half of the contest was played in a driving rain storm.

Greb Bout Postponed.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 4.—Rain, and cold weather caused the postponement until Wednesday of the match between Harry Greb, world's middleweight champion, and Billy Britton, scheduled to take place here tonight.

Berkeley-Irving Team Wins.

Berkeley-Irving School's tennis team yesterday defeated the Brooklyn Friends' School by a score of 5 to 0 in their match on the Berkeley courts. The home team triumphed in three singles matches and two doubles.

GOING THROUGH THE MOTIONS.

An irresistible impression of unreality was made by the two big meetings recently held in New York, one of professed Communists, the other of Socialists sprinkled with Communists. The more desperately radical gathering was naturally held in the Metropolitan Opera House. The workers took that method of showing how they were oppressed and starved. To sit in the "golden horseshoe" and sing "The Internationale" was felt to be a satisfactory way of triumphing over the despicable capitalistic system. But it was evident that the self-named proletariat went through all this business in a very mechanical and perfunctory spirit. So, too, at the Madison Square Garden meeting, where Mr. DEBS spoke, the whole seemed more like a dumb show than a living performance.

Even radicals and anarchists may act like people "suckled in a creed outworn." When that is the case they go through the motions of reaffirming their faith much as if they were indulging in incantations. They have their curse-words. It is always easy to get a cheer by execrating "capitalism." They also have their phrases of promise. But these must now sound hollow even to themselves. How can they talk of the workingmen of all countries uniting, by an agreement not to do military service, in order to prevent war, when they have before their eyes the spectacle of the alleged Workers' Republic of Russia plotting to bring about war in every other nation of the world? The fact is that the dogmas of the Marxian labor philosophy have become frozen and meaningless. They are still uttered as articles of faith, but their very adherents have ceased to believe in them, because they have discovered how little they have to do with the hard facts of life.

It is noteworthy that while our Communists are blindly repeating the old denunciatory formulas, the Labor Party in England is striving to free itself from the ancient superstitions, and to make of itself an intelligent agency for the steady improvement of the lot of the men and women who labor, and so for the betterment of the entire Commonwealth.

UNREALED WOUNDS OF SOUND.

President COOLIDGE'S effort to muffle political palaver until December has been "signally rebuked"; and the form and matter of the rebuke make the effort itself look properly "sinister." Above Congresses and Presidents sits in perpetual session a more majestic power, the People's Legislative Service, young in years, but in sage counsel old. It is an emanation, the Soul and Over Soul of Mr. LA FOLLETTE. It is directed, as the country is directed, by Mr. BASIL MANLY, a stanch friend of the people and their LA FOLLETTE. He never sleeps at his post. Mr. COOLIDGE had hardly called for a reduction of political declamation when Mr. MANLY publishes a letter by Mr. SAMUEL UNTERMYER to Mr. OWEN D. YOUNG, President of the General Electric Company. If the facts warrant a Congressional inquiry, doubtless one can be had. It seems that there has been another "betrayal of the people," another "miscarriage of justice." Let the People's Legislative Service gather the evidence, lay it before Congress, press for investigation.

Senator LA FOLLETTE can be depended upon to do the pressing, quite irrespective of any "evidence" assembled, but it is for the People's Legislative Service, a tribunal from which there is no appeal and whose impartiality is known, to amass all the "damning" facts, conclusions and assumptions necessary. The black record will be spread before the Progressive squad and the world in December. So we needn't be greatly disturbed at present by the mere prelude to the grand, sweet song next Winter.

It appears, too, that the Government's crime consists in not prosecuting the General Electric Company for "a criminal conspiracy." The Department of Justice may have learned by experience that it is practically useless to bring criminal proceedings under the anti-trust laws. Juries won't convict. What of it? The People's Legislative Service and its vigilant allies can be depended upon to pass judgment, if not sentence, on these shameless monopolists. Mr. LA FOLLETTE, like Mr. SUMNER, will find them guilty not only of all the criminal acts charged against them, but "of infinitely more." That should be a consolation for the truly good, even if there seems to be but scanty immediate consolation for the lovers of occasional silence.

TAX INTERPRETATIONS.

Treasury reports show that the income tax collections for nine months of the current fiscal year decreased $108,180,699, while miscellaneous taxes yielded $109,631,414 less. The total decrease is open to misinterpretation in details. New York's contribution to Federal taxes has always headed the list, and it continues to do so, but its share in the decrease is smaller than its leadership calls for. Federal taxes were levied with intent that the richer States should pay more proportionately. There has been no relief to the overtaxed States comparable to the relief of the overtaxed individuals. This is particularly true of the income tax payments.

The returns for all taxes for nine months reveal less reduction than the Treasury had expected, with a consequent increase of the estimated surplus from $68,000,000 to above $100,000,000 for the completed year. To this must be added the cutting down of expenditures, the whole pointing to a possible surplus of $374,000,000. In 1921 our Government spent over five billions. For the current year expenditures are estimated at $3,062,277,407, exclusive of debt payments. The Treasury figures support the promise of further tax reduction. In the matter of balancing budgets by economy the United States practices what it preaches, and sets the world an example.

ABD-EL-KRIM AND THE FRENCH.

The Riff invasion of the French zone in Morocco has not come as a surprise. It was foreseen that with the withdrawal of the Spanish forces to a narrow fortified strip along the Mediterranean the Riff leader would turn his attention to the south. To this ABD-EL-KRIM would be impelled by necessity as well as ambition. His victories over the Spanish Army were not altogether due to demoralization in the latter. He had succeeded in appeasing the ancient enmities between Arab plainsmen and mountain Berbers and in giving to his campaigns the character of a holy war against the infidel. He is now under pressure from his own fanatics to prosecute the crusade against the French and to install himself at Fez as successor to a recreant Sultan who has consented to hold his crown from a foreign conqueror.

Riff tactics in the new war are the same that proved so successful against the Spaniards. Preparatory to an attack in mass small bands have filtered through the fortified French line and invested the isolated posts. The purpose is to bring about a rising of the local population. This guerrilla problem somewhat reduces the notable advantage which the French forces possess in the matter of leadership and morale over the Spaniards. Nevertheless, it is to be assumed that in the person of Marshal LYAUTEY, the conqueror of Morocco and Resident General and Commander-in-Chief for a dozen years, ABD-EL-KRIM faces a much more formidable opponent than the political Generals dispatched from Madrid. The French garrison in Morocco numbers approximately 90,000 men, of whom something less than one-fourth are French. But the quality of the native Moroccan troops is of the highest. It was the Moroccan Division that constituted, along with our own First and Second Divisions, the spear point of General MANGIN'S attack on the German line on July 18, 1918, south of Soissons, which marked the beginning of the end for the German armies.

Only one thing could place the French in a serious position, and that would be a general rising of the Moroccan tribes in sympathy with the Riffs. Yet that is not among the probabilities. In the south toward the Sahara the French conquest is not complete. But wherever French authority has been established the population seems to have acquiesced. The country has prospered under French rule. The older system of French colonial administration has here been abandoned for a leaf taken from Lord CROMER'S book in Egypt. The Sultan's authority has been maintained and the native administration has not been interfered with. American observers in Morocco have reported the notable progress made in education. Only in the coast towns have the French made sweeping changes. Casablanca, of recent historic memory, is described as in some respects a more modern city than many towns in France. Its population has doubled within a dozen years. The foreign trade of the country, which amounted to about $50,000,000 in the year 1912, has increased more than fivefold.

The Mohammedan world has been watching with sympathy ABD-EL-KRIM'S victorious campaigns against the Spanish forces. It remains to be seen whether such Moslem sentiment is strong enough to threaten seriously the position of France in the newest of her protectorates.

AGUINALDO WITH GENERAL WOOD.

EMILIO AGUINALDO'S appeal to Filipino veterans of the revolution against Spain to rally to the support of Governor General WOOD will have a panicky effect in the already broken ranks led by QUEZON, OSMENA and ROXAS. That triumvirate has been in disfavor with the Filipino people since its return from the mission to the United States in the Spring of 1924. It had failed to damage the reputation of General WOOD, whose administration they denounced as arbitrary and "militaristic."

The legislators at Manila never wavered from the position they had taken under the leadership of the absent commissioners. AGUINALDO maintained that the period of preparation for independence provided in the Fairfield bill, with which they had dallied, was too long—it should have been four instead of twenty years. With a very few exceptions the native newspapers agreed with him. The Parliamentary Mission for Independence assured Secretary WEEKS that if the Administration endorsed the Fairfield bill, the Philippine Legislature would follow suit, a proposal that drew from the Secretary the suggestion that if the Legislature at Manila made the first move, the Administration would be in a better position to consult with Congress. In this dilemma the commission might have redeemed itself in the good opinion of its following if support had been given to the plank of the Democratic Party advocating immediate independence of the Philippines, but the three political guardsmen abruptly decided to go to Europe. There they made another false step by being too conspicuous at meetings of the League of Nations in Geneva. They could not be recognized in any way as representatives of the Philippines.

Home again in Manila, QUEZON, OSMENA and ROXAS changed front and opposed the Fairfield bill. But they had RECTO, the Secretary of the mission and the Democratic floor leader, to deal with. He openly charged them with duplicity, first in not having worked in the United States for the recall of Governor General WOOD, and again in not opposing the Fairfield bill. He read extracts from letters written by Major Gen. MCINTYRE of the Insular Bureau to General WOOD to prove his case. These letters did actually convict the Filipino leaders of double-dealing. Then came an inquiry into expenditures by the mission, which were shown to be scandalously wasteful. Nevertheless, party discipline prevailed. About this time both QUEZON and OSMENA were often in consultation with Governor General WOOD, displaying a spirit of compromise such as General MCINTYRE had predicted. Their personal relations with him had always been outwardly agreeable. Most of his legislative program was adopted, because the Filipino leaders had learned at Washington that the Administration was standing by him.

General AGUINALDO'S speech at Baguio must have completed the discomfiture of the three leaders, who had been ludicrously on the defensive since their return from Washington. His tribute to the high-mindedness of the Governor General and his declaration that "when the time comes the United States will grant you freedom, but that time has not yet arrived," signify a personal triumph for General WOOD which can hardly fail to influence the voting at the June elections.

TWENTY MORE ANTIOCHS.

In quitting the West Side Unitarian Church to associate himself with Antioch College at Yellow Springs, Ohio, the Rev. C. F. POTTER drew up what was in effect an indictment of both the modern university and the modern Church. He looked forward to the building of "twenty more Antiochs," as the result of which the Antioch idea will be "established as the basis of American educational institutions"; and he believed that when education had become thus "perfected" the churches would "be unnecessary." The Friends of Antioch in America, of which Mr. POTTER is to become Executive Secretary, are presided over by Dr. CHARLES W. ELIOT, President Emeritus of Harvard.

Just what "the gospel of Antioch" is, Mr. POTTER did not have time to say; but if it may not be called "the most important development of education now taking place in the world," it is certainly one of the most interesting. In a word, the gospel is that life and education should be taken out of their separate compartments and become blended. After every five weeks at Antioch the young men and women take regular employment for five weeks in any available shop or factory, proceeding to a degree at the end of six years. The fact that they thus "budget" their life has obvious advantages, but far more important is the fact that they gain and keep a firm hold on the realities and the values of existence. Literature and philosophy, social science and history, "earth science," biology, including eugenics, even applied esthetics, are taught to young folk not academically secluded but face to face with the problems of living. Far from being a university for the poor, many children of the rich are already matriculated; and it is urged that the Antioch experience of self-help in the real world is for them especially useful.

Like the universities, the Church has allowed itself to become compartmented. But religion is not "just another task," dimly and occasionally related to life as a whole; it is "the spirit in which we do all our tasks." Mr. POTTER is a militant Modernist. He feels that "even this most liberal of all pulpits is a place of limitation." Antioch provides "an education which is religion." This synthesis of life and education and the spirit must ultimately do away with the churches as it does away with the elder universities—though that consummation is admittedly "a long way off."

Plainly, the Antioch idea is open to pertinent doubts, especially in this wider extension. There may have been a time when life was as simple and as democratic as Mr. POTTER assumes. To the frontiersmen of the time of ANDREW JACKSON, Antioch would doubtless have seemed the ultimate revelation of all things triumphantly American. Even today it awakens strong fervors. But civilized life has always required to be distinctly organized, even at the expense of compartmentation. In scholarship there are inevitably specialists, in society classifications. Religion, too, requires seclusion and organization, if it is to have vitality and legitimate authority. Even leisure has its boon for the spirit. Possibly the elders of Antioch realize all this. Yet their gospel has received a striking illumination from the ardors of their latest convert.

LOCAL ELECTIONS IN FRANCE.

The French municipal elections show no marked changes. The Communists have suffered losses, but contrary to expectation there has been no particular swing to the Right by way of reaction to the election of HINDENBURG as President of Germany. Of course, these French elections have no effect on Parliament and in no way alter French foreign policies. But, like our own "off-year" and State elections, they are looked upon as political straws. HERRIOT, whose popularity in his home town, Lyons, has apparently been undimmed by the fall of his Ministry, has received his usual endorsement for Mayor. It is a position for which by experience and training he is admirably fitted.

For the moment the French political situation is calm. Drastic reforms at home, or any violent verbal outbreak by some one claiming to be a spokesman for HINDENBURG, might bring on a tempest. The French have always resisted tax increases stubbornly. POINCARE'S forced measures of that sort last year were largely responsible for his defeat. M. CAILLAUX is apparently sparring for time by his suggestion that the better part of the Summer will be needed to elaborate the necessary changes. Should the financial question come to the fore in such a manner that a new election would be called for, it is more than possible that the taxpaying voters would do what they could to vote down those who stand for tax increases.

The election of HINDENBURG may possibly have the curious reaction of strengthening CAILLAUX as Minister of Finance. Those who were shocked or indignant at his return to power looked upon him primarily as the "traitor" whose German sympathies were still considered dangerous for France. Any pro-German influence which he might care to exercise—always supposing that he could dominate his colleague, M. BRIAND, the Minister of Foreign Affairs—would be more than neutralized by the new wave of suspicion of Germany which has followed the election of HINDENBURG. In other words, the same people who distrust CAILLAUX'S pro-Germanism feel that this is now safely checked, and so are more ready to give him a chance to exercise his reputed talent for finance.

SINGLE JEOPARDY.

There was much argument about the "double jeopardy" to which a citizen of New York would be exposed in case State law for enforcing prohibition ran concurrently with the Federal. But now we have a decision of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals which shows that single jeopardy may have terrors enough. In effect, the court holds that certain provisions of the Federal Constitution do not run in New York; that while Federal officials and agents are prohibited from making "unreasonable searches and seizures," city policemen and State constables are free to make them in their zealous search for concealed liquor. This decision is said to be in accord with well-settled principles of law. Unless the State Constitutions contain a bill of rights similar to that of the National Constitution, citizens cannot claim its protection. It must be cold consolation to a householder whose premises are invaded by a policeman without a warrant to know that he is guaranteed against any such outrage by a Federal employe, though he has no redress against the thing when done by the authorities of the city or State.

Probably this decision of the court will remain largely in the realm of technical law. It may not seriously affect practice. Even before the Mullan-Gage law was repealed, the police had been instructed not to make entry or arrest without a warrant. There is no reason to expect a sudden and wholesale invasion of the homes which their owners fondly thought were their castles. But it is obvious that a great opportunity is offered for malicious discrimination and even persecution. Should the abuse grow too flagrant, it would be necessary to add a section to the Constitution of the State of New York, so as to throw around citizens the safeguards which they supposed they enjoyed under the Federal Constitution.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

His Opinion Carries Great Weight.

Probably the best contribution yet made to the controversy between ORVILLE WRIGHT and Dr. WALCOTT in regard to the Langley plane is that by GROVER LOENING, printed in THE TIMES yesterday. He did not speak with more authority than Mr. WRIGHT as to the construction of airplanes, but he spoke as an experienced designer of them, and also without the direct personal interest in the dispute that Mr. WRIGHT has, and with no sense of grievance to give bitterness to his words.

This gives special importance to the fact that Mr. LOENING dismisses as quite without foundation the claims that Professor LANGLEY made, before the WRIGHTS did, an airplane that flew or could fly. That it did fly after many changes had been made in it has, in Mr. LOENING'S opinion, no bearing at all on the question at issue: it was only one of innumerable failures, going back to the time of LEONARDO DA VINCI, that would have been capable of more or less flight if they had been tinkered into shape in accordance with present knowledge of airplane building.

Mr. LOENING, a little hastily, declared that the quarrel easily can be settled and the first of the Wright planes kept in this country, as it undoubtedly should be. It only is necessary, he said, for Smithsonian Institution authorities so to change the label on the Langley plane as to abandon all of their claims in its behalf as a practicable flying machine and then add an explicit admission that the Wright airplane was the first one that did or could carry a human passenger on a real flight. That would indeed close the controversy, and probably it would content Mr. WRIGHT, but one doesn't see the Smithsonian people thus confessing that the present inscription on the Langley plane is neither correct nor just.

Disinterested Judges Should Decide.

Whether Congress can or will compel the needed rectification of the inscription on the Langley plane remains to be seen. One notices that it is an Ohio Representative who proposes a Congressional investigation, on the assumption, evidently, that the honor of Ohio, as well as of two Ohio men, is involved. That raises doubt at the very beginning as to the impartiality of an inquiry so conducted, and it is to be feared that it would degenerate into experts on each side contradicting one another, to the utter confusing of the public mind.

The matter is one that should be taken in hand by a board appointed by scientific societies, engineering, aeronautical and other. The credit for such an achievement as successful flight should not be left, as has the discovery of anesthetics, to be an endless dispute, mostly between people of small information of the relevant kind, and moved chiefly by national pride and the desire to gratify it, with small regard to the facts. There should be no more controversy between Americans than between Americans and Europeans as to who, of all men since the fabled Daedalus, solved the problem of flight and added a third dimension and a third domain to human travelers.

It was the WRIGHTS who did that. Professor LANGLEY was on the right track, as were not a few other men at the time, but he was halted far from the goal. Anybody could make an airplane after the WRIGHTS had shown them how to do it, and nobody could make one that would fly till there were better engines than those existing till just about the time of the Kitty Hawk experiments.

Incidentally, it was Daedalus, or the old story about him, that put all would-be flyers wrong for so many centuries, inspiring them with the delusive hope that with their own muscles they could operate wings as the birds do. Professor LANGLEY had given up that idea, and the WRIGHTS caused its abandonment for all time.

It Charges Utter Stupidity.

Many harsh things were said and written about the Germans during and after the war, but of all the charges, true and false, that have been brought against them, quite the cruelest appears in the current issue of The New Republic. Commenting on the election of HINDENBURG, it says that, grave as was the mistake made in doing it, yet the Germans had an excuse, considering the circumstances. And here is the excuse as offered:

> Under the Empire they came to be the dominant power in Europe and could flourish every popular excuse for self-satisfaction and self-esteem. Under the Republic they have suffered five years of unexampled privation, humiliation, suffering and ineffectual resentment. The wonder is not that MARX was beaten, but that he ran so close to HINDENBURG.

Is it indeed? This is crediting the German people with not having sense enough to see the most obvious of facts—the fact that not the Republic, but the Empire created all of the ills listed in this gloomy catalogue. It puts them on the intellectual level of Americans who turn from sobriety to drunkenness because of the Prohibition Amendment, and, really, against such an accusation as that the German people have a right to protest fiercely.

Its Merits Absolute, Not Relative.

There was some difficulty Saturday night, whether one heard Senator DAVIS'S speech at the Montauk Club directly or indirectly over the radio, in refraining from praising it less for itself than as the speech of a man over 91 years old. He really did not need that sort of consideration. While hardly a wonder of eloquence and marked by no great originality of thought, the speech yet was more than ordinarily excellent, for it was exactly adapted to the occasion and to its auditors.

It was the product of a mind perfectly clear and in complete control of itself. The few trivial slips were such as any speaker might make. The voice was firm and clear, the enunciation distinct, and there were none of the time-gaining "ers" and "uhs" to which so many orators carrying far fewer years are obliged to resort.

The occasion justified indulgence in a lot of the autobiographical, but nothing could have been more modest and better mannered. Mr. DAVIS had much to say of what he had seen in his four-score years and ten, but little of what he had done, and he told several new stories as well as several old ones. The latter, as usual, were the more successful in exciting laughter. Poor stories die young.

It may be true that "a strong old man is a tower undermined," but Mr. DAVIS still sands firm, and when he makes a speech, he defies criticism as boldly as he did in days that for most other folk are now ancient history.

THE TREES IN CENTRAL PARK

Many Are Being Cut, It Is Said, That Could Be Kept Alive.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

At various times in the last few years I have observed with much regret and surprise the number of trees that have been cut down in Central Park. I refer to the southern part of it. Some of these as they were being cut down I carefully examined, and while I am not an interested expert like Mr. Davey, or the Chief Forester of the Park, I happen to know something about trees. I found several which bore few signs of an early death and little decay. I made up my mind that some were being unnecessarily cut down and caused a closer examination to be made by a friendly expert. His report virtually agreed with mine. It was impossible to know in advance which trees were selected for destruction, but there were some, I am glad to say, that while so marked still remain. A friend or two have thanked me for causing their final end to be deferred—I mean the final end of the living trees.

In the course of my investigation, answers to inquiries which I made caused me to believe that the wood from the chopped down trees was a perquisite and went to the park employes. I could not obtain any direct evidence of this, but it seemed to me the method of disposing of them was something of an answer to the inquiry caused by the celerity in chopping down and quickly removing their trunks and branches.

I thereupon wrote the Park Commissioner, telling him I had been informed that the wood was so used as a perquisite by the employes. In the course of time I had a very courteous reply, stating that my letter had been received and in a short time would be answered in detail. That answer has not been received. A further inquiry was made requesting an answer, but no reply has been received to that. As there was no denial, I have felt justified in assuming that the information I received concerning the disposition of the wood from these trees was correct. I think this accounts to some extent—of course not entirely—for the amazing quickness with which the trees are cut down and taken away. The delay in replanting arises from other reasons. I think I am justified in accusing the Park Commissioner and the Forester of permitting many trees to be cut down which are not dead and which with reasonable care and treatment might live.

Many of the park trees are elms. The elm is a hardy tree. Witness the beautiful elms all through New England to which are given very little care. I believe the elms in our park, if given proper care instead of none at all, would flourish; but if care is given them it seems to be highly improper care.

The detailed duties of the Park Commissioner apparently are so many that he cannot give sufficient attention to the material conditions in the parks or else he seems to be very lacking in judgment or knowledge of what the parks are for. In any event, the southern part of the park bears all the signs of neglect and bad judgment.

The old buildings near the old arsenal are in a disgraceful condition. Rotting to pieces, unpainted and unkempt. The animals there are old, mangy and ill. Many signs on cages and parkings are missing and where there are signs they are almost illegible. The birds are becoming fewer in number and of no unusual variety. The cages are dirty, foul smelling, rusty and rotten. The useless old arsenal building itself has, at much cost, been rebuilt and repainted, but what a color! A dirty muddy brown! A hideous chocolate pot! The paint is already chipping and falling off. That expense of rebuilding might have been applied to up-keep with far better results.

The paths in that vicinity are in disrepair and in a dangerous condition. Fences are unpainted; the receptacles for refuse are rusty and broken. The employes are unshaven, ill-dressed, ill-mannered and careless. It is well to take care of ancient trusted employes by giving them humble positions as caretakers, but why not make them look neat and clean? There is no expense in that.

A fair example of degradation in type of employes is seen in the person who had charge of the sheep range over the south or sheep meadow. A few years ago there was an interesting looking shepherd with plaid, with a crooked stick and faithful collie dog, who kept watch and cared for his flock. Now what do we see? A not-hatted man in light blue jumper or overall, smoking a cigarette and accompanied by a mongrel terrier taking the place of the interesting individual who formerly occupied that position.

This morning I walked through the southern part of the park with a desire for a careful and unprejudiced result of observation, and it seemed to be now the conditions are getting steadily worse. The receptacles are rusty and unpainted. There are masses of debris and newspapers in The Mall, blown here and there by the winds. The animal houses and bird houses look even more dilapidated.

One change I observed was that the shepherd, instead of having a mongrel terrier with him, had a half-breed German police dog. Instead of a potted hat, he had a slouched hat, but looked just as disreputable. Two enormous cows were pastured in the meadow. It is a pretty poor farmer who will pasture his cows in the meadows, except on a rented farm.

RUS IN URBE.

New York, April 22, 1925.

FORERUNNERS.

Thanks be to the Lord of the Year that forerunners, never so slight,
Are set at all crossways to warn of the long decline of the light.

In the thick of the greenest wood, lo,
ever a red leaf falls;
To the sylvan choir in full song a voice of migration calls;
In the calm of the halcyon time, on the bright and the windless beach,
From the groundswell far away a billowy arm shall outreach.

Signals are these that, to forest, and songbird, and patient shore,
Not unbetokened shall be the changes the Year hath in store.

And you, in your radiant Youth, shall sometimes feel strangely old;
'Tis that Age (the plague of all plagues) shall not take you quite unforetold!

COOPERATIVE MARKETING.

A Farmer Discusses the Problem of Disposing of His Products.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

For the speech made by Governor Lowden on April 22, at the dinner of the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, the public is deeply indebted, and I am glad to note that your editorial reaction in the issue of April 23 indicates belief in the seriousness of the farm situation as portrayed so knowingly and feelingly by Governor Lowden.

All that Governor Lowden said will be echoed by all of the intelligent dairy farmers who furnish New York City with one of its vital necessities.

I agree with Governor Lowden in that I can see at present no other avenue for farm life betterment than that of well organized marketing. While it is true in farming, as in all industry, that there are many inefficient producers, and, as well stated not long ago by Mr. Arthur Reynolds of Chicago, too many farm managers, "self-appointed," who are entirely or sadly lacking in managerial capacity, nevertheless I am willing to venture the opinion based upon my personal contact for twenty-five years with both manufacturing and farming that, by and large, farm production is as efficiently conducted as that of manufacturing; and that even if all farmers were as efficient as are the best, still, under present methods of distribution, the reward for the combination of brain and capital in farming would be unattractive. The solution would not, at any rate, appear to be so much in any increase in production efficiency, even granting large room for improvement there, as in a radical change in marketing methods.

The condition of the dairy farmers whose market for their perishable product is New York City is highly illustrative of these conditions. The uneconomic spread between prices paid to the farmer and what the consumer is charged, I think you will admit, is well evidenced by the records of this place, which regretfully abandoned dairying on Nov. 30, 1923.

For the twelve months preceding this date there were produced on this place and delivered to the Borden Company through the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association 329,764 pounds of milk, from which the gross receipts were $8,743.94. From this was deducted by the association $277.51 for "pool expense" and there was paid by the association $8,083.84 in cash and $382.59 in "certificates of indebtedness" (these representing loans by producers to the association for working capital). The net sales return may therefore be taken as the sum of the latter two items, or $8,466.43.

This gives an average per hundredweight of $2.5674, or 5.53 cents per quart. This milk was "Grade A." During this period "Grade A" milk was sold in bottles in New York at from 16 to 17 cents per quart. I know of no staple industry where there is such a discrepancy between the price received by the manufacturer and the cost to the ultimate consumer, even after making allowance in this case for what might be called the fabrication of bottling, as well as the freight to New York.

It must also be borne in mind that there is no industry where the annual turnover is so small in proportion to the capital as farming.

The average yield per annum of dairy cows in New York State is 4,250 pounds. This is too low, but is considerably above the total average of the United States, which is 3,627 pounds per cow. If we assume that the average production per cow could be raised to 5,000 pounds (and it can), a herd of fifty cows would produce 250,000 pounds of milk per annum. Leaving out the cost of land and fences, the buildings and equipment necessary today to operate such a dairy properly demands an investment of not less than $45,000 to $50,000, to which must be added the herd investment of about $5,000 for good grade cattle.

At the prices for milk above stated such a dairy would return gross for the year $6,418.50. On a place of this kind there might be expected returns from the sale of miscellaneous merchandise to the extent of perhaps $400 or $500. Let us say the total gross return is $7,000. The operating expenses, including insurance, taxes, 2 per cent. depreciation on buildings and 10 per cent. depreciation on machinery, will be about $6,000, allowing nothing for the labor or brains of the farmer operator and no interest on the $50,000 investment. Here is a margin of $1,000 for the return to the owner operator, who, if he is of the best type, exercises more care, more ingenuity and does better planning than thousands of industrial executives whose compensation for less exacting tasks is, even after due allowance to the former for certain living advantages, several times that of the agriculturist. Here is the answer as to why the best men have been quitting the farms, and the danger is seen of the creation of a farm peasantry living on a low scale.

Can the cooperative movement bridge this gap? I believe, in spite of the failures, and the exploitation, in places, of the cooperative movement by agile, selfish minds, that success can and ultimately will come.

In the territory serving New York the Dairymen's League, which probably comprises less than one-half of the farms selling milk to the city consumers, is attempting to solve the problem by means of a highly centralized organization, which has yet to prove that its executives, whose capacity obviously should be great, have the skill to bring about proper economic relations between producers and consumers. So sagacious and influential a farm journal as The Rural New Yorker opposes the highly centralized management of the Dairymen's League, advocating local cooperatives, properly integrated. There is good argument adducible for each side of the controversy, but the division of opinion at present deprives the farmer of proper opportunity of either helping himself or the ultimate consumer.

The writer believes that the best results in cooperative work will probably come from the development of strong local cooperatives, well coordinated, so that the farmer operators will be able to delegate the disposition of their product to those whom they know and can trust, and give to them their wholehearted backing, which seems very difficult if not impossible of achievement in the large, highly centralized organization which tends to work from the top down instead of from the bottom up, as appears to be the better course in a movement of this kind.

There is no doubt of the need of a leader in this movement in New York State to bring into harmony the minds of the farmers who from their bitter experiences will accept no Moses by reason of his oratory. Whoever he may be, he must have a definite plan, well worked out, utilizing what is profitable in the structure thus far created, and be prepared to see it through.

Denial of Influencing America on League Is Issued—Untrue Propaganda, It Is Charged.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The Marchioness of Aberdeen and Temair, President of the International Council of Women, in an address this evening to the delegates from thirty-eight affiliated National Councils which opened a ten-day meeting here this morning, declared the aim of the International Council was "to mother the world into peace and confidence."

She stressed the application of the Golden Rule in all of the relations of life, "whether in the affairs of the home, the community, the nation, or the world," and called attention to the work that the I. C. W. was doing to bring this about.

She spoke of the new hope for the world that was struggling for mastery as revealed in the international cooperation brought about through the League of Nations, the World Court, the International Labor Office and other humanitarian enterprises in which all nations have joined during recent years, and in which "the United States has been so pre-eminent."

She also alluded to the "art of spreading untruthful propaganda" that still persists and the evils resulting from it. In connection with this part of her speech was her official denial earlier today in her reply to the questionnaire from the National Patriotic Council accusing the I. C. W. of bearing propaganda for the inclusion of the United States in the League of Nations.

Deny Political Interference Here.

Lady Aberdeen was unanimously supported by the Executive Council in declaring that no concerted action is being taken to interfere with America's political problems.

"We have been closely connected with the League of Nations since its inception, as thirty-three of our chapters are in countries belonging to that League," said Lady Aberdeen. "Naturally we could not have a meeting without discussing the League, but we do not seek to disseminate propaganda in any land without the full consent of the National Council of that land."

Something of an uproar was created in the convention by reports that there were alleged plots to wreck the convention, but Mrs. Philip North Moore of St. Louis, President of the American Branch of the Council, denied any knowledge of the matter.

One of the sources given for this statement was Dr. Milton Fairchild, President of the Character Education Institute, which is reported to be a national organization of school superintendents. The other source was said to be a letter received from a high official of the Russian Council of Women, whose name was withheld for fear of possible vengeance by the Soviet authorities.

Dr. Fairchild attributed the activity of various patriotic groups that have been antagonistic to the international council as the result of their being unwittingly the dupes of "communistic agents." He expressed his approval of the work being done by the I. C. W.

Mrs. Moore said that there was no "Russian council of women," but believed that Dr. Fairchild might have facts to prove his contentions that certain patriotic societies are being fooled by some agency. She announced that the "international council plans to go right on with its meetings as originally intended" and that she does not fear any trouble from any source.

Secretary Hoover welcomed the delegates in a brief speech at the evening meeting and wished them success in their program.

Hoover Stresses Home Life Building.

"The danger of the world today is that our spiritual advancement shall lag behind our material advancement," said Secretary Hoover.

Consequently the problems with which the world is confronted as the result of such complex civilization and rapid material progress, he said, need the constructive effort of such a body as the I. C. W. for the welfare of children and the advancement of women. He declared the "upbuilding of the home life" was of paramount importance in making national and international spiritual progress.

Secretary Hoover gave a brief appreciation of the value of having women politically equal with men in solving social and economic problems and stressed the value of being able to share the results of the various experiments of all countries in trying to bring about a better condition among the people of the world.

Nevertheless, he emphasized that America was "jealous to maintain the ideals of America," and thus give her best "contributions to civilization."

"Free assembly, free conference, free debate must be maintained," he said, "as the best safeguards of liberty."

Others taking part in the exercises tonight were Bishop Freeman of Washington, who delivered the invocation; Mrs. Nathaniel E. Harris, Vice President of the American council, who bore greetings in German; Mme. Puerrydon, wife of the Argentine Ambassador, who read in Spanish a speech prepared by Miss Anna A. Gordon, who is now in Europe. Mrs. A. Ross Hill spoke in English and Mrs. Percy V. Pennebacker in French.

In response to these greetings brief speeches were made by Lady Aberdeen, Mme. Avril de Sainte-Croix of France, Frau Emma Ender of Germany and Señora de Raynes of South America.

Preceding the opening of the meeting tonight there was a procession by the young girls of Washington acting as pages, in which each one carried a flag of a country represented here at the international convention.

The morning was spent in meetings of the Board of Officers, the conveners and the international executives behind closed doors. To the meetings of various international standing committees only members of the press were admitted. At these meetings reports were made by representatives from the different countries concerning the conditions or needs. The committees conferring today were suffrage, finance, laws and immigration.

Miss Lucy Anthony, niece of Susan B. Anthony, made a report for the United States Council, in which she stated that the difficulty of getting out the women's vote was the chief concern nationally

ROOSEVELT COUSINS ENGAGED TO MARRY

Betrothal of Jean S., Daughter of John E. Roosevelt, to Philip J. Roosevelt Announced.

WEDDING NEXT SATURDAY

Fiance Won French War Cross for Combats in Air—Fiancee Served Overseas in Y. M. C. A.

John Ellis Roosevelt of 180 West Fifty-ninth Street and Sayville, L. I., announced yesterday the engagement of his daughter, Miss Jean Schermerhorn Roosevelt, to Philip James Roosevelt, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Emlen Roosevelt of 804 Fifth Avenue. The wedding will take place on Saturday at Apple Tree Hill, the home of Miss Roosevelt's sister, Mrs. Fairman R. Dick, at Glen Head, L. I.

Miss Roosevelt and Mr. Roosevelt are second cousins and both are descendants of Cornelius Van Schaak Roosevelt, the grandfather of the late President. Mr. Roosevelt's mother was Miss Christine G. Kean. He makes his home with his parents at the Fifth Avenue address in the Winter and in the Summer the family goes to Yellowbanks, their place at Oyster Bay.

Miss Roosevelt served overseas with the Y. M. C. A.

John Ellis Roosevelt is a first cousin of the late President. Miss Roosevelt is one of three daughters of his first marriage to Miss Nannie M. Vance, who died at Meadow Croft, their home at Sayville, on Sept. 26, 1912. Miss Gladys Roosevelt, her sister, was married to Mr. Dick in November, 1913. In 1914 her father was married for the second time to Mrs. Edith S. Hamersley in Paris and later they separated.

Philip Roosevelt served for a year and a half in France during the war as a captain and won the French War Cross for combats in the air over Chateau-Thierry.

He was graduated from Harvard in 1913 and was a ship news reporter here before he entered the war. He joined the aviation service when this country entered the war and was attached to the pursuit wing of the First American Aviation Group in France. He later returned as a casual officer.

Together with the three sons of the late Colonel Roosevelt, Theodore, Kermit and Archibald, and their brother-in-law, Dr. Richard Derby, Mr. Roosevelt was one of the founders of the chain of coffee houses in this city known as the Brazilian Coffee Houses. At the time that the first one was opened at 106 West Forty-second Street in 1919, Philip Roosevelt was President of the firm. He has also been actively interested in the Aero Club and is a member of the Metropolitan and Knickerbocker Clubs.

MISS M. DOUBLEDAY WEDS J. H. RIPLEY

Married in Home of Her Father, George Doubleday—Her Sister the Only Attendant.

The marriage of Miss Marguerite Doubleday, a daughter of George Doubleday, to James Hazen Ripley took place yesterday afternoon at the home of her father, 26 East Seventy-third Street, in the presence of relatives and a few friends. The bride, who was escorted by her father, wore a gown of white satin draped with old rose point lace and a veil of tulle, carrying a cluster of white orchids and lillies of the valley. Miss Alice Doubleday, her sister's only bridal attendant, wore a gown of pale yellow chiffon and satin and carried Spring flowers. Sidney Dillon Ripley was his brother's best man, but there were no ushers. A small reception followed the ceremony.

The engagement of the couple was announced in January. The bride was introduced to society three years ago and since that time she has been a member of the Junior League and interested in the various activities of that organization. Mr. Ripley is the youngest son of the late Sidney Dillon Ripley and of the present Mrs. Charles R. Scott. He is a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Hyde, his maternal grandfather for many years having been President of the Equitable Life Assurance Society. Another brother, Henry B. Hyde Ripley, married Miss Lesley Frederica Pearson, younger daughter of Mrs. Frederick Pearson of 3 West Fifty-seventh Street and the late Commander Pearson, U. S. N., and a niece of the late Frederick Fanning Ayer.

Mr. Ripley is the namesake of his maternal uncle, James Hazen Hyde, who has lived in Paris for nearly twenty years. He was graduated from Harvard in 1914 and served across seas during the World War. Mr. Ripley and his bride will sail this week for France and will go directly to Paris to join his mother, Mrs. Scott, and his brother-in-law and sister, Count and Countess Pierre de Viel Castel, who live at 4 Avenue Marceau.

Miss Carol E. Denny, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Austin H. Denny of Old Saybrook, Conn., was married to Drew Van Rensselaer Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Hill of this city and Tarrytown, yesterday in the Church of the Transfiguration. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Harrison Rockwell.

Miss Catharine Harlan of Middletown, Ohio, was the bride's only attendant and the best man was Erdman N. Brandt of Tarrytown. The bride attended Barnard College where she was a member of the class of 1926. Mr. Hill was graduated from the Peekskill Military Academy in 1915, and during the war he served in France with the 107th U. S. Infantry.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill sailed, following the ceremony, on a wedding trip to Paris. From there they will go to Budapest, Hungary, where they will make their home for the present.

E. K. AUSTIN, BROKER, WED.

Miss Kathryn B. Moran His Bride—First Wife Divorced Him.

Eugene K. Austin, a broker with offices at 1 Wall Street, and Miss Kathryn Benton Moran were married last Saturday, according to an announcement made yesterday by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Moran of 228 New York Avenue, Brooklyn. Further information concerning the ceremony was refused.

Mr. Austin before his marriage made his home at the Army and Navy Club on West Fifty-ninth Street. In 1915 he served Mrs. Mabel Hatch Austin Banks, his first wife, with papers in a divorce suit, declaring that a divorce granted her in Philadelphia several months before was void. He named as corespondent Major David Banks, whom the former Mrs. Austin had married soon after she had obtained her decree.

Mr. Austin and his first wife have three children, who after the divorce made their home with their mother. Major and Mrs. Banks now live at 1,155 Park Avenue, this city. One of Mr. Austin's daughters was married to Jean Jacques Bertschmann last Summer in St. Ignatius's Church. The ceremony, which was attended by many persons who came on from their Summer places on Long Island, Maine and Newport, was followed by a large reception at the Ambassador.

M. A. METZNER DIES; FRIEND OF THE POOR

Built Three Churches and Aided Hospitals—Funeral Tomorrow at Lake Ronkonkoma.

Martin A. Metzner, manufacturer, real estate operator, philanthropist and prominent Catholic layman, a Knight of St. Gregory, died Sunday night in his home at Lake Ronkonkoma, L. I., at the age of 66. More than three months ago, while, according to his custom, spending the Winter in Florida, he became seriously ill and was brought North in his private car.

A high requiem mass will be celebrated in St. Joseph's Church, Lake Ronkonkoma, at 11 A. M. tomorrow Bishop Thomas D. Molloy will preside, assisted by the Rev. James A. McKenna.

Mr. Metzner, whose wife died eighteen months ago, is survived by three daughters, Mrs. John J. Robinson, Mrs. Frank J. Foley and Miss Alma J. Metzner.

He was a native of Baltimore. After coming to New York he engaged in various enterprises with success, amassing a large fortune, from which he gave liberally to many charities, including hospitals. He erected three churches—St. Joseph's at Lake Ronkonkoma, St. Martin's at Central Park, L. I., and one in Florida. The amount given away by Mr. Metzner was estimated by a friend yesterday at "several hundred thousand dollars." The late Bishop Charles E. McDonnell of Brooklyn was an intimate friend.

Mr. Metzner was Treasurer of the Young & Metzner Realty Company, which owned much real estate on Long Island; Treasurer of Young & Metzner, manufacturers of bags and bagging at 337 Vernon Avenue, Long Island City, and at Camden, N. J.; Treasurer of Young & Metzger, citrus fruit growers in Florida; President of the New Indian River Hotel Corporation at Rockledge, Fla.; a member of the Queensboro Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Trustees of St. John's Hospital, Long Island City, and the Hospital of St. Charles the Cripple, Port Jefferson, L. I., and a director of two trust companies in Florida. His knighthood was received from Pope Benedict in 1920.

MRS. V. REE'S BURIAL TODAY

Lived to Be 98—Commodore Uriah P. Levy Her First Husband.

Mrs. Virginia Ree, who died Sunday at her home, 420 West 121st Street, at the age of 98, was the widow of William Ree of this city, and also the widow, through an earlier marriage, of Commodore Uriah P. Levy, first purchaser of Monticello, home of Thomas Jefferson. Since the death of her first husband in 1862 Mrs. Ree had spent nearly all her life in New York. A daughter, Miss Fannie Ree, who lived with her, survives. Services will be held privately today.

Mrs. Ree's reminiscences are now being published in The American Hebrew. Her maiden name was Lopez. She was a descendant of one of the leading Jewish families of Colonial America. At the time of her marriage to Commodore Levy she was a young girl and he was over 60. Congress passed an act granting her permission to accompany the Commodore on the cruise of the squadron in the Mediterranean. This was the first time a woman was allowed to sail with an American naval commander in such circumstances. The cruise lasted three years and the Commodore and his wife met at the various European ports many great personages. For several years Mrs. Ree was the hostess at Monticello. Commodore Levy was an uncle of the late Congressman Jefferson M. Levy of this city, who inherited Monticello.

$100,000 FRAUD LAID TO SHIPPING AGENTS

False Billing Charged in Federal Indictments Against Universal Car Loading Co.

RAILROADS WERE LOSERS

Documents Altered to Call for Lower Rates, Prosecutor Says—May Involve Millions.

Sealed indictments returned yesterday by the Federal Grand Jury charge the Universal Car Loading and Distributing Company and two "route men" in its employ, with having defrauded the Lehigh Valley and Michigan Central railroads of at least $100,000 by means of false shipping bills.

It is the custom for merchants using the facilities of the company to deposit with it duplicate shipping bills indicating the nature of the goods involved. It is alleged that in hundreds of instances alterations calling for lower freight rates were made in the duplicate, while the originals returned to the shipper showed no change. The freight due on the class of goods indicated in the originals was collected from the shippers and the railroads were paid the lower rates specified in the duplicate. The difference between the two rates was deducted, it is said, by some one somewhere between the office of the shipper and that of the carrier.

Assistant United States Attorney J. Arthur Adler, who presented the evidence against the defendants to the Grand Jury, explained the alleged fraudulent methods by saying that in the case of a shipment of tinfoil the words "colored and corrugated" were crossed off and the word "plain" was written over them on the duplicate bill. This meant a reduction in the freight rate from $1.24½ a hundredweight to 93 cents. The railroad received from the defendant company its memorandum copied from the altered duplicate, and the duplicate went to the defendant company's bill clerk, who, it is charged, restored the words "colored and corrugated" and notified the dealer that shipment had been made. It is alleged that the difference against the railroad companies on one carload was about $111.

The two employes named in the indictment are William Addias and William Jachens, who select the route over which the goods are to travel. In his investigation, Mr. Adler discovered, he said, that these men, when they were uncertain of a classification, always made it for a low rate so that the defendant company would benefit.

C. S. Eytinge is President of the defendant company and E. S. Strohm is Chairman of the board and A. E. Davis is general freight agent. The company is an Illinois corporation, but its business is chiefly in this State. Mr. Adler said that Mr. Davis appeared voluntarily before the Grand Jury, waived immunity and testified that he knew nothing of the false billings until the matter was called to his attention by Government investigators.

Addias and Jachens denied that they had been instructed to make out false bills. R. Brooks Sturm and Burt L. Smelker, the Government agents, who gathered the evidence against the defendants, stated that the information indicated that the defendant corporation shipped ten carloads of merchandise a day. The investigation is still going on.

Pointing out that false billing of shipments is a crime in violation of the Interstate Commerce act, Mr. Adler said: "The underbilling in this case amounts to at least $100,000 so far as the present evidence goes, but it may reach into the millions."

The defendant company is said to be a subsidiary of the Baldwin Universal Company of Maine, a holding company. Shipments under its direction in two years, it was stated, yielded the railroads nearly $6,000,000. Mr. Davis of the defendant company, it was said, offered, in the name of the company, to pay the amount due the railroads under corrected bills.

MULHOUSE'S OWNERS SUE.

Seek Insurance on Cargo Pirates Seized on French Rum Ship.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 4.—The lawsuit over the famous French rum-runner Mulhouse which was robbed of a $1,000,000 cargo by pirates off the American coast last year began in Marseilles today.

The shipowners had insured the cargo, but, following pirates' attack, the insurance company refused to pay because it contended that the policy did not cover acts of piracy. The shipowners, who are a famous French cod fishing firm, brought suit.

$100,000 LONG ISLAND FIRE.

GLEN HEAD, L. I., May 4.—Valley Farms, the country home of J. Henry Alexandre, banker, of 11 Wall Street, where the Prince of Wales was entertained at luncheon last Fall, was badly damaged by fire tonight.

The three Alexandre children and several servants were sleeping on an upper floor when Mrs. Alexandre smelled smoke. Her husband discovered the roof afire. Without waiting to turn in an alarm, Mr. and Mrs. Alexandre, aided by a nurse, aroused the three boys, J. Henry Jr., De Witt and Lawrence Jerome Alexandre, and carried them from the burning building to the home of a neighbor.

In the meantime employes had been aroused and turned in an alarm. As they tried to save the furnishings, Mr. Alexandre, returning, removed his radio set to the garage and barn. The damage to the house is estimated at $100,000.

Why does any man or woman make him or herself unlovable when they were well born, have been well qualified in looks, manners and education and some of them endowed with wealth? By their carelessness, surliness, selfishness, overbearing spirit and speech, to see them once in five years is quite enough.

While we may not be able to make life a Garden of Eden, we must avoid helping to make it a Dead Sea.

LUCIANO GIVES UP; HELD AS PERJURER

Is Locked Up in Brooklyn as He Reiterates He Lied in Bank Murder Trial.

SAYS POLICE BULLIED HIM

Forced Him by Threats, He Asserts, to Testify Against Diamonds, Farina and Pantano.

READY TO AID DOOMED PAL

Gives Himself Up in New Jersey as Fourth Convict Goes to the Death House.

Nicholas (Cheeks) Luciano, the missing witness in the Diamond murder case, surrendered himself yesterday afternoon to the police at Bayonne, N. J., his home town. He was taken at once to Brooklyn, where he was questioned until a late hour last night by District Attorney Charles J. Dodd.

At 10:50 o'clock last night, after he had been questioned for five hours by the District Attorney, Luciano was locked up in the Poplar Street Station, Brooklyn, on a charge of perjury. The police alleged that the crime was committed on March 6 last at 375 Fulton Street, Brooklyn, the office of Edward J. Reilly, attorney for Anthony Pantano, one of the men convicted of murder.

It was in Reilly's office on March 6 that Luciano signed an affidavit recanting the testimony he had given last year in the trials of Morris and Joseph Diamond, John Farina and Pantano, to the effect that he had heard them plan the hold-up of two messengers of the West End Bank in Brooklyn, which ended in the murder of the two messengers.

District Attorney Dodd refused to say what Luciano had told him during their interview, but it was learned that the man had refused to answer many questions and had been evasive to others. On the other hand, Luciano spoke freely when questioned by the Bayonne police while he was waiting to be taken to Brooklyn. Luciano insisted in Bayonne that his "recantation," which he made the same day he disappeared, was the truth, and that he had lied in his testimony at the trials.

The reason for his original lie, according to Luciano, was a threat by the police that he would be put to death along with the others if he did not testify against them. He said that he was sorry his testimony had helped convict the Diamonds and Farina, who went to the electric chair in Sing Sing last week, and that he had hoped his recantation would win them new trials. Pantano, who has just been taken to the death house for the second time after three trials, gets another trial, Luciano went on, he will testify for him.

Luciano, whose absence made it more difficult for the State to convict Pantano but may have kept the Diamonds and Farina from getting new trials because Luciano's recantation was discredited by his disappearance, denied that John Carbonaro or any one else had been responsible for his absence. Carbonaro, Luciano's partner in a tailor shop, was indicted last month on the charge of conspiring to obstruct justice by aiding Luciano to escape.

Calls Up Bayonne Police.

Luciano called up the Bayonne Detective Bureau at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon from a tube station in Jersey City.

"This is 'Cheeks,'" he said. "I want to give myself up."

"All right," said Detective Thomas Whalen. "Come on in."

Laetr, a motorcycle policeman dashed up to Bayonne Police Headquarters with the information that he had seen a man who looked like "Cheeks" going into the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Luciano, at 123 West Fifty-fourth Street, Bayonne.

Three detectives went to the Luciano house in an automobile, met "Cheeks" as he was leaving home for the police station. They took him to Headquarters and notified the Brooklyn authorities.

Calmly smoking a cigarette in the Detective Bureau in Bayonne Headquarters, after being finger printed, Luciano told detectives and reporters the story of his movements since March 6, the day he disappeared. He said that he went from Bayonne to New York with Carbanaro that day, but that they separated and he (Luciano) went to the home of his sister, Mrs. Millie Gerardi, 113 Mott Street. Later the same day, he said, he got drunk and remained so for a day or two.

Luciano said that he was in a daze when he left New York. What with the liquor he had consumed and all the things he had on his mind as a result of testifying against his former pals, he said, he did not know what he was doing. He said he went from place to place in New England, chiefly in Connecticut, without spending more than a day or two in any one place.

According to Luciano, he was in Hartford, Conn., when the trial of Gerald Chapman was in progress, and tried to get into the courtroom. "The crowd was so big I couldn't get in," he added.

Returned When Money Was Gone.

He said he had traveled by train, trolley and automobile and had stopped when and where he pleased. When he left, he said, he had $200 in cash. Early in his trip, he continued, he sold an automobile for $900. When he returned home, according to his parents, he had only $12. Luciano said that he had paid all the expenses of his trip himself, that no one had financed him.

Luciano said that he had come back and given himself up because he had got tired of going from one place to another and had run out of money. He said he realized that he would be caught sooner or later if he did not surrender.

Luciano told the Bayonne police that his "recantation" statement was the truth and that he had testified falsely in the beginning, because, he feared he would go to the chair otherwise. Asked whether his conscience bothered him because of the execution of the Diamond brothers and Farina, who was his special "pal," Luciano replied:

"Farina and I went to school together. I was his pal. We went all over together. Of course, I feel badly."

Regarding the failure to appear to testify at the Pantano trial after signing his recantation, Luciano said:

"I was told that they did not need me, that the statement I made was enough. I understood that the statement would help all four get a new trial."

He said he did not think he would be charged with murder.

"I don't think Reilly will produce that statement now," he added.

"Reilly" is Edward J. Reilly, attorney for Farina.

If Pantano gets another new trial, Luciano said, he would testify that his recantation was the truth.

Says Police Threatened Him.

"The story I told Reilly is the right story," he went on. "I told the other because the police told me they would 'burn' me along with the others if I didn't make a statement against them. My mind was in a daze, and I decided to make the statement the police wanted. I wasn't going to die innocently, and Pantano had lied when he said Farina and I stuck him up in the Williamsburg shack and made him give us information about the bank. I made the statement to Reilly later on because I didn't want to see Farina die on my account."

Erasmus High Students Barred From Restaurants

Pupils who live more than a half a mile from the Erasmus Hall High School, Flatbush and Church Avenues, Brooklyn, must either bring their own lunch with them or else have lunch in the school cafeteria, because of an order issued by the school authorities yesterday. Owners of half a dozen restaurants near the school who found their receipts from $60 to $100 a day greatly diminished, as well as pupils at the school, are incensed over the order.

There are 7,000 pupils at the school and the police have complained that during the lunch hour they block the streets and impede traffic.

PLEA FOR CONCERTS OUTSIDE OF PARK

Citizens' Committee Asks Guggenheims Not to Give Up Summer Music Programs.

NO REPLY FROM THE MAYOR

Mrs. Zilberman Asserts She Intends to Press Her Right to Broadcast From WNYC.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Guggenheim and Mr. and Mrs. Murry Guggenheim were asked last night by the Citizens' Committee for Music in the Parks, meeting in the studio of May Arno at 51 East Twenty-fifth Street, to continue the Goldman band concerts this Summer somewhere else than Central Park if Mayor Hylan continued in his refusal to allow them there. The request was in a letter to the patrons of the concerts, whose text was adopted by the meeting and signed by those present.

Mrs. Bella Zilberman of 1,720 Caton Street, Brooklyn, President of the organization, who recently asked the city broadcasting station, WNYC, to put on the air her plea for support for the concerts, reported last night she had received no reply and proposed that a committee visit the station and present the request again.

"I am a member of the Broadcasting Artists Association of America," she said "and they cannot say my voice won't go well on the air. As a member of that organization I have the right to request to speak from any station. I propose to exercise that right. We are taxpayers. First they shut us out of the park and now they shut us out of the city radio station. Citizens must have some rights also, we ought to find out what they are."

The letter to the Guggenheims said in part:

"After seven weeks of effort we feel that it is useless to deal further with either Mayor Hylan or Chamberlain Berolzheimer. We wish to assure you, however, that our fight for these concerts will continue and that we are now endeavoring to arouse public sentiment through the petition of protest which are being distributed for signatures. Over a quarter of a million people have already signed these petitions and we are striving for a million names. If this does not impress the Mayor, nothing will.

"The Summer season is drawing near and inquiries pour in to us for a definite policy. In the event that the concerts cannot be given in Central Park we have decided to appeal to you to allow the action of the Mayor and the Chamberlain to prevent them from being continued elsewhere. This is the sentiment of the people at large, and we do not believe he will deny all the people the pleasure they have enjoyed in the past because two of our city officials have personal prejudices."

The letter requested the concerts be continued "even though they must be given in a less central location than Central Park, and where even sacrifices might have to be made in order to enjoy them."

At last night's meeting it was agreed to print the petitions for resumption of the concerts that the organization is circulating in several foreign languages.

DESCRIBES DEATH OF MRS. M'CLINTOCK

Former Maid Says "She Was Yellow" in Appearance and Didn't Look Like Herself.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 4.—Sixteen years delayed in the telling, one version of how Emma Nelson McClintock came home from Texas to die today went into the records of the Coroner's inquest. From the lips of a woman who said she saw her die the jury heard a description of circumstances which officials said bore on the report of the Coroner's chemist that he found a lethal dosage of mercury in Mrs. McClintock's vital organs.

"She was yellow and perspiring and she complained of pains in the small of her back. She didn't look like herself at all," declared the witness, Mrs. Harry Carson of Linden, Iowa, who was a maid in the home of Mrs. McClintock. She took the stand at the inquest to tell of matters that it is contended might have a bearing on the death of William Nelson McClintock. She is supposed to be one of the few persons living who knew intimately of the life of Mrs. McClintock's household and the status of William D. Shepherd, the boy's foster father, now awaiting trial.

She testified that she had seen Mrs. Shepherd give a diamond ring from the dead woman's finger, and that afternoon she had seen the same diamond in a different setting on the person of Mrs. Shepherd. She alleged that Mrs. Shepherd opposed the suggestion of one of Emma McClintock's relatives that a post-mortem examination might be advisable.

Renaud of The Herald Tribune; Charles S. Salomon of The Herald Tribune; Joseph Van Raalte of The Morning Telegraph; Walter A. Davenport of Liberty.

Jack Binns was elected a member of the board to represent the associate membership.

ARMS SALE PARLEY OPENS IN GENEVA

Scores of Americans Unable to Get Into Assembly Room to Witness Ceremony.

OUR DELEGATES WELCOMED

Atmosphere Tense as Representatives of 43 Nations, Including Four Non-League States, Foregather.

Copyright, 1925, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GENEVA, May 4.—The importance of the United States' participation in the conference for the control of the international traffic in arms was stressed this afternoon in his opening address by the President, Count Carton de Wiart of Belgium, who characterized the conference as having a degree of universality which the League had never before attained.

Forty-three nations, including four non-League States, were represented by delegations worthy of the League Assembly. All races, colors and religions, representing all shades of interests from war-like intentions to universal peace, were in attendance. One delegation who had cards up their sleeves and kept them there were the Americans. Nobody in Geneva knows what Theodore E. Burton will do, and rumors of American policy run the gamut from Christian benevolence to a petty spitefulness which would turn down any convention which even mentioned the League name.

Importance of Our Participation.

Count Carton de Wiart, speaking of the Americans' presence, said:

"The great American Republic has already lent assistance to the temporary mixed commission and by their participation and presence the conference acquires new and valuable significance, from the fact that as a pre-eminently producing country America's signature and ratification are indispensable to our success."

In relating history behind the conference the President diplomatically passed over the refusal of America to sign the Saint Germain Convention with: "The United States Government was unable to adhere to the terms of the convention although it declared itself in agreement with the principles on which it was based, and it became necessary to direct the work of the League of Nations toward the preparation of a new convention which would secure universal approval."

"I am optimistic that the conference will fulfill the important mission with which it is entrusted and take a step toward peace. It is faced with many difficulties, but these difficulties are the very reason of the conference. Many problems are of a technical as well as a political and judicial order, such as a definition of arms, munitions and of Governments and belligerents. The solution of these delicate and complex questions depends on the wisdom and conciliation of the various delegations and their Governments."

Defines Moral Control.

He stressed the fact that the control which it was intended to exercise was moral control, and gave an opinion of the French meaning of the word "control" which indicates a surveillance more in keeping with the spirit of the draft of the convention that the English meaning of the word, which implies authority.

While expressing gratification at the participation of Germany, even though she accepted obligations in the matters before us which are defined in the peace treaty has consented to give us the benefit of her valuable assistance," he sadly but truthfully limited the German delegation's sphere of action.

"The collaboration of American, German, Turkish and Egyptian delegations, coming from lands which are not members of the League," he said, "gives the conference a degree of universality which the League had never yet attained. Formed within the framework of the League and convened by it, aided by the work of its commissions and assisted by the Secretariat, our conference enjoys untrammeled freedom and wide prestige. No obstacles, no restrictions, hinder it from solving, to the best of its ability, the problem for which it was convened."

Commissions were appointed to report on the credentials of the delegations and to adopt rules of procedure. The first session will be held tomorrow at 4 o'clock.

Many Americans Disappointed.

GENEVA, May 4 (Associated Press).—American interest in international affairs seemingly was again demonstrated today when a considerable number of Americans, especially women, vainly sought admission to the inaugural session of the Arms Control Conference.

Count Henri Carton de Wiart, Belgium, formally opened the conference in the League of Nations glass room, which was so crowded that even breathing was almost painful in the stifling atmosphere. Americans predominated in the occupancy of the few seats available to the public, but scores of others of them failed in their attempts to get into the building.

There was evidenced in Geneva tonight a pronounced atmosphere of watchful waiting to see what the other fellow would do. The conference opens, however, with varying views in existence, if not openly admitted, of different parts of the draft convention, though it was remarked that this sentiment was crowned with earnest intentions to make the conference a success.

Persia was the one exception to the general policy of silence, for Prince Arfa-ed-Dowleh came out flatly with a declaration that he would combat tooth and nail any attempt to put Persia in the so-called forbidden zone where the importation of arms would not be permitted, or at least where the liberty of importation would be destroyed.

SAY SERBIAN PRINCE WAS TOOL OF REDS

Belgrade Authorities Looking Up Friends and Seizing Documents, Following His Interment.

PARIS, May 4.—An official communique issued in Belgrade today announce that Prince George, brother of King Alexander of Yugoslavia has been interned in Belille Castle where he is under constant watch of physicians due to his alarming psychic state.

Recently the young Prince has been in constant communication with communist elements who have made a tool of him against the King and Government, it is reported. Searches are being made of home of Republicans and Communists with whom the Prince is conversant and documents are being seized.

In a few days a Crown Council will be held to discuss the treatment to be applied to Prince George.

VIENNA, May 4.—The official report from Belgrade saying that Prince George has been interned in "a place of corresponding with the state of his health" winds up a long and sensational story of the mad Serbian Crown Prince who though quiet of late years figured formerly every week on the front page of the newspapers with his crazy escapades.

The Prince's renunciation of rights of the throne were forced partly by his father and partly by pressure from the Austrian Government.

Lately the Prince's conduct, especially in regard to financial matters, has been so scandalous that diplomatic representations were made to the Belgrade court to put an end to his escapades. The royal decree ordering him to a sanatorium under constant surveillance of a physician seems due to these protestations.

Long Lost Church Documents of Colonial Days Found by Cleaning Women in a Rubbish Heap

Original documents bearing on Lutheran church history in America in Colonial times have been found, covered in dust, in a drawer in St. James's Lutheran Church, it was announced yesterday by the pastor, the Rev. William E. Sunday. Mr. Sunday said that somebody, not knowing their value probably, had put them in the drawer and forgotten them when the church was established thirty-two years ago. The last record of the existence of some of the documents was made in 1725, when they were listed as part of the papers of St. Matthew's Church at Broadway and Rector Street.

Cleaning women found the documents under a pile of old Christmas tree ornaments. They threw them on a heap of rubbish to be destroyed, but one of the cleaners salvaged them and put them on the pastor's desk. He put them in a safe deposit vault and called in a historical committee to examine them.

One of the documents is the original ordination certificate of the Rev. Justus Falckner, "the first clergyman to be regularly ordained in the Western World." His ordination took place on Nov. 24, 1703, in the Swedish Lutheran Gloria Dei Church, Wicaco, Pa., now part of Philadelphia. Falckner was the author of a hymn, "Arise, Ye Children of Salvation," which is still sung in Lutheran churches in Europe and America. He was later called to New York by the Dutch Lutheran congregation here.

The ordination certificate was written in classical Latin. Regarding its disappearance, a Lutheran historian wrote some years ago: "Immediately upon his acceptance of the charge Dominie Falckner deposited his diploma of ordination among the archives of the church. Unfortunately, this, together with other documents of the Colonial period deposited within the church, are now missing, and have evidently long since been lost or destroyed. Possibly no document has been so diligently and persistently sought for by historians and investigators as this diploma, as its historical value to the Lutheran and Protestant Episcopal Churches can hardly be overestimated."

Other documents found with the Falckner ordination papers include a petition of the Lutheran Church in the City of New York to Thomas Dongan, Governor of the Colony prior to 1688, asking immunity from taxation on its property on the ground that "those of the Calvinist Opinion are exempted," and letters of 1826 and 1827 in which an "unknown donor" believed at the time to be Peter Lorrillard Sr., gave the new congregation of St. James "the church and three lots of ground in Orange Street between Hester and Grand Streets, New York, lately owned by the Irish Presbyterian Congregation."

HIRSHFIELD TELLS OF CRAIG'S CITY CARS

Says Controller and His Aid Each Have Two Autos and Two Chauffeurs.

COMPLAINS OF WASTE

Puts Cost to the City at $20,000 a Year at Least—Refers to Shopping Trips.

David Hirshfield, Commissioner of Accounts, retaliated upon Controller Charles L. Craig yesterday in rejoinder to the latter's charges concerning the use by the Mayor and himself of city employes as chauffeurs to drive for them the automobiles provided by the city for their official use.

In a statement the Commissioner of Accounts charged Controller Craig with untruthfulness. He declared that Mr. Craig and his deputy, Charles F. Kerrigan, each had two city-employed chauffeurs in their exclusive service; that their garage and gasoline charges against the city were excessive; referred to the Controller's personal shopping expeditions with his wife and to trips to his Putnam County farm. Craig's and Kerrigan's cars, Hirshfield declared, cost the city at least $20,000 a year.

Calls Charges Unfounded.

Commissioner Hirshfield's statement follows:

Supplementing the Mayor's statement concerning the unwarranted action of Controller Craig in withholding their pay from the two innocent policemen referred to by his Honor, and to further prove that Craig would not recognize truth if he met it in bright daylight, I want to state that his statement that a fireman washes the car assigned to me is unfounded.

As a matter of fact that car is housed, washed and supplied in the municipal garage, and is only kept over night in the West Thirty-third Street firehouse because it saves the chauffeur the trouble in the evening of taking the car to Brooklyn and again going over for it in the morning. At any rate, it doesn't cost the city anything extra.

According to records, there appear to be four employes in the Finance Department each receiving an annual salary of $2,256, driving Craig's and his man Friday's city cars: Hans W. Anderson, William H. Anderson, Nicholas Smith and J. W. Parnell. From the figures obtainable, it appears that Craig's and Kerrigan's cars cost the city annually, including maintenance and chauffeur, at least $20,000.

To have the city's $9,000 high-powered Pierce-Arrow car near his home Craig keeps the same in the garage of Louis Burghardt-Mills Company, 211-213 West Eighty-second Street, where he pays $50 city money per month just for housing the car, and for gasoline 26 cents per gallon, or 14 cents more per gallon than the city paid in February. Craig used in the month of February 150 gallons of gasoline, and the total bill for that month amounted to $66.45. The quantity of gasoline used by Craig in the Summer when he travels to and from his farm, is a great deal more.

Traces Kerrigan's Car.

Now, if Craig were not afraid of being checked up he would find some fire or police station in his neighborhood where he could keep his car overnight for nothing, just as I am doing, and he would get his gasoline and other supplies in the municipal garage, and thus save the city a great deal of money. As it is, I am told that whenever Craig or his wife go downtown on a shopping expedition they park the city's Pierce-Arrow in the same firehouse on Thirty-third Street where I keep the car overnight.

The extra-built seven-passenger $6,000 Cadillac car used by Craig's man Friday, Kerrigan, is kept in the Alhambra Garage, Inc., 540 West 125th Street. The charge there for storing the car is $40 per month, and during last February Kerrigan used 187 gallons of gasoline at 26 cents per gallon, making $48.62 for gasoline. On 187 gallons he easily traveled in February over 1,500 miles. Certainly not on city business.

For several weeks past I have been trying to get the managers of the garage where Craig is keeping his car, in order to examine them in connection with this city car, but thus far have been unable to get them.

I presume that it is my investigation into these unwarranted, extravagant expenditures by Craig and Kerrigan that is responsible for his vengeance upon the two innocent policemen chauffeurs and their families, who simply obey orders. Craig has evidently never heard of the old motto: "He who has butter on his head must keep out of the sun."

MEANS CONVICTION UPHELD.

Counsel Undecided Whether to Take Case to Highest Court.

The conviction of Gaston B. Means, former agent of the Department of Justice, and his Secretary, Elmer W. Jarnecke, on a charge of conspiring to obtain and sell permits for the withdrawal of whisky from warehouses, was affirmed yesterday by the Circuit Court of Appeals.

The two were sentenced to two years each in the Atlanta Penitentiary and Means was fined $10,000. Jarnecke was fined $5,000. Abraham I. Menin, counsel for Means, said that it was not yet decided whether an application would be made to the United States Supreme Court for a writ of review.

Girl Robbed of $600 in Subway.

Sadie Worth, of 1,612 Fifty-ninth Street Brooklyn, employed by the Silver's Restaurant Corporation was robbed of a bag containing $600 on the De Kalb Avenue platform of the B. M. T. subway yesterday morning. The money represented the week-end receipts of the restaurant. The young woman was on her way to a bank. She said a man punched her, and disappeared with the bag before she recovered.

UNTERMYER WRONG, SAYS OWEN YOUNG

Chairman of Board Retorts That Charges Against General Electric Are Unjust.

DENIES A LAMP MONOPOLY

Asserts Company Supplied All Facts Requested in Government Inquiry.

Answering charges made by Samuel Untermyer in a letter published in THE NEW YORK TIMES yesterday morning, Owen D. Young, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the General Electric Company sent a communication last night to Mr. Untermyer in which he denied emphatically many of the assertions made by the attorney.

Mr. Untermyer accused the head of the General Electric Company of having written to the stockholders of the company implying that the findings of the Lockwood Committee that the company was guilty of restraint of trade, were false.

In his letter Mr. Young denied emphatically that the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., or any other banking group controlled the company, and also said that no person had been authorized by the company to ask any member of the Federal Government to act in any matter of special interest on behalf of the company.

"So far as the Department of Justice is specifically concerned," Mr. Young wrote, "we have furnished the facts, and all of the facts requested in its long and most complete inquiry into our affairs. When the department brought suit against us to test the validity of our method of dealing with our incandescent lamp patents and our commercial method of distributing our lamps, our case was presented to the Federal Court and it rendered a decision in our favor. It was the notice of this decision which we sent to our stockholders in order that they who are vitally concerned, might know the truth.

"With all due respect, and because I know more about the business of the General Electric Company than you, I say that your statement that the 'percentage of profits to sales in its lamp business' was 'about fifteen times the percentage of profits on its entire remaining business' is untrue for the year 1920 or any subsequent year. You have always misled yourself and others in the comparison of the profits of the lamp business with the final net profits of our entire business shown in our reports. Your statement is an excellent illustration of how unfair and unjust one may be in dealing with things with which he is not particularly familiar even though his motive be honest."

On the matter of the development of the incandescent electric lamp, Mr. Young said that no one could honestly charge the company with criminal monopoly, but, on the other hand, the efficiency of the men who were responsible for the development of the lamp should be applauded.

In conclusion Mr. Young said:

"Finally, may I ask you, the name of more than 100,000 men and women who are interested in the General Electric Company as stockholders and workers that you carry on any controversies you may have with J. P. Morgan & Co. or the Department of Justice without involving us either in your private quarrels or your political attacks."

BELIEVE EBBETS WILL COVERS ROBINS' SALE

Persons Familiar With Baseball Man's Plans Say Club Must Be Sold in Ten Years.

Although the will of Charles H. Ebbets, principal owner of the Brooklyn National League Baseball Club, is in the custody of the Surrogate's Court in Kings County and is not to be made public until a petition is filed for its probate, its contents were forecast by several persons yesterday who appeared to be conversant with Mr. Ebbets's plans for the future of the ball club.

According to one of these informants, Mr. Ebbets has made a provision in his will directing that the Brooklyn Club must be sold within ten years. Until its disposal his widow, his son, Charles H. Ebbetts Jr., and three daughters are to share equally in his ownership of the club. In addition Mrs. Ebbets is to receive an annuity of $5,000 and the use of the family home at Clearwater for three years. Mr. Ebbets's first wife is to continue to receive $7,500 yearly. His son, Charles, is to get $2,600 a year, and is to receive the famous jeweled pin of his father, which was presented to him at the opening of the new Ebbets Field in Brooklyn. This pin is shaped like a baseball diamond and is studded with gems of considerable value.

Each of the three daughters is to receive $2,000 a year. No mention is made of the total amount of the estate. The executors are Mrs. Charles H. Ebbets, the widow, the Mechanics Bank and Mr. Ebbets's son-in-law, Joseph Gilleaudeau.

FOR NEAR EAST RELIEF.

Mayor Designates May 11 to 16 as "Old Clothes Week" for the Needy.

In the interest of Near East relief Mayor Hylan issued a proclamation yesterday designating the week of May 11 to 16 as "Old Clothes Week."

The drive for old clothes is being conducted under the auspices of the Near East Relief and the garments are to be distributed to 40,000 orphan children who are under the care of that organization in the refugee camps of Palestine and Armenia.

"Dapper Don" Pleads Not Guilty.

CITY INCREASES PAY OF 3,000 EMPLOYES

Prial Fights Advances, Charging Favorites Only Are Benefited.

$500,000 INVOLVED, HE SAYS

Deputy Controller Has an Acrimonious Session With Hylan and His Aids.

After one of the stormiest sessions in the history of the Board of Estimate, that body, sitting yesterday in Committee of the Whole, voted to increase the salaries of 3,000 city employes.

That action was bitterly and persistently opposed by Deputy Controller Frank J. Prial, who was sitting as the representative of Controller Craig and who was valiantly supported from the spectators' benches by 200 members of the city's Civil Service Forum and many representatives of trades unions.

Mr. Prial charges that the increases, which involve a total of about $500,000 a year, would benefit only "a handpicked list of favorites of the Mayor and the Borough Presidents, whereas the more needy and equally deserving portion of the city's 81,000 public servants were left out in the cold." The ruction began when Mr. Prial accused Mayor Hylan, Budget Director Buckley and some of the Borough Presidents of "bad faith" in putting over the "handpicked" list, and demanded that the employes as a whole should be vouchsafed a public hearing for a full discussion of the relative needs of salary increases.

Mayor Hylan, after listening patiently a while, apparently lost patience and turned upon the Deputy Controller savagely. "You're crazy! You're absolutely wrong!" cried the Mayor. "We want to work out something that is fair to all concerned."

Turning then toward the city employes, who crowded the portion of the room devoted to the public, the Mayor went on: "Don't pay too much attention to what this man says. He is not responsible. His supposed facts are all misrepresentations. This list today is only a start. Other cases are to be acted upon soon—as soon as the Budget Director can report upon them."

Objects to Language.

"The Budget Director!" retorted Prial scornfully. "He's so busy drawing his own salary of $1,000 a month he has no time to report on the $900-a-year man!"

Budget Director Buckley, who sat directly behind Mayor Hylan, looked uncomfortable under this thrust, but he made no retort. Mayor Hylan answered for him by again accusing Prial of making misleading statements and twitting him with being "a poor substitute for his superior, Craig."

"I'm tired of your way of doing things around here," shot back the Deputy Controller, facing about toward Mayor Hyland. Then, turning to the clerk, Prial added: "I move that the Mayor's barroom language be expunged from the record."

Julius Miller, Borough President of Manhattan, tried to be the peacemaker and to restore orderly procedure. "We are considering all these other cases in their due order," he told Prial.

"You're what?" demanded Prial. "You're considering them? You mean you're conning them. They've been conned long enough!"

This sally brought a whoop of approval from the civil service employes.

Borough President Lynch of Richmond next brought upon himself the wrath of Prial when he declared that he had gone over the Richmond situation very roughly and was prepared to make other recommendations. The Mayor had accused Prial of "voting 'No' on everything" and Borough President Lynch seemed to agree with the Mayor.

"How about the Staten Island tunnel proposition?" shouted Prial. "I voted 'No' on that originally and you and the Mayor had to vote 'No' on it later."

Sees Tube an Issue Still.

Borough President Lynch thereupon arose and harangued the board for ten minutes. During his speech he predicted that at this morning's public hearing in the City Hall on the transit question he would show that the Staten Island tunnel is yet a very live issue. Prial was not to be diverted from his main grievance. He came back at the Mayor and the other board members and reiterated his accusation that they had selected from among their particular favorites the employes to be benefited and had chosen for the most part men in the higher grades who are getting from $3,000 to $5,500 a year.

"We will take care of everybody in due time," said the Mayor soothingly.

"Well, we all know who are on these lists," countered Prial. "I have kept silent upon that phase of this thing until now," he went on.

"Well, I'm going to vote for these. The others will get their increases later," Mr. Collins announced. "Anyhow, I'm tired of your dirty, undignified talk in this board," the Aldermanic President declared, turning sternly upon Prial.

No particular group or class of city employes profited from the board's vote when the Mayor finally brought the issue to a ballot and Deputy Controller Prial's obstructive tactics were silenced. Each of the 3,000 beneficiaries had received an increase on the basis of the personal and specific recommendation of his or her departmental head. Generally speaking, the list of those whose pay is raised includes all classes of employes from day laborers up to $3,500 a year clerks, secretaries and engineers. There are about 145 employes who receive salaries in excess of $3,500 a year.

Following the Board of Estimate meeting, Mayor Hylan summoned to his office for a long conference all the Borough Presidents, Budget Director Buckley and Aldermanic President Collins. It was assumed that the topic of discussion was further salary increases, but none of the participants, when the conference was finished, would discuss it.

AGAINST TRANSIT PROGRAM.

I. R. T. Engineer Tells Difficulties in Extending Expresses.

J. M. Waldron, signal engineer of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, expressed disapproval of the Transit Commission's plan to improve express service on the west side subway by running trains from 137th to Seventy-second Street without stop at Ninety-sixth Street at a hearing before the commission yesterday. Mr. Waldron declared that the proposed change could not be carried out with the present track arrangement.

He also testified that substantial changes in the present signal layout would be required and expressed the opinion that the net effect of the proposed change, if made, would be to slow up trains and impair rather than improve service. The hearing will be continued on Thursday.

Radio programs to be broadcast today are published in The New York Times on page 25. They include complete musical and educational programs from stations all over the country.—Adv.

Mme. Schumann-Heink Blames Women for Prohibition Law

Special to The New York Times.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 4.—Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, the opera singer, who was in Kansas City between trains today, censured women for bringing on prohibition, yet expressed her admiration for the old-fashioned home-loving woman.

In the first place, she said, women had no right to enact prohibition when the men were away, especially since women nowadays drank along with the men.

The singer believed woman in politics were "a crime." It also was a crime, she said, for a married woman not to have children. She had words of praise for the working girls, but working girls, she declared, eventually should settle down and become good housewives. It was all well, she added, to try to retain a good figure, but there was no use going to extremes.

Mme. Schumann-Heink said her son Ferdinand, who was in Camp Funston during the war, had entered the movies.

DEEP SEA DIVERS TO HUNT SUNKEN CITY

Two Ships Will Aid Franco-American Expedition on North African Coast.

UTICA RELICS FOR McGILL

Major Shorey Is Returning to Montreal From Carthage With Cases of Antiquities.

CARTHAGE, May 4.—The fascination and mystery of the unknown ancient city, enrolled centuries ago by the Mediterranean, whose ruins have been reported found by native sponge divers in the narrow channel between Djerba Island and the mainland soon may be solved.

The services of a deep-sea diving company have been obtained to supply two ships with crews of forty men, including ten professional divers, to make the first investigation of this submerged site. Count de Prarok will go there on May 15 to begin operations with the divers in cooperation with the local French authorities and work will go on for ten days or more, depending on what is found.

The work has all the thrill of deep sea fishing raised to the nth power, for there is no knowing what will be caught in the swirling current, seventy feet deep, which passes over the sunken city. There may be nothing at all for the native divers may have been mistaken and led the Franco-American expedition on a costly wild goose chase. On the other hand houses with walls fifteen feet high, intact statues, streets and columns which they swear they have seen—and perhaps richer treasures may be found.

The search is a gamble—it will with only one certainty settle the truth of the report once and for all. According to the studies of Professor Stephen G. Bell, a leading history authority on classic North Africa, the Roman city of Tepass once flourished on the coast and disappeared like so many others without leaving a trace.

It may be that this town suffered at the hand of Neptune a catastrophere as horrible as that which wiped out Pompeii, for it is a well known fact that great changes have taken place in the Mediterranean Coast line in the last twenty centuries.

The investigation is not without danger for a couple of native divers already have been drowned seeking sponges in the powerful eddies.

Major F. C. Shorey, who has been representing McGill University here for the past two years, has been called back to his home in Montreal by business affairs. He left here for France last night.

Major Shorey is taking with him several cases containing representative types of Punic and Roman antiquities found in Carthage and Utica. These he will present to McGill.

The collection, which consists of duplicates of objects in the museums here, includes complete sets of jewelry, Roman and Early Christian oil lamps and wells and samples of other ceramic objects, such as tear bottles, urns, many ancient coins and "squeezes," or reproductions of the most interesting of the inscriptions found on steles in the sanctuary of Tanit.

Major Shorey expressed himself well pleased with the results of the season's work, saying he thought they showed that the value of trying to unearth the ancient Punic civilization was no longer open to argument.

With Major Shorey departed two student assistants on the expedition staff, C. C. Wells of the University of Virginia, who did most of the wrapping of steles found at the temple of Tanit, and Woodbridge Morris of Yale, who acted as inspector of the Utica excavations and assisted in the prehistoric explorations during the recent southern expedition.

With the same ship Mr. and Mrs. Lascelles Maxwell and their daughter, Kathryn, of New York, who have been guests of the Count and Countess de Prorok, sailed for Paris, where they will spend the summer.

FRENCH GIRLS' HOME TO REOPEN ELSEWHERE

Huguenot Institution Must Close Tomorrow—Director Consents to Vacate.

Although the Huguenot Home for French Girls, at 237 West Twenty-fourth Street, will be closed tomorrow and Mlle. Marguerite Schmid, director of the home, will vacate the house following notice served on her by City Marshal Morris Flores that unless she moves by noon, Wednesday, she will be evicted, provision is to be made to carry on the home as an institution elsewhere.

This was announced yesterday at the home after Mlle. Schmid had tried ineffectually all day to rent the premises from the new owner until next Fall.

Mlle. Schmid will walk out tomorrow with all her belongings, which she has accumulated during the twenty-five years she has been in charge. It is believed that most of the twenty-two young French women at present in the home will leave at the same time, although most of them do not speak English and some are out of work and have not sufficient money to provide homes for themselves elsewhere.

"I do not know what will become of these girls," said Mlle. Schmid, "for I have not sufficient money to take temporary quarters for their accommodation now. A friend came forward today and assured me that provision is sure to be made in some way in the future to keep the home intact, and that I can again take charge at the new quarters after I have had a rest. The new home, I understand, is to be nonsectarian."

The home was originally provided by the authorities of the French Episcopal Church du Ste. Esprit, which recently sold the house, but was self-supporting. The house was sold, it is said, because the money was needed to carry on Church charities.

TO END SALE TODAY OF LEADED GASOLINE

Manufacturers Withdraw Product After Inquiry Into Alleged Harmful Qualities.

AWAIT PARLEY AT CAPITAL

Further Marketing Plans Hinge on Conference May 20 with Surgeon General Cumming.

RETAILERS ALSO QUIT SALE

Standard of Indiana the First to Announce the Suspension of This Trade.

Following the completion of Columbia University's investigation into the alleged harmful qualities of leaded ethyl gasoline, the Ethyl Gasoline Corporation, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil and General Motors, announced yesterday that it would withdraw its product from the market today.

The Columbia report has not been made public but has been sent to Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming of the Public Health Service at Washington and to the Ethyl Gasoline Company. The company in its statement indicated that the marketing of its product in the future would depend upon the ethyl gasoline conference which the Surgeon General has called in Washington for May 20.

The new gasoline, which reduces the "knock" in automobile motors and makes gasoline "go" further, has been sold in twenty-seven States, including New York and New Jersey, although it is barred in New York City. Announcement of its withdraw

UTILITIES CLIMB IN ACTIVE MARKET

ADVANCES IN CURB STOCKS

Power and Light Companies Show Large Gains—American Telephone at Record Figure.

One of the most highly speculative markets in the public utility shares in weeks was apparent yesterday when a number of stocks of these companies attained new high levels. This activity appeared to concentrate on the Curb, where many of the most active power and light stocks are undergoing their priming or "try-out" for ultimate listing on the Stock Exchange, although those listed on the Stock Exchange likewise showed considerable activity and "proportionate advances."

Shares of National Power and Light, one of the properties under the supervision of the Electric Bond and Share interests, led the day's activity in the utility group, presumably on the theory held in commission house circles that a split-up of the shares is to be expected. Those closest to the company have never admitted that this was the intention, but the stock is one which Wall Street feels has about reached the practical limitation for distribution purposes.

The National Power and Light shares are traded in on the Curb Exchange. Transactions in them aggregated only 3,800 shares yesterday, but the stock climbed 10¼ points or dollars a share to the new high level of 203½ at the close of trading. It had started the day at 202, whereas the previous high price for this year was 203.

Southeastern Power and Light Company common, also on the Curb, stepped up to the record level of 70½ on transactions aggregating 1,500 shares. The net gain for the day was 5¾ points. The previous high for the stock this year was 70.

Other Curb stocks which attracted attention included Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, which rose to a new high at 85¾, compared with the previous high this year of 85¼, and which was up three-eighths of a point for the day; American Light and Traction, which gained 1¼ points at 154½, but has yet to reach a new high for the year; American Super Power Class B shares, which gained 1¼ points at 33½ compared with the year's high of 36¾, and Adirondack Power and Light, which gained a point at 45 closing price of 57¾ for the day. The year's highest price for the latter was 60.

Lehigh Power Securities, another so-called Electric Bond and Share stock advanced 6 points at 114, but was still 3 points under the year's highest. Middle West Utilities common gained 1½ points at 92, but did not make a new high. United Gas and Electric common was up 1¼ at 34¾, compared with the previous high of the year of 38 on the new stock.

On the Stock Exchange the shares of the Consolidated Gas Company of New York, holding company for New York Edison and other large local utilities, reached a new high level at 80¾ and closed at 80¾, up 1¼ for the day. Transactions were heaviest in this stock, numbering over 24,000 shares. Trading in North American Company common was equally extensive, but the stock did not make a new high; its gain was three-eighths of a point at 48¾, with a quarter of a point of the year's high price.

American Telephone and Telegraph capital shares, known to speculators as one of the most stable of the utility stocks, also established a new high yesterday on the Stock Exchange at the closing price of 137, a gain of five-eighths of a point. The shares have been strong for two weeks or more. Many unlisted utilities gained in addition to those traded in on the Curb.

PHILHARMONIC MOVES TO STEINWAY HALL

The Philharmonic Society of New York will move its executive offices to the new Steinway Building at 109 to 113 West Fifty-seventh Street as the result of a lease closed yesterday for space on the fifteenth floor of that building. The lease will bring the Philharmonic into the new musical centre of New York, the change in location having been determined by Clarence H. Mackay, Chairman of the board; Frederick A. Juilliard, President, and Marshal Field, Otto H. Kahn, Charles Triller, and Arthur Judson, directors of the society.

The Philharmonic will move from its present offices in the Fiske Building at 250 West Fifty-seventh Street to its new quarters in a few days. At the same time Steinway & Sons will move to their new building from the old Steinway Hall on Fourteenth Street, where they have been located for over half a century.

The lease will give the Philharmonic Society several thousand square feet of space on the Fifty-seventh Street side of the building and was negotiated by Douglas L. Elliman & Co., as brokers. The space will be arranged in suites of offices for the Philharmonic Society, the Stadium Concerts and the Concert Management of Arthur Judson, director of the Philharmonic Society.

The new Steinway building opens with a large list of tenants, including many musicians and artists of international prominence, and several musical societies—the American Orchestral Society, the Studio Guild, National Music League of America, the American Music Guild and the Oratorio Society of New York. Mrs. E. H. Harriman and Mrs. Otto Kahn are among those identified with some of these societies. Several publishing houses have taken offices, including the English firm of Rossey & Co. and Harold Flammer, Inc. The upper portion of the building arranged in offices is leased in large part to attorneys, real estate firms, public accountants, advertisers and publishers.

Russian Soprano Makes Debut.

Isolda Bernhard, a young Russian soprano, introduced herself in a song recital at the Town Hall last night, assisted by Nicholas Voinoff, also a newcomer and a Russian, at the piano. Miss Bernhard, bland and statuesque, was heard in German Lieder, most happily in the measured pronouncement of Schubert's "Litanei" and less so in the lighter "Dedication," by Schumann, where the voice became shrill. She reached familiar ground in airs of Wagner, Debussy, Puccini and Tchaikovsky, where the daughter of a former National Opera director showed her native training. Besides two songs by Mrs. Celeste Heckscher, she added a final group of Russians.

Humbert's Tour Is Postponed.

ROME, May 4.—The Epoca says that the trip of Crown Prince Humbert to Japan will not start before next January, despite previous reports that the Prince would leave Brindisi May 15. This newspaper insists that the plans for the trip, which contemplate the use of three Italian cruisers, have not yet been completed.

MUSIC NOTES.

Miss Tamaki Miura, just back from a season's opera tour, has arranged to give a concert in Aeolian Hall on Wednesday evening, May 13, for the joint benefit of the Japanese Y. M. C. A. Church Institute and the families of victims of the Baikuku Maru disaster.

John Coates, the English tenor recently heard on Shakespeare Day, is to give a second and last song recital at Aeolian Hall on Thursday night of the present week, with a program of English, French and German compositions.

THE SCREEN

By MORDAUNT HALL.

Weber and Fields.

FRIENDLY ENEMIES, with Lew Fields, Joe Weber, Virginia Brown Faire, Jack Mulhall, Lucille Lee Stewart, Stuart Holmes, Eugenie Besserer and others, adapted from the play by Samuel Shipman and Aaron Hoffman, directed by George Melford; "Symphonolay," Mills; La Torteella, dansette; Russian Cathedral Quartette, Paul Tisan and his string ensemble; organ solo, "Gypsy Love Song." At the Colony.

Weber and Fields, the time-honored pair of comedians who possibly hold a record for arousing laughter, are to be seen this week at the Colony in the shadow version of "Friendly Enemies," the play by Samuel Shipman and Aaron Hoffman. It seems as if fashions may change and people may age and pass on, but that Joe Weber and Lew Fields are still holding their own, as their names in electric light signs are this week once again adding to the brightness of the Great White Way.

Mr. Fields as the old native German, Carl Pfeiffer, delivers a memorable performance in this picture. The manner in which he handles the rôle creates a good deal of sympathy for the dilemma in which old Pfeiffer finds himself as the story is unfurled. You see him with tears of rage, tears of anxiety and sorrow dimming his eyes. Mr. Fields is careful in every change of mood and ably portrays the gradual surprise of the old man, who so detests being called "Charlie" by his friendly enemy, Henry Block.

One of the excellent scenes in this production is where Pfeiffer catches his first glimpse of his son, William, in the uniform of a United States Army officer. There is wonder in his eyes and in his resilient face one reads the thoughts of a German father who knows that his son is going to war. In another sequence Pfeiffer is in his office with his stenographer. There is the sound of military bands and the old man goes to the window and instinctively takes off his hat, which act is at once noticed by the frivolous girl. Her grin prompts Pfeiffer to put his hat back on his head. Mr. Weber portrays the shock at hearing that two young relatives have met their death in fighting and one realizes that he is torn between loyalty to his adopted country and love of his native heath.

George Melford, the director, depicts Pfeiffer and Block using the plates and dishes to show their ideas of the war-front, which discussion usually ends in something being broken. Mr. Melford rather overdoes this idea as he gives it a second time in Pfeiffer's home. Block is a banker and Pfeiffer is a successful shoe manufacturer, and young Pfeiffer is in love with June Block. Block is a quiescent type, delighting in enraging Pfeiffer by calling him "Charlie" instead of Carl.

The interest in the story is well-sustained, and while there are certain scenes in which Pfeiffer upholds the actions of the Germans, his ultimate glory in his adopted country atones for his previous actions.

There is Hilda Schwartz, the cashier of the German restaurant to which Pfeiffer and Block go for lunch, who cleverly outwits the Teuton spy, Miller. Pfeiffer wants to end the war and he gives Miller $10,000 with this idea in mind, little thinking that the money is going to be used to blow up a transport aboard which his son, William, is bound for France.

Down in the engine room one sees the emissary of the German spy, which of course strikes one as being at least a little far-fetched. He is followed by Miss Schwartz, who points him out to the Captain. But before he is shot he manages to explode his bomb. Through some extraordinary good fortune Miss Schwartz is saved, and so is William Pfeiffer; hence the plausibility of this story is vulnerable and would not stand a rigorous attack.

Eugenie Besserer is capable as Mrs. Pfeiffer. She is always thoroughly natural when arguing with her fiery husband. Stuart Holmes makes the German spy a little careless, and Pfeiffer appears to be extremely gullible when he believes that Miller can do anything to end the war. It is barely possible that a man like Miller would not have found many persons from whom he could have collected $10,000 with a promise of another check.

One of the finishing touches in this picture is where the parrot shrieks "Hello, Carl," and the former German sympathizer, believing it to have been prompted by old Block, shouts out that he wants to be called "Charlie."

Mr. Weber gives a good performance. He does not have the opportunity Mr. Fields has, as he feeds the latter with action and lines in the subtitles.

Action and Fun.

"The Night Club," with Raymond Griffith, Vera Reynolds, Wallace Beery, Louise Fazenda and others, adapted from the play "After Five," directed by Frank Urson and Paul Iribe; overture, "Twelfth Hungarian Rhapsody"; "Frank Schubert," one of the Famous Music Master series; "The Wonder Book," a color film novelty; "Danse Excentrique," with Rialto ballet. At the Rialto.

At the Rialto this week is a film called "The Night Club," a clever satire on the melodrama of the past. It is capably acted, and ingeniously directed by Paul Iribe and Frank Urson. It kept the audience very merry yesterday afternoon. Raymond Griffith, who did so well in "Forty Winks," figures in the leading male rôle, being capably supported by Vera Reynolds and Wallace Beery.

Mr. Griffith is not idle long in this production as he not only has to climb trees and put himself in danger of the buzz-saw, but he also has to ride a bull which escaped from a bull-fighting ring, and then steer an automobile which is speeding down hill backwards, with the blood-thirsty Diablo tearing after him. So as one might imagine there is plenty of action in this picture.

The opening scene depicts the interior of a church and Robert White (Raymond Griffith) about to be married. At the psychological moment a man bursts into the church and yells out the name of the bride-to-be. She flys over to the new man, and soon announces that she had believed him dead. This interrupted marriage makes Mr. White a woman-hater. He never wants to see or hear from a woman again, but as luck will have it, an avuncular relative bequeaths Mr. White $1,000,000 and his valet, provided the nephew marries Edith Henderson. Mr. White is even opposed to the idea despite its reward. But when he sets eyes on the lithe Edith he thinks of little else but marrying her. Through hearing White say something about the $1,000,000 Edith pretends that he wants the money and not her. White insists that she is wrong and that he will even commit suicide to please her. The valet, who always wears black gloves, disturbs White in an attempt at suicide—getting killed by the more or less uncomfortable means of permitting a buzz-saw to cut him in twain. The valet says White's suicide will mean that the money will go to charity, but admits that the girl will inherit it if somebody kills White. So one is treated to the whimsical idea of White making desperate love to Carmen, Diablo's special beauty. Diablo is a man of many murders.

There are so many amusing scenes in this production that it is difficult to decide which are the best. As soon as one picks out a sequence, then it seems as if another stretch were really funnier.

While White is endeavoring to keep away from women, he goes to the seashore, and about fifteen attractive girls in neat but not gaudy bathing suits appear from one of the European bathing houses. They follow him to the hotel and there is a rumpus when his tactless valet gives the girls information.

Mr. Griffith is admirable in this satiric farce. His gaze tells much to the audience. Miss Reynolds is attractive as the energetic heroine, and Wallace Beery makes his villainy better and blacker. He is, however, foiled in this story, and therefore has no extra blood on his hands. Louise Fazenda, as the willful and flirtatious Carmen, who has her own little way of getting even with the hero.

Why this picture was called "The Night Club" will puzzle everybody. It was translated to the screen from a play entitled "After Five." But what's in a movie name?

PRODUCING MANAGERS BODY WOULD DISSOLVE

Application for Court Order Follows Split Over Actors' Equity —Have $185,059 Assets.

The Producing Managers' Association, which ceased to function last Spring when an irreconcilable difference of opinion as to the proper managerial attitude toward the Actors' Equity Association was revealed, yesterday applied to Supreme Court Justice Guy for an order of dissolution. The application was made by John L. Golden, Sam H. Harris, Arthur Hopkins, Benjamin F. Roeder, Henry W. Savage, L. Lawrence Weber and Al H. Woods, a list of names which includes representatives of the two factions in the association.

The application decided upon by the directors at a meeting on Oct. 20 last was made, it is said, "because there are differences of opinion and lack of harmony among the directors and the objects and purposes for which the corporation was realized cannot now be achieved because of the aforesaid conditions."

The organization has assets of $286,068, having a present value of $185,059 and liabilities of $16,910, of which $11,000 is due to Augustus Thomas, Executive Chairman, for salary with the balance owing for legal services.

The split in the organization, which has led to the application for dissolution, followed upon an agreement between the Shuberts and their allies leading to a renewal of the managerial contract with Equity. A number of the producers who refused to follow the Shubert lead have since made agreements with Equity whereby they produce as independent managers. The Shubert group is now organized as the Managers' Protective Association.

Justice Guy signed an order returnable June 22.

Week's Tourney Begins at Wallack's With Local Groups—Lighthouse Players Compete.

For the third successive year a small percentage of the various little theatre bodies that dot the country are being given the opportunity to exhibit their talents competitively on Broadway The Little Theatre Tournament, as it is styled, began its week last night at Wallack's Theatre with the presentation of three interesting productions, and will continue to offer new programs nightly until Saturday, when the winning group will be rewarded with a Belasco cup.

Augustus Thomas, in formally starting the tournament last night, spoke of the 500 little theatre organizations in the country, so it is obvious that even the present competition is but scratching the surface. Three local groups came forward with offerings last night—Our Lady of Mercy Players of Fordham in "I Did But Jest," by Godfrey Schmidt; the Lighthouse Players of Manhattan in "For Distinguished Service," by Florence Clay Knox, and the Adelphia College Dramatic Association of Brooklyn in Edna St. Vincent Millay's "Aria Da Capo."

Of these, the production of the Lighthouse Players took on particular interest by reason of the fact that its three players—Mary Bierman, Lillian Hillman and Ruth Askenas—all were blind. The play proved to be an engaging comedy, well played. The audience also derived great enjoyment from Miss Millay's fantasy, made familiar here originally by the Provincetown Players. In this the rôle of Pierrot was excellently played by Alma Rochford.

MUSIC WEEK CONTESTS.

25 Boys and Girls Called to Town Hall for Violin Tryouts.

Twenty-five boy and girl violinists were called in the gold medal contests for Music Week honors yesterday afternoon at the Town Hall. As many as nineteen actually arrived with bodyguards of parents, guardians and friends and were heard by the judges at intervals from 2:15 to 7:30 o'clock. The interborough try-outs will last through the week till the final awards are made.

Madeleine MacGulgan, Eleanor Shaw and Robert Armbruster assisted Franklin Dunham in a Music Week concert given by the Aeolian Company last evening at Aeolian Hall.

Music Week events filled several downtown halls yesterday, one of the largest audiences greeting the American Orchestral Society's matinee at Wanamekr's, with Chalmers Clifton conducting and Charles M. Courboin at the organ. Mr. Courboin's performance of Gigout's "Grand Chorus Dialogue" for the first time in its orchestral version was heartily applauded. He also played Handel's D-minor concerto, and Mr. Clifton conducted Beethoven's third "Leonore," Lalo's "Roi d'Ys" overture and Tchaikovsky's "Romeo and Juliet."

THEATRICAL NOTES.

"Roamersholm" will open at the Fifty-second Street Theatre tonight.

Carl Reed's announcement of the engagement of Henry Hull for next season is denied by Kilbourn Gordon. Mr. Hull, according to Mr. Gordon, will be seen under his management in a play entitled "Trouble Island."

"Women and Ladies," with Ruth Chatterton as its star, opened last night in Washington. The play has been adapted from the French by Cosmo Hamilton.

"Cousin Sonia," from the French of Louis Verneuil, went into rehearsal yesterday with Marguerita Sylva in the leading role.

"The Back Slapper" will move from the Hudson to a Broadway house next week, and it is probable that "Queen Mab" will come to the Hudson. Hale Hamilton will head a coast company in "The Back Slapper" this Summer.

John Barrymore is aboard the Olympic, docking tomorrow.

"Mrs. Partridge Presents" will end its run at the Belmont this week.

There will be a benefit performance in aid of the Catholic Writers' Guild at the Sam H. Harris Theatre next Sunday night. A long list of well-known players will take part.

The Institute Players, the senior dramatic group of the Central Jewish Institute, will present its second bill this season of one-act plays at the institute on May 9 and 10.

Another musical show by William B. Friedlander and Con Conrad is planned for early production by L. Lawrence Weber.

"Tapo" closes Saturday night at the Broadhurst Theatre.

GET $760,000 FOR CLUB.

Drive for $3,000,000 Women's Building Fund Extended to May 18.

More than a thousand women who are selling $3,000,000 in stock to build the new nineteen-story club building of the American Woman's Association, attended a meeting last night at the Hotel Roosevelt. Miss Robinson Smith, the President, reported sales of $760,000 during the drive up to 5 o'clock.

Miss Anne Morgan, Treasurer, made a stirring address to spur the workers on to their goal. The report of two captains whose teams have gone over their quota was applauded. They were Helen Diller, whose team has gone over $35,000 in sales, and Sophie Brenner, whose team reported $28,000. Mary L. Glass, a woman engineer, reported sales by her team amounting to about $30,000.

It was announced that the campaign has been extended to May 18, and that after the end of this week the drive will be free-for-all for the sales force.

An interesting feature of the meeting was the showing of a new Miss Robinson Crusoe dress designed by Marion Stehlik. This trademark has been registered, and very shortly there will not only be Miss Robinson Crusoe frocks on the market, but hats and wraps, from the sale of which the association will benefit. Miss Robinson Crusoe cigarettes already are being sold.

"SUN UP" GIVEN IN LONDON.

Copyright, 1925, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 5.—Critics give great praise to Lulu Volmer's play "Sun Up," produced at the Vaudeville Theatre last night with an American cast. The play is well written and receives much commendation, but most to the tributes go to Lucille Laverne who, in the rôle of the Widow Cagle, held the audience by a piece of the most thrilling and intense acting seen here in a long while.

FUND TO REPAIR TOMB OF GREAT TURKISH WIT

American Would Keep Green Memory of Khoja Nasreddin, Hero of Many Stories.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 4.—Mr. Crane, an American, who recently returned from a tour of Anatolia, has offered a sum of money for the repair of the tomb of Khoja Nasreddin, famous Turkish wag and humorist who flourished at the beginning of the fifteenth century, at Konia.

The tomb of the Khoja Nasreddin, in the middle of a field at Ak Shehir in the vilayet of Konia, is a small domed building, partly open at the sides. Under the dome hangs an enormous green turban, about the size of an umbrella, which the Khoja wore in his lifetime. A small hole is left in the masonry of his grave, as he insisted on having a window through which he could look out on the world.

Even in his funeral arrangements he carried out his humorous tactics, for a slab which bears his name carries the date of his death as 1396 A. H., equivalent to about 1988 A. D. in the Christian calendar.

In his stories, which are still current in Turkey, the Khoja is represented as a stout man with enormous spectacles, riding on a donkey and carrying the saddlebags on his shoulders, as he is said to have done on one occasion from a well-intentioned desire to relieve the beast of their weight.

As a typical example of his wit it is related by Sir Charles Eliot that on one occasion Nasreddin's fellow-villagers insisted on his preaching a sermon in the mosque, though he had not any oratorical gift.

Much against his will he entered the pulpit, and, looking over the congregation, asked in despair:

"Oh, true believers, do you know what I am going to say to you?" The answer was naturally "No."

"Well, I am sure I don't," he replied, and then hurriedly left the pulpit.

The following week he was again forced into the pulpit and he asked the same question.

The answer this time was "Yes."

"Then," he replied, "If you do know, I need not tell you."

Determined to make him preach, the villagers the next week had him in the pulpit again, and when he asked the question for the third time they replied, "Some do and some don't."

"Well, then," he said, "Let those of you who know tell those who don't."

On another occasion, Sir Charles tells, the Khoja was sleeping on the veranda on account of the warmth of the night. He awoke suddenly, and saw what he took to be a robber, dressed in white, climbing over the garden wall.

He seized his bow and sent an arrow straight through the imaginary intruder. On examination he found that the white object was one of his own night shirts which his wife had washed and then hung on the garden wall to dry.

The Khoja then began to call out loudly, "Praise be to Allah!" and other religious exclamations. The noise awakened his neighbors, who mistook his remarks for the morning call to prayer. When they found it still wanted several hours to sunrise they indignantly demanded the meaning of the untimely piety.

"I was thanking Allah," he said, "that I was not inside my shirt when I shot the arrow through it."

KFKX Day Radio Heard 10,000 Miles

HASTINGS, Neb., May 4.—Daylight reception of a radio program from Station KFKX, Hastings, at Johannesburg, South Africa, nearly 10,000 miles away, has been acknowledged to Lloyd C. Thomas, director of the station. A letter, which has been en route from Africa since March, was sent to the station by G. Galbraith, accompanied by a log of the program, which he said came through "clear," although in broad daylight. There was not much fading, the letter said. The station has a power output of 1,500 watts.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Advance in Stocks Continues, Irregularly Distributed—Sterling Goes to Highest of Year.

The gradual but general advance of prices, which began on the Stock Exchange last Friday, continued at a moderate pace yesterday and total transactions, running well beyond the million-share mark, reached the highest figure in nearly a fortnight. Speculative buying for the rise as well as purchases to close out speculative "bear accounts" were plainly in evidence, but with no sign of large participation by the investing public. The presence of such non-professional support has been conditioned by most observers on some favorable turn in the financial or industrial situation, distinct enough to impress the imagination. Unless the announcements of European gold resumption are to be so regarded, the stimulus would still seem to be lacking.

It is never possible to be sure just how far such an event as the formal return of England and Holland to the gold standard will serve the purpose. The importance of last week's developments to the longer economic future are unquestionably very great, but it is not so easy, either in Europe's markets or our own, to foresee the immediate consequences. The London Stock Exchange is evidently watching results with divided feelings; its action has not thus far been of a kind that can be described as enthusiastic. London, however, is taking account primarily of its own money market as a factor in maintaining gold resumption, and of the course of England's foreign trade. Yesterday's London money rates showed a slight upward tendency. The cabled statement of our ocean trade with Great Britain during March gave the smallest monthly surplus of exports since September. This is explainable by the substantially decreased takings of breadstuffs from this country; but even so, the export surplus is $16,000,000 greater than in March of 1924. On the other hand, sterling exchange rose yesterday to the high point of the year; it reached $4.84¼ or ⅛ cent above the previous maximum on the present movement. This rate apparently made withdrawal of gold from the Bank of England for export less profitable, and none was announced as taken yesterday. But the rate is still close to the normal "gold-export point" at London.

The day's advance on the New York Stock Exchange was irregularly distributed; most of the changes being fractional except in stocks in which speculative sellers have recently been active. Several shares of this description rose 2 or 3 points. The call money market was easy at the 3½ per cent. rate, and wheat sold up to the highest price since the last week of March; the day's best price for May delivery showing recovery of 26¾ cents from the low point of last month.

The first of the monthly "index numbers" of average commodity prices at the beginning of May, as given out yesterday by Dun's Review, showed a decrease of a little more than ½ of 1 per cent. during April in the general average, and if the advance of about 3¾ per cent. in the breadstuffs group is eliminated, the decline would be 1¾ per cent. From the present year's highest point, reached on Feb. 1, the general decline works out 5½ per cent., which is reasonably close to the 6 per cent. decline from the highest recent average shown by The London Economist's index number of last Saturday.

It is not easy to make exact comparisons and draw exact deductions, especially when the British index number, as reckoned for May 1, is 77½ per cent. above Aug. 1, 1924, while the increase in our own is not more than 60 per cent. In a measure, this discrepancy is probably due to different methods of computation. But the inferences are likely to be that at the moment prices in the world-market are receding slowly and that, so far as concerns England, the downward readjustment which might logically have been caused by reversion from depreciated money to the gold standard had occurred in an anticipative way before gold resumption was announced.

MONEY.

MONDAY, MAY 4, 1925.

Stock Exchange call money market was quiet, moderate calling and light demand for fresh accommodation bringing decline to 3½ per cent. from opening and renewal charge at 4 per cent. A small amount was placed in the outside market at 3, but not a great deal. Fixed period market was featured by 60-90 days' going at 3¾ per cent., as previously, 4-6 months being quoted 3¾@4 per cent., but not so very much was made in these distant maturities. Merchants' notes and acceptances continued dull and unchanged in discount.

GENERAL MOTORS PROFIT DECREASED

More Favorable Showing Being Made in the Current Quarter, the Company Reports.

Earnings of the General Motors Corporation for the first quarter of 1925 show a falling off compared with the same period last year, both from the standpoint of gross income from sales and net profit available for the capital stock. After all deductions and allowing for dividends on the preferred stock the company yesterday reported a balance equal to $3.08 a share earned on the 5,161,529 shares of common stock outstanding. This compares with $3.42 a share on the common stock in the same period last year. The company, however, states that earnings for the current quarter will make a much more favorable showing than those for the first three months of the year.

The chief items in the statement submitted to stockholders yesterday covering the first quarters of 1925 and 1924 follow:

Sales of cars to dealers, units	155,432	215,550
Dealers' sales to users, units	135,883	140,786
Net sales value	$143,971,744	$178,048,259
Net after taxes	17,811,239	19,400,956
Earned on common stock	15,900,879	17,869,687
Dividends paid, all issues	9,652,162	7,924,143
Profit and loss surplus	80,370,006	132,178,113

In its official statement to stockholders the company says:

"From the above comparative figures it will be noted that sales to dealers in the first quarter of 1925 were substantially 20,000 cars in excess of sales to users, whereas in the first quarter of 1924 such excess was substantially 75,000. This was occasioned by the corporation's production policy adopted a year ago of keeping its manufacturing program in close harmony with the trend of sales to consumers. It is evident, therefore, that the corporation enters the second quarter of the year, which is the period of heaviest retail demand, with subnormal stocks. In the corresponding period last year stocks in the field were excessive, necessitating a greatly curtailed production schedule.

"Both sales to dealers and sales to users have been influenced by the fact that the Chevrolet division introduced a new model at the beginning of the year, and, as is usual with the introduction of a new model, it was impossible to bring production up to the point of meeting sales demand during this period. The Chevrolet division is now running at capacity, and is even under those circumstances unable to closely meet the demand for the new model.

"The corporation's sales for the second quarter will be substantially in excess of sales for the first quarter, and this will, of course, reflect like improvement in earnings.

"Cash and Government securities aggregated $100,916,156 as of March 31, 1925, and has at this date increased to approximately $125,000,000, and compares with $29,380,901 as of March 31 last, at which time the corporation had $15,000,000 in bank loans outstanding, whereas at the present time it has no indebtedness whatever except its current accounts payable."

DEFENDS PUBLIC UTILITIES.

Fiske Warns Policy Holders Against Attacks by Public Officials.

Haley Fiske, President of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, has written a letter to policy holders asking them to defend public utility companies against attack by public officials.

"The Metropolitan owns over $75,000,000 of the securities of electric light and power companies," the letter says. "When one of these companies is unfairly treated it is the people of the community, the voters and their dependents, who suffer. It is their savings that are depleted.

"The ownership of the electric light and power companies is now in the hands of more than 2,000,000 direct investors in public utility stocks and indirectly in the hands of millions more of bank depositors and holders of life insurance policies through their ownership of public utility bonds. This is the people's ownership under public regulation, and as such should be defended against assault from those who would wantonly destroy public utility investment values."

Crowley Back From Inspection Trip.

Patrick H. Crowley, President of the New York Central, has returned with other officials and directors of the road from an inspection trip. Samuel Rea, head of the Pennsylvania, and Daniel Willard, the chief executive of the Baltimore & Ohio, were also in the city yesterday.

BYRNE CREDITORS WILL BE PAID SOON

Checks for 30 Per Cent. of Non-Preferred Claims Are Being Prepared.

QUESTION OF KRESGE LOAN

If $800,000 Placed in Brokerage Is Distributable Creditors Will Be Reimbursed Almost in Full.

A. Bruce Bielaski, 120 Broadway, formerly receiver and now trustee of the bankrupt Stock Exchange firm of J. M. Byrne & Co., which failed last Summer, will mail checks within the next few days to all general creditors amounting to 30 per cent. of their claims. The payment has been authorized by the Court and is the first to the general creditors. Further payments are expected to be made soon.

The accounts of the firm are understood to have been generally liquidated but there are certain items which must be definitely established before a final settlement can be made. If these items are settled in favor of the creditors payment of all claims almost in full may be expected.

One claim in question is that of a personal loan of $800,000 made to J. M. Byrne, senior partner of the Stock Exchange firm by S. S. Kresge. This item appears on the books as a personal loan from Mr. Kresge and according to those interested in liquidating the affairs of the defunct organization represents just so much more capital that Mr. Byrne put into his firm. So far as could be learned yesterday Mr. Kresge has as yet made no claim against the firm for this amount, but if such a claim is filed it was intimated that the matter would be contested by the parties representing the interests of the general and preferred creditors.

The status of this loan, it was pointed out in responsible quarters yesterday, will play a considerable part in the final settlement. If the loan is allowed, and Mr. Kresge can claim this amount due him from the general fund, the general creditors, it was stated, will receive only about 50 to 60 per cent. of their total claims. If a claim is filed, however, and disallowed the creditors, it was said, could expect between 90 and 100 per cent. of their full claims, or virtually all their claim minus the cost of liquidating the brokerage. The trustee, it is understood, has an amount set aside sufficient to cover the entire amount of the loan.

It also was stated yesterday that a special reserve has been set up to cover all claims of preferred creditors in full. There is a total of about 150 preferred creditors, and claims covering about 110 of these have been reviewed and sustained. The balance are expected to be reviewed soon, and when the review has been completed it is expected that checks will be drawn with little delay against the reserve.

The amount in hand to cover the first payment of 30 per cent. to general creditors, and the reserve set aside for the preferred creditors and the Kresge loan, it was stated yesterday, do not include about $1,200,000 par value of the notes of the Middle States Oil Company, which the Byrne firm held when it suspended. The value of these notes is purely conjectural, in view of the fact that the oil company now is in the hands of receivers. The collapse of the speculative pool which operated in the stock of the Southern States Oil Company, about eighteen months ago, and the subsequent receivership of the Middle States Oil Company was said at the time to have been chiefly responsible for the financial difficulties of J. M. Byrne & Co.

FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS

Downward Trend at Both Paris and London—Sterling Higher.

LONDON, May 4.—High grade securities were easy on the Stock Exchange today. Oil shares moved irregularly, while British industrials were weak. Old 2½ per cent. consols ⅝ lower at 56⅝; British 5 per cent. war loan unchanged at 100; 4½ per cent. war loan ⅛ lower at 95¼.

De Beers Mining ⅜ higher at 11⅝; Rand Mines unchanged at 3½.

PARIS, May 4.—Prices were heavy on the Bourse today. Three per cent. rentes unchanged at 45 francs; 5 per cent. war loan 10 centimes lower at 94 francs 75 centimes.

Exchange on London 32 centimes higher at 92 francs 70 centimes. The American dollar was quoted at 19 francs 12½ centimes, against 19 francs 5 centimes, Friday.

GOLD SENT TO GERMANY.

Federal Reserve Bank Shipped $2,500,000 to the Reichsbank.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York yesterday announced the shipment of $2,500,000 in gold to the German Reichsbank, as part of the German credit recently obtained in this country. This makes a total of $32,000,000 of gold shipped to Germany on the present movement.

The Reserve Bank also announced the withdrawal of $4,031,000 by member banks, scheduled for today.

Clarkson Potter on Bankers' Board.

The Investment Bankers' Association of America, at its meeting at White Sulphur Springs, elected Clarkson Potter of W. R. Compton Company as a member of its board of governors, it was learned here yesterday. Mr. Potter succeeds Pierpont V. Davis of the National City Company.

MARKET AVERAGES.

Dealings were discontinued yesterday in the American Car and Foundry original shares, making necessary a change in the list of stocks from which THE NEW YORK TIMES Stock Market Averages are computed. In addition to that stock Crucible Steel was taken out and Federal Light and Traction and International Harvester submitted on the basis of the closing prices of Saturday last, thereby maintaining the parity of the averages.

Crude Rubber at New High.

Market for crude rubber yesterday advanced to new high levels for the present movement for the principal grades, advances running from 1 to 1¾ cents per pound. Spot ribbed smoked sheet crude at 47 cents; brown crepe thin clean at 46 cents, and amber No. 2, at 46½ cents, showed gains of 1¾ cents, while fine up-river Para at 38 cents was 1 cent higher.

Strength was due to increased buying orders by smaller manufacturers, while holders maintained a firm position. Actual business, however, was limited.

Franklin Simon & Co. Dividend.

The Board of Directors of Franklin Simon & Co. declared the regular quarterly dividend yesterday of $1.75 per share on the preferred stock, payable June 1 to stockholders of record May 18.

CONFER ON DODGE STOCK.

Bankers Plan to Divide Common From Preferred for Trading.

Members of the banking syndicate which purchased Dodge Bros. Company said yesterday that conferences were being held daily with reference to separating the preference from the Class A shares, in order that each class may be dealt in separately on the New York Stock Exchange.

A decision was not reached yesterday, but it is expected that formal announcement of such a change in the trading will be made before the end of the week. The preference shares are now quoted as a unit with one share of common. It is planned to make a market for both the preference and Class A shares individually.

American Hide Earnings Rise.

The statement of earnings of the American Hide and Leather Company, for the first quarter of 1925, shows a profit of $253,500, against $200,588 in the same period a year ago.

Monthly Principal Payments	Commencing with November 6, 1927, and on the sixth day of every month thereafter the bonds mature at the rate of $7,000 to $10,000 monthly, retiring a total of $1,004,000 by March 6, 1937, the balance of $2,096,000 (less than 44% of the appraised security) being due and payable April 6, 1937.

Security: The bonds are secured by a closed first mortgage on the land (approximately 20 acres) owned in fee and 3 nine story and basement, fireproof housekeeping apartment buildings under construction, together with garage for the accommodation of 300 automobiles. The group of buildings will contain approximately 270 apartments of 3, 4, 5 and 6 rooms each.

Location: The natural beauty of this vast property gives it a park-like seclusion presenting an individual character unparalleled in any other metropolitan centre. Within a short distance is the Chelton Avenue Germantown Station of the Chestnut Hill electrified branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad—about 15 minutes by express to Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

Estimated Earnings: Allowing 10% for vacancies and after deducting operating and maintenance expenses, the net annual earnings are estimated at more than 2.8 times the heaviest annual interest charge on the entire bond issue.

Management: This property will be managed and operated by the same organization controlling the successful Alden Park Manor of Detroit, built in 1921, and the Alden Park Manor of Brookline, Mass., recently completed.

Price: Par and accrued interest to yield 6½% for all maturities excepting Nov. 6 and Dec. 6, 1927 and Jan. 6 to Oct. 6 (inclusive) 1928 which are offered at a price to net 6%.

PACIFIC OIL SHOWS GAIN IN 1924 REPORT

Company Earns $3.40 a Share on Capital Stock, Against $2.25 in 1923.

President Shoup Tells Stockholders Output Cut and Better Demand Increased Prices.

The statement of the Pacific Oil Company for 1924 shows substantial gains in gross earnings and net profit compared with the previous year, according to the official pamphlet report submitted to stockholders yesterday by Paul Shoup, President. After all deductions, including reserves for depreciation, depletion and Federal taxes, the company reported a balance equal to $3.40 a share earned on the 3,500,000 shares of capital stock outstanding. This compares with $2.25 in 1923.

The general balance sheet shows net current assets valued at $10,535,201 and net current liabilities of $6,113,507, leaving the company working capital of $9,321,784. At the close of 1923 the company reported current assets of $11,561,974, current liabilities of $7,106,972, and net working capital of $4,464,004. On Dec. 31, 1924, there was a profit and loss surplus of $13,099,999, against $8,448,870 at the end of the previous year.

Gross earnings	$23,449,932	$19,576,001
Oper. expenses	9,481,241	8,806,340
Ord. taxes	1,161,148	1,263,900
Profit	$12,466,443	$9,835,761
Other income	3,230,978	2,564,045
Depr. and dpl. res.	2,133,850	2,004,579
Federal tax reserve	669,806	557,116
Net profit	$11,893,765	$8,938,111
Dividends	7,000,000	7,000,000

Commenting upon conditions in the California oil field in general, Mr. Shoup, in his statement to stockholders, in part said:

"The unusual production in Southern California incident to the development of the Santa Fe Springs, Huntington Beach and Signal Hill fields at substantially the same time has passed the flush period, and the later developments of Torrance and Rosecrans and Dominguez fields discoveries do not offset decreases in the older fields. There have been no discoveries in other sections of California increasing production in a material way. As a result there has been a steady diminution in the output during the last year, the average daily production for January, 1924, being 674,597 barrels, and for January, 1925, 604,622 barrels, a decrease of 69,975 barrels per day. As a result the base price of $1 per barrel effective Feb. 5, 1924, is at this writing, April 16, 1925, increased to $1.25 per barrel, with large increase for oils of lighter gravities."

Commenting upon earnings and expenses, Mr. Shoup said:

"The increase in gross earnings is due principally to increase in market price of oil. During the entire year 1923 the base field price for crude oil (of gravity ranging from 14 to 17.9 degrees Baumé) at the wells was 60 cents per barrel. On Jan. 22, 1924, this base price was increased to 85 cents per barrel, and on Feb. 5, 1924, to $1 per barrel.

"These increases were due partly to decrease in the production in the Southern California oil fields and partly to an increase in demand. The production for the State of California during the year 1924 showed a decrease of 12.77 per cent. over that for the year 1923; the State's production for the year 1923 showed an increase of 88.88 per cent. over that of 1922. The production in December, 1924, was 19,795,126 barrels, in December, 1923, 21,990,247 barrels."

TO GIVE NOTES FOR BONDS.

Columbia Gas & Electric Announces Exchange Terms.

Holders of the first mortgage 5 per cent. bonds, due 1927, of the Columbia Gas and Electric Company have received the right to exchange their holdings in amounts aggregating $1,000 or multiples thereof for an equal amount of Columbia Gas and Electric three-year 5 per cent. gold notes issued under its trust indenture to the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, the trustee, plus a cash payment to the bondholder of $10 per $1,000 bond exchanged. Accrued interest will be adjusted.

The holders of the mortgage bonds thus receive an equal principal amount of the three-year 5 per cent. notes and a cash payment of $26.67 per $1,000 bond, this being the adjustment of the respective prices and the accrued interest on the two issues. The notes are part of an authorized issue of $25,000,000, of which $10,000,000 have recently been sold to the public at par and yielding 5 per cent.

MORE CARS IN BAD ORDER.

Total of 190,165 Reported on April 15 to Railway Association.

Freight cars in need of repair on April 15 totaled 190,165, or 8.2 per cent. of the number on line, according to reports filed yesterday with the Car Service Division of the American Railway Association. This is an increase of 8,748 over the number reported on April 1, when there were 186,417, or 8.1 per cent.

Freight cars in need of heavy repair on April 15 totaled 144,874, or 6.2 per cent., an increase of 1,545 compared with April 1. Freight cars in need of light repair totaled 45,291, or 1.9 per cent., an increase of 2,203 compared with April 1.

Receivers for a Windowglass Co.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., May 4.—V. L. Highland, Clarksburg banker, and R. A. Hill of Kane, Pa, have been named receivers for the Interstate Windowglass Company, a West Virginia corporation, it became known today, due to the inability to market its products "without making a big sacrifice." The company owns ten plants at Clarksburg, Weston and Huntington, W. Va.; Kane, Mount Jewett and Smethport, Pa.; Okmulgee, Okla., and Lancaster, Ohio. The bankruptcy petition lists as outstanding 55,846 shares of no par stock, 27,374 7of 7 per cent. preferred, par 2,734,400; first mortgage 8 per cent. bonds, $2,221,500 and 375,000 boxes of window glass, $1,350,000. Cash on hand was given as $80,000.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

Violent Rise in Norwegian Krone Features—Danish Strong—Sterling at New High.

The strongest spot in the foreign exchange market yesterday was the Norwegian krone, the rate on Oslo rising 27 points to 16.91 cents, a year's high. The buying was principally for speculative account, London starting it with cables which came 10 points over Saturday's final, followed in by local bank purchases which sent the rate ahead with as much as 3 points intervening sales. The Danish unit was another to flash a new high, moving up 10 points to 18.82 cents, but the Swedish krona was steady at 26.76 cents.

Spanish exchange also fell heir to the mad rush of speculators for the neutral exchanges since the plan to lift sterling to par was announced, heavy purchases of the pesetas accounting for a rise of 9⅛ points to 14.63⅛ cents. French, Italian, Belgian, Holland and Swiss exchanges were only moderately active and at levels slightly changed from last Saturday.

Sterling touched another new high for a period of ten years, when it crept up slowly and steadily to $4.84⅞, for checks, a week-end gain of 9-16 cent. Although big amounts were taken up, some of it by commercials, it was the obvious support of the bill by prominent bankers which sent it forward.

Chinese exchanges closed strong in a market that was featured by some buying by Far Eastern speculators, both Peking and Shanghai closing at moderate gains after selling by London in the early market caused an initial depression.

CUT DIVIDEND IN HALF.

Pacific Mills Directors Place Stock on a $2 Annual Basis.

Directors of the Pacific Mills at their meeting yesterday cut in half the quarterly dividend payments on the company's capital stock. A dividend of 75 cents a share was declared, thus placing the stock on a $3 annual dividend basis, which compares with previous payments at the rate of $6 a share annually. The company's net profit for the first quarter of 1925 approximated $461,000, equal to $1.15 a share on the 400,000 shares of capital stock outstanding.

Directors of Franklin Simon & Co. have declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on the outstanding preferred stock payable June 1 to stockholders of record May 15.

UTILITIES STOCK ON SALE.

7,000 Shares of Central Illinois Public Service Co. Offered.

W. C. Langley & Co. of New York and the Old Colony Trust Company of Boston are offering today 7,000 shares of Central Illinois Public Service Company cumulative preferred stock. The stock is offered at $96 a share and accrued dividend to yield over 6.80 per cent.

The outstanding common stock of the Illinois Company is owned or controlled by the Middle West Utilities Company of which Samuel Insull is chairman and Martin J. Insull is President. Its gross revenues increased in the period from 1912 to 1924, inclusive, over 1,500 per cent. and the number of customers 564 per cent.

AMERICAN RAYON STOCK ALL SOLD

TO BE TRADED IN ON CURB

Products Corporation Organized to Take Over Knitting Mills in Three States.

Bonner, Brooks & Co. announced yesterday that the books had been closed two days in advance of the date of public announcement on an issue of 50,000 shares of the capital stock of the American Rayon Products Corporation, offered at $22 per share. Public advertisement of the offering will be made tomorrow and the stock will be traded in on the New York Curb on Thursday. Application will later be made to list the shares on the Stock Exchange. The bankers said that the issue had been fifteen times oversubscribed.

The American Rayon Products Corporation, incorporated in Delaware, has been organized to take over the business of the following companies: Knitted Textiles Corporation, Banner Silk Knitting Mills, Vary Knit Company, Elitex Knitting Mills, Atlas Knitting Mills, Artalik Knitting Mills and Crystal Mills. The plants of the consolidated companies are located in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

I. Rogosin is President of the company and Edward Nufer Vice President. The board will be composed of men who were formerly officials of the various companies. The corporation will have a total capitalization of 110,000 shares of common stock, with no obligations preceding the stock.

In announcement of the oversubscription of the stock Bonner, Brooks & Co. stated that after giving effect to the present financing the net tangible assets of the corporation amount to $3,098,169, giving the stock a book value in excess of $28 per share. In 1924 the net earnings of the combined companies was $453,129, and over a period of three years they have averaged $400,539.

"It is conservatively estimated," said the statement, "based upon net earnings for the first quarter of the year, that the corporation will earn more than $6 per share for the year 1925. The directors of the corporation have signified their intention of placing the stock on an annual dividend basis of $2 per share, payable quarterly, beginning August, 1925."

The bankers point ou that rayon, better known as artificial silk, has shown tremendous development during the last few years and that it now ranks third in production among the textiles of the world. Production last year exceeded that of natural silk by more than 10,000,000 pounds.

DECLINE IN AVERAGE PRICES DURING APRIL

Decrease Slightly Over One-half of 1%, but Advance 3¾% in Breadstuffs.

The index number of average commodity prices as of May 1, given out yesterday by Dun's Review, shows decrease during March in the general average of six-tenths of 1 per cent. and a decrease of 5½ per cent. from the year's high average of Feb. 1. Compared with the lowest monthly average of last year, reached on June 1, the present average shows an advance of 5½ per cent. It is 20½ per cent. above the average of July 1, 1921, the low point of after-war deflation, but 26½ per cent. below that of May 1, 1920, the highest since the war. Compared with the index number of Aug. 1, 1914, the present average shows an advance of almost exactly 60 per cent.

Of the seven groups of commodities classified in the Dun report, only one showed advance during April. This was the breadstuffs group, for which the present average is 3¾ per cent. above that of a month ago, but 15⅝ per cent. below that reported for the beginning of last March.

The following table, giving a record of Dun's index number for a series of months and years, shows the course of the movement:

TO SELL $10,000,000 CITIES SERVICE ISSUE

Bankers to Offer Refunding Bonds at 91 to Yield About 6.65%.

$3,750,000 TERMINAL LOAN

Detroit Company's 6½% Securities Marketed at Par—$1,000,000 for California.

Public offering will be made tomorrow of an issue of $10,000,000 of Cities Service Company refunding 6 per cent. gold debenture bonds through an underwriting group consisting of A. B. Leach & Co., Inc., the Federal Securities Corporation, H. M. Byllesby & Co., Inc., and the Pearson-Taft Company of Chicago. The bonds are due Jan. 1, 1950, and are priced at 91 and interest, to yield about 6.65 per cent.

The financing, the largest announced yesterday in the field of new issues, is in connection with the Cities Service Company's plan to retire this year $10,000,000 or more of its own convertible debentures and funded debt of its subsidiaries, and outstanding as of Jan. 1, 1925.

The Cities Service Company owns directly or indirectly a majority of the common stocks of more than sixty public utilities, comprising electric light and power, manufactured and natural gas, heat, water and street railway companies. In addition it controls forty companies engaged in various phases of the oil business. In connection with this financing, the company reports that for the twelve months ended March 31 last it had after all taxes net earnings of $17,042,531 applicable to debenture interest and reserve, equal to more than six and three-fourths times the annual interest charges on the company's entire funded indebtedness.

A syndicate made up of Howe, Snow & Bertles, Inc., Spencer Trask & Co., the Detroit Company, Inc., Keane, Higbie & Co. and Pierce, Fair & Co. is offering a new issue of $3,750,000 Detroit Terminal and Harbor Company 6½ per cent. first mortgage sinking fund gold bonds, due May 1, 1945. The issue is secured by a direct first mortgage on all the property of the company, which has been appraised at $8,062,050. The bonds are offered at par.

William R. Compton Company, Remick, Hodges & Co. and Barr Brothers & Co. are the members of a syndicate which is offering $1,000,000 State of California 4 per cent. harbor improvement bonds, due July 1, 1969, at a price of 99.50 and interest. The bonds are a direct obligation of the State.

A syndicate headed by the Union Trust Company of Cleveland and including R. V. Mitchell & Co., the Herrick Company and Otis & Co. has placed $1,000,000 of Ohio-Pennsylvania Joint Stock Land Bank 5 per cent. farm loan bonds at the price of 100, and accrued interest, to yield 4.94 per cent. to April 1, 1945, and 5 per cent. thereafter. The issue is dated April 1, 1925.

S. W. Straus & Co. are offering an issue of $2,500,000 first mortgage 6 per cent. sinking fund serial coupon gold bonds of the 680 Sixth Avenue Corporation, secured by the land and a new $3,000,000 business building at the northeast corner of Thirty-ninth Street and Sixth Avenue.

G. L. Miller & Co., Inc., are offering a new $525,000 first mortgage 7 per cent. real estate gold bond issue secured by the Washington-Hall Apartments now in course of completion at 295 Washington Avenue, Brooklyn. The issue will be amortized over a period of two to twelve years. Normal Federal income taxes will be refunded to bondholders paying such taxes up to 4 per cent. and certain State and district taxes will be refunded.

Frederick Southack and Alwyn Ball Jr., Inc., head a syndicate which is offering an issue of $1,125,000 first mortgage 6 per cent. sinking fund gold bonds of the 49 West Thirty-seventh Street Realty Company, Inc. The bonds will be secured by a closed first mortgage on the company's land and completed building, which have been appraised at $1,730,000. The bonds are offered at 100 and accrued interest.

Caldwell & Co. are offering $200,000 Nashville Gas and Heating Company first mortgage 6 per cent. sinking fund gold bonds maturing May 1, 1937. The price is 96½, to yield 5.40 per cent. The bonds are part of an outstanding bonded indebtedness of $2,265,000. They are secured by a first mortgage on assets valued at $5,000,000.

Freeman & Co. and Bond & Goodwin, Inc., announced that the new issue of $1,500,000 National Steel Car Lines Company 5 per cent. equipment trust gold certificates, Series H, offered by them yesterday, had been sold.

Wheeling Steel Profits.

The Wheeling Steel Corporation for the first quarter of 1925 reports net earnings of $2,114,097, after all expenses and Federal tax deductions. After reserves for interest, depreciation and other accounts, net profit of $647,764 was recorded. The net profit, after preferred dividends, was equal to 46 cents a share earned on the 394,444 shares of common stock outstanding.

Natural Gas & Fuel Has 8 New Wells

The Natural Gas and Fuel Company, a producing subsidiary of the Cities Service Company in the Smackover Field, Arkansas, has completed eight wells in the deep sand area. Its production, it was announced yesterday, is running about 15,000 barrels of crude oil a day. The oil is being sold on a flat price basis considerably above the present posted market.

GENERAL ELECTRIC UP.

Shares Advance Despite Renewal of Lamp Trust Allegations.

Despite the allegations made at Washington by Basil M. Manly, who quoted from a letter of Samuel Untermyer in charging that the General Electric Company had been permitted to escape real prosecution in the lamp trust case, shares of General Electric established a new high for the movement yesterday in the trading on the Stock Exchange. Since officers of the company had no comment to make on the revival of the trust charges, primarily because the recent decision at Cleveland had been reached after exhaustive researches, this was the only reaction to the news dispatches published yesterday. Nor did the bankers mentioned in the Untermyer letter make any comment.

The General Electric stock opened and closed at 271 after going to 271¼ in the course of trading. This was a gain for the day of ¾ of a point and marked a continuance of the gains established by the shares last week. The low level for the shares this year was 227¼, reached subsequent to the announcement that the company had segregated its electric bond and share utility holdings.

CHILE COPPER REPORT.

Decline in Operating Profit is Noted in Annual Report.

The annual report of the Chile Copper Co., which is controlled through stock ownership by the Anaconda Copper Mining Co., shows operating revenue of $28,289,015, against $29,911,105 in 1923 and operating profit of $16,476,513, against $17,516,417. After crediting other income and allowing for taxes, interest and reserves for depreciation the company reported a balance of $11,262,927, which was equal to $2.58 a share earned on the $100,776,500 capital stock of $25 a share par value outstanding. In the previous year, after similar deductions, the company reported a balance of $14,721,264, equal to $3.35 a share earned on the capital stock.

The Chile Copper Co. is one of the largest of the low-cost producing companies. In 1924 the company produced 212,325,972 pounds of electrolytic copper, which was delivered at a cost of 7.992 cents a pound including depreciation, 6 cents a pound including charges but not including depletion reserves.

TALKS ON TRACTION DEAL.

San Francisco Railway Head Won't Impede Municipal Control.

Mason B. Starring, recently elected President of the Market Street Railway Company of San Francisco, was quoted in San Francisco dispatches yesterday as stating that, if San Francisco desired to purchase the company at a fair price, the opportunity should be given to the city to do so. "As I now understand it, San Francisco seems irrevocably committed to municipal ownership, and I have no desire to run contrary to the wishes of the community," he said.

Mr. Starring has his offices here. He is identified with a number of large utility companies and his recent election to head the San Francisco company, long the subject of negotiations which have hinged largely on questions of valuations, occasioned interest in Wall Street from the standpoint of the company's future control.

N. Y. Central Bonds Converted.

With the exception of about $12,200,000 all of the $100,000,000 issue of debenture bonds of the New York Central have been converted into stock, it was estimated yesterday. The clerical force of the company has not yet caught up with the certificates mailed in toward the close of the conversion period on April 30. Final figures, it is expected, will not be announced before the first of next week.

SHELL UNION PROFIT $24,924,072 IN 1924

GROSS INCOME $50,984,588

Sale of Union Oil of California Shares Enabled Company to Become a Lender of Money.

The annual report of the Shell Union Oil Corporation for 1924, including the company's interest in subsidiary organizations, issued yesterday, showed gross income of $50,984,588. After all expenses, depletion and depreciation reserves and allowing for abandoned wells, the company reported net earnings of $24,924,072. These totals compare with gross income of $74,274,426 and net earnings of $17,083,063 in 1923.

After allowing for regular dividend requirements on the preferred stock, and setting aside $6,000,000 for a special reserve, the balance was $17,414,848 applicable for the common stock, which was equal to $1.74 a share earned on the 10,000,000 shares of no par value common stock outstanding. This compares with $1.84 a share earned on the common stock in 1923, when only $1,200,000 was set aside as reserve for contingencies. The company, says the statement, "thought it desirable to include the entire profit on the sale of shares held in the Union Oil Company of California in this reserve." The $24,193,632, at which this investment of Union of California was carried on the books, it appears, has been added to reserves for "depletion, depreciation and drilling expenses," which was carried on the books at $49,007,008 on Dec. 31, 1924, against $26,357,488 on Dec. 31, 1923.

The balance sheet at the close of 1924 showed that the company had a net working capital of $48,211,771. As a result of the sale of the stock of the Union Oil Company of California, the company found itself with a huge supply of cash on hand, and consequently it developed into a lender of money. On Dec. 31, 1924, it had $28,500,000 outstanding in demand and time loans. The position of the company in regard to current assets and current liabilities, compared with the previous year follows:

Current Assets—	1924.	1923.
Accts. and notes rec.	2,623,343	4,907,926
Time and demand loans	28,500,000
Cash on hand	2,153,994	1,824,652
Total	$55,884,356	$22,724,230
Current Liabilities—
Bills pay. and tax res.	7,828,957	5,336,968
Pref. dividends	143,628	150,000
Notes payable		345,971

The company was producing oil at the rate of 91,630 barrels daily at the end of 1924, against 104,054 barrels at the end of 1923.

Joins Advertising Company.

H. W. Doremus, formerly senior partner of Doremus & Morse, specialists in financial advertising, has become associated with Rudolph Guenther-Russell Law, Inc. Mr. Doremus was one of the pioneers in the development of advertising in Wall Street, having been one of the organizers of Doremus & Co. in 1903 and its first President.

ELECTRIC RAILWAYS REPORT BIG TRAFFIC

Must Keep Pace With Progress, Says J. N. Shannahan, Head of Association.

Nothing is wrong fundamentally with the electric railway business, but something is wrong with managements which will not keep pace with progress, J. N. Shannahan, President of the American Railway Association, declared yesterday in a statement incident to the thirty-seventh birthday of successful electric railway operation.

"The local transportation situation is bad in spots, but it is by no means hopeless," Mr. Shannahan said. "There is a call for transportation everywhere, and it should be furnished by electric railway companies regardless of whether it is by bus, electric cars or some other means. Progressive managements recognize this fact and are making it clear that they are going to render full service. If they do not render such service, of course they will pass out, just as the grocer or the butcher who does not supply service.

"But that is a question of the individual and not of the industry. Individuals may fail to provide adequate service, but the electric railway industry as such will not. It will provide the mass of local transportation by electric cars, busses and other means during the next thirty-eight years just as it has chiefly by electric cars during the past thirty-eight."

Mr. Shannahan said that official figures just compiled for 1924 activities on properties representing 85 per cent. of the total revenue, show that riding held up to within about 1 per cent. of 1923, which was a banner year. Approximately 16,000,000,000 riders were carried. Traffic since Jan. 1 had held up well generally, he said.

JULY WHEAT LEADS IN RISING MARKETS

Scores a Gain of 3 Cents While May, After Climbing to $1.63, Drops Back to $1.61½.

CORN MARKETS ARE HEAVY.

But Oats Make a Good Advance and Rye Closes More Than Eleven Cents Higher.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 4.—A majority of the leading commission houses are bullish on wheat, and while the public fails to enthuse on the buying side, due to the relatively high level of values, there was only moderate opposition to an advance today and the finish was 2¼@2¾ cents higher, with July leading.

The May acted a little heavy and after touching $1.63¼ closed at $1.62 to $1.62¼, around eight cents over the July. All deliveries sold at a new high on the present movement during the day, with July showing nineteen cents over the low of last week at the extreme top.

Profit-taking made numerous sharp recessions in values at times, but each break brought in a renewal of scattered buying and many of the local traders who were bearish early were forced to cover.

Liverpool showed strength with an advance of 2@2¼d.

World's shipments of 10,670,000 bushels, against 19,413,000 bushels last year, and a decrease of nearly 7,000,000 bushels in supplies on ocean passage, brought the total down to 71,680,000 bushels against 71,872,000 last year.

The prospect for a materially smaller Winter wheat crop than last year, as shown by the recent private estimates, is largely responsible for the more friendly feeling toward the buying side and, while the outlook for Spring wheat remains excellent, a few dry weather reports were received during the day from parts of the Dakotas and rains would be beneficial.

A decrease of 3,408,000 bushels in the domestic visible supply brought the total down to 45,681,000 bushels compared with 49,089,000 the previous week and 51,461,000 last year.

Little was heard regarding export demand at the seaboard and sales were very small, but the Spanish order for 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 bushels may be filled over night.

Winnipeg reported no demand for cash wheat in that market, although sales of 150,000 bushels each of oats and barley were made for shipment. Today's bulge brought in heavy profit-taking by Eastern interests who have profits of 10 cents or more on the deferred wheat futures.

Primary arrivals today were 487,000 bushels; week ago, 487,000; last year, 793,000. Shipments were 785,000 bushels; week ago, 541,000; last year, 1,047,000.

The corn market acted heavy throughout the day with May ⅛ cent lower at the last and the deferred delivered ¼@⅜ cent higher, the strength in the latter coming largely from sympathy with wheat.

There was an unconfirmed rumor that charters had been made to move out a lot of corn from here to the East. A local professional was a good buyer of July at times. The visible supply decreased 2,397,000 bushels, making the total 23,379,000 bushels, against 25,776,000 the previous week and 17,978,000 last year.

Primary points received 516,000 bushels of corn for the day; week ago, 516,000; last year, 1,015,000, and shipments were 346,000 bushels; week ago, 352,000; last year, 1,103,000.

Oats advanced ⅝@⅝ cent, with May leading, cash interests being good buyers on that delivery. There was a noticeable lack of pressure on rye, and while no export sales were reported, the close was 8⅜@11⅛ cents higher, with May leading. Stop-loss orders were uncovered on the way up.

ASSIGNED TO VETERAN WORK

Four Doctors Will Plan Hospital Standardizing Throughout Country.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Director Hines of the Veterans' Bureau today assigned four medical supervisors to work out a plan for standardization of clinical and administrative service in veterans' hospitals.

The doctors will have headquarters in New York, New Orleans, Chicago and San Francisco and will alternate in field and central office service to become familiar with all phases of the question. Dr. Winthrop Adams will be stationed in New York and will work through the New England States down to Virginia and West Virginia. Dr. E. H. Oden o'Hall goes to New Orleans, his territory covering most of the Southern States. Dr. Ord Everman is assigned to Chicago to serve the Middle West and Dr. George C. Skinner goes to San Francisco to tour the Far West.

ESTHONIA TO FUND DEBT.

Legation Confers With Treasury on Repaying $40,000,000.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Negotiations for a debt funding agreement between the United States and Esthonia are being carried on between the Treasury and legation officials.

Esthonia owes the United States between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000 on advances made as a relief measure in 1919 and subsequent years.

The British debt settlement forms the basis of discussion, with the matter of a possible moratorium or reduced interest rate for the first years of payment the immediate question at issue.

$25,000 Pledged for Hospital.

Pledges totaling $25,000 were announced by Dr. Nathan Ratnoff, Chairman of the Campaign Committee of the Jewish Maternity Hospital, at a dinner given last night at the Hotel Pennsylvania. Those who donated toward the $1,250,000 needed to construct and outfit the new hospital at 106th Street and Fifth Avenue, were members of the alumni of the hospital. Thirty physicians who had given service at the hospital attended the dinner.

SUPREME COURT VOIDS DAKOTA GRAIN LAW

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The Non-Partisan League of North Dakota received a blow when the Supreme Court declared today that the grain grading act of that State was illegal on the ground that it was a "direct regulation of the buying of grain in interstate commerce." The Non-Partisan League sponsored this law which was approved at an election Nov. 7, 1922.

In the case at issue George F. Shafer, the Attorney General of North Dakota, was pitted against the Farmers' Grain Company of Emden, which operates grain elevators all over the State and which brought suit to enjoin the State from enforcing the act. The Supreme Court decision upheld the company and also the Federal District Court, which allowed the injunction.

Associate Justice Van DeVanter, handing down the opinion, stated that the decisions of the court at Washington have maintained that when a State law directly interferes with or burdens interstate commerce it is illegal. Of the North Dakota statute he said:

"By it that State attempts to exercise a large measure of control over all wheat buying within her limits. About 90 per cent. of the buying is in interstate commerce. Through this buying and the shipping in connection with which it is conducted the wheat which North Dakota produces in excess of local needs—more than 125,000,000 bushels a year—finds a market and is made available for consumption in other States where the local needs greatly exceed the production. Obviously, therefore, the control of this buying is of concern to the people of other States as well as to those of North Dakota."

Justice Van Devanter held that the North Dakota act went further than the United States Grain Standards act did. Replying to contentions by the State officials that the State should be justified in passing the act, the Justice said there could be no justification for exercising a power which the State did not possess, and that the power of correction of evils lay with Congress.

GRAIN EXPORTS ARE LARGER

Week's Increase, However, Was Mostly In Rye and Oats.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Grain exports from the United States last week amounted to 6,638,000 bushels, compared with 4,843,000 the previous week.

Commerce Department figures today gave the following comparisons of last week's exports with those of the week before:

Wheat, 1,818,000 bushels, against 1,909,000 bushels; rye, 4,083,000, against 2,107,000; oats, 442,000, against 193,000; corn, 77,000, against 426,000; barley, 218,000, against 203,000.

Canadian grain exported through United States ports last week were 1,454,000 bushels, against 2,350,000 the previous week, and exports of wheat flour from the United States last week were 297,000 barrels, against 364,000 barrels the week before.

LABOR MEN'S BANK SHUT IN PHILADELPHIA

Petition for Receiver for Pioneer Cooperative Institution Calls It Solvent.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 4.—The Producers' and Consumers' Bank was closed today following the appointment of Albert M. Greenfield, a real estate operator, as a temporary receiver on a petition filed in behalf of the creditors. The petition declared the assets were $2,732,607.28 and the liabilities $2,456,238.62.

The papers also stated that the bank was solvent, that the number of depositors was 7,500 and that the amount due them was $1,413,540.51. The trust assets were held to consist of items incapable of immediate liquidation.

The bank was a "day-and-night" institution and was the first cooperative and profit-sharing bank to be established in the East and one of the first to be organized in the country.

It was organized by men prominent in labor unions here and drew much of its clientele from labor circles.

John M. Patterson, counsel for the bank, said today that the trustees found they had enough money to pay the depositors dollar for dollar but the money was tied up. It therefore became necessary to liquidate the assets in order to meet obligations.

Representatives of one hundred and thirty labor organizations which helped to organize the bank, immediately on its closing began to arrange for meetings to consider plans for aiding the depositors. The first notice of such a meeting was posted by the cutters' union, Local No. 508, on the window of the bank, which was originally organized for the benefit of wage earners.

The institution was founded largely through the efforts of the late Wharton Barker. To insure a majority of wage earners on the board, the charter provides that at least three-fifths of it shall consist of labor representatives.

The bank, which adjoins the headquarters of the Federal Reserve Bank, was opened for business on February 1, 1922, with deposits of more than $500,000.

PRICES FOR COTTON HIT NEW LOW LEVELS

Active Selling Puts Quotations for Old Crop Months Below Any Since January.

NEW CROP ALSO DECLINES

Spread Between Liverpool and New York Markets Narrows to the Smallest Differences of the Year.

An active selling movement in cotton caused a loss of 22 to 33 points yesterday, carrying old-crop positions to the lowest levels since January and new crops below any previous low record made since the middle of December. It was estimated that a few brokers distributed 30,000 bales of October, a quantity of contracts that not only supplied all demand at receding prices but widened the discount to 40 points under July. After breaking through 23.40 for October before midday, two rallies of 10 points each took place as a result of strength in grain and securities and frost predictions west of the River, but these recoveries failed to hold. Foreign "straddle interests" sold in New York during the day against purchases in Liverpool as the spread between the two markets narrowed to the smallest differences of the year.

When rains first developed west of the River about two weeks ago, the tone of the Liverpool market underwent a material change. Heretofore this season the demand for American cotton in Europe has been so keen that a firm market has continued in Liverpool contracts from month to month. Whether due to liberal supplies of raw material already secured or to recent developments in wool circles, foreign prices have continued to lose ground without manifesting any tendency to recover. Quotations at Liverpool broke over 30 English points yesterday, or more than 20 points below last week's low records and into new low ground for the movement.

With warmer weather throughout the cotton belt Sunday and as high as 90 degrees during the day in Central Texas, active selling occurred on and immediately following the call here. Various professional room operators sold freely, carrying July to 23¾ cents and October below 23.40 before the market absorbed contracts and developed some resistance. One block of 10,000 October appeared at 23.45 and a second order for 10,000 was executed at 23.40. Though a sharp recovery in the stock market caused a 10 to 15 point rally the last hour, the sale of a third block of October closed the list near the bottom. January touched lowest figures of the session in final trading at 23.23.

COMMODITY PRICES.

Cash Rye Develops Robust Gain —Other Grains Strong— Metals Higher.

A vigorous rise in rye No. 2 to $1.34¾ was the outstanding feature of the cash market yesterday, the movement in the spot corresponding to the sharp gain in the contract grade. Wheat also showed a good advance, while oats and flour remained firm. Eggs, lard, copper, zinc and tin were others to go higher, but spot cotton reacted 20 points to 23.95 cents. Groceries, other provisions and metals were firm and unchanged.

PRIVATELY RUN BUSES UNSAFE, SAYS MILLS

In Reply to Harkness Over Municipal Radio, He Calls Transit Board 'Three Blind Mice.'

Characterizing the members of the Transit Commission as "three blind mice," William Wirt Mills, Commissioner of Plant and Structures, denied in a speech broadcast from the municipal radio station, WYNC, last evening the truth of the charge of Transit Commissioner LeRoy T. Harkness that unsafe buses were permitted to run on the municipally supervised lines. Mr. Mills made a counter-attack and asserted that there were unsafe buses on lines operating under franchises and therefore under the supervision of the Transit Commission.

"I have looked over these lines operated under the jurisdiction and control of the three blind mice," said Mr. Mills, "and I find these dangerous conditions:

"Exhuast pipe in one whole class of buses on the same side as the gas tank and ending one foot from the gas tank; with the muffler proper three inches from the gas tank. In a collision rupturing the gas tank with the motor running, there would be a serious fire hazard.

"Emergency doors in this same class of buses obstructed to use, Mr. Harkness's word, by seats. But in these buses, unlike the emergency buses operated under our jurisdiction, instead of the latch or lock of the emergency door being in full view, it is concealed under the seat, and the seat has to be removed before the emergency door can be opened.

"In another class of buses operated under the jurisdiction of these three blind mice there is no emergency exit, the gas tank is located inside the bus and the tank is filled from the inside, constituting a distinct fire hazard that is mitigated only by a glass and wood partition.

TO BE MINISTER TO ALBANIA.

C. C. Hart, Western Newspaper Man, Named by Coolidge.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Charles C. Hart of Spokane, Wash., correspondent in this city for The Portland (Ore.) Oregonian and a number of other Western newspapers, has been selected as Minister of Albania, to fill a long existing vacancy. Formal announcement of the appointment is withheld pending approval by the Albanian Government.

Mr. Hart is a native of Indiana, 47 years old and has had wide newspaper experience in the Middle and Far West. He was secretary and manager of the National Republican Progressive League, which worked for the election of Charles E. Hughes in 1916.

Fall Dress Woolens Still Quiet.

For the most part the market in dress goods and coatings for Fall remains very quiet. Cutters-up continue their policy of playing a waiting game in the purchase of goods for next season. Present indications are interpreted as supporting the belief that real activity in the market is a matter of some weeks hence, or about the time when the ready-to-wear manufacturers make their initial showings through salesmen on the road. The outlook for a good vogue for cloth dresses during the Fall continues to improve and the mills are confident of a substantial demand for sheen worsteds later on. Some of the specialty fabrics for coats are reported as having good prospects for Fall.

Few Rug Price Changes Made.

Although the $6,000,000 auction of rugs and carpets that began here yesterday under the direction of the Alexander Smith & Sons Carpet Company took a good deal of the interest out of the showing of new goods for the Fall season by competing houses, a nice volume of business was reported by the latter. Price changes were few. The Bigelow-Hartford Carpet Company made no changes in its carpet prices, while the only revisions in the rugs were advances of $1 on Hartford Bussorah and Bigelow Electra seamless axminsters, 9 by 12, and a reduction of $1.50 on Hartford Bussorah seamed axminsters of the same size. In both cases the changes are based on the list issued by the company on April 1. No carpet prices had been made yesterday by the wholesale department of W. & J. Sloane and, based on the list of Dec. 15, the only rug changes were the following reductions on 9 by 12 sizes: Victory axminster, $1.20; Monticello plain wiltons, $2.40, and Franklin and National tapestries, $1.20. No changes from Spring levels were made in the rug prices of the M. J. Whittall Associates, with prices on carpets yet to be named. The principal change in the rug list of Stephen Sanford & Sons, Inc., was a reduction of $3, from the list of Jan. 14, on the 9 by 12 size of Beauvais. Other size rugs were reduced in proportion. A cut of about 5 per cent. was made in Sanford carpets.

English Trends in Neckwear.

A factor that may have its influence on men's neckwear here is the vogue for blues now prevailing in London, according to reports made by Rex Cheney of Cheney Brothers. This influence is noted particularly in a China blue and certain shades of gray worked up with tones of tangerine and lacquer red. Small designs in silk squares are favored, Mr. Cheney adds. While checks, cubes and squares are seen, there are many shot effects on a gray ground. Herringbone stripes and diagonals shot with two or three brilliant shades are featured, and great importance is attached to the attempt to reproduce on foulards the Glen Urquhart, hound's tooth and shepherd check patterns. Checked weaves made of a number of colors giving a shot impression are well liked, but, for more formal wear, ties in white warps, in rich black and white, and silver and white, as well as grays with bright overplaids and stripes are stressed.

A Southern Retailer's Views.

Business conditions in the South afford a basis for considerable optimism, according to Julien S. Caheen of Caheen Brothers of Birmingham, Ala., who is in this city for a brief visit. He spoke yesterday of the encouraging growth of manufacturing industries in the South, with particular reference to the situation in Birmingham. In or near that city several new and diversified industries are locating, including cotton mills, and the raw material resources of the section are among the best in the entire South. With reference to retail conditions, Mr. Caheen said that trade was about equal to last year in volume. There is no boom, so that those who expected it are disappointed. Consumers are buying evenly as they need merchandise and they, he said, are getting back to the more reliable stores, with continued sales losing their appeal. The better class retailers are now avoiding too many sales. The average merchant is keeping his ear closer to the ground than ever before, Mr. Caheen added, and retailers who have judiciously mixed caution with progressiveness will come out with a profit for the entire year.

Wool Drop Hurts Woolens.

Raw wool developments over the past week, with those expected at the forthcoming auction, have put a kind of finishing touch upon the highly unsatisfactory conditions in the men's wear woolen trade. It is admitted that the recent turn in the wool situation, although it has been predicted for some time, greatly complicates things for every one concerned in the manufacture, sale or purchase of cloth. Whereas selling agents hitherto have had some hope of getting at least a fair volume of duplicate business around this time, they are now in the position of seeing their chances of obtaining this further postponed. The immediate outlook, according to the best posted opinion in the trade, presents one of the biggest conundrums the trade has had to solve in years.

Gray Goods Were Very Dull.

Gray goods were very dull here yesterday, the further break in cotton having discouraged all trading of importance. Only scattered lots for spot and near-by delivery were traded in, with the printcloth business, including 39-inch 68-72s at 11¼ cents and 38½-inch 64-60s at 9¼ cents. The lightweight sheetings got the bulk of what little attention there was given to those goods, with sales of 36-inch 5.50s reported at 7⅝ cents. The best that could be done on 36-inch 5-yard sheetings was 8¼ cents. In the specialties there was some trading in 72-80 pajama checks at 10¼ cents.

Land Boom Hits Cotton Goods.

The land booms that have broken out in various parts of the South during the last few months, especially in and near certain Winter resorts, have put an effective check on the sale of dress cottons in the vicinity, according to a well-known commission house executive who has just returned from an extended trip. "There is no question that the booms have helped financially the sections in which they have taken place," he said, "but there is also no question that it has put a lot of former buyers of cotton dresses and dress fabrics into silks. While there is no danger of a serious slump in business as a result, it is interesting to note the trend of sales in what heretofore was a very fertile field for sellers of cottons. The only cotton fabrics that are moving there now are those with artificial silk in them."

Underwear Business is Good.

Although the business now being placed in the underwear end of the local knit goods trade appears a bit uneven in its distribution, the consensus of opinion yesterday was that things are in good shape. Not only is there plenty of demand for lightweight ribbed goods for both men and women, but the active call for the "athletic" type of garment that was reported last week continues. Express shipments are the rule rather than the exception, with rather large quantities being delivered in that way. The easing off in cotton has caused some slowing down in the business done in goods for Fall delivery, but there is still enough of it being placed, particularly by wholesalers in the Middle Western district, to keep the mills interested.

Staple Cotton Stocks Low.

Not for years, if ever before, have wholesale and retail stocks of staple cotton goods in the South been so low as they are at present. An advance in cotton, it was said yesterday, would result in a veritable burst of buying. Included in the stocks of which there is little on hand are ginghams, chambrays, plaids, tickings, &c., all of which will have to be filled in liberally within the next two months or so. A softening market for cotton means slow buying, but it will have to come sooner or later, if reports received from that part of the country are to be believed. For the most part the South is in good condition financially, and there is only the question of how the new cotton crop will shape up to be settled before some sizable orders come to the mills making the goods in question.

$635,000 RUGS SOLD AT SMITH AUCTION

Brisk Bidding Characterizes the Opening of $6,000,000 Sale of Floor Coverings.

Sales amounting to $635,000 were made yesterday at the opening sessions of the $6,000,000 auction of carpets and rugs in the salesrooms of the Alexander Smith & Sons Carpet Company, 295 Fifth Avenue, and more than 10,000 of the 92,000 bales of axminster, tapestry and velvet rugs to be offered in the course of the auction were disposed of. The remainder will be put under the hammer during the week. In addition to the rugs, 6,500 rolls of axminster, velvet and wilton velvet carpets will be sold. The selling is being done by Wilmerding, Morris & Mitchell, who have conducted the Smith auctions for several years.

Practically every important jobber, retailer and mail order house in the country was represented at the opening of the sale and despite the lull in business that has been reported lately from various quarters of the trade, bidding was active. Buying of "balances" was especially brisk when axminsters were being sold, despite the fact that the drop in the general wool market had brought buyers to the sale with a frankly bearish view.

Among the principal out-of-town purchasers yesterday were Marshall Field & Co., Chicago; Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., Chicago; Trorlicht-Duncker Carpet Company, St. Louis; Renard Linoleum and Rug Company, St. Louis; J. J. Haines & Co., Baltimore; Milton G. Cooper Dry Goods Company, Los Angeles; J. Kennard & Sons Carpet Company, St. Louis; Sears, Roebuck & Co., Chicago; Sanger Brothers, Dallas; Ellison Furniture and Carpet Company, Fort Worth; Glanz, Behm & Herring, Philadelphia; Armon Wolf & Co., Philadelphia; Ely & Walker Dry Goods Company, St. Louis; Peck & Hills Furniture Company, Chicago and San Francisco; Alms & Doepke Company, Cincinnati; C. C. Bailey & Co., Boston, and Sterchi Bros., Memphis, Tenn.

The principal local buyers were James A. Hearn & Son, Empire Carpet Company, Century Carpet Company, American Rug and Carpet Company, Carlton Inc., James E. Dunlap & Co., Syndicate Trading Company and J. Michaels, Inc., Brooklyn.

Of the 92,000 bales of rugs listed for sale, 27,000 bales are axminsters. Buyers took them freely yesterday, and the first 196 lots offered, all of which were axminsters, sold with considerable snap. The top prices paid for these rugs were not much under the Dec. 15 list, and in some cases they equaled the list figures. This is what the price comparison showed:

Size.
12-1	$26.00	$22.00	$26.00

8-4	8.25	8.00	8.75

Lots 199 to 217, inclusive, consisted of tapestry rugs. Prices ran close to the Dec. 15 list on these goods also, with bidding generally active. The following table gives the range of prices and the comparison with the revised Spring list:

MANOR TAPESTRY.	High Price.	Low Price.	Dec. 15 List.
Size.

Selling concluded with lot 268 of the Palisade velvet rugs. Only 12-4 (9 by 12 feet) and 11-4 (8 feet 3 inches by 10 feet 6 inches) goods were sold in this class. The prices obtained for the 12-4 rugs ranged from $22.25 to $23.50, against $25.50 in the list. The only 11-4 rugs disposed of brought a top figure of $20. The list price on them was $22.50. The sale will be continued at 10 o'clock this morning.

Silk Weighting on the Increase.

An increase in the practice of weighting was described yesterday as one of the two outstanding developments in the production of broad silks, the other being the notable swing toward the manufacture of wide goods. According to silk manufacturers, weighting, when done up to a certain point, gives silks two very important qualities. These are handle and drape, which are indispensable qualities for the present style vogue. Methods of weighting were said to have been greatly improved, and are now described by manufacturers as on a scientific basis. At the same time it is recognized that "unscientific" weighting, or that beyond a certain percentage or inexpertly applied, has its serious drawbacks and results in an inferior, tender fabric.

TRADE ASSOCIATION IS UPHELD BY COURT

FINDS RULES AID INDUSTRY

Government's Suit for Dissolution Is Dismissed—First Ruling on Credit Information.

The action instituted by the Government to dissolve the Fur Dressers and Fur Dyers' Association, Inc., and others on the ground that the association existed in violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust law, was dismissed yesterday by Federal Judge Bondy. The association controls about 70 per cent. of the business of dressing and dyeing furs, and it was alleged that it sought a monopoly by establishing rules for its members and by seeking to discipline those members who failed to comply with the rules.

The decision of Judge Bondy, according to Edwin F. Grosvenor of the law firm of Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft, counsel for the association, is the first in any United States Court holding that the members of a trade association may agree to withhold credit from customers who have not paid bills due to members which are undisputed and long overdue.

Judge Bondy, in his opinion, states that the Government did not prove that the rules of the association or compliance with them by members in any manner, directly or unduly, affected interstate commerce, or that the defendants intended to restrain or did restrain interstate commerce. The opinion says that the defendants fixed no prices, but merely regulated the business of their members in a way tending to promote rather than restrain legitimate trade.

"Nothing that the association did or could do under its by-laws," the decision stated, "was injurious to any of its members or to public. No one except a person looking for an unfair or dishonest advantage could object to its regulations."

In a statement prepared by Mr. Grosvenor the rules of the association are presented to show that the association issued monthly to its members a confidential list of all customers whose accounts have been unpaid for a period exceeding fifty days, providing the account exceeds $50 and is undisputed. The Government charged that this was a conspiracy in restraint of trade. Mr. Grosvenor said:

"This agreement had no relation to prices. In fact the Government admitted that the defendants had always competed in respect of any of the charges made for their services.

"In order to show that some form of credit organization is absolutely essential in this industry we put in evidence an exhibit giving the details regarding each solvency during the years 1911 to 1923. This showed there were 1,010 insolvencies in the fur trade in New York in that period, with aggregate liabilities amounting to $47,109,325.97, and that the creditors received less than 10 per cent., so that the net loss to creditors in the fur trade during those years exceeded $40,000,000.

"The Government did not introduce a single witness in an effort to prove injury to any one or the public, although this organization has been functioning for over nine years and during this period thousands of transactions each month have passed through the credit bureau."

BUSINESS PARCELS SOLD TO BUILDERS

Owners of the Murray Hill Office Building Take Large Adjoining Property.

WAS HELD AT $2,000,000

Acquire Tenth Av. Corner Also—Ottenberg & Foster to Erect Loft.

Valuable business sites in Manhattan were acquired yesterday by Harby, Abrons & Mellus, builders, one parcel being a tall business improvement on Murray Hill and the other a loft site on Tenth Avenue.

The buyers, who now have under construction the new twenty-five story Murray Hill Office Building at Fortieth Street and Madison Avenue, purchased all of the property adjoining the site of their new building on the north from the heirs of the late Charles W. Warner of the Warner Sugar Company. The property consists of 296 Madison Avenue, 40 to 44 East Forty-first Street, known as the Professional Building, and 46 to 48 East Forty-first Street.

All the properties are contiguous and comprise a plot of 12,000 square feet. The property purchased from the Warner Estate was held at $2,000,000.

The Professional Building is 100 per cent. occupied, and is tenanted only by specialists of the medical and dental professions.

The building at 46 and 48 East Forty-first Street is a four-story building known as the Chemists Club Annex.

Leases on the Madison Avenue Building and the Chemists' Club Annex expire this year, but plans for these two buildings have not been announced. The Professional Building will continue under the management of Charles B. Plummer.

The property was purchased for all cash as an investment. The brokers in the deal were H. C. Kopp & Co.

In the Tenth Avenue deal Harby, Abrons & Mellus bought the plot at the northeast corner of Fifty-third Street and Tenth Avenue running 100 feet on Tenth Avenue and 175 feet on Fifty-third Street.

The plot, containing 17,500 square feet is one of the largest in the vicinity now under one ownership.

While no definite plans have been announced by the builders, it is understood that a sixteen story building for lofts and showrooms is to be built on the site in the near future. The brokers in the sale were the Cross & Brown Company.

Ottenberg and Foster Plan Loft.

Bernard A. Ottenberg and Roy Foster have purchased from Theodore Roth the building, at 24 East Fifty-sixth Street, between Fifth and Madison Avenues.

The property consists of a five story dwelling, adjoining the southwest corner of Madison Avenue. It has a frontage of twenty-seven feet on the street and has a depth of eighty feet. The buyers will erect a store and loft building on the site.

This is the sixth property in this street disposed of within a month. The thoroughfare is rapidly becoming an exclusive business district, in which the retail trade is prominent. The former dwellings are nearly all being altered, either entirely for business, or for business and apartments.

The property was held at $225,000. Foster, LaGuardia & Cutler represented the purchasers and Hamilton, Iselin & Co. as brokers negotiated the transaction.

D. A. Schulte, Inc., sold to Philip Mankowsky the northwest corner of Park Avenue and Fifty-ninth Street, a four-story building with stores and apartments, fronting 100 feet on Park Avenue and 20 feet on Fifty-ninth Street. It adjoins a fifteen-story apartment being completed at the Sixtieth Street corner. Joseph G. Abramson represented the purchaser and the Schulte interests were represented by Jerome Elsner.

PRIVATE HOUSE SALES.

West End Avenue Houses Sold for Apartment Site.

H. D. Baker and A. Robinson, in conjunction with David Stewart, have sold to a client a group of builders, the three private houses located at 609, 611 and 613 West End Avenue, who intend to demolish the buildings and erect a fifteen story building.

Leopold and Joseph Bachrach sold 10 and 12 West Sixty-fifth Street, on a combined plot 50 by 100 feet, to A. Arent Company. The sellers were represented by Irving, Gordon of Gordon, Tully & Gordon. The broker in the transaction was Manheimer Bros., Inc. The property was held at $160,000.

Charles Rosenthal Company, through its representative, Courtney L. Wood, sold for Abram S. Post, his town house at 202 Riverside Drive to Daniel H. Jackson.

Mrs. G. G. Fisch sold through Harry H. Gallinger the three-story private dwelling, on a lot 20 by 102.2 feet, at 308 Avenue, corner of Ninety-second Street, to George W. Liebmann.

Bracher & Hubert resold for David Paradis the four-story and basement dwelling, a o plot 20 by 102.2 feet, at 148 West Seventy-sixth Street. The purchaser is the present tenant.

The 1,017 Madison Avenue Corporation, with a directorate consisting of S. Fasten, D. Weinberg and A. Botwin, and represented by Mollanus, Ernst & Ernst, has purchased from Stella F. Spiegelberg the four-story residence at that location, on a plot 22 by 75 feet, between Seventy-eighth and Seventy-ninth Streets.

BRONX BUILDING PLANS.

Private Dwelling and Tenements to Cost $200,000.

The following plans have been filed with the Bronx Bureau of Buildings:

165th Street, northwest corner of Gerard Avenue; two 5-story brick tenements, 80 by 88 feet and 55 by 90 feet; John S. O'Leary, owner; James F. Boyland, architect; cost $180,000.

White Plains Avenue, west side, 420 feet north of Morris Park Avenue; two-story brick dwelling, 30 by 45 feet; Charles Gallo, owner; George G. Miller, architect; cost $20,000.

Bronx Branch for N. Y. Title.

The New York Title and Mortgage Company, which is affiliated with the American Trust Company, it was announced yesterday is to open a Bronx office at 371 and 373 East 149th Street.

Purchase of this property, which has a frontage of 50 feet on 149th Street and a depth of 80 feet, was made several weeks ago, it constitutes one of the prominent locations in the financial section of the Bronx.

The property is now tenanted by the Waters Piano Company and a business office of the New York Telephone Company. Both have leases which run several years. The New York Title and Mortgage Company, however, has subleased one-half of the second floor of the building from the Waters Piano Company and will take immediate possession.

Madison Av. Corner Lease.

Arthur Greenbaum leased to the Hemway Silk Company the store and two upper floors in the building at the northwest corner of Thirty-seventh Street and Madison Avenue for twenty-one years at a rental of over $1,000,000. A. A. Brody was the broker.

Resells Garage Site.

The Shirbar Realty Corporation has resold to the Baum Realty Company the four old tenement houses at 234 to 240 East Fifty-fourth Street, on a plot 100 by 100 feet, between Second and Third Avenues. The purchaser will erect a garage on the site.

EAST SIDE TENEMENTS BOUGHT BY OPERATORS

Builders and Investors Active in East of Third Avenue Sales.

The demand for east side properties continued through yesterday due to the many deals in tenement properties by operators and investors who have recently turned their attention to this section of Manhattan.

Joseph A. Rauschkolb sold for Mrs. Eleanora Cowen 57 West Forty-sixth Street, a five-story business and apartment building on a plot 22.14 by 100 feet, with possession of the ground floor store. Daniel H. Jackson was the purchaser. It was held at $150,000.

Hewson, Wolfe & Co. placed for the E. A. L. Apartment Management Company (Edgar A. Levy and Stanley M. Isaacs) a loan of $40,000 at 5 per cent. for five years, secured by first mortgage covering the five-story building on plot

Building Totals Indicate Increase of Small Homes

An examination made by the National Association of Real Estate Boards of the total number of contracts let for residential building projects for 1925 reveals that, while the number of projects is greater than that of 1924, the total number of buildings which they represent and the number of square feet of construction called for is decidedly less.

The statistics show that the average number of square feet of floor space for the projects planned to be erected in 1925 is 871 square feet less than the average for projects in 1924.

The indication here shown toward the building of single-family dwellings and duplexes parallels that found by the association's surveys of real estate market conditions. It probably also indicates a lowering of activity in the erection of large apartment buildings.

MULTI-FAMILY HOUSES PLANNED FOR BROOKLYN

Architects Prepare Plans for $750,000 Project on Albany and Kingston Avenues.

Shampan & Shampan, architects, have been commissioned to prepare plans and supervise the construction of twenty-eight multi-family houses to be erected on the north side of Maple Street, including corners of Kingston and Albany Avenues, on a plot 710 by 150 feet, for the Dongor Realty Company, Inc., as owners. The estimated cost is $750,000.

The vacant plot at the southwest corner of Kings Highway and East Eighteenth Street, including the old Wood-Harmon six-family apartment house, has been sold by Samuel Dietz for the Washington Improvement Company, Nathan Schulman, President. This plot measures 108 feet on Kings Highway and 170 feet on East Eighteenth Street. R. S. Fisher, Inc., and J. Scobel and M. Cohen were associate brokers in the transaction. The new owners are preparing plans for eight modern stores facing the Highway and East Eighteenth Street, a large loft on the second floor with apartments above the corner.

The Frank M. McCurdy Co., Inc., sold to a client through the Multiple Listing Bureau of the Brooklyn Real Estate Board, for Miss A. Brunner, the residence at 225 Ocean Avenue, occupied by the seller for the past thirty-five years. The property held at $75,000. The same brokers also sold to the same buyer the adjoining residence, 221 Ocean Avenue, for M. H. Ranken.

The buyer plans to erect on the combined plot of 100 by 150 feet a six-story apartment house costing $500,000.

Herman Lewis of Lewis Brothers, sold the old-family stucco dwelling, 2,157 East Fifth Street, for the Eighty-third Street Construction Company, to William Gross, for occupancy.

Sullivan & O'Connor sold the two-story and cellar brick house, 665 Fifty-ninth Street, for Edward F. Bylund to John McPartland.

Frank McCarthy purchased from Ethel G. Van Pelt 244 Monroe Street, in a plot 18.9 by 100 feet. The purchaser was represented by Irving Gordon of Gordon, Tully & Gordon. The broker in the transaction was A. Peace & Son.

Tankoos, Smith & Co. sold for Minnie Feldstein and Marie Lassell to Gregory Weinstein the property 25 McDonough Street, Brooklyn, a four-story modern apartment house on a plot 50 by 100 feet. The property was held at $100,000.

The 1922 Realty Corporation, controlled by the Schulte Cigar Stores Company, leased the entire building, 516 Fulton Street, corner Hanover Place, which they recently purchased, to the Mirror Candy Stores, who will occupy it after completion of alterations.

JERSEY CITY HOUSES IN EXCHANGE DEAL

Buyer Gives Five Dwellings in Part Payment for Tenement Houses.

Two exchanges of Jersey City properties, involving $196,000, are among the latest realty transactions closed in New Jersey. The largest deal was by Morris Broadman, who transferred to Michael J. Lyons the two three-story flats with stores at the northeast corner of Lincoln Street and Liberty Avenue, and frame flats at 80 and 82 Zabriskie Street and four two-story frame dwellings at the southeast corner of Bevan Street and Hopkins Avenue, valued at $73,000. The buyer gave in part payment five two-story frame two-family dwellings, 307 to 315 Cator Avenue, held at $54,000.

Joseph Markowitz and Irving Victoroff sold to Solomon Sherman the sixteen-family flat on a plot 43 by 111 at 670 Grand Street, adjoining the corner of Westervelt Place, held at $37,000. The buyer gave in part payment 30 and 32 Kearny Avenue, a two-story frame dwelling and a battery of twelve garages, valued at $34,000.

Patrick F. Higgins bought from James McCoy for $10,000 the two-family dwelling 235 Virginia Avenue, between the Boulevard and West Side Avenue.

William J. Dippel sold to Christian L. Eriksen 25 Clendenny Avenue, near Bergen Avenue, a two-family dwelling on a lot 25 by 142, for $15,500.

The one and three story brick factory covering a plot 100 by 104 feet at the southeast corner of Linden and Woodland Avenues has been purchased by Morris Denis from the National Web Company at the reported price of $80,000.

John J. Hanaway sold the two-family dwelling at 224 Wilkinson Avenue between Bergen and Jackson Avenues, on a lot 25 by 88 feet, to Thomas R. Lockwood for $11,000.

The two two-story frame store buildings on a plot 50 by 92 feet at the southeast corner of West Side and Communipaw Avenues have been sold by Frank Lepping to Henry C. Steber for $40,000.

Adam Kaiz has purchased the four-story brick flat with store 765 Ocean Avenue, adjoining the corner of Oak Street, for $28,000 from Adolph Behr.

Julius C. Meinliker sold the Majestic and the Comfort, two four-story brick apartments on a plot 100 by 100 feet at the northeast corner of Avenue C and West Thirty-fifth Street, Bayonne, to Benjamin Pecker, a local operator. The consideration was $175,000.

Lodico-Romano Progressive Realty Company have purchased the two four-story tenements with stores 108 and 110 Clinton Street, near First Street, Hoboken, from Vincenso Buttitta at the reported price of $89,000.

Alfonso Ditter sold the ten-family brick tenement on a plot 27 by 100, 65 Willow Avenue near Ferry Street, Hoboken, to the Fannette Corporation for $21,500.

Operator Sells West Side Plot.

Charles Galewski resold to Morris Miller and Jacob Goldsmith the five-story flat at 107 West 109th Street, adjoining the corner of Columbus Avenue, on a lot 25 by 100 feet. The property was held at $40,000. Harry J. Rogers was the broker in the transaction.

APARTMENTS PLANNED FOR BRONX PROPERTIES

Many Plots for Improvement Sold to Builders—Other Realty Transactions.

Jacob and Emil Leitner, Inc., sold for Henry Morgenthau and Abraham Goldsmith to a client a plot of seven lots on the southeast corner of Hunts Point and Whitlock Avenues, which will be improved with a five story store and apartment house.

They have also sold for the Realty Managers, Inc., five and one-half lots on Mosholu Parkway and Decatur Avenue to the the Bilfarm Realty Corporation, which will erect a five-and-one-half-story apartment house. The property was held at $50,000; and sold to Ely Maran the plot of seven lots on the northwest corner of Faile Street and Seneca Avenue. This property was held at $45,000.

The same brokers placed for Louis Held, Inc., a building and permanent loan in the amount of $60,000 on the six story store and apartment to be erected on the east side of Bathgate Avenue, 51 feet north of 174th Street.

Edward Schorn sold the two-story business building 837-835 Tremont Avenue, between Southern Boulevard and Marmion Avenue, size 75 by 100 feet, containing stores and billiard parlor, held at $150,000. Harry T. F. Johnson negotiated the sale.

Harry Frankenbush and Markus Lesser sold the vacant plot 120 by 100 feet at the northeast corner of 165th Street and Gerard Avenue to a syndicate of builders, who will immediately start the erection of a six-story apartment, with stores on both streets. The property was held at $67,500.

Patemo Co., Inc., sold to A. Rickman the two five-and-one-half-story buildings at 292-94 Cypress Avenue and 980 East 140th Street.

Acquires Part Interest in Building Valued at $900,000—To Modernize the Property.

Walter Reade, operating the Savoy Theatre, Thirty-fourth Street and Broadway, purchased from E. R. Thomas his interest in the Astor Theatre, located on Broadway and Forty-fifth Street.

The Shuberts have a leasehold on the premises, which is subject to cancellation, and will give Mr. Reade possession of this building on Jan. 1 of next year.

It is Mr. Reade's intention to alter the building upon obtaining possession to the extent of about $500,000, redecorating and generally modernizing the structure. The theatre will continue to be used for the presentation of the better class of motion pictures for extended runs, and at other times will house dramatic and musical plays.

Negotiations are now pending for the presentation of "Ben-Hur" at this theatre upon its completion by the Metro-Goldwyn Pilm Company. Mr. Thomas's interest in this property was held at $900,000. The terms were all cash and there were no brokers, the transaction having been made direct between Mr. Thomas and Mr. Reade. S. R. Rumbert, who controls the other 50 per cent. of this property, will be associated with Mr. Reade in this enterprise.

$650,000 Brooklyn Loan.

Lawrence, Blake & Jewell have arranged a building and permanent loan of $650,000 for the Bestbern Realty Corporation on the six-story and basement elevator apartment to be built at the northwest corner of Kings Highway and Ocean Parkway, Brooklyn. This building will contain approximately 385 rooms and will have stores on the ground floor.

SMITH BACKS FLAG DRIVE.

Governor Heartily Approves Campaign for 1,000,000 Members.

The nation-wide campaign of the United States Flag Association to obtain 1,000,000 members and the work of the United States Flag Board of New York State received the indorsement of Governor Smith while he was in the city yesterday.

"I am greatly interested in the success of the United States Flag Association," he said. "Its aims and purposes—to build up peace-time patriotism by bringing the flag and its ideals into greater consideration and higher appreciative regard—are steps in the right direction at the right time. Being, as it is, a beautiful, visible symbol of religious freedom and personal liberty, the flag appeals strongly and directly to the heart of every true American."

The New York Chapter of the American Red Cross has opened a "recruiting" office for the United States Flag Association at its headquarters at 535 Madison Avenue. Plans are being made to sign up the 40,000 men who are enrolled in the Citizens' Military Training Camps this Summer.

BUSINESS BUILDING DEALS.

Taxpayer and Altered Building Figure in Realty Sales.

Butler & Baldwin, Inc., have sold for Arthur Chesney to Joseph G. Abramson the five-story altered building, on a lot 20 by 85 feet, at 487 Lexington Avenue. The seller recently acquired the property from the same brokers.

Harry G. Guttman, representing a client, sold to Goldstein & Halpert the taxpayer situated on the northeast corner of Amsterdam Avenue and 155th Street, on a plot 100 by 125 feet, which was held at $250,000.

Thomas Ford was the broker in the resale for A. O'Brien to Katherine T. O'Hanlon 815 and 817 West Twenty-seventh Street, on a plot 40.10 by 98.9 feet, improved with two three-story buildings. The purchaser intends to remodel the buildings for the fur trade.

LEE BUILDING CONTRACT.

$5,000,000 Involved in New Fifth Avenue Office Building.

The contract for the construction of the office building for James T. Lee at the corner of Fifth Avenue and Forty-first Street has been awarded, according to Brown's Letters, Inc., Construction Reports.

The building will be occupied in part by the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company and will cost in the neighborhood of $5,000,000. Plans and specifications were prepared by Starrett & Van Vleck and Peabody, Wilson & Brown are the architects for the interior. The contract for the general construction of the building has been awarded to Weinstein & Hans.

MASPETH AUCTION SALE.

Total of $104,800 Realized for Queens Corporation.

A total of $104,800 was realized by Joseph P. Day for the entire holdings of the Ludwig C. Keller estate on Johnson Avenue, Jansen Avenue, Ward, Nagy and La Forge Streets, Maspeth, Queens.

William Wellman, builder, purchased over seventy lots on both sides of Nagy Street running through Ward Street, paying from $100 to $250 apiece. The plot of two lots on Jansen Avenue brought $900, adjoining lots going for $400 apiece. Three hundred and seventy five dollars was the average price for lots on Maxson Street near Jansen Avenue, while two lot plots on La Forge Street abutting went for $250 each.

Westchester County Sales.

The Edith L. Just parcel, with frontages on Central Avenue, Tarrytown Road and North Street, White Plains, has been sold to a client of Anne F. Moehlenpah, who was the broker in the transaction.

Murray B. Parks sold the vacant property of Henry J. Sanger on Monterey Avenue, Pelham Heights, to Miss Eleanor Mullins of Brooklyn who will erect a Colonial residence for her own occupancy.

An Essex County estate has been leased through the offices of Louis Schlesinger, Inc. The property is located at the northeast corner of Gregory Avenue and Northfield Road, Hutton Park, West Orange, N. J., adjoining the east golf links of the Essex County Country Club. The parcel has been leased for a term of years with option to purchase to Benjamin W. Hollander of Newark. The owner is William S. Yerkes.

The entire property comprises an area of approximately three acres having a frontage of 400 feet on Gregory Avenue and a frontage of 300 feet on Northfield Road. The premises consist of a main dwelling, greenhouse and three-car garage. Mr. Hollander will take possession early in the Fall.

Brisbane Buys Achelis Home.

The former residence of the late Fritz Achelis at 7 East Fifty-seventh Street and the abutting parcel at 14 East Fifty-eighth Street, reported sold several weeks ago, were purchased by Arthur Brisbane's W. A. R. Realty Corporation. The property measures 25 by 100 on Fifty-seventh Street and 20 by 100 on Fifty-eighth Street. Mr. Achelis formerly occupied the Fifty-seventh Street house and subsequently altered both buildings into an apartment house with stores. Huberth & Huberth negotiated the sale.

Lease and Fee in Sale.

Meister Builders, Inc., resold for a syndicate of investors the lease on 226 West Seventieth Street and the fee on 236 West Seventieth Street, two nine-story apartment houses on plots 66.8 by 100 feet each. The properties bring an annual rental of $136,000 and were held for $800,000.

THEATRE BUILDING FOR FLUSHING, L. I.

PAID $2,000 A FRONT FOOT

Wealthy Syndicate Negotiating for Big Tract on Shinnecock Hills, Southampton, L. I.

The leading suburban real estate deal yesterday was made in Flushing, L. I., where a large plot on Amity Avenue was purchased by a syndicate for improvement with a moving picture theatre and an apartment and office building.

In the transaction Keen & Saltman sold to the syndicate the westerly half of the Fairchild Institute block for $2,000 a front foot, the holding price being $330,000. The site is 115 by 210 feet, being 125 feet from Main Street, and runs back to the tracks of the Long Island Railroad. Nathaniel Murphy was the broker in the transaction.

The syndicate, which comprises New York and local business men, plans to improve the property with a moving-picture theatre seating 3,000 persons. Part of the property will be improved with an office and apartment building.

A high-class development on the Shinnecock Hills at Southampton, L. I., will be undertaken if negotiations for the sale of a large tract there are consummated. The property comprises a tract of 1,000 acres and is said to be valued at $10,000,000.

The prospective buyer is a real estate syndicate of wealthy men, who will develop the property and improve it with a hotel. The owner of the property is the Shinnecock Hills and Peconic Bay Realty Company of Brooklyn. At the offices of the company yesterday it was said that negotiations are pending for the sale of the tract, but that no contracts for its sale had been signed.

The contract for the erection of the new building of the Great Neck Trust Company, at Great Neck, L. I., has been awarded to H. Stuetzer. The contractor has begun to clear the ground and construction will shortly begin under the supervision of the architect, Alfred C. Bossom, banking engineer. It is expected that the structure will be ready for occupancy next Autumn.

The new home of the company will be of Indiana limestone and Neo-Greek in style. Its dimensions are 40 feet in width, 70 in length and 35 feet in height.

The Jamaica Operating Company will erect a theatre, office and store building in Hollis, according to Brown's Letters, Inc., construction reports.

The building will be erected on Jamaica Avenue from the plans prepared by A. P. Sorick Jr. The contract for the general construction has been awarded to John McNeil.

Another theatre, store and apartment building is to be erected at Hempstead for the Hempstead Theatre Corporation. Plans and specifications prepared by Harrison G. Wiseman call for a building of fireproof construction, three stories and basement, 134 by 200 feet. M. Masem & Sons have been given the contract for the general construction work.

Marston & Co. sold for Mrs. R. Livingston Beeckman her property on the Apaquogue Highway, East Hampton, L. I., to Clifford H. McCall. The property consists of abot four acres of land and a large dwelling, and was formerly the home of Bishop Greer. Strong Brothers were associated as brokers.

Apartment Leases.

The following leases were made by the Apartment Renting Company, Inc.: 105 West Seventy-second Street, to Mrs. Marion Batchelder; 225 West Seventy-first Street, to Mrs. Mina Minassian; 245 West Seventy-fourth Street, to T. A. Blake; 819 West Ninety-fifth Street, to H. Duckworth; 307 West Seventy-ninth Street, to Mrs. Grace Bauer; 680 West End Avenue, to J. Black.

Stockwell & Marling leased three eight-room apartments at 150 East Seventy-second Street for Brett & Wyckoff to Henry N. Tifft, to Charles Van V. Graham, assistant to Lawrence Bennett, and also an apartment at 784 Park Avenue to James Irving Barr, for William B. May & Co.

344.67 Acres of Lake Shore Land
Within the City Limits of New Orleans

This land is within the city limits—4½ miles from the commercial centre of New Orleans at Royal and Canal Streets. It is bordering at the Lake Pontchartrain end of the Dock Board's property, in which the $20,000,000 Industrial Canal is located, and behind the proposed seawall. It is reached by vehicular roads, is about 1,500 feet from a car line and is skirted by the Southern Railway.

This property is drained and cleared and is provided with city water and electric lights. It offers a magnificent inducement for industrial or residential development.

Small Local Conception of Its Value

The Gulf Coast is now just at the beginning of its development. There is small conception locally of the real value of this property. Why not use your knowledge of the history of Florida values and try to acquire this land? It would be a real bargain at $2,500 an acre. Sellers will carry a 6% first mortgage of $375,000. Remember, this land is to be sold without limit or reserve. For terms and other details call Rector 0351 and ask for John H. Bernhard, or write to

Manhattan's Changing
Streets and Avenues

MADISON AVE., between 34th and 42nd St., except for the few short blocks dominated and restricted by the Gibraltar-like Murray Hill residential section and the Zoning Law, is developing rapidly into the connecting link "between the Terminals" and the gateway to the new Uptown Business District.

In the process of transformation, which began more than two decades ago with the construction of the Cameron Building at the Northeast corner of Madison Ave. and 34th St., and the acquirement of the Altman block, opposite, radical and important changes have taken place and values have mounted by leaps and bounds.

The Astor block, from 35th to 36th St., has been acquired for the erection of one of the largest buildings in the world, the lower part of which fronting on Madison Ave. will be either an apartment house, a club or a hotel. In the rear of this a mercantile building, topped by a huge tower, has been leased from the plans, in large part, to prominent firms.

The De Lamar residence is now the home of the National Democratic Club, while the Old South Church has been replaced by the Fraternities Building.

At 39th St. the new office building, at 270 Madison Ave., has been eminently successful and was sold recently to an investor. The same builders are now erecting a 25-story office building at the northeast corner of 40th St., while the Johns-Manville Building, at the southwest corner of 41st St., has been enlarged to more than twice its original size. The building at the northeast corner of 41st St. has figured in four resales recently and August Heckscher, it is said, recently paid $1,250,000 for the corner, 25 x 120, at 42nd St., and Madison Ave., which he controlled under a long term lease.

Although "Madison Ave." opportunities for improvement and investment are few and far between, we know of several that are very interesting.

The Raymond-Whitcomb

Mediterranean Cruise

(June 27 to August 18)

1. A Brand New Ship: The S. S. "Oronsay" of 20,000 tons is the largest ship ever to make the Mediterranean Cruise in summer. She was built within the year especially for cruise voyages through the Mediterranean.

2. Only First Cabin Rooms: Each stateroom to be used is a first cabin room—every one with a window or porthole opening to the outer air.

3. Membership Is Limited: Increased room on the decks and in the public rooms, and greater ease in going ashore and in sightseeing are assured because no 2nd or 3rd class passengers will be aboard, and even the first cabin membership is limited.

4. The Mediterranean Complete: The route is more complete than any Mediterranean cruise ever before run—including 30 cities in 13 countries, Rome, Pisa, Naples, Venice, Monte Carlo, Nice, Athens, Ragusa, Cattaro, Constantinople, Jerusalem, Port Said, Cairo, etc.

5. Rates and Shore Excursions: Preeminent among the many comprehensive shore excursions (included in the rate) are: a two-day trip to Granada and the Alhambra, two days in Rome, four days through the Holy Land, three days in Egypt.

Rates $675 and up.
